

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

In the preparation of this handbook on the Local Government Act, 1894, I have had but one object in view, namely—to produce a work which, whether it is consulted hastily or studied at leisure, will provide a ready answer to any of the numerous problems that present themselves in the carrying out of the new Act. The book is primarily designed to meet the convenience of members of county, district, and parish councils, and of boards of guardians, as well as of officers of those authorities; but it will, I hope, be of equal value to every other person interested in local administration. is intended to form a practical and concise guide to the statute and its numerous incorporated enactments. of the provisions of law are exceedingly intricate, and are scattered about in several sections of the statutes. endeavour has been made in dealing with each particular subject to gather the scattered threads together, so that the reader may find in one place the information which he requires, without having to make troublesome cross references from one part of the work to another. A long experience in the administration of the law relating to every branch of local government, convinces me that this arrangement will be found particularly useful at meetings and on other occasions when any knotty point that demands solution must be settled then and there, and that the plan of this work will contrast most favourably with the ordinary arrangement adopted by other text-book

To take, for an instance, such a simple matter as the chairmanship of the parish meeting, references to at least four sections and a schedule of the Act are required to discover who is empowered to take the chair at an assembly of the parish meeting; and other provisions must be consulted to determine when the chairman of a parish meeting for a parish without a parish council is to be elected, and for how long he holds office. The whole matter is dealt with once for all on pages 15 and 16 of the handbook. In more complicated matters, such as the adoption and execution of the adoptive Acts, to which a separate chapter is devoted, the advantage of discarding the artificial arrangement of the statute, which is determined more by the exigencies of parliamentary debate than by convenience in administering the law, is much more striking.

Difficulties must always arise in the administration of a new statute dealing with so complicated a subject as the local government of this country, and such questions as the right of the parish council or parish meeting to meet in the vestry room or church (see pages 81 and 82) or the right of the chairman of an urban district council elected from outside the councillors to give an original vote (see page 134), must be confronted when the newly constituted bodies come into existence. My constant aim throughout the work where any difficulties of this character have presented themselves, has been to offer such solution of them as is possible, and I trust that my efforts in this respect will be of service to my readers.

Special care has been taken to secure that the index should be full and complete. Its plan is based upon the principles advocated by the Index Society, and I have every reason to believe that its method of arrangement will materially enhance the value of the handbook.

In conclusion attention may be drawn to the Appendix, which contains the full text of the Local Government Act, 1894, and its incorporated enactments, together with the circulars and orders of the Local Government Board, and all other official information issued up to the date of going to press.

THE

(56 & 57 Vict. c. 73.)

INTRODUCTION.

General effect of Local Government Act, 1894, in regard to Parochial and other Local Authorities.

THE key-note of modern social legislation is its trust in local authorities. Year after year, for the past few generations, the burden of duties imposed by statute on those authorities has steadily grown, and at the present day their control is felt in almost every department of human life. But, except in the case of municipal boroughs, the organisation of local authorities was not developed equally with their duties so as to keep them thoroughly in touch with the changed circumstances of the times. Whilst comparatively few sessions passed by without some reform or other of our parliamentary system of government being made, the statute book for many years did practically nothing to introduce similar principles into local administration. The chaos of overlapping areas and authorities was added to rather than diminished, and privilege reigned supreme in local elections. The Municipal Reform Act, 1835, organised boroughs upon a popular basis, and although it was followed by numerous other statutes relating to municipal boroughs, which were consolidated and amended by the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, the essential features of the municipal system of election have now existed for nearly sixty years. It was the successful working, for almost two generations, of that system of popular election and government which recommended its adaptation to the County Councils established by the Local Government Act, 1888. The principles then applied to the government of counties have now been extended and carried out to their logical conclusion by the measure which Mr. Fowler has succeeded in placing on the statute book, and an important step has been taken towards the simplification of areas of local government, and the concentration in the hands of the new Parish and District Councils of the powers and duties some-times exercised in those areas by several concurrent authorities.

Before dealing in detail with the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894, a brief reference to the local authorities who are more or less affected by those provisions may be serviceable. From the ancient Open Vestry in which the inhabitants of rural parish and township have met since time immemorial, down to the modern Rural Sanitary Authority, the Act has dealt impartially with the constitution and duties of existing authorities for the purpose of securing a uniform system of popular local government under the County Councils established by the Local Government Act, 1888. The measure during its passage through Parliament was popularly called the Parish Councils Bill; but as a matter of fact the establishment of Parish Councils, although given the first prominence in the Act, is supplemented by provisions of scarcely less importance relating to Boards of Guardians and District Councils. Numerous duties in connection with the adjustment of areas and boundaries and other matters are also imposed on County Councils for the general purpose of bringing the Act into operation.

OPEN VESTRIES.

The meeting of inhabitants in Open Vestry for the business of the parish dates from a very early period, but there would be no advantage for the present purpose in discussing at length any question whether the origin of the Vestry is to be attributed to the meeting of the inhabitants of townships for civil purposes, or to the meeting of parishioners for ecclesiastical purposes. A meeting held primarily for one purpose would no doubt be utilised for the other, and when it is remembered that the distinction between secular and religious business was not so marked in early times, there is no reason for surprise that the Parish Vestry has for centuries past had powers and duties that relate to both civil and occlesiastical affairs. In either its civil or religious aspect the Vestry is a venerable institution, and the transfer of its civil business to Parish Meetings and Councils under the new Act may in some minds give rise to a pandonable sentiment of regret. The ancient Vestry will not altogether disappear, but will still he summened for coolesiastical affairs, such as the election of churchwanters, and, in some parishes, matters connected with the administration or distribution of certain ecolesiastical charities. SELECT AND CONTRACTOR

To some number Select Vestmes, consisting of a limited number of theories control the powers of the Open Vestm at common law. Coston often determined the constitution of these bodies. Under the Vestmes Act (Spa long known as Hopbiase's Act which might be adopted by the parishioners of parishes in a city or town with not less than 800 rated householders, Vestries were chosen by the ratepayers without plurality of votes. Vestries in some other places were constituted under local Acts. The London Vestries established under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, possess, in addition to the ordinary powers of Vestries, very extensive powers of local government.

In modern times the powers of the Parish Vestry have been restricted chiefly to giving consent to certain administrative acts. Until the passing of the Local Government Act, 1894, the general tendency of legislation for over a century has not favoured parochial authorities; but now that the parish organisation has been remodelled on a truly popular basis the Parish bids fair to regain something of its old prestige as an integral part of our rural system of government. The Vestry in urban parishes remains as it was, and in rural parishes only are most of the civil powers of the Vestry transferred by the Act of 1894 to the Parish Council, or in parishes not having a separate Parish Council to the Parish Meeting subject to any provisions that may be made by a grouping order if the parish is grouped with any other parish or parishes under a common Parish Council. The Act confers additional powers on the new parochial authorities, and gives them more effective control over the parish officers.

HIGHWAY AUTHORITIES.

The management of highway business in rural districts has previously to the passing of this Act afforded instances both of administration by single parishes, and by a group of parishes under a common authority. Formerly by the common law each parish maintained its own highways; but modern highway management is to a great extent regulated by statutes beginning with the Highway Act, 1835. Parishes for highway purposes are in many cases not co-terminous with civil parishes, and a civil parish often comprises more than one highway parish. In a parish separately maintaining its own highways the ratepayers in vestry annually elect one or more unpaid Surveyors, or appoint a paid Surveyor to maintain and repair the Highways. Highway Parishes might on application to the justices in quarter sessions be united into a district under a common Highway Board, consisting of "waywardens" elected by the vestries of each parish in the Highway District, and of such of the county justices as resided in the District. An elected Highway Board of five to twenty members might also be formed for parishes with a population of over 5,000 inhabitants. Besides Surveyors of Highway Parishes and Highway Boards for separate or for united highway parishes in rural districts, Rural Sanitary Authorities, in cases where their district was co-terminous with a Highway Board District, might by order of Quarter Sessions or of their successors (the County Council) exercise the powers of a Highway Board. The new Act provides for the ultimate transfer to Rural District Councils of the powers and duties of these existing highway authorities. It does not affect the administration of highways in Urban Districts, which remains as now in the hands of the Councils of those Districts.

BOARDS OF GUARDIANS.

As regards Boards of Guardians, the principal changes are such as not to effect their duties in connection with the administration of the laws relating to the relief of the poor, and these remain untouched by the Act. Although for the most part parishes are grouped together, generally around some conveniently situated market town, into "unions" for poor law purposes under a common Board of Guardians, there are important parishes not in union for which a separate Board of Guardians is constituted. In some instances local acts regulated the election and constitution of the body administering the poor law, but where the general law was in force the same provisions applied to the constitution of the board, whether it was elected for one parish only, or for a union of parishes. Under the Poor Law Acts a Board of Guardians was composed of elected members and ex-officio members. The elected members by an order of the Local Government Board had to be rated to the poor rate of some parish in the union (or of the parish if not in union) upon an annual rateable value of not less than £5, whilst the ex-officior members were justices of the peace resident in the union or parish, and acting for the division of the county in which the parish or any part of the union was situated. The elected guardians were chosen by the ratepayers and owners of property in the respective parishes, and plural votes were allowed, namely, one vote for every £50 of rateable value, with a maximum number of six votes. A person who owned the premises he occupied was entitled to vote both as owner and occupier, so that if rated sufficiently he might have given as many as twelve votes in all. The election was conducted by means of voting papers, which were left at the residences of the voters and afterwards collected from them. The new Act abolishes ex-officior guardians and the plural vote, directs that the elections shall be conducted under the provisions of the Ballot Act, and largely increases the electorate.

SANITARY AUTHORITIES (URBAN AND RURAL).

Urban Sanitary Authorities were of three kinds; in Municipal Boroughs, the Town Council; in Districts under Improvement Acts, the Improvement Commissioners; and in Local Government Districts, the Local Board. The Act makes no change so far as the constitution and election of Town Councils are concerned. Improvement Commissioners were elected according to the local act under which the Commission was constituted. The election of a Local Board was conducted in the same manner as that of a Board of Guardians, and the scale of voting for owners and ratepayers was the same. A member of a Local Board had to be a resident in or within seven miles of the district, and to be seized or possessed of real or personal estate, or both, to the value of £500 in districts of less than 20,000 inhabitants, or of £1,000 in districts of 20,000 or more inhabitants; or to be rated to the poor in the district on an annual value of £15 where the district had less than 20,000, or £30 where it had 20,000 or more inhabitants. Improvement Commissioners and Local Boards become Urban District Councils under the new Act, and cease to be elected by the plural vote. There will now, notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any local act, be no ex-officio members, and the election will take place under the Ballot Act. Some additional powers are conferred by the Act on the Urban District Councils, which for that purpose include Town Councils.

A Rural Sanitary District consisted of that portion of the area of a Poor Law Union that remained after the subtraction of any Urban Sanitary District, or part of an Urban Sanitary District comprised in the Poor Law Union. It was under the jurisdiction of the Rural Sanitary Authority, and that authority was constituted of those members of the Board of Guardians who represented the parishes composing the Rural Sanitary District, or who as ex-officio guardians resided in that district. In effect the new Act, subject to the abolition of ex-officio guardians, continues this arrangement by making the rural district councillors the representatives of the areas for which they are elected on the Board of Guardians; but the Rural Sanitary Authority become the Rural District Council, and have additional powers as to highways and other matters.

OTHER LOCAL AUTHORITIES.

Of the other local authorities, such as Burial Boards, Inspectors under the Lighting and Watching Act, Commissioners of Public Libraries, Baths and Wash-houses, &c., which exist only in parishes and other places where certain statutes have been adopted, it will be enough for the purpose of these introductory remarks to say that the general policy of the Act is to prevent the future setting up in parishes having a Parish Council of such independent authorities, and to provide that the powers of existing authorities be transferred to the Parish Councils in rural parishes, and to District Councils in urban districts. Further explanations will come more appropriately when the provisions of the Acts relating to the particular authorities in question are dealt with.

COUNTY COUNCILS, AREAS AND BOUNDARIES.

The constitution of County Councils is not affected by the Act, but their powers of control over other authorities are strengthened and enlarged. For the general purpose of providing that every parish shall be situated within one county district, and that every such district shall be within one county, extensive powers to adjust the areas and boundaries of parishes and districts are conferred on County Councils. Parishes may also be grouped and divided by County Councils for the election of Parish Councils and Boards of Guardians.

EXTENT OF ACT—COMMENCEMENT.

Extent of Act.

Commencement of Act.

THE Local Government Act, 1894, extends to England and Wales (s. 76) and its provisions, except where the contrary intention appears, have effect immediately on and after the date of its passing, namely, the 5th March, 1894. But the coming into operation of many of the provisions of the Act is fixed with reference to a date called "the appointed day" and the meaning which is given to that expression, is as follows—

Appointed day

Generally "the appointed day" for the several purposes, respectively of—

- (a) Elections and of Parish Meetings in parishes not having a Parish Council, is the day or respective days fixed for the first elections under the Act, or such prior day as may be necessary for the purpose of giving notices or doing other acts preliminary to such elections; and
- (b) Powers, Duties, and Liabilities of Councils or other Bodies elected under the Act, or other matters not specifically mentioned, is the day on which the members of such councils or other bodies first elected come into office; and
- (c) Powers, Duties, and Liabilities transferred to a Council of a Borough by the Act, is the First day of November, 1894.

The first elections will be held on the Eighth day of November, 1894, or such later date or dates in the same year as the Local Government Board may fix.¹

The persons elected will come into office on the second Thursday next after their election, or such other day not more than seven days earlier or later as may be fixed by or in pursuance of the Rules made under the Act² in relation to their election (s. 84).

If no different day is fixed by the Local Government Board "the appointed day" for the purpose of elections and of parish meetings in parishes without a Parish Council is, therefore, the 8th of November, 1894, or such prior day as may be necessary for giving notices or doing other acts preliminary to those elections. Subject to no different day being so fixed for the holding of the first elections, and Appointed day. subject to no other day for the coming into office of persons first elected under the Act being fixed by rules, "the appointed day" for the purpose of the powers, duties, and liabilities of the bodies elected under the Act, or other matters not specifically mentioned, is Thursday, the 22nd of November, 1894.

No power is given to alter the date fixed for the transfer of powers to a Town Council, namely, 1st November, 1894.

DEFINITIONS.

Expressions used in the Local Government Act, 1894, unless the context otherwise requires, have the same meaning as in the Local Government Act, 1888 (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 75 (1)); and this important rule of construction must always be borne in mind in considering the various provisions of the Act of 1894.

The definition of "parish" is excepted from this rule as being in- Parish. applicable to the new measure. That word when used in the Act of 1894 means, unless the contrary intention appears, a place for which a separate poor rate is or can be made, or for which a separate overseer is or can be appointed (Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 5 (1)). The practical effect is that every civil parish, whether known as a parish, township, or by any other designation, is a parish for the purposes of the Local Government Act, 1894.

Every parish in a rural sanitary district 1 (i.e., every parish not Rural Parish. within a borough, or the district of an improvement commission, or of a local board), is termed a "rural parish" (s. 1 (2)). Where, at "the appointed day," a parish is partly within and partly without a rural sanitary district, the part in the district becomes a separate rural parish.

Section 100 of the Act of 1888 assigns meanings to be given to Other excertain expressions, "if not inconsistent with the context." Among pressions. these expressions and meanings assigned thereto, the following are pertinent to the Act of 1894; namely-

SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS.

When the day on which anything is required by or in pursuance of the Local Government Act, 1894, to be done is Sunday, Christmas Day, or Good Friday, or a Bank Holiday, that thing is to be done on the next following day, not being one of the days mentioned (s. 73).

This provision governs proceedings generally under the Act, and should be observed in fixing dates for meetings under the Act.

EFFECT OF ACT ON PARISHES IN MORE THAN ONE SANITARY DISTRICT.

parate parishes eated out of trish in two or ore sanitary stricts, unless ounty Council herwise order. In explaining what constitutes a "rural parish" under the Act reference was made to the case of a parish partly situated in a Rural Sanitary District. These cases require careful consideration, as the effect is to bring about important changes of parochial areas. Where a parish was at the passing of the Act partly within and partly without a Rural Sanitary District, the part within and the part without the district become from "the appointed day" separate parishes in like manner as if they had been constituted separate parishes under the Divided Parishes and Poor Law Amendment Act, 1876, and the Acts amending the same (s. 1 (3)). The part in the Rural Sanitary District thus becomes a separate parish and a rural parish under the Local Government Act.

Every parish which was at the passing of the Act in more than one Urban District is dealt with similarly. The part in each Urban District becomes as from "the appointed day," unless the County Council for special reasons otherwise direct, a separate parish as if so constituted under the Divided Parishes Act (s. 36 (2)). The object of both provisions is to secure that a parish shall as a rule be in one County District only; but the division of a parish situate partly in and partly outside a Rural Sanitary District will, if no alteration in area is made by an order of the County Council, be effected in every case by the Act, whilst the division of a parish in more than one Urban District will not take place if the County Council for special reasons so direct.

Each new parish formed by the division of a parish by the Act is to bear such name as the County Council direct.

Every change of name is to be published in such manner as the County Council direct. Any such change will not affect any rights or obligations of any parish, district, council, authority, or person, or render defective any legal proceedings, and any legal proceedings may be continued or commenced as if there were no change of name (s. 55 (2) (4) (5)).

(s. 55 (2) (4) (5)).

A County Council may deal with a parish in more than one Sanitary District by altering the boundaries of the Sanitary District.

A reference to the Divided Parishes and Poor Law Amendment Act, 1876 (39 & 40 Vict. c. 61), and the amending Acts, which are the Poor Law Act, 1879 (42 & 43 Vict. c. 54), and the Divided Parishes and Poor Law Amendment Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 58), is necessary to explain the position of the new parishes created under these provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894.

A parish constituted under the Divided Parishes and Poor Law New parishes. Amendment Act, 1876, becomes a parish for all lay and civil 39 & 40 Vict. purposes to which a parish may be liable or entitled, and overseers must be appointed for it (39 & 40 Vict. c. 61, s. 6). The overseers of any parish divided by the Local Government Act, 1894, are, however, to continue in office as if they were overseers of each part constituted a separate parish until the first appointment of overseers next after the appointed day (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 79 (11)). Separate overseers for the new parishes will consequently be first appointed at the usual time in 1895.

The Act does not apply to the ecclesiastical divisions of parishes and the constitution of School Districts is not affected without the sanction of the Education Department; and for the purposes of the election of members of Parliament, of the jury lists, of the action of the justices and of the police and constables, the parishes are to be deemed unaltered until new lists are made and new constables are appointed (39 & 40 Vict. c. 61, s. 4). Nothing in the Acts is to prejudice, vary, or affect any right, interest, or jurisdiction in or over any charitable endowment applicable for the benefit of a divided parish (s. 9), but where a parish is divided by the Local Government Act, 1894, the County Council may by order provide, with the approval of the Charity Commissioners, for the application to different parts of that parish of the provisions of the Local Government' Act with respect to the appointment of trustees or beneficiaries of a charity 1 (s. 36 (3)). The order is by section 36 (10) to be deemed to be an order under section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888,² but the order will not require confirmation by the Local Government Board (s. 40). It is not clear what the order could do with respect to any urban part of the parish, as the provisions of section 14 relate to rural parishes only, but apparently it could only apportion the charity property and administration.

The division of a parish by the Act of 1894 does not of itself alter in any way the poor law union, and the new parishes will, until it is otherwise provided, be included in the same union in which the original parish was included (s. 36 (9)). Every valuation list made for a divided parish continues in force until a new valuation list is made (s. 85 (4)).

In many parishes the overseers are accustomed to make one rate only to meet the estimated expenditure for the whole year of their office; but although section 85 (1) of the new Act provides that every rate and precept for contributions made before the appointed day may be assessed, levied, and collected, and proceedings for the enforcement thereof taken, in like manner as nearly as may be as if the Act had ites before pointed day. not passed, and the overseers of the whole undivided parish are to remain in office as overseers of the new parishes until the appointment, in the ordinary course, of overseers for the new parishes is made, it would probably be more convenient in the year 1894 to estimate the rate for the whole parish to meet all the expenses which will be incurred before the appointed day, and to make further rates for the new parishes to cover the period which remains of the overseers' term of office. An adjustment of property and liabilities between the old and new parishes may be made under section 68.

Any officer for a parish divided by the Act will hold his office as such officer for each new parish formed by the division, and his salary will be borne by the respective parishes in proportion to their rateable value at the commencement of the local financial year next after the passing of the Act (s. 81 (5)).

The local financial year to which this provision refers begins on the 1st April, 1894 (Local Government Act, 1888, s. 73(1), which is made applicable by s. 75 (1) of the Local Government Act, 1894). But this date has reference only to the purpose of adjusting the proportion in which the salaries of officers are to be borne by new parishes formed by division of a parish under the Act, and it does not apply to parochial accounts which in 1894 will be made up to the usual day.

CONSTITUTION OF PARISH MEETING.

RURAL Parishes under the Local Government Act, 1894, may be for practical purposes divided into two classes, namely, those in which a separate Parish Council will be established, and those in which there will be no separate Parish Council. There will be a Parish Meeting for every rural parish, whether or not the parish has a separate Parish Council, or whether or not it is grouped with another parish or parishes under a common Parish Council (s. 1 (1)); but in the case of a parish without a Parish Council, some of the powers of a Parish Council will be exercised by the Parish Meeting. One of the principal functions of the Parish Meeting in parishes having a Parish Council will be to elect Parish Councillors.1 Parishes in Urban Sanitary Districts will have neither a Parish Meeting nor a Parish Council.

Generally, the constitution of the Parish Meeting and its procedure Constitution will be the same whether the parish has or has not a separate Parish Council. In the following observations attention will be drawn to any points of difference as they arise.

The Parish Meeting is to consist of the parochial electors and no other persons; and it is sufficient for the present purpose to state that the "parochial electors" will be the voters registered in respect of a parish in the local government and the parliamentary register of electors 2 (s. 2 (1)). In other words, either the county council or the parliamentary franchise will qualify a person to be a parochial elector.

Parochial

For the purposes of the Act, married women may be placed on the local government register (s. 43). The register of parochial electors will include parliamentary ownership electors, lodgers, and service voters, as well as the occupation electors. This extended franchise will apply to all elections under the Act, whether for Parish Councils, for Guardians, or for District Councils of county districts other than Municipal Boroughs.

year, on the 25th of March, or within seven days before or after that day, and the proceedings of every Parish Meeting must not begin before six o'clock in the evening (s. 2 (3), Schedule 1, Part 1, r. 1). Where a parish has no separate Parish Council, the Parish Meeting must assemble not less than twice a year (s. 19 (2)).

Subject to these provisions, the days, times, and places for holding Parish Meetings will be fixed by the Parish Council, or, if there is no Parish Council, by the chairman of the Parish Meeting.

A parish meeting should not, where it can be avoided, be convened to meet on a bank holiday.

The first assembly of the Parish Meeting is to be held at the time fixed by or under the Act for the first election of Parish Councillors, whether there is or is not a Parish Council for the parish (s. 78 (1)). If no later date in 1894 is fixed by the Local Government Board, the first election of Parish Councillors will be held on the 8th of November, 1894 (s. 84 (1)). If any difficulty arises with respect to the holding of the first Parish Meeting, it may be removed by an order of the County Council (s. 80 (1)).

Notices of Meeting.

Not less than seven clear days before any Parish Meeting, public notice must be given specifying the time and place of the intended meeting and the business to be transacted, and signed by the chairman of the Parish Council or other conveners of the meeting.

When the business relates to the establishment or dissolution of a Parish Council, or the grouping of a parish, or the adoption of any of the adoptive Acts, not less than fourteen days notice must be given (Schedule 1, Part 1, r. 2 and 3). In reckoning the seven or fourteen days, as the case may be, both the day when the notice is given and the day fixed for the meeting must be excluded.—Liffin v. Pitcher (1 Dowl. (n.s.) 767).

A public notice of a parish meeting must be given in the manner required for giving notice of vestry meetings, and by posting the notice in some conspicuous place or places within the parish, and in such other manner (if any) as appears to the persons convening the meeting desirable for giving publicity to the notice (s. 51.)

The effect of directing that the notice of a parish meeting is to be given in the manner required for giving notice of vestry meetings is that copies of the notice must be affixed on or near to the doors of all the churches and chapels within the parish [The Vestries Act, 1818 (58 Geo. III. c. 69,) s. 1; The Parish Notices Act, 1837 (7 Will. IV. and 1 Vict., c. 45,) ss. 1, 2]. The notice need only be published on churches and chapels of the Church of England, and need not be affixed to any but the principal door of each.—Örmerod v. Chadwick (16 L. J., M. C., 143; 11 J. P., 138). It will not be necessary that the affixing of a notice of a Parish Meeting on the church doors should be done on a Sunday before the commencement of service, as is required by the Acts for notices of vestry meetings. The notice of a Parish Meeting may be posted on the church doors on any day at any time provided that the notice is posted to allow of a lapse of seven or fourteen days, according to the business to be transacted, before the meeting takes place.

In addition to the notice affixed on the church doors, a notice must also be posted in some conspicuous place or places within the parish.

PROCEEDINGS OF PARISH MEETING.

The incumbent of the parish was ex-officio chairman of every Chairman of vestry meeting at which he was present, but he will have no right to preside at the parish meetings constituted under the Local Government Act.

If the chairman 1 of the Parish Council is present at a Parish Meeting and is not a candidate for election at the meeting, he will be the chairman of the meeting (s. 45 (2)).

A Parish Meeting in a rural parish not having a separate Parish Council, are required at their annual assembly to chose a chairman for the year (s. 19 (1)), but are not empowered to appoint a vicechairman.

The first chairman of a Parish Meeting elected under the Act is to retire on the second ordinary day of coming into office of councillors, which happens after his election (s. 78 (3)), that is on the 15th of April, 1896 (s. 3 (4)), although his successor must, by s. 19 (1) be chosen at the annual assembly of the Parish Meeting, which is required to take place within seven days of the 25th of March (Schedule 1, Part 1, r. 1). In the year 1897 and subsequent years, the chairman will retire on the day on which his successor is chosen.

Resignation of Chairman. A chairman of a Parish Meeting may resign his chairmanship by notice in writing to the meeting. Any casual vacancy in the office is Casual vacancy. to be filled by the Parish Meeting, and the person chosen will retire from office when the vacating chairman would have retired(s. 47(3)(4)).

Absence of Chairman.

When the chairman of the Parish Meeting is absent from or unwilling or unable to take the chair at any assembly of the Parish Meeting, the meeting may appoint a person to take the chair, and that person will have, for the purpose of that meeting, the powers and authority of the chairman (Schedule 1, Part 1, r. 10).

Appointment of temporary Chairman.

> This last rule is, perhaps, applicable only to a Parish Meeting of a parish without a separate Parish Council; but, if that is so, the same result is brought about by section 2 (4), which provides that, subject to any particular person being the chairman of a Parish Meeting, the meeting may choose their own chairman, and this latter provision is applicable to the Parish Meeting of every rural parish. The Act does not expressly confer on the chairman of the Parish Right of Chair-man of Parish Council as such to attend parish meeting.

Council as such the right to be present at a Parish Meeting. It simply provides that, if he is present, and not a candidate for election, he shall, save as otherwise provided, be the chairman of the Parish Meeting (s. 45 (2)). He can, according to the Act, be present either in the capacity of a parochial elector (s. 44 (1)) or as a candidate for election to the office of parish councillor (Schedule 1, Part 1, r. 9); but in the latter case he is not to take the chair (s. 45 (2)). The chairman of the Parish Council need not (s. 45 (2)). necessarily be a parochial elector, for he may be a person who has, during the whole of the twelve months preceding his election as a parish councillor, resided in or within three miles of the parish (s. 3). If his qualification consists in residence only, the terms of section 45 (2) do not seem sufficient to enable him to be chairman of the Parish Meeting in view of the express provisions as to the persons of whom the Parish Meeting is to consist. Not only does section 2 (1) provide that the Parish Meeting shall consist of the parochial electors and no others, but section 44 (1) further emphasises the position of a person who is not on the register of the parochial electors of the parish by enacting that such a person shall not be entitled to attend a meeting or vote as a parochial elector. This question may be of considerable practical importance where divisions run close, for the chairman at a Parish Meeting has a second or casting vote (Schedule 1, Part 1, r. 8).

No business, other than that for which public notice of the meeting was given, should be transacted at the Parish Meeting, as failure to give proper notice of the business transacted would render the given proceedings as to such business void and of no effect. Even where proper notice has been given there is no general right to discuss at such meetings any matters not pertinent to the purposes for which a Parish Meeting is constituted by the Act.

No business to be transacted unless notice

An informal practice had in many parishes been followed of Discussion of discussing at the Vestry Meetings subjects of general interest. This Parish affairs. had no legal authority, but there was some convenience in the inhabitants being able to express their opinion on subjects connected with the life of the parish. The Local Government Act expressly authorises a Parish Meeting to discuss parish affairs and pass resolutions thereon (Schedule 1, Part 1, r. 4), but the affairs discussed must, it will be observed, be parish affairs only.

Every question to be decided by a Parish Meeting will, in the first Majority to decide. instance, be decided by the majority of those present and voting on the question (Schedule 1, Part 1, r. 5).

This rule requires that the majority deciding as to a question shall be the majority of those present who actually vote on the question. It will not necessarily be the majority of the parochial electors present, as some of them may not vote. The rule, although not in terms qualified, is subject to other provisions of the Act for, in some instances,1 a greater majority than a simple majority of the Parish Meeting will be necessary to give effect to a resolution of the meeting, and, in others, a poll must take place on the question submitted for the opinion of the parochial electors. But, in general, questions will be determined by a simple majority of the electors voting. The votes of the parochial electors must be given in person. There will be no continuance of the privilege which Corporations possessed under section 2 of the Vestries Act, 1818 (58 Geo. III., c. 69), of voting at a Vestry Meeting by means of their clerks or other agents.

No quorum is fixed for a Parish Meeting, but it would not be safe No quorum. for one parochial elector, who was present alone at a Parish Meeting, to proceed to transact business, as no meeting at all could properly be said to be held where less than two electors were present.2 Parish Councils, Boards of Guardians, and District Councils elected under the Act are in a different position as to this matter, for it is

Decision of Chairman.

The chairman is required to announce his decision as to the result of a show of hands at a Parish Meeting, and that decision is to be final unless a poll is demanded (r. 5).

Polls.

When poll may be demanded.

A poll may be demanded at any time before the conclusion of a Parish Meeting (r. 6).

Generally a poll is not to be taken unless either the chairman of the meeting assents, or the poll is demanded by either one-third of the parochial electors present, or by five of such parochial electors, whichever number is least. Where one-third of the number of the parochial electors present is less than five, that one-third may demand a poll; where five is less than one-third of the number of parochial electors present, those five electors may demand a poll. To take examples; if there are thirty parochial electors present, five may demand a poll, as being less in number than one-third of the electors present; if there are nine electors present, three may demand a poll, as being one-third of the number present, although those who form

A poll consequent on a Parish Meeting will be taken by ballot (s. 2 Ballot. (5)) in accordance with Rules to be framed under the Act by the Local Government Board (s. 48 (8)).

CONDUCT OF BUSINESS.

A minute of proceedings, signed at the same or the next ensuing meeting by a person describing himself as or appearing to be chairman of the meeting at which the minute is signed, is to be received in evidence without further proof (r. 2). Until the contrary is proved, every meeting in respect of the proceedings whereof a minute has been so made shall be deemed to have been duly convened and held, and all the members of the meeting shall be deemed to have been duly qualified (r. 3).

Parish Meetings for parts of a Rural Parish.

The Act provides for the holding of Parish Meetings for parts of a Rural Parish, under certain circumstances.

A large parish may be divided into wards for the purpose of the election of parish councillors, and where a parish is divided for that purpose, a Parish Meeting for the election of Parish Councillors will be held for each ward 1 (s. 18).

A Parish Meeting may be held for a part of a parish for the adoption of any of the adoptive Acts that may be adopted for a part only of a rural parish (s. 7 (4)). If it is proved to the satisfaction of the County Council that any part of a parish has a defined boundary, and has any property or rights distinct from the rest of the parish, the County Council may order that the consent of a Parish Meeting held for that part of the parish shall be required for any such act or class of acts of the Parish Council affecting the said property or rights as is specified in the order (s. 37). The order of the County Council is by section 36 (10) to be deemed to be an order under section 57 of the Local Government Act, 18883; but it does not require confirmation by the Local Government Board (s. 40).

In the case of a Parish Council having any powers and duties which are to be exercised in a part only of the parish, or in relation to a Recreation Ground, Building, or Property held for the benefit of a part of a parish, and the part has a defined boundary, the Parish Council must, if required by a Parish Meeting held for that part, appoint annually to exercise such powers and duties, a committee consisting partly of members of the council and partly of other persons representing the part (s. 56 (2)).

It must also be borne in mind that a parochial elector will not be voting in one ward only. allowed to vote for more than one ward (s. 48 (2)).

The provisions relating to Parish Meetings for parts of parishes Construction of the c must be construed together as a whole, and the general tenour of the Act must have due weight. There will be a parish meeting for the whole parish, and although the language of section 49 is wide, there is no ground for supposing that it can reasonably be given any other interpretation than that a parish meeting for a part of a parish will be restricted to the transaction of such or any of the business as is referred to in sections 7, 18 and 37, namely, the adoption of certain adoptive Acts, the election of parish councillors, and such consents as may be specified in an order of the County Council. Parish Meetings for these various purposes need not necessarily be held for the same area. The area for the adoption of the Lighting and Watching Act might not be co-terminous with the area for the election of parish councillors, or with the area interested in certain property or rights; and the respective Parish Meetings for such different purposes would be held from time to time, independently of one another, as might be necessary.

GENERAL POWERS OF PARISH MEETINGS.

The Parish Meeting will have the exclusive power of adopting the Adoptive Acts adoptive Acts, and their approval will be substituted for that of the vestry or ratepayers in relation to any expense or rate under an adoptive Act 2 (s. 7).

Any power which may be exercised and any consent which may be Parish propert given by the owners and ratepayers of a parish or by the majority of of them under any of the Acts relating to the relief of the poor, or under the School Sites Acts, or the Literary and Scientific Institutions Act, 1854, so far as respects the dealing with parish property or the spending of money or raising of a rate, may, in the case of a rural parish, be exercised or given by the Parish Meeting of the parish (s. 52 (1)).

The following powers may be exercised by the Parish Meeting under this provision:-

(1.) The Local Government Board may, with the consent of the workhouses. Guardians or of the Parish Meeting, order workhouses to be built, hired, altered, or enlarged, or land to be purchased, or hired for the purpose of building or enlarging workhouses [Poor Law Amendment Act, 1834 (4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 76) s. 23; Poor Law Amendment Act, 1849 (12 & 13 Vict. c. 108) s. 18].

(2.) The Parish Meeting may direct that subject to the confirma-Emigration.

tion of the Local Government Board, a sum not exceeding one-half the average yearly rate for the three preceding years shall be raised or borrowed as a fund for defraying the emigration of poor persons settled in the parish (4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 76, s. 62); but a sum not exceeding £ 10 per head may be expended for emigrating poor persons without the consent of the Parish Meeting [12 & 13 Vict. c. 103, s. 20; Poor Law Amendment Act, 1850 (13 & 14 Vict. c. 101) s. 4].

Sale, &c., of parish property.

(3.) The consent of the Parish Meeting will be necessary to the (a) Sale, exchange or letting of workhouses, tenements, buildings or land of any rural parish by a Parish Council,1 or where there is no Parish Council, by the Board of Guardians of the union in which the parish is situated [Union and Parish Property Act, 1835 (5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 69) s. 3; Parish Property and Parish Debts Act, 1842 (5 & 6 Vict. c.

18, ss. 2, 3], except where the parish is not in a union, but is under a separate Board of Guardians [Poor Law Act, 1889 (52 & 53 Vict. c. 56)s. 8]; (b) Application of the proceeds of the sale of any workhouses or other property of a union or parish in liquidation of the debts, liabilities, or engagements of the union or parish, although legally unenforceable (1 & 2 Vict. c. 25, s. 2); (c) Sale of land allotted to or otherwise acquired by a parish for the purpose of the supply of materials for the repair of roads and highways, or for some other public or private purpose, when the materials therein are exhausted, or are not suitable or required [Sale of Exhausted Parish Lands Act, 1876 (39 & 40 Vict. c. 62), s. 1];

Open spaces.

(d) Conveyance of parish property to a District Council for the purpose of being preserved as an open space for the enjoyment of the public [Open Spaces Act, 1887, (50 & 51 Vict. c. 32) s. 7 | ; (e) Grant or conveyance of any quantity of land, being parochial property, not exceeding in each case one acre, as a site for a school for poor persons and the residence of the schoolmaster or schoolmistress, or otherwise for the purposes of the education of the poor [School Sites Act, 1891 (4 & 5 worship or residence of a minister, or a burial place under the Places of Worship Sites Acts 1873 and 1882 (36 & 37 Vict. c. 50; 45 & 46 Vict. c. 21).

The transfer of the powers of the owners and ratepayers of a parish transfer to the parish meeting incidentally abolishes plural voting and the voting of owners by proxy.

The effect of subsection 2 of section 52 of the Local Government Formation and dissolution of Act, 1894, is to empower the Parish Meeting to make application to the Education Department for the formation of a School Board [Elementary Education Act, 1870 (33 & 34 Vict. c. 75) s. 12], or for the dissolution of a School Board. In the latter case, the resolution to make the application must be carried by a majority of two-thirds of the Parish Meeting, and if a poll is taken, of the parochial electors. The Education Department before considering the application, must satisfy themselves that no school and no site for a school is in the possession or under the control of the School Board, and that there is a sufficient amount of public school accommodation for the district of the School Board. The application for the dissolution of a School Board must not be made except within six months before the expiration of the period for which the School Board has been elected [Elementary Education Act, 1876 (39 & 40 Vict. c. 79) s. 41].

Powers of Parish Meeting for Parish with a Parish Council.

In addition to the general powers of a Parish Meeting, the Parish Meeting for a parish with a Parish Council will, besides electing the Parish Council, be able to exercise some control over the acts and expenditure of that Council.

The election of a parish councillor will be at a Parish Meeting or a Election of par poll consequent thereon '(s. 48 (1)).

The parish meeting may resolve that the consent of the Parish Discontinuance of highways. Council ought not be given for the stopping or diverting of a public right of way, or for a declaration that a highway is unnecessary and not repairable at the public expense 2 (s. 13 (1)).

The consent of the Parish Meeting is necessary to a Parish Council Charities. supporting or opposing charity schemes, and the accounts of all parochial charities must be annually laid before the Meeting * (s. 14).

The same consent is required to the sale or exchange of any land sale of land. or buildings vested in the Parish Council (s. 8 (2)) and to the incurring of any expense or liabilitity by the Parish Council, which will involve a rate exceeding threepence in the pound for any local financial year, or which will involve a loan (s. 11 (1)).

The Parish Meeting may apply to the County Council for an order to be grouped with some neighbouring parish or parishes under a common Parish Council 1 (s. 38 (4)).

Where the population of the parish according to the last published census for the time being, is less than 200, the Parish Meeting may petition the County Council for the dissolution of the Parish Council's (s. 39 (2)).

POWERS OF PARISH MEETING FOR PARISH NOT HAVING A SEPARATE PARISH COUNCIL

The Parish Meeting for a parish without a separate Parish Council may apply to the County Council to establish a Parish Council or for a grouping order. So long as the parish is not under the jurisdiction of a Parish Council, the Parish Meeting have certain powers of a Parish Council.

If the Parish Meeting of a parish with a population of 100, but less than 300, so resolve, the County Council must provide for establishing a Parish Council in the parish.

The consent of a Parish Meeting is necessary to the establishment by the County Council of a Parish Council in a parish of a population less than 100.

Where the population of a parish not having a separate Parish Council increases so as to justify the election of a separate Parish Council, the Parish Meeting may petition the County Council to order the election of a Parish Council in that parish * (s. 39 (1)).

Such a petition may be made whether or not the parish has been grouped with some neighbouring parish or parishes.

The consent of the respective Parish Meetings is requisite to the grouping of parishes under a common Parish Council (s. 1 (1)).

The Parish Meeting of any parish may apply to the County Council for a grouping order, and if the population is less than 200, for a Parish Council 4 (s. 38 (4)).

A grouping order may provide for the consent of the Parish Meeting to any particular act of the Parish Council's (s. 38 (1)).

 Chapter III deals with grouping orders.

The Parish Meeting of any parish forming part of a group of Dissolution of parishes, may apply to the County Council to make an order dissolving the group 1 (s. 38).

A group may be dissolved under this provision without establishing a Parish Council in any of the parishes forming part of the group.

The following powers are conferred by section 19 of the Act on the Parish Meeting of a parish not having a separate Parish Council. These powers are, where the parish is grouped with some neighbouring parish or parishes under a common Parish Council, subject to the provisions of the order constituting the group—

(1.) All powers, duties, and liabilities of the vestry, except so far Powers of ve as they relate to the affairs of the church or to ecclesiastical charities, or are transferred by the Act to any other authority.2

Under this provision the Parish Meeting would exercise any power that the Vestry might have had of appointing trustees or beneficiaries of non-ecclesiastical charities. In a parish with a Parish Council the power is transferred to that Council, see page 75.

(2.) Powers of a Parish Council with respect to the stopping of diversion of a nublic right of way, or the declaring of a high-peraults of peraults of way to be unnecessary and not repairable at the public district counce. expense,³ and with respect to a complaint to a County Council of a default by a District Council.

The Parish Meeting will not possess the power conferred on the Parish Council (see page 75) of appointing additional trustees in the case of certain non-ecclesiastical charities, except where the management of a charity is vested in a sole trustee; but the annual accounts and any draft-scheme relating to non-ecclesiastical charities, are required to be laid before the Parish Meeting (see page 77).

Powers of Parish Council.

On the application of the Parish Meeting, the County Council may confer on that Meeting any of the powers conferred on a Parish Council by the Act. 3

Under this important provision, a Parish without a separate Parish Council may exercise by means of the parish meeting any of the powers of a Parish Council, without incurring the burden of the establishment of a council.

Parish Councils—Establishment of—Constitution of— Meetings and Proceedings—Grouped Parishes— Provisions for Change in Population.

ESTABLISHMENT OF PARISH COUNCILS,

Population of 300. For every rural parish, which, according to the census of 1891 has a population of 300 or upwards, there will be a Parish Council; but in a parish of a population under 300 an order of the County Council will be necessary to provide for the establishing of a Parish Council.

Population of less than 300.

It will be obligatory upon the County Council to provide for establishing a Parish Council if the Parish Meeting of a parish with a population of 100 or upwards so resolve. In the case of a parish with a population of less than 100, the County Council may, with the consent of the Parish Meeting provide for establishing a Parish Council (s. 1 (1)). It will not be obligatory on the County Council to do so.

To supplement the provisions in section 1 (1), it is provided by section 38 (4) that the Parish Meeting of a parish with a less population than 200 may apply to the County Council for a Parish Council, and the County Council are to forthwith take the application into consideration.

This supplementary provision is now defective in form, for it makes no provision for the case of a parish with a population between 200 and 300. When the House of Lords raised the limit of population prescribed by clause I (I) for the purpose of the compulsory establishment of Parish Councils from 200 to 300 no consequential amendments were made in subsequent clauses of the Bill. But in every case where a Parish Meeting of a parish with a population less than 300, but not less than 100, resolve to have a Parish Council, it will be obligatory on the County County by section I (I) to provide for establishing that Council. The supplementary provision in section 38 (4) is not actually required.

Every parish with a population of 300 and upwards will by the operation of the Act have a Parish Council, but parishes with a CONSTITUTION OF PARISH COUNCIL.

A Parish Council will consist of a chairman, and such a number of Number of councillors, not being less than five nor more than fifteen, as may be fixed from time to time by the County Council. The councillors will Qualification of be elected from among the parochial electors of the parish, or persons who have during the whole of the twelve months preceding the nomination (s. 75 (2)) of parish councillors resided in or within three miles of the parish (s. 3 (1)), and both single and married women will be eligible for election 2 (s. 3 (2)).

The chairman may be elected either from within or without the council Chairman. (s. 3 (8)). If he is elected from within he will be both chairman and a councillor. If he is elected from without he will be a member of the council although not a councillor. The office of councillor and chairman are quite compatible and can be held by the same person.

But if the person has debarred himself of the liberty of returning to such dwelling by letting it for a period, however short, or has abandoned his intention of returning, he cannot any longer be said to have even a legal residence there. The term of office of parish councillors will be one year (s. 3 (3)), and it will expire on the 15th of April in each year, when the newly elected councillors come into office (s. 3 (4)).

Retirement of first councillors elected under the Act in November, 1894, will not retire from office until the 15th day of April, 1896 (s. 78 (3)).

The parish councillors are elected by the parochial electors (s. 3(5)) at a Parish Meeting or a poll consequent thereon (s. 48(1)), and the elections are to be conducted according to Rules framed by the Local Government Board (s. 3 (6)).

Candidates may attend.

At a Parish Meeting held for the election of parish councillors, opportunity is to be given for putting questions to the candidates present, and receiving explanations from them, and any candidate is present, and receiving explanations from them, and any candidate is to be entitled to attend and speak at the meeting, but, unless he is a parochial elector, not to vote (Schedule 1, Part 1, 1.9).

Failure to elect.

If at the annual election of parish councillors any vacancies are not filled by election and the artising councillors as are not filled by election, such number of the retiring councillors as are not re-elected, and are required to fill the vacancies, are, if willing, to continue to hold office. The councillors to continue will be those who were the highest on the poll at the previous election, or if the numbers were equal or there was no poll, as may be determined by the Parish Meeting, or if not so determined, by the chairman of the Parish Council. A retiring parish councillor is re-eligible.

Powers of County Council.

In case any Parish Council become unable to act by reason of a want of councillors, whether from failure to elect or otherwise, the County Council may order a new election, and may by order make such provision as seems expedient for authorising any person to act temporarily in the place of the Parish Council and of the chairman thereof (s. 47 (1) (2) (5)).

MEETINGS AND PROCEEDINGS.

In every year, on or within seven days after the 15th of April, the Annual meeting. Parish Council must hold an annual meeting (s. 3 (7)).

The first business at that meeting is to elect a chairman and to Chairman appoint the overseers' (Schedule 1, Part 2, r. 3). The chairman must either be a councillor or a person qualified to be a councillor. Unless he resigns or ceases to be qualified, or becomes disqualified, he is to continue in office until his successor is elected (s. 3 (8)). A retiring chairman will preside at the annual meeting at which his successor is elected. He is himself eligible for re-election at the annual meeting (s. 47 (2)).

The Parish Council may, if they think fit, appoint one of their Vice-chairman. number to be vice-chairman, and the vice-chairman will, in the absence or during the inability of the chairman, have the powers and authority of the chairman (Schedule 1, Part 2, r. 11).

The chairman may be elected from either within or without the council, but any choice of a vice-chairman must be made from among the councillors. To what extent the vice-chairman will have the powers and authority of the chairman is not expressly stated, but the provision occurs among rules applicable to Parish Councils, and its operation must be restricted accordingly. The vice-chairman would not, for instance, be entitled to convene or preside at the Parish Meeting.3

Acceptance of office.

Every parish councillor must, at the first meeting after his election, or if the council at the first meeting so permit, then at a later meeting fixed by the council, sign, in the presence of some member of the council, a declaration that he accepts the office, and if he does not sign such a declaration his office will be void (r. 1). The chairman of the Parish Council, if elected from outside the council, is not required to make any declaration of acceptance of office. If he is elected from the council he will make the declaration as a parish councillor. A chairman once elected continues in office until he resigns, or ceases to be qualified or becomes disqualified, or until his successor is appointed (s. 3 (8)). His simple non-acceptance of office does not vacate the chairmanship.

Resignation.

A parish councillor may, by notice in writing to the chairman of the council, resign his office, and a chairman of a Parish Council may resign his chairmanship by notice in writing to the Council (s. 47 (3)). No fine is required to be paid on resignation of office.

A casual vacancy among parish councillors or in the office of chairman of the council will be filled by the Parish Council (s. 47 (4)), and the council are required to be forthwith convened, as soon as a casual vacancy occurs in their body, for the purpose of filling the vacancy (Schedule 1, Part 2, r. 2), but the proceedings of a Parish Council are not to be invalidated by any vacancy among their members, or by any defect in the election or qualification of any members (r. 12). The Parish Council, in filling casual vacancies, must elect persons who are qualified to be parish councillors. A quorum of the council must be formed before they proceed to the business of election.—

A Parish Council must hold not less than four meetings in each year, of which one is to be the annual meeting. Every meeting is to be open to the public unless the council otherwise direct (r. 13).

The chairman may at any time convene a meeting of the Parish Council. If the chairman refuses to convene a meeting of the council after a requisition for that purpose signed by two members of the council has been presented to him, any two members of the council may forthwith, on that refusal, convene a meeting. If the chairman (without so refusing) does not within seven days after such presentation, convene a meeting, any two members of the council

Three clear days notice of any meeting of a Parish Council, specifying the time and place of and the business to be transacted at the meeting, and signed by or on behalf of the chairman of the Parish Council or persons convening the meeting, must be given to every member, and in case of the annual meeting, notice specifying the like particulars must be given to every member of the Parish Council immediately after his election (Schedule 1, Part 2, r. 5).

This rule does not state who must give the notice of the annual meeting, but the chairman of the Parish Council will continue in office until his successor is elected at that annual meeting (s. 3 (8)). If the chairman fails to give the required notice, two of the newly elected councillors might proceed as authorised by rule 4, of part 2, of the first schedule. The "three clear days" are exclusive of the day on which the notice is given, and the day fixed for the meeting.-Liffin v. Pitcher (1 Dowl., N.S. 767).

No business can be transacted at any meeting of a Parish Council Quorum. unless at least one-third of the full number of members are present, but in no case is the quorum to be less than three 2 (r. 7).

The names of the members present at any meeting of the Parish Record of vote Council, as well as of those voting on each question on which a &c. division is taken, must be recorded, so as to show whether each vote given was for or against the question (r. 8). This rule precludes voting by ballot.

Every question at a meeting of a Parish Council is to be decided Majority to by a majority of votes of the members present and voting on that question (r. 9).

The majority required is not a majority of members present, but a majority of those who being present, vote on the question.

In case of an equal division of votes the chairman of the meeting Casting vote. has a second or casting vote (r. 10).

The casting vote is in addition to any vote which the chairman may give as a member of the council. He has an original vote,3 whether elected from within or without the council, as when elected chairman he becomes a member of the council (s. 3 (1)).

Any notice required by law to be given to the chairman or any Notices general other member of the Parish Council may be left at or sent by post to the usual place of abode of such chairman or member (Schedule 1, Part 2, r. 6).

Minutes of the proceedings of every Parish Council must be kept in a book (Schedule 1, Part 3, r. 1), and a minute of proceedings at a meeting of a Parish Council or of a Committee? of a Parish Council signed at the same or the next ensuing meeting by a person describing himself as or appearing to be chairman of the meeting at which the minute is signed, will be received in evidence without further proof (r. 2).

Until the contrary is proved, every meeting in respect of the proceedings whereof a minute has been so made is to be deemed to have been duly convened and held, and all the members of the meeting to have been duly qualified (r. 3).

The Parish Council will be a body corporate by the name of the Parish Council, with the addition of the name of the parish, or if there is any doubt as to the latter name, of such name as the County Council after consultation with the Parish Meeting of the parish Divested of technicalities, this means that the title of a Parish Council will be "The Parish Council for the parish of [Denton]" They will have perpetual succession, and may hold land for the purposes of their powers and duties without licence in mortmain; and any act of the council may be signified by an instrument executed at a meeting of the council, and under the hands or, if an instrument under seal is required, under the hands and seals of the chairman presiding at the meeting and two other members of the council (s. 3 (9)). Any instrument purporting to be so executed is until the contrary is proved, to be deemed to have been duly so executed (Schedule 1, Part 3, r. 4).

Although the provision in section 3 (9) with respect to the sealing of instruments is couched in permissive terms, it seems by implication parishes under a common Parish Council. There will be a separate Parish Meeting for every parish so grouped, and no parish can be grouped without the consent of its Parish Meeting (s. 1 (1)).

plication of ish meeting grouping

The Parish Meeting of any parish may apply to the County Council for a grouping order, and any such application is required to be forthwith taken into consideration by the County Council (s. 38 (4)).

In terms, these provisions with respect to grouping apply to any parish irrespective of its population, but they must be read with that provision of section I (I) which directs that there shall be a Parish Council for every rural parish which has a population of 300 or upwards.

That provision establishes in parishes with a population of 300 and upwards, a Parish Council which comes into office on the appointed day, and in those parishes the Parish Meeting will, except for the purpose of elections, have no prior existence (s. 84 (4)). A grouping order cannot be made before the appointed day, as the consent of the Parish Meeting is necessary to the grouping of a parish (s. 1 (1)). But although Parish Councils will have been established in every parish with a population of not less than 300, a grouping order may, after the appointed day, be made for any such parish with the consent of its Parish Meeting. A grouping order may make any adaptations of the Act to the group of parishes. (s. 38 (1)).

Group to be in one Local Group to be in Where parishes are grouped the whole area under each Parish Government area Council must, unless the County Council for special reasons otherwise direct, be within the same Administrative County and County District.

Provisions of order.

A grouping order must make the necessary provisions for the name of the group, for the Parish Meetings in each of the grouped parishes and for the election of separate representatives of each parish on the Parish Council, and for the application of the provisions of the Act with respect to the appointment of trustees and beneficiaries of a charity,1 and the custody of documents,2 so as to preserve the separate rights of each parish.

The order may provide for the consent of the Parish Meeting of a parish to any particular act of the Parish Council, and for any other adaptations of the Act to the group of parishes, or to the Parish Meetings in the group.

Order dissolving group.

The County Council may, on the application of the Council for any group of Parishes or of the Parish Meeting for any parish included in a group of parishes, make an order dissolving the group.

order is to make such provision as appears necessary for the election Order dissolvi of Parish Councils of the parishes in the group and for the adjustment of property rights and liabilities as between separate parishes and the group (s. 38).

A grouping order and an order dissolving a group of parishes are by section 36 (10) to be deemed to be orders under section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888, but they do not require confirmation by the Local Government Board (s. 40).

PROVISIONS FOR CHANGE IN POPULATION.

Where the population increases so as to justify the election of a Petition for Parish Council separate Parish Council, the Parish Meeting may petition the County Council, and the County Council, if they think proper, may order the election of a Parish Council in that parish. The order must make such provision as appears necessary for separating the parish from any group of parishes in which it is included, and for the alteration of the Parish Council of the group and for the adjustment of property, rights, and liabilities as between the group and the parish with a separate Parish Council (s. 39) 1).

The petition under this provision may be made by a Parish Meeting whether the parish does or does not form part of a group.

In the case of a parish which was grouped when its population was under 100, an increase of its population to 100 or upwards might justify the election of a Parish Council. But where the Parish Meeting had consented to the grouping of the parish whilst its population was over 100, some material increase in the population of the parish might be necessary to justify the re-arrangement of the group formed with the consent of its Parish Meeting. An increase of population to 300, the limit under the Act for the compulsory establishment in the first instance of a Parish Council would seem in most cases to justify the election of a separate Parish Council. But in any case the initiative of the Parish Meeting is necessary as the County Council can issue an order only on the petition of that meeting. It must be remembered that the general provisions of section 1 as to the establishment of Parish Councils have reference to populations determined by the Census of 1891, and that in a parish with a population of 300 according to that census there must be a Parish Council, but in a parish with a less population there will be no Parish Council without the consent of the Parish Meeting. Should the population at a subsequent census be found to have increased to 300 or upwards, it will still rest with the Parish Meeting whether they take any steps for the establishment of a Parish Council. If they do not petition ition to olve Parish ncll. The County Council, if they think proper, may, upon the petition of the Parish Meeting of a parish, the population of which according to the last published census is less than 200, order the dissolution of the Parish Council, and from and after the date of the order the Act will apply to that parish as to a parish not having a Parish Council. The order is to make such provision as appears necessary for carrying it into effect, and for the disposal and adjustment of the property, rights, and liabilities of the Parish Council. Where a petition for such an order is rejected, another petition for the same purpose may not be presented within two years from the presentation of the previous petition (s. 39 (2)). The Parish Council can only be dissolved if the Parish Meeting petition the County Council; but it will be optional with the County Council to dissolve a Parish Council.

Owing to the changes in the Bill consequent on the raising of the limit of population in section 1 from 200 to 300 by the House of Lords not having been made, there is no provision in the Act for dissolving a Parish Council where the population is between 200 and 300.

ler requires confirmation. An order establishing or dissolving a Parish Council is by section 36-(10) to be deemed to be an order under section 57 of the Local Government Act 1888.¹ The order does not require the confirmation of the Local Government Board (s. 40).

THE Local Government Act, 1894, transfers from the Justices, Vestry, Transfer of Overseers, and Churchwardens and Overseers to the Parish Council, and in some cases to the Parish Meeting of a parish without a separate Parish Council,1 certain powers, and confers on the Parish Council many additional powers.

All enactments in any Act, whether general, or local and personal, Construction of enactments. relating to any powers, duties, or liabilities so transferred, are, subject to the provisions of the Act, and, so far as circumstances admit, to be construed as if any reference therein to Justices or to the Vestry, or to the Overseers, or to the Churchwardens and Overseers, referred to the Parish Council or Parish Meeting as the case requires, and such enactments are to be construed with such modifications as may be necessary for carrying the Act into effect (s. 52 (5)).

PARISH OFFICERS.

The power and duty of appointing overseers of the poor, and the Overseers and power of appointing and revoking the appointment of an assistant overseer for every rural parish having a Parish Council, is transferred to and vested in the Parish Council (s. 5 (1)), and for every rural parish not having a separate Parish Council (subject to the provisions

But a valid appointment of overseers, subject to the power given to the guardians to make the appointment, if no notice has been received by them within three weeks after the 15th of April in each year of the appointment by the Parish Council, might, no doubt be made at a subsequent meeting of the Parish Council, as the enactment which required the justices to appoint the overseers within fourteen days after the 25th of March, was held to be directory only in Rex v. Sparrow, 2 Str. 1,123; Reg. v. Justices of Staffordshire, 10 L. J. M. C. 166. No direction as to the time for the appointment of the overseers by the Parish Meeting of a parish without a separate Parish Council is given by the Act. It would be convenient for them to make the appointment at their annual assembly 1 and in any case it should be made not later than within three weeks after the 15th day of April (s. 50).

Casual vacancy.

A casual vacancy in the office of overseer is to be filled by the Parish Council as soon as may be (s. 5 (1)).

Where the Parish Meeting have the power of appointing the overseers, they also should fill any casual vacancy as soon as possible.

be made at the annual meetings of the Parish Council or Parish Meeting, as the case may be, in 1895, and until then the overseers appointed by the justices in 1894 will hold office. A casual vacancy in the office of overseer after the Parish Council comes into office, or the Parish Meeting is constituted, should be filled by that Council or Meeting, as the case may be, but until then the filling of any casual vacancy would rest with the justices under the Poor Relief Act, 1743 (17 Geo. II. c. 38), s. 3. If the Parish Council or Parish Meeting determine in the period between the appointed day and the first ordinary appointment of overseers that to replace the churchwardens, who will cease to be overseers, an additional number of overseers should be appointed under section 5 (2), there seems no reason why the appointment of the additional overseers should not be made at once by the Parish Council or Meeting without waiting until a new body of overseers is appointed.

No appointment of assistant overseer is to be made by guardians Guardians not to from and after the appointed day (s. 81 (6)), but all existing assistant overseers. overseers retain office (s. 81 (4)).

Under the Poor Relief Act, 1601 (43 Eliz. c. 2, s. 1), the church-wardens of every parish, and four, three, or two substantial house-qualification holders there (as shall be thought meet, having respect to the proportion and greatness of the same parish and parishes), to be nominated yearly by two justices, were to be called Overseers of the Poor. A person who is not a householder of the parish, provided he is assessed to the poor rate of the parish, and is a householder resident within two miles from the church or chapel of the parish, or where there is no church or chapel, resident within one mile from the boundary of the parish, may, with his consent, be appointed overseer [Poor Relief Act, 1819, (59 Geo. III. c. 12), s. 6]. Where two overseers cannot be conveniently appointed from the inhabitant householders in any parish, one overseer only may be appointed; and where there is no such householder liable or fit to be appointed, some inhabitant householder of an adjoining parish willing to be overseer, either with or without an annual salary, to be paid out of the poor rate is to be appointed from year to year as may be found necessary [Poor Law Amendment Act, 1866, (29 & 30 Vict. c. 113), s. 11].

After the appointed day the number of overseers appointed may be six, two being in place of the churchwardens (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 5 (2)). A person who is churchwarden may be appointed an an overseer (29 & 30 Vict. c. 113, s. 12), although a churchwarden is not as such an overseer (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 5 (2)). There will be no nomination of persons fit to serve the office of overseer by the Parish Meeting of a parish with a separate Parish Council. The practice which prevailed in many parishes of nominating at a Vestry Meeting persons from whom the justices might appoint overseers was not based upon statutory authority, and the justices were not bound to appoint overseers from among the persons so nominated.

The interpretation to be given to the expression "substantial "Substantial householder." householder" must depend upon the circumstances of a parish. In a parish with only three houses and no opulent householders, the appointment of a labourer has been upheld, and there is nothing in the nature of the office to render a woman incompetent.—Rex v. Stubbs (2 T. R. 395).

Assistant overseers have hitherto been nominated by the vestry and appointed by the justices, under section 7 of the 59 Geo. III. c. 12, but in some parishes an assistant overseer could not be appointed on account of the guardians of the union having been empowered by orders of the Poor Law Commissioners and their successors to appoint assistant overseers or collectors of poor rates with the powers of assistant overseers. Both the powers of the justices and of the guardians in this matter cease under the Local Government Act, 1894, but existing officers are continued in office, and until the office assistant overscers. were vacant the Parish Council could not appoint an assistant overseer to perform the same duties as an existing officer. certain circumstances a collector of rates or an assistant overseer appointed by the guardians may be appointed by the Parish Council to perform the duties of an overseer, as provided by the Act of Geo. III. [Poor Law Amendment Act, 1844 (7 & 8 Vict. c. 101), s. 61]. An appointment of assistant overseer may be made without limitation of the period, or may be made for a limited period. A bond, with or without sureties, may be taken for the faithful discharge of his duties in such penalty as the Parish Council or Meeting, as the case may be, think fit. The bond must be given to the overseers.

The duties of an assistant overseer are determined and specified Salary, &c. and his yearly salary fixed by his appointment. His salary is expressly required to be paid out of the poor rate, and it will not form part of the expenses of the Parish Council or Parish Meeting, as it can under the statute be paid by the overseers without any order for payment by the Parish Council or Parish Meeting, as the case may be. This seems to be so, even where the performance of his duties as clerk of the Parish Council are under section 17 (2) of the Local Government Act, 1894, taken into account in determining his salary. An assistant overseer continues in office until he resigns, or until Term of office. his appointment is revoked. When the salary of an assistant overseer is altered, his appointment should be revoked and a fresh appointment made at the altered salary. Not only may the Parish Council or Parish Meeting, as the case may be, revoke the appointment of an assistant overseer, but he may also be removed by an order of the Local Government Board for incompetency, neglect of duties, or other misconduct. If so removed he is not competent to fill any paid office connected with the relief of the poor of the parish, except with the consent of the Local Government Board (4 & 5 A conviction for felony, fraud or perjury, Will. IV. c. 76, s. 48). Corrupt practices disqualify for the office, vacates the office (s. 49). as in the case of an overseer.1

Revocation of appointment.

An overseer cannot be appointed an assistant overseer (29 & 30 Vict. c. 113, s. 10), but there is nothing to prevent a churchwarden being after the appointed day appointed an assistant overseer, for a churchwarden, as such, then ceases to be an overseer (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 5(2)). A master of a workhouse is disqualified, and so is a relieving officer, unless authorised to hold the office by the Local Government Board (13 & 14 Vict. c. 101, s. 6).

It is very usual to appoint an assistant overseer to execute and Duties of perform all such duties as appertain to and are incident to the office of overseer. an overseer of the poor, but his duties may by the appointment be more restricted. In the absence of express limitation of the duties to be performed, the assistant overseer will be taken as having been appointed to perform all the ordinary duties of an overseer.—Points v. Attwood (18 L. J., C. P. 19). The duties of the office may be discharged by a person who does not reside in the parish.

Any existing assistant overseer in a parish for which a Parish Council is elected, becomes, unless he was appointed by a Board of Guardians, an officer of the Parish Council (s. 81 (3)).

CHAP.

The Vestries Act, 1850 (13 & 14 Vict. c. 57), could be adopted in a parish with a population exceeding 2,000, but very few rural parishes have vestry clerks. Section 7 of the Act sets out their duties at length. No future appointment to the office can be made in a rural parish.

Appointment of clerk of Parish Council,

Subject to any existing vestry clerk becoming clerk of the Parish Council, the Council may appoint one of their number to act as clerk without remuneration.

If no member of the Council is appointed to act as clerk, the assistant overseer, if any, or such one of the assistant overseers, if more than one, as may be appointed by the Council, will be their clerk. Where there is one assistant overseer only he becomes, if there is no vestry clerk and no member of the Parish Council is appointed clerk, without any appointment by the Parish Council, clerk to that Council. It is obligatory upon the assistant overseer, or, where there is more than one, the assistant overseer appointed by the Parish Council to be their clerk, to perform the duties of clerk; but the performance of those duties is to be taken into account in determining his of those duties is to be taken into account in determining his salary.¹

If there is no assistant overseer, the Parish Council may appoint a collector of poor rates, or some other fit person, to be their clerk, with such remuneration as they may think fit.

When the Council act as a parochial committee by delegation from the District Council they are to have the services of the clerk of the District Council, unless the District Council otherwise direct.³

Treasurer.

The Parish Council may appoint one of their own number or some other person to act as treasurer without remuneration, and the treasurer must give such security as may be required by regulations of the County Council (s. 17). The required security will have to be given to the County Council.

Every such officer, vestry clerk, and assistant overseer, will continue to hold his office by the same tenure and upon the same terms and conditions as heretofore, and while performing the same duties will receive not less salary or remuneration (s. 81 (4)).

are transferred to the Parish Council (s. 6 (1)).

Under this provision, the Parish Council practically takes over all the powers of the Vestry, except those relating to church affairs and ecclesiastical charities, and the powers under the Act to be exercised by the Parish Meeting with respect to the adoptive Acts, and the powers which the Vestry had with respect to highways. But the powers of the Vestry as to highways will be exercised by the Parish Highways. Council in parishes now separately maintaining their own highways during such term, if any, as the County Council may, under section 25 (1) postpone the transfer of powers of any highway authority to the Rural District Council. In the year 1894, the election of Surveyors of Highways, and of Parish Boards for the Repairs of the Highways, surveyor in 1894. takes place as usual.

The Vestry continues to exist for purposes connected with Vestry continues the affairs of the church and ecclesiastical charities. No general purposes. explanation of the expression "affairs of the church," is contained in the Act, but it includes the distribution of offertories, and other collections made in any church (s. 75 (2)). It will, without doubt, include the election of churchwardens, who, under the Act, generally cease to be secular officers, and such matters as the levying of a voluntary church rate.

The powers of the Vestry transferred to the Parish Council include all the powers of the inhabitants of the parish, whether in vestry assembled or not, and of any Select Vestry, either by statute or at common law (s. 75 (2)); but there are few, if any, rural parishes where the powers of the Vestry transferred to the Parish Council will include any exceptional powers.

Among the powers transferred from the Vestry to the Parish Towers of vest Council the following may be mentioned: -

2 See page 74.

As to compensation to existing officers, see page 184.

Powers transferred from Vestry. Voluntary payment of poor rate by owners, The Parish Council will have control over agreements voluntarily made by the owners of rateable hereditaments not exceeding £8 in rateable value with the overseers to become liable for the poor rates for any term not being less than one year, whether the premises are occupied or not, and to receive a commission not exceeding 25 per cent. on the amount of the rates [Poor Rate Assessment and Collection Act, 1869 (32 & 33 Vict. c. 41) s. 3].

Compulsory rating of owners.

The Parish Council may from time to time order that the owners of all such rateable hereditaments in which dwelling houses are included shall be rated instead of the occupiers (s. 4). When the order has been made, the owners of all such rateable hereditaments must be rated by the overseers, and an abatement of 15 per cent. be made from the amount of the rate. If an owner gives notice in writing to the overseers that he is willing to be rated, for any term not being less than one year, in respect of all such rateable hereditaments of which he is the owner, whether occupied or not, the overseers are to rate the owner accordingly, and allow him a further abatement not exceeding 15 per cent.

Parish constables

Where quarter sessions consider it necessary that one or more parish constables should be appointed, the Parish Council on receipt of a precept from the justices requiring lists of men qualified to serve as parish constables, must within fourteen days of receipt of the precept make out a list of such number as is named in the precept of men residing within their parish who are qualified and liable to serve as constables, and they may annex the names of others, although not qualified, who are willing to serve (5 & 6 Vict. c. 109, ss. 2, 3; 35 & 36 Vict. c. 92, ss. 2, 3).

Every able-bodied man, unless exempt or disqualified, resident within the parish, between the ages of 25 and 55 years, rated to the relief of the poor, or to the county rate on any tenements of the rateable value of \pounds_4 or upwards is qualified and liable to serve as constable of the parish (5 & 6 Vict. c. 109, s. 5).

Numerous persons are exempted or disqualified for the office. They are practically the same persons as are exempted or disqualified from serving the office of overseer (see 5 & 6 Vict. c. 109, ss. 6, 7; 13 & 14 Vict. c. 101, s. 6).

Parishes may be united by the justices for the appointment of parish constables (5 & 6 Vict. c. 109, s. 4).

A copy of the list made by the Parish Council is to be fixed by the overseers on the first three Sundays in March upon the doors of the principal churches and chapels, stating the time and place for the hearing of objections to the list by the justices (5 & 6 Vict. c. 109, s. 8).

The Parish Council may on receipt of the precept of the justices resolve that one or more paid constables be appointed at a salary fixed by them, and such paid constables may be appointed by the justices in petty sessions (35 & 36 Vict. c. 92, s. 4).

The fee for each entry is 6d., which is to be paid by the person carrying on the business [Knackers Act, 1786 (26 Geo. III., c. 71), s. 5]. This enactment has in many places fallen into desuetude, and has seldom been acted upon by the vestry.

If the County Council postpone the operation of section 25, which Highways transfers to the Rural District Council the powers of existing Highway Authorities, the Parish Council, if the parish separately maintained its own highways, would have to elect the Surveyor, or Board of Surveyors of Highways, and if the parish was in a Highway District would have to elect a Waywarden as the representative of the parish on the Highway Board.

Parish Council.

Section 18 of the Burial Act, 1855, which is the enactment referred to in section 6 (1) (b) of the Local Government Act, 1894, provides that where an order in council is issued for the discontinuance of burials in any churchyard, the churchwardens shall maintain the churchyard in decent order, and also do the necessary repair of the walls and other fences, and the expenses shall be repaid by the overseers upon the certificate of the churchwardens out of the poor rate, unless there is any other fund legally chargeable with such expenses. The effect of the provision in the Local Government Act, 1894, is that unless and until a certificate is given by the churchwardens after the 5th of March, 1894, the maintenance and repair of a closed churchyard will remain in the hands of the churchwardens, but directly any such certificate is issued, the transfer to the Parish Council of the obligations of the churchwardens in the matter will take place. The transfer depends upon the date of the giving of the certificate, and not upon the period when the expenses to which the certificate relates were incurred. If the certificate is given after the passing of the Act, but before the coming into office of the Parish Council, the transfer of the obligations awaits the coming into office of the Council, and the obligations become vested in the Parish Council immediately upon their coming into office. and overseers.

- basis of the county rate; and

 (ii.) the provision of parish books and of a vestry room or parochial office, parish chest, fire engine, fire escape, or matters relating thereto are transferred to the Parish Council (s. 6 (1) (c)).

These powers will, subject to any provisions made by a grouping order, be retained by the overseers in a parish without a Parish Council. Any notice required to be given to the Parish Council in connection with the transferred powers may be served on their clerk (Schedule 1, Part 2, r. 15).

Appeals against valuation list.

If the Parish Council of any parish in any union have reason to think that the parish is aggrieved by the valuation list of any parish within the union, they may within 28 days after the deposit of the list for inspection give to the Union Assessment Committee, and to the Parish Council or overseers, as the case may be, of the parish concerning the valuation list of which objection is made, a notice in writing specifying the grounds of objection [Union Assessment Committee Act, 1862 (25 & 26 Vict. c. 103), s. 18]; but with the consent of the Parish Council or overseers concerned, the Committee may hear the objection although the notice to the Council or overseers has not been given (s. 19). After all objections have been heard and determined, and the valuation list has been approved by the Union Assessment Committee (ss. 20, 21, 30), a further appeal is open to the Parish Council. If they have reason to think that the parish is aggrieved by being valued too high, or by another parish being valued too low, they may appeal to quarter sessions against the valuation list of the parish which appears to be over valued or under valued. Fourteen days' notice in writing previous to the first day of quarter sessions of the intention to appeal, and the grounds of the appeal must be given to the guardians of the union, and where the appeal is made against the valuation list of any other parish to the Parish Council or overseers, as the case may be, of that other parish (s. 32). The contributions to the common fund of the union and rates are made upon the basis of the approved valuation lists.

Appeals against valuation list.

A person aggrieved by any poor rate may under 17 Geo. II. c. 38, s. 4, and the Quarter Sessions Act, 1849 (12 & 13 Vict. c. 45), s. 1, appeal to the next general or quarter sessions. Fourteen clear days notice in writing stating the grounds of the appeal must be given to the Parish Council or the overseers, as the case may be, but with the consent of the Council or the overseers the appeal may be heard without notice, or although the grounds of appeal were misstated [The Poor Rate Act, 1801 (41 Geo. III. c. 23), s. 5]. No appeal can be made against a poor rate in conformity with the valuation list, unless the appellant has made objection to the Union Assessment Committee, and has failed to obtain such relief as he deems just [The Union Assessment Committee Amendment Act, 1864 (27 & 28 Vict. c. 39), s. 1].

Appeals against

The preparation and revision of the basis or standard for the Appeals against county rate is part of the administrative business of the County Council, and is managed by a committee of their members. basis determines the amount of contributions due from each parish for county purposes. If the Parish Council have reason to think that the parish is aggrieved by such basis or standard they may appeal to quarter sessions. The grounds of appeal by the Parish Council are the omission of parishes, or on account of their parish being rated on a sum beyond the full and fair annual value of the property therein, or on account of some other parish being rated on a sum less than the full and fair annual value of the property therein. Twenty-one days' notice in writing must be given where the appeal is in respect of a parish being over valued to the clerk of the peace, and in other cases to the Parish Council or overseers, as the case may be, of the parish to which the appeal has reference [The County Rates Act, 1852 (15 & 16 Vict. c. 81), s. 17]. An appeal against the county rate made upon the basis or standard may also be made by Powers transferred from churchwardens and overseers. the Parish Council to quarter sessions on similar grounds, or on any other just cause of complaint. Fourteen days' notice must be given to the parties against whose rate the appeal is to be made, also to the clerk of the peace and the hundred constable (s. 22).

The churchwardens and overseers were required by section 2 of the Vestries Act, 1818 (58 Geo. III. c. 69), to provide a book in which the minutes of the proceedings and resolutions of every vestry was to be fairly and distinctly entered. Such a book may still be required to be provided by the Parish Council for the purposes of the vestry when it meets for the affairs of the church or ecclesiastical charities. A book will also be necessary for the minutes of the Parish Council and Parish Meeting (Schedule 1, Part 2, r. 1).

Vestry rooms and parochial offices.

Vestry rooms may be provided in parishes where the population exceeds, 2,000, and parochial offices where the population exceeds 4,000. The Local Government Board may, upon written application from the Parish Council of any parish with a population exceeding 2,000, according to the last preceding census, order that the Vestries Act, 1850, shall be applied to and put in force in the parish (13 & 14 Vict. c. 57, s. 1). Under the Act rooms may be hired, or lands or buildings purchased or leased or exchanged, or lands belonging to the parish may be sold, and the proceeds invested in the purchase of other lands or buildings, or suitable buildings may be erected for the purpose of holding any vestry or other meeting for the transaction of any business of, or relating to, the parish.

With the consent of the Local Government Board, the Parish Council of any parish with a population exceeding 4,000, according to the last census, may exercise similar powers under section 1 of the Parochial Offices Act, 1861 (24 & 25 Vict. c. 125), in order to provide or erect a suitable building for the purpose of an office for the transaction of the business of the parish.

No power of compulsory acquisition of land is conferred by these enactments, but the Parish Council have such a power under section 9 of the Local Government Act, 1894.² So far as a rural parish with a Parish Council is concerned, these enactments cease to have much practical value, as more extensive powers of providing buildings for public offices and for meetings are conferred on every Parish Council by section 8 (1) of the Local Government Act, 1894.

Parish chest.

The transfer of the powers and duties of the churchwardens and overseers with respect to a parish chest seems to have reference to the provision of proper depositories which the overseers might provide under 24 & 25 Vict. c. 125, s. 2, but it may include the power and duty to provide the iron chest mentioned in 52 Geo. III. c. 146, s. 5.

Powers trans-ferred from churchwardens chward and overseers.

The Parish Council may provide proper depositories for all the documents, books, and papers belonging to the parish, for which no provision is made by law, and charge the cost upon the poor rate1 (24 & 25 Vict. c. 125, s. 2).

Where there is no other authority competent to provide the Fire engine. same³, the Parish Council may resolve to provide a fire engine, ladder, or fire escape for general use in the parish, and provide a place wherein to keep the same and maintain it, as well as any such engine, ladder, or escape acquired by the parish in any other manner for such use, in a fit state of repair. They may also pay the charges of persons necessary for the use thereof, and the cost of suitable implements and accoutrements [Poor Law Amendment Act, 1867 (30 & 31 Vict. c. 106) s. 29].

The legal interest in all property vested either in the overseers or in Parish Property the churchwardens and overseers of a rural parish, other than property connected with the affairs of the church, or held for an ecclesiastical charity, is, if there is a Parish Council, to vest in that Council, subject to all trusts and liabilities affecting the same, and all persons concerned must make or concur in making such transfers, if any, as are requisite for giving effect to this enactment (s. 5 (2) (c)).

No formal transfer is necessary in the case of land or buildings, as this enactment, without any instrument, effectually and conclusively vests such property in the Parish Council; but, in the case of stocks, shares, and other securities, a formal transfer to give effect to the enactment will be required, as the register of such securities is generally conclusive of ownership so far as purchasers without notice are concerned.

Stocks, shares, and securities.

Section 17 of the Poor Relief Act, 1819 (59 Geo. III. c. 12), empowered the churchwardens and overseers of a parish to hold on behalf of the parish all buildings, lands, and hereditaments belonging to the parish, and incorporated them for that purpose. Under other enactments, also, property may have been vested in the same body, as, for instance, an allotment for a recreation ground or other public purpose made under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882. In whatever manner the property may have been vested in the churchwardens and overseers, the effect of the provision in the Local Government Act is simply to transfer the bare legal estate to the Parish Council. The beneficial interest will remain unaffected and be enjoyed as before the transfer. Property connected with the affairs of the church or held for an ecclesiastical charity will not be transferred, nor will property vested in the overseers, or in the churchwardens and overseers jointly, with another person or persons as, for instance, the rector, vicar, or curate.

Vesting order inder Charitable Trusts Acts.

Where the legal estate is vested in the churchwardens and overseers by virtue of the Poor Relief Act, 1819, nothing in the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853 to 1891, is to be deemed to require the consent of the churchwardens and overseers in their capacity as a corporation under that Act, or of the Parish Council as their successors, to a vesting order under those Acts dealing with the legal estate; but this provision is not to affect any rights, powers, or duties of the churchwardens and overseers or the Parish Council, in cases where they have active powers of management (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 52 (4)). This provision does not apply to the chairman and overseers of a parish without a separate Parish Council, see page 26.

In some instances, as stated just now, the churchwardens and overseers hold, under section 17 of the Poor Relief Act, 1819, the legal estate in property, the management and proceeds of which are entrusted to others for charitable purposes. Over the disposal of such property, the Charity Commissioners have jurisdiction, but the consent of the corporation in which land is vested is, by section 48 of the Charitable Trusts Act, 1853 (16 & 17 Vict. c. 137), necessary to a vesting order of the Charity Commissioners. Such consent ceases to be requisite for the vesting of the legal estate where property is held by the Parish Council and their predecessors under the Act of 1819. Any active powers of management possessed by them will remain unaffected.

Property vested in the churchwardens and overseers for civil purposes becomes in every case vested in the Parish Council, if there is a Council, and the Council holds the property subject to the same trusts and liabilities, if any, as attached to it when held by the parish officers. Although the property is vested in the parish officers, other persons may, under the trusts, have the powers of management. Property held for purposes connected with a parish is also often held by trustees and not by the parish officers. In both cases the Local Government Act, 1894, gives the trustees the option to divest themselves of their responsibilities by a transfer to the Parish Council.

Where trustees hold any property for the purposes of a public recreation ground, or of public meetings, or of allotments, whether under Inclosure Acts or otherwise, for the benefit of the inhabitants of a rural parish, or any of them, or for any public purpose connected with a rural parish, except for an ecclesiastical charity, they may, with the approval of the Charity Commissioners, transfer the property to the Parish Council of the parish, or to persons appointed by that Council, and the Parish Council, if they accept the transfer, or their appointees, will hold the property on the trusts and subject to the conditions on which it was held by the trustees (s. 14 (1)).

Any persons administering or managing the property are included as trustees for the purposes of this provision (s. 75 (2)).

Trustees may hold allotments under the Inclosure Act, 1845 (8 & 9 Vict. c. 118), section 73, to be appropriated as a place of exercise and recreation, or for other public purposes. Under Local Inclosure Acts, allotment wardens, trustees, or other functionaries often hold allotment lands for the benefit of the poor, or for field gardens or recreation grounds, or other public purposes. Any such trustees, or persons in the position of such trustees, whether holding the property under Inclosure Acts or otherwise, may, with the approval of the Charity Commissioners, act upon the permissive power conferred upon them by section 14 (1) to transfer the property to the Parish Council or their appointees.

The overseers, whenever they are required by the district auditor or Terrier of parisl the Local Government Board, must accurately and truly make out a property list of the lands and tenements, and an inventory of stock, money, goods, and effects belonging to the parish, or given or applicable in aid of the poor rates.¹ The list is technically known as a "terrier." aid of the poor rates.1

The powers exerciseable with the approval of the Local Govern-Sale, &c., of ment Board by the Board of Guardians for the poor law union comprising the parish, in respect of the sale, exchange, or letting of any parish property, are to be exercised by the Parish Council. (s. 6(1)(d)).

Although the legal estate in parish property was vested in the overseers or in the churchwardens and overseers, the power of disposition belonged to the guardians of the poor law union, comprising the rural parish, under section 3 of the Union and Parish Property Act, 1835 (5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 69), which enabled the guardians, with the consent of a majority of the owners and ratepayers, and with the approbation

The legal estate is transferred to the Parish Council by section 5(2)(c) of the Local Government Act, 1894, and that Council are also to have the powers of the guardians, subject to the consent of the Parish Meeting, with respect to the disposition of parish property.

The power of disposition transferred from the guardians is, however, practically not required, having regard to the following general provision of the new Act, by which a Parish Council may let, or, with the consent of the Parish Meeting, sell or exchange any land or buildings vested in the Council, but the power of letting for more than a year, and the power of sale or exchange cannot be exercised in the case of property which has been acquired at the expense of any rate, or is at the passing of the Act (namely 5th March, 1894) applied in aid of any rate, or would but for want of income be so applied, without the consent of the Local Government Board, or in any other case without such consent or approval as is required under the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853 to 1891, for the sale of charity estates. No such consent or approval will, however, be required for the letting for allotments of land vested in the Parish Council (s. 8 (2)).

Where the property has not been acquired at the expense of any rate, or is not applied in aid of any rate, the Parish Council cannot make, except with the express authority of Parliament, or a court of competent jurisdiction, or according to a scheme legally established, or with the approval of the Charity Commissioners, any sale, mortgage, or charge of the charity estate, or any lease in reversion for more than three years of any existing term, or for any term of life, or in consideration wholly or in part of any fine or for any term exceeding twenty-one years [Charitable Trusts Amendment Act, 1855 (18 & 19 Vict. c. 124, s. 29)]. An exchange may be authorised by the Charity Commissioners, under section 24 of the Charitable Trusts Act, 1853 (16 & 17 Vict. c. 137). But the Parish Council may, under the Local Government Act, 1894, let for allotments without any of these formalities.

Management of arish property.

The powers, duties, and liabilities of the overseers or of the church-wardens and overseers with respect to the holding or management of parish property, not being property relating to affairs of the church or held for an ecclesiastical charity, and the holding or management of village greens, or of allotments, whether for recreation grounds or for gardens or otherwise for the benefit of the inhabitants or any of them, is transferred to the Parish Council (s. 6 (1) (z)).

The Commons Act, 1876 (39 & 40 Vict. c. 56), made important changes as to allotments under the Act of 1845. It provided that future allotments made for the purpose of a recreation ground should always be vested in the churchwardens and overseers (s. 25), and gave directions as to the application of surplus rents of recreation grounds and field gardens (s. 27). The Parish Council will now exercise these and other powers of the churchwardens and overseers under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882.

Motments.

An allotment made upon any inclosure under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882, for the labouring poor, was placed under the management of "The Allotment Wardens" of the parish, who consisted of the incumbent, one of the churchwardens yearly named, and two of the ratepayers, yearly chosen and appointed by the justices in the same manner as overseers (8 & 9 Vict. c. 118, s. 108). Committees for allotments made under local Acts of Inclosure and for poor allotments were required to be appointed annually by the allotment trustees and the vestry respectively, to exercise the powers of the appointing authority [Poor Allotments Management Act, 1873 (36 & 37 Vict. c. 19) ss. 3, 4]. A committee appointed by a vestry had to determine the applications of industrious cottagers of good character who desired to rent, under the provisions of 2 Will. IV. c. 42, fuel allotments made for the benefit of the poor of the parish. trustees of the allotments were entitled to vote on the applications made to the committee. Under the provision in section 6 (4) of the Local Government Act, 1894, the Parish Council exercise the powers and duties of the allotment wardens under the Act of 1845, and of any committee under the Act of 1873, and of any similar body under any other statute, whether public or local. They will also take the place of any managers appointed by a sanitary authority or a Rural District Council under section 6 (3), or elected by the Parliamentary electors under section 9 of the Allotments Act, 1887, to manage allotments provided under that Act or the Allotments Act, 1890. They can, under section 6 (3) of the Local Government Act, 1894, require allotments so provided to be entrusted to their management. Two of their number will become members of any committee to which a County Council prothe holdings are situate; and Two other members of the County Council; and

Two members of the Council of the Parish in which the holdings are situated (55 & 56 Vict. c. 31, s. 16).

A Parish Council have the same power of making a representation with respect to allotments, and of applying for the election of allotment managers, as is conferred on parliamentary electors by the Allotments Act, 1887 (50 & 51 Vict. c. 48), or the Allotments Act, 1890 (53 & 54 Vict. c. 65), but without prejudice to the power of those electors (s. 6 (3)). They have also the like power of petitioning the Court of the second of t ing the County Council as is given to six parliamentary electors by section 2 of the Act of 1890 (s. 9 (17)).

The Parish Council may represent to the Rural District Council that the circumstances of the parish are such that it is the duty of the

Where the Rural District Council have provided allotments, the Parish Council may petition the District Council for the election of allotment managers (50 & 51 Vict. c. 48, s. 9), and the effect of the petition will be to give to the Parish Council the powers of allotment managers under the Act (Local Government Act, 1894 s. 6 (4)), namely such powers as may be prescribed by the Council providing the allotments (50 & 51 Vict. c. 48, s. 6 (4)). Where the County Council have provided allotments there will be no need for the Parish Council to petition the County Council for the election of allotment managers, as the allotments themselves are to be conveyed to the Parish Council, who will manage them (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 9 (14)).

A Parish Council have the same power of making any complaint or Representation representation as to unhealthy dwellings or obstructive buildings as is dwellings. conferred on inhabitant householders by the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890 (53 & 54 Vict., c. 70), but without prejudice to the powers of such householders (s. 6 (2)).

If the Parish Council complain in writing to the medical officer of health of the Rural District that any dwelling-house in or near a "street" (which includes any "court, alley, street, square, or row of houses,") is in a condition so dangerous or injurious to health as to be unfit for human habitation, it becomes the duty of the medical officer to forthwith inspect the house, and should he be of opinion that the house is in the condition complained of, to represent the case to the Rural District Council (53 & 54 Vict. c. 70, s. 31). When any dwelling-house appears to the Rural District Council to be in the state represented, they are required to forthwith take proceedings against the owner or occupier under the Act for closing the dwelling house (s. 32). Notice has to be given by the District Council to the owner or occupier to execute the works necessary to put the premises in proper condition, and if he fails to do so it becomes the duty of the Council to apply to the justices for a closing order.

A building, though not in itself unfit for human habitation, may be so situate that, by reason of its proximity to, or contact with other buildings, it causes one of the following effects, that is to say-

Obstructive buildings.

(a) It stops ventilation, or otherwise makes, or conduces to make such other building to be in a condition unfit for human habitation, or dangerous or injurious to health; or Representation as to unhealthy dwellings or obstructive buildings. (b) It prevents proper measures from being carried into effect for remedying any nuisance injurious to health or other evils complained of in respect of such other buildings.

The Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1890, terms a building of this character "an obstructive building," and the effect of the Local Government Act will be to enable the Parish Council to represent to the Rural District Council the particulars concerning any obstructive building, and to state that in their opinion it is expedient that it should be pulled down. Upon receiving a representation the District Council must cause a report to be made to them respecting the circumstances of the building and the cost of pulling it down, and acquiring the land. An obstructive building may be ordered to be pulled down, subject to compensation to the owner (s. 38).

Report to County Council.

Where a complaint or representation is made respecting a dwelling-house unfit for human habitation, or respecting an obstructive building, the Rural District Council are required to report the proceedings taken by them to the County Council, and if the County Council are of opinion that the District Council ought to institute proceedings for a closing order, or to make an order for pulling down, they may give not less than one month's notice to the District Council to proceed accordingly, and on the failure of the District Council to do so, the County Council may pass a resolution which thereupon vests in them the powers of the District Council in the matter, and the expenses of the County Council in exercising those powers become a debt due from the District Council (s. 45).

Additional Powers of Parish Council.

The following additional powers are conferred by section 8 (1) of the Local Government Act, 1894, on a Parish Council, namely, power—

Public offices.

(a) to provide or acquire buildings for public offices and for meetings and for any purposes connected with parish business, or with the powers or duties of the Parish Council or Parish Meeting; and Recreation grounds.

(b) to provide or acquire land for such buildings and for a recreation ground and for public walks.

These powers of providing buildings for public offices and meetings will, in practice, probably supersede the powers to provide a vestry room or parochial office¹ transferred by section 6 (1) (c) from the overseers to the Parish Council, as the exercise of the latter powers are subject to greater restrictions. But the consent of a Parish Meeting will generally be necessary before the buildings to which section 8 refers can be provided, as such provision will usually involve a loan."

Commons.

(c) to apply to the Board of Agriculture under section 9 of the Commons Act, 1876 (39 & 40 Vict. c. 56).

This will enable the Parish Council to apply for information and directions as to the mode in which applications for the regulation and inclosure of commons under the Inclosure Acts, 1845 to 1882, are to be made to the Board of Agriculture with explanations respecting the law on the subject. The Board of Agriculture issue such information and directions. No express power to intervene in any way is conferred on the Parish Council in respect of the inclosure or regulation of commons, but a notice of any application to the Board of Agriculture in relation to a common is required to be served upon the Council of every Parish² in which any part of the common to which the application relates is situate (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 8 (4))

(d) to exercise with respect to any recreation ground, village green, open space, or public walk, which is for the time being under their control, or to the expense of which they have contributed, such powers as may be exercised by an urban authority under section 164 of the Public Health Act, 1875 (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55), or section 44 of the Public Health Acts Amendment Act, 1890 (53 & 54 Vict. c. 59), in relation to recreation grounds or public walks, and sections 183 to 186 of the Public Health Act, 1875, are to apply accordingly as if the Parish Council were a local authority within the meaning of those sections.

The byelaws which the Parish Council may make, will be subject to the provisions of sections 183 to 186 of the Public Health Act, Such reasonable penalties may be imposed by the byelaws on offenders against the same as the Parish Council think fit, not exceeding the sum of five pounds for each offence, and in the case of a continuing offence, a further penalty not exceeding forty shillings for each day after written notice of the offence from the Parish Council; but the byelaws must be so framed as to allow of the recovery of any sum less than the full amount of the penalty (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, s. 183). Confirmation by the Local Government Board is necessary before the byelaws take effect; and before they can be confirmed, two preliminary conditions must be satisfied; notice of intention to apply for confirmation must be given in one or more of the local newspapers, circulating within the parish to which the byelaws relate, one month, at least, before the making of the application; and, for one month at least, before the application, a copy of the proposed bye-laws must be kept at the office of the Parish Council, and must be open during office hours to the inspection of the ratepayers without fee or reward. A ratepayer is entitled upon application, to be furnished with a copy of the proposed byelaws, or any part thereof, on payment of sixpence for every hundred words contained in the copy (s. 184).

All byelaws must be printed after confirmation and hung up in the office of the Parish Council, and a copy is to be delivered to any ratepayer of the parish to which the byelaws relate, on his application the same (s. 185). Model byelaws

Model byelaws with respect to pleasure grounds have been issued by the Local Government Board for the use of Sanitary Authorities desirous of making byelaws on that subject under the Public Health Act, 1875, and any Parish Council wishing to make byelaws for their recreation ground or other open space should communicate with that In a circular letter to Sanitary Authorities, dated 25th July, 1877, the Local Government Board informed Sanitary Authorities that they had caused their model clauses to be printed on foolscap paper with an ample margin for annotation. Every Parish Council desirous of making byclaws will, on application to the Board, be supplied with the necessary draft forms. If, in any case, the model clauses require alteration to suit the special circumstances of a particular district, the proposed variations should be clearly shown in manuscript in the margin of the draft. The Board will then be readily able to direct their attention to these variations, and to state their views upon any points which may arise. When the final revision of the draft has been completed, and the Parish Council have been informed of the decision of the Board with regard to the allowance or disallowance of the several clauses, a fair copy embodying the contents of the draft as revised, and carefully compared with the original to ensure the correction of possible errors, should be prepared for deposit at the office of the Parish Council, and for inspection by the ratepayers.

After the necessary notice of the intention of the Parish Council to apply for confirmation of the byelaws, and after due consideration of any objections made by persons locally interested, the byelaws duly executed at a meeting of the Parish Council under the hands and seals of the chairman, presiding at the meeting, and two other members of the council, should be transmitted to the Board, together with copies of the newspapers containing the advertisement required by section 184.

The management and regulation of recreation grounds, village greens, and other open spaces, has been treated at some length as it is a matter with which many parish councils will be called upon to deal, and the subject is often one of importance in village life, but there are other additional powers conferred in parish councils to be mentioned. The Parish Council are also empowered by section 8 (1)-

The scope of this provision is limited. Land for the purpose of a supply of water can only be acquired by agreement (s. 9 (15)).

Nothing in these provisions is to derogate from any obligation of a District Council with respect to the supply of water or the execution of sanitary works (s. 6 (3)).

(g) to acquire by agreement any right of way, whether within their Right of way. parish or an adjoining parish, the acquisition of which is beneficial to the inhabitants of the parish or any part thereof.

This confers the power to acquire the casement, but, where necessary, land for the purpose of the provision may be acquired by agreement. It is expressly provided by section 9 (15), that land for the purpose of a right of way shall not be acquired compulsorily.

Gifts

(i) to execute any works (including works of maintenance or improvement) incidental to or consequential on the exercise of any of the foregoing powers, or in relation to any parish property 1 not being property relating to affairs of the church or held for an ecclesiastical charity.

Contributions.

(k) to contribute towards the expense of doing any of the things above mentioned, or to agree or combine with any other Parish Council to do or contribute towards the expense of doing any of the things above mentioned.

The power to make contributions is a wide one. It will enable the Parish Council to expend money in cases where the property dealt with is not necessarily held for parochial purposes. If Parish Councils combine in doing any of the things mentioned, they may concur in appointing a joint committee to manage the business (s. 57 (1)).

Footpaths.

A Parish Council may, subject to the provisions of the Act with respect to restrictions on expenditure, undertake the repair and maintenance of all or any of the public footpaths within their parish, not being footpaths at the side of a public road, but neither this power nor its exercise is to relieve any other authority or person from any liability with respect to such repair or maintenance (s. 13 (2)).

A public footpath is a highway, and as a highway is repairable either by the highway authority or by the occupier of the adjoining land, ratione tenuræ (i.e., by reason of the tenure by which the owner holds the land), except in the case of a highway informally dedicated to the public since the passing of the Highway Act, 1835, when it may be the duty of no one to repair and maintain the highway—

Evre v. New Forest Highway Board (56 J. P. 517). Where a parish maintains and repairs its own highways it ceases under the Act to do so from the appointed day, unless the County Council postpone for a period the operation of section 25 (1) which transfers the powers of existing highway authorities to the Rural District Council. Where a parish forms part of a Highway District the existing highway authority is the Highway Board. In a parish not maintaining its own highways after the appointed day, the provision in section 13 (2) will empower the Parish Council to maintain and repair, at the cost of the parish, public footpaths, other than those at the side of public roads, notwithstanding that those footpaths are repairable either by the highway authority or by a person ratione tenuræ. But that authority or person is not to be relieved from any liability to repair or maintain such footpaths. The object of the provision is no doubt to enable the Parish Council to maintain in a more efficient state such footpaths as are specially serviceable to the parishioners, and it will apply to a public footpath, although it has been informally dedicated Footpaths. to the public since the passing of the Highway Act, 1835 (see 5 & 6, Will. IV. c. 50, s. 23). The provision will practically override the decision in Eyre v. New Forest Highway Board, above cited, that a parish has no right to repair in such a case. As a rule, rural footpaths are not maintained or repaired at all, and, indeed, the conditions on which they are dedicated to the public may render it difficult for any works of maintenance or repair to be carried out unless some arrangement is made with the owner of the soil. An owner may have reserved the right to plough the land (Mercer v. Woodgate, L. R. 5 Q. B., 26; 39 L. J., M. C., 21; 21 L. T., 458), or otherwise deal with its surface. If the Parish Council undertake to repair and maintain any footpath, and in fact do so, no means are provided for enforcing the liability of any other authority to repair or maintain the footpath.

The consent of the Parish Council and of the District Council will Stopping or diversion of be required for the stopping, in whole or in part, or diversion, of a diversion of public right of way within a rural parish, and the consent of the way. Parish Council will be required for a declaration that a highway in a rural parish is unnecessary for public use and not repairable at the public expense. Public notice of a resolution of the Parish Council to give any such consent must be given by the Council, and the resolution is not to operate-

- (a) unless it is confirmed by the Parish Council at a meeting held not less than two months after the public notice is given; nor
- (b) if a Parish Meeting held before the confirmation resolve that the consent ought not to be given (s. 13 (1)).

The provisions of the Highway Act, 1835 (5 & 6 Will. IV., c. 50), as to the stopping or diversion of a public right of way could be set in motion by the vestry or by a private person desiring to stop the right of way. Those provisions are now subject to the modifications made by the Local Government Act. The powers of the vestry in the matter are transferred to the Parish Council, or, where there is no Parish Council, to the Parish Meeting. The person, or Parish Council, or Meeting desiring to stop or divert the way, are required to give notice to the District Council (or to the Surveyor of Highways or other highway authority where the transfer of highway powers under section 25 (1) of the Local Government Act, 1894, is postponed by the County Council). The consents of the Parish Council and of the District Council must then be given, and before the resolution of the Parish Council to give any such consent can operate the conditions prescribed by section 13 (1) must be observed. In a parish without a separate Parish Council the consent of the Parish Meeting will be substituted for that of the Parish Council (s. 19 (8)). If the requisite Stopping or Diversion of public right of way. consents are obtained, the District Council, Surveyor of Highways, or other highway authority then apply to two justices to view the way proposed to be stopped (5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50, s. 84), and if the justices think the way unnecessary, or that it should be diverted, the justices direct the Council or surveyor or authority to fix notices at each end of the way, and insert the same notice for four successive weeks in a newspaper generally circulating in the county, and affix a like notice upon the church doors for four successive Sundays. A certificate stating that the highway should be diverted, or that it is unnecessary, together with, in the latter case, their reason for the opinion is given by the justices and enrolled at quarter sessions (s. 85). There is an appeal to quarter sessions by any person aggrieved by the justices'

Highway unnecessary for public use.

Any Highway Authority may apply, under section 24 of the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878 (41 & 42 Vict. c. 77), to the justices in petty sessions for an order declaring a highway unnecessary for public use, and that it ought not to be repaired at the public expense. Public notices are required to be given of the day fixed by the justices for hearing objections to the making of such an order. An appeal lies to quarter sessions against an order. Application may also be made to quarter sessions to revive, with respect to any highway so declared to be unnecessary for public use, the liability of the highway to be maintained at the public expense when, from any change of circumstances, the highway has become of public use.

A Rural District Council may delegate to a Parish Council any Powers of Parochia! power which may be delegated to a parochial committee under the Public Health Acts, and those Acts are to apply as if the Parish Council were a parochial committee, and where the District Council appoint a parochial committee consisting partly of members of the District Council and partly of other persons, those other persons must, where there is a Parish Council, be, or be selected from, the members of the Parish Council (s. 15).

A parochial committee may be formed, under section 202 of the Public Health Act, 1875, by a Rural District Council for any contributory place within their district, that is, for any parish or part of a parish not comprised in a special drainage district, or for any special drainage district. The committee may consist wholly of district councillors, but where the committee appointed consists partly of members of the District Council and partly of other persons, the latter must, where there is a Parish Council, be, or be selected from, the members of the Parish Council.

A parochial committee is subject to any regulations and restrictions imposed by the District Council. No jurisdiction is to Parochial be given to the committee beyond the limits of the contributory Committee place for which it is formed, nor may any powers be delegated to the committee, except powers which are exerciseable within the contributory place by the District Council. It is to be deemed to be the agent of the District Council, and its appointment is not to relieve the Council from any statutory or other obligation. The District Council may empower the committee to incur expenses not exceeding a prescribed amount. The parochial committee must report its expenditure to the Rural District Council as and when directed by them, and the amount so reported, if legally incurred, must be discharged by the Council (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, s. 202).

The delegation to a Parish Council of any powers which may be delegated to a Parochial Committee referred to in section 15, may apparently take place, although the parish for which the Parish Council is elected, forms part of a Special Drainage District.

The Parish Council, acting as a parochial committee by delegation will, unless the District Council otherwise direct, have the services of the clerk of the District Council (s. 17 (5)).

BORROWING POWERS.

A Parish Council are prohibited, without the consent of a Parish Consents. Meeting and the approval of the County Council, from incurring any expense or liability which will involve a loan (s. 11).

The Parish Council may, with the consent of the County Council which Parish Council may and the Local Government Board, borrow for any of the following purposes, namely:—

- (a) for purchasing any land, or building any buildings, which the Parish Council are authorised to purchase or build; and
- (b) for any purpose for which the Council are authorised to borrow under any of the Adoptive Acts; and
- (c) for any permanent work or other thing which the Council are authorised to execute or do, and the cost of which ought, in the opinion of the County Council and the Local Government Board, to be spread over a term of years (s. 12 (1)).

So far as borrowing by a Parish Council for the purposes of any of the Adoptive Acts is concerned, the borrowing must be under the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894, although the incidence of the charge will ultimately be on the rate applicable to the purposes of the particular adoptive Act (s. 12 (3)). The power to borrow is not necessarily restricted to the purpose mentioned in paragraph (b). If any purpose not authorised by an Adoptive Act as a purpose for borrowing can be shown to come within the terms of paragraphs (a) and (c), the Parish Council, subject to the provisions of the Local Government Act, would be empowered to borrow for that purpose.

A Parish Council are also empowered to borrow in order to meet the payment of any capital sum required of them for the purpose of adjustment of property and liabilities (s. 68 (4)) as, for instance, where a group under a common Parish Council is dissolved (s. 38 (5)). No consent is necessary for such a borrowing by the Parish Council.

Conditions.

The borrowing by a Parish Council must be in like manner, and subject to the like conditions, as a local authority may borrow for defraying expenses incurred in the execution of the Public Health Acts, and sections 233, 234, and 236 to 239 of the Public Health Act, 1875 (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55), are to apply accordingly, except that the money is to be borrowed on the security of the poor rate and of the whole or part of the revenues of the Parish Council, and except that the limit of the sum to be borrowed is one half of the assessable value instead of the assessable value for two years (s. 12 (1)).

The sections of the Public Health Act, 1875, referred to are printed at pages 321 and 322 of the Appendix.

The limit of a sum borrowed by a Parish Council must not at any time exceed, with the balance of all their outstanding loans, in the whole, one-half the assessable value of the parish calculated at the date of the borrowing. The money may be borrowed for such time not exceeding 60 years, as the Parish Council, with the sanction of the Local Government Board, determine in each case. Repayment may be made either by equal annual instalments of principal, or of principal and interest, or by means of a sinking fund (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, s. 234). A register of mortgages on the poor rate (s. 237), and a register of the transfers of mortgage must be kept at the office of the Parish Council by the clerk (s. 238). The annual Transfers. charge, whether of principal or interest, in respect of any loan of a Parish Council will, for the purpose of the limitation of the rate for their expenses, he included as part of those analysis. their expenses, be included as part of those expenses (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 11 (3)).

A County Council may lend to a Parish Council any money which Loans from County Council. the Parish Council are authorised to borrow, and may, if necessary, without the sanction of the Local Government Board, and irrespectively of any limit of borrowing, raise the money by loan, subject to the like conditions and in the like manner as any other loan for the execution of their duties, and subject to any further conditions which the Local Government Board may by general or special order impose (S. 12 (2)).

The manner in which County Councils may borrow is provided for by section 69 of the Local Government Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict. ·c. 41).

EXPENSES.

Without the consent of a Parish Meeting, the Parish Council Limitation of cannot incur expenses or liabilities which will involve a rate exceeding threepence in the pound for any local financial year; and the sum raised by the Council in any local financial year for their expenses, must not, in any case, exceed a sum equal to a rate of sixpence in the pound on the rateable value of the parish at the commencement of the year. Any annual charge, whether of principal or interest, in respect of any loan is to be included among expenses for the purpose of the limitation of the rate to sixpence in the pound, but expenses under the Adoptive Acts, whether in respect of a loan or otherwise, and highway expenses, where in pursuance of an order of the County Council the highways continue after the appointed day to be maintained by the parish, are not to be included for the purpose (ss. 11 (1) (3), 82 (2)).

The local financial year begins on the 1st day of April (Local Government Act, 1888, s. 73; Local Government Act, 1894, ss. 58 (1), 75 (1)).

The overseers are required under this provision to pay to the Parish Council or chairman of the Parish Meeting, from time to time, out of the poor rates made and collected by them, such sums as they may require, and in such proportions as they may direct. A contribution order in arrear is enforceable by a distress warrant of justices against any one of the overseers upon whom a copy of the order has been served (2 & 3 Vict. c. 84, s. 1; 12 & 13 Vict. c. 103, s. 7; 14 & 15. In the case of a Parish Council, the order should direct payment to the treasurer (if any). The order may direct the contribution to be paid either in one sum or by instalments, on days to be specified in the order.

The demand note for any rate levied by the overseers for defraying the expenses of a Parish Council or a Parish Meeting, together with other expenses, must state in the form prescribed by the Local Government Board, the proportion of the rate levied for the expenses of the Council or Meeting, and the proportion (if any) levied for the purpose of any of the adoptive Acts (s. 11 (5)).

In the case of one Adoptive Act, namely the Public Libraries Act, 1892, it will be necessary where the Act is in force in a rural parish todistinguish separately on the demand note the proportion of the rate-(if any) raised for the purpose of that particular adoptive Act.¹

All other public books, writings and papers of the parish, and all documents directed by law to be kept therewith, will also remain in their existing custody, unless the Parish Council direct that they shall be deposited in other custody.

Access to parish

The ecclesiastical authorities, namely the incumbent and church-wardens, and the civil authorities, namely the Parish Council, will respectively have the right to reasonable access to the books and documents in the custody of the other. The County Council will determine any difference arising as to the custody or access to such books and documents.

The standing orders of both Houses of Parliament relative to private Bills require copies of plans and sections (and of so much of the Book of Reference thereto as relates to a parish) of all proposed works which involve the taking of property, to be deposited for public inspection with the parish clerk of the parish affected. PAROCHIAL CHARITIES.

In connection with the control of the Parish Council over parochial property, it has been shown that the trustees of certain classes of property held for the benefit of the inhabitants of a rural parish may transfer the same to the Parish Council or their appointees 1 and it now remains to explain the further provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894, with respect to parochial charities.

Definition of parochial charity.

A "parochial charity" for the purpose of the Act means a charthe benefits of which are or the separate distribution of the ben of which is confined to inhabitants of a single parish, or of a single parish, or of a single parish divided into two or more parishes, o not more than five neighbouring parishes (s. 75 (2)). Where benefits of a charity extend, or the separate distribution of a benefits extends to more than five civil parishes, the charity is not parochial charity unless all the civil parishes are comprised within single ancient ecclesiastical parish.

Definition of " ecclesiastica :barity." An "ecclesiastical charity" includes a charity, the endowmer whereof is held for some one or more of the following purposes:—

(a) for any spiritual purpose which is a legal purpose; or
(b) for the benefit of any spiritual person or ecclesiastical officer as such; or

(c) for use, if a building, as a church, chapel, mission room, or Sunday school, or otherwise by any particular church or denomination; or

(d) for the maintenance, repair, or improvement of any such building as aforesaid, or for the maintenance of divine service therein; or

(e) otherwise for the benefit of any particular church or denomination, or of any members thereof as such.

It also includes any building which in the opinion of the Charity Commissioners has been erected or provided within forty years before the passing of the Act, namely, 5th March, 1894, mainly by or at the cost of members of any-particular church or denomination (s. 75 (2)).

This definition is not exhaustive. It only states what the expression "ecclesiastical charity" includes. There may be ecclesiastical charities not covered by the enumerated purposes, but it is difficult to call to mind any such charities that would not be explicitly covered by the definition.

Where any endowment of a charity, other than a building held for any of the purposes mentioned in the definition of ecclesiastical charity, is held in part only for some of such purposes, the charity, so far as that endowment is concerned, is to be an ecclesiastical charity; and the Charity Commissioners are required, on application by any person interested, to make such provision for the apportionment and management of that endowment as seems to them necessary or expedient for giving effect to the Act (s. 75 (2)).

Definition of

Under the expression "trustees" are included persons administering or managing any charity or recreation ground, or other property or thing in relation to which the word is used.¹

Where overseers of a rural parish as such are, either alone or jointly with any other persons, trustees of any parochial charity, such number of the councillors of the parish or other persons, not Appointment of trustees exceeding the number of the overseer trustees, as the council may appoint, are to be trustees in their place. When the charity is not an ecclesiastical charity, this enactment is to apply as if the churchwardens as such were specified therein as well as the overseers

(s. 14 (2)).

This provision will enable the Parish Council to appoint as trustees the fittest persons for the office, and thus prevent the question of the management of parochial charities in any way influencing the appointment of overseers. There is no necessary relation between the two offices of overseers and of trustees. So far as regards the appointment of trustees to replace the overseers, the provision applies to all charities, whether ecclesiastical or non-ecclesiastical, but so far as regards the appointment of trustees to replace the churchwardens the provision applies to non-ecclesiastical charities only.

Where the vestry of a rural parish were entitled, under the trusts of a charity other than an ecclesiastical charity, to appoint any trustees or beneficiaries of the charity, the appointment is to be made by the Parish Council of the parish, or in the case of beneficiaries, by persons appointed by the Parish Council (s. 14 (4)).

The ancient vestry will continue to exist for the exercise of any power of appointing trustees or beneficiaries of ecclesiastical charities.

Appointment of additional

Where the governing body of a parochial charity other than an ecclesiastical charity does not include any persons elected by the ratepayers or parochial electors or inhabitants of the parish, or appointed by the Parish Council or Parish Meeting, the Parish Council may appoint additional members of that governing body not exceeding the number allowed by the Charity Commissioners in each case; and if the management of any such charity is vested in a sole trustee, the number of trustees may, with the approval of the Charity Commissioners, be increased to three, one of whom may be nominated by such sole trustee and one by the Parish Council or Parish Meeting. Nothing in this provision is to prejudicially affect the power or authority of the Charity Commissioners, under any of the Acts relating to charities, to settle or alter schemes for the better administration of any charity (s. 14 (3)).

It is only in the case of a charity without any popular elective element on the board of trustees that the Parish Council may appoint additional members of that body. The fact that the overseers or churchwardens are members of the board of trustees will not prejudice the power of the Parish Council to appoint ^{&#}x27; See page 171, with respect to the application of this provision to boroughs and other urban districts.

If the parochial charity is for the benefit of more than one civil parish (s. 75 (2)), the appointment of additional trustees would have to be made by a the appointment of additional trustees would have to be made by a joint committee of the Parish Councils concerned. So far as regards an appointment of additional trustees by a Parish Meeting that Meeting are empowered to appoint an additional trustee in the case only of a charity managed by a sole trustee, and the power to appoint will be subject to the Charity Commissioners approving an increase of the number of trustees to three.

Term of office of trustees.

The term of office of a trustee appointed under these provisions is to be four years, but of the trustees first appointed, one half, as nearly as may be, to be determined by lot, are to go out of office at the end of two years from the date of their appointment, but are to be eligible for re-appointment (s. 14 (7)).

Parish divided by the Act.

Where a parish is divided by the Act, the County Council may by order provide for the application to different parts of that parish of the provisions with respect to the appointment of trustees or beneficiaries of a charity. The order will require the approval of the Charity Commissioners (s. 36 (3). It is by section 36 (10) to be deemed to be an order under section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888; but it will not require confirmation by the Local Government Board (s. 40). Where a parish divided by the Act is wholly urban, the County Council could make no order with respect to charities, as the provisions of the Act relate only to rural parishes, subject to the power of the Local Government Board to confer on a Town Council or other body the powers of a Parish Council with respect to charities. Where any parish divided by the Act is only partly urban, an order of the County Council might apparently apportion the endowment, and deal with the appointment of trustees or beneficiaries

Saving for recent charities.

The provisions with respect to the appointment of trustees by the Parish Council, except so far as the appointment is transferred from the vestry, are not to apply to any charity until the expiration of forty years from the date of its foundation, or, in the case of a charity founded before the passing of the Act, namely 5th March, 1894, by a donor, or by several donors, any one of whom is living at the passing of the Act, until the expiration of forty years from the passing of the Act, unless with the consent of the surviving donor or donors (s. 14 (8)).

Whilst a person is trustee of a parochial charity he is not, nor is his wife or any of his children, to receive any benefit from the charity (s. 14 (9)).

The accounts of all parochial charities, not being ecclesiastical charities, are to be laid annually before the Parish Meeting of any parish affected thereby, and section 44 of the Charitable Trusts Amendment Act, 1855 (18 & 19 Vict., c. 124), is to apply (Local Government Act, s. 14 (6)).

Parochial Charities.

The accounts which the trustees of every charity are required to make out, are an account of their gross income for the year, an account of all balances in hand at the commencement of the year and of receipts during the year, an account of all payments during the year, and an account of all monies owing to or from the charity. A copy of the accounts of parochial charities must within fourteen days after the day appointed under section 44 of the 18 & 19 Vict. c 124,1 for making out the accounts, be delivered to the chairman of the Parish Meeting, and be presented by him at the next General Parish Meeting, and a copy must be entered in the minutes of the last meeting.

Draft scheines.

The draft of every scheme relating to a charity, not being an ecclesiastical charity, which affects a rural parish is to be communicated, on or before the publication of the notice of the proposal to make an order for such scheme, in accordance with section 6 of the Charitable Trusts Act, 1860 (23 & 24 Vict. c. 136), to the Council of the parish, and where there is no Parish Council to the chairman of the Parish Meeting. In the case of a Parish Council, the Council may, subject to the provisions of this Act with respect to restrictions on expenditure,3 and to the consent of the Parish Meeting, either support or oppose the scheme, and for that purpose the Council are to have the same right as any inhabitants of a place directly affected by the scheme (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 14 (5)).

No order establishing a scheme for the administration of any charity is to be made by the Charity Commissioners before the expiration of one calendar month after public notice of the proposal to make the order has been given. The Charity Commissioners are to receive and consider all objections and suggestions relating to the order, and they may withhold, suspend, or modify their proposed order as they shall thereupon, or in the result of further inquiry or otherwise, think expedient (23 & 24 Vict. c. 136, s. 6). An appeal against an order of the Charity Commissioners establishing a scheme for the administration of a charity may be made, within three months of the definitive

An appeal, with the leave of the High Court or Court of Appeal, but not otherwise, lies to the Court of Appeal against any decision under this provision (s. 70 (2) (3)).

The Court upon or before the hearing of any appeal from orders made by the Charity Commissioners under the Charitable Trusts Acts, 1853 to 1891, or at any stage of the proceedings, may require from the Charity Commissioners their reasons for making the order appealed against, and may remit the order to them for reconsideration, or may make any substitutive or other order. The Court may make any order respecting the costs of the appeal, and may, before hearing the appeal, require proper security for the costs, and no appeal is to be presented before the expiration of twenty-one days written notice by the appellant to present such appeal shall have been delivered to the Charity Commissioners at their office (23 & 24 Vict., c. 136, s. 8) and to the solicitor who acts for the attorney-general in ex-officio proceedings relating to charities (32 & 33 Vict., c. 110, s. 11).

The list is to contain a detailed account of the place where such estate or charitable foundation is situate, or in what mode such bequest is invested, and to specify the names of the beneficiaries (except where police, by a Secretary of State; and in any other case, by the Local Government Board (s. 4 (1) (3)).

What school or other rooms may be used.

The opening words of this provision limit the privilege conferred upon the parochial electors and the Parish Council to the use of rooms situated in their parish, but in other respects the scope of the provision is exceedingly wide. Not only rooms in elementary schools, but every room maintainable out of local rates will be available for the purposes mentioned, except where a suitable public room vested in the parochial authorities exists. The room must be suitable for the purpose for which it is required. Board rooms and offices of Boards of Guardians, rooms under the control of the standing joint committee of the Quarter Sessions and the County Council for the purpose of the police and other matters, and rooms provided under any of the Adoptive Acts, will be at the disposal of the parochial electors and Parish Council.

Notice of room being required.

There is no provision in the Act with respect to the manner in which the parochial electors may avail themselves of the use of a room, but these electors can, as a body, act only in a Parish Meeting, and when the use of a room is required, a resolution directing the required notice to be given should be passed by the Meeting. In practice it would be found convenient that a standing resolution should be passed at each assembly of the Parish Meeting empowering a committee to take the necessary steps in preparation for the next assembly. The reasonable notice to the persons having control over the room required by section 4 (1) could be given by such committee. The Parish Council could direct their clerk to give the required notice.

In every case the requisition for the use of the room must be made by the parochial electors or the Parish Council, as the provision which permits rooms to be used for local enquiries, committees, and meetings other than Parish Meetings or meetings of the Parish Council, confers no right on the persons conducting the inquiries, or forming the committees, or holding meetings, to themselves requisition a room. The reference to "meetings convened by the chairman of the Parish Meeting, or by the Parish Council," appears to cover ordinary public meetings, if convened by the chairman or Council. Parish Meetings. and meetings of the Parish Council are, it will be noticed, expressly mentioned as being purposes for which rooms may be used. meetings as to allotments are restricted to meetings convened in the manner prescribed by the Allotments Act, 1890, or otherwise as prescribed by the Local Government Board, but the Act of 1890 prescribes no manner in which "public meetings to discuss any question relating to allotments" are to be convened. Section 5 of the Act which authorises, under certain conditions, schoolrooms to be used free of charge for such public meetings, requires a notice of Place of Meetin the intention to hold the meeting to be given to the school authorities Use of school or not less than six days before the meeting. It does not prescribe the not less than six days before the meeting. manner in which the meeting itself is to be convened.

In debate on the consideration of the Lords' amendments to the Local Government Bill on the 15th of February, 1894, Mr. Acland stated that the Education Department would issue as early as possible an indication of the interpretation they would apply to the word "reasonable," which would go into some detail.

If, by reason of the use of the room for any of the purposes mentioned in the section, any expense is incurred by the persons having control over the room, or any damage is done to the room or to the building of which the room is part or its appurtenances, or the furniture of the room, or the apparatus for instruction, the expense or damage is to be defrayed as part of the expenses of the Parish Meeting or Parish Council or inquiry as the case may be; but when the meeting is called for the purpose of the candidature of any person, the expense or damage is to be reimbursed to the Parish Meeting or the Parish Council by the persons by whom or on whose behalf the meeting is convened (s. 4 (2)).

The expenses or damages will, in the case of an inquiry for parochial purposes, be defrayed as part of the expenses of the inquiry, but in all other cases they will be defrayed in the first instance as part of the expenses of the Parish Meeting or Parish Council, in accordance with the provisions of section 11 (4) of the Act. When a meeting for the purpose of the candidature of any person for the District or the Parish Council is convened, it is provided that the expense or damage shall be reimbursed to the Parish Meeting or the Parish Council by the persons by whom or on whose behalf the meeting is convened. This assumes that meetings for the purpose of candidature will be convened only at the request of persons interested, and the Act does not authorise the Parish Meeting or the Parish Council themselves to convene any such meeting unless at the request of persons who are personally responsible to them for any expense or damage incurred. For every use of the room, other than for an inquiry and any candidature, including meetings for allotments and any committee or officer appointed by a County or District Council to administer public funds within or for the purposes of the parish, the expenses or damages incurred are repayable out of the poor rate as part of the expenses of the Parish Council or Parish Meeting, as the case may be.

The vestry of a parish have been accustomed as of right under the Council or Parish common law to meet in the vestry room attached to a church, and ace of Meeting even in the sacred edifice itself where there was no vestry room, or where it was insufficiently large for the meeting. But in parishes where certain Acts were in force this common law right was subject to exceptions. Where the vestry was elected under the Vestries' Act, 1831 (1 & 2 Will. IV., c. 60), it was directed that if the vestry to exceptions. room was not sufficiently large and commodious, the vestry meeting should be held elsewhere within the parish, but not in the church or chapel (s. 29). In a parish where an order under the Vestries' Act, 1850, (13 & 14 Vict., c. 57), had been made after the expiration of twelve months from the making and publishing of the order, no meeting of the vestry was to be held in the church or chapel, nor, except in case of urgency and with the previous approval of the Local Government Board, in the vestry room attached to the church or chapel (s. 2).

> These Acts are rarely in force in rural parishes, and consequently the vestry in those parishes generally have the old common law right of meeting in the vestry room or church. Whether that right is transferred to the Parish Council or Parish Meeting is a matter of importance to many parishes. The general "powers" of the vestry are transferred by section 6 (1) of the Local Government Act, 1894, to the Parish Council of a parish having a separate Parish Council, and by section 19 (4) of the Act to the Parish Meeting of a parish not having a separate Parish Council. Under the term "powers' expressly included "rights, jurisdiction, capacities, privileges, and immunities" by section 100 of the Local Government Act, 1888, which is made applicable to the Local Government Act, 1894, by section 75 (1) of the new Act. There seems no reason to doubt that among the rights and privileges of the vestry which are transferred to the Parish Council or Parish Meeting, as the case may be, is the right or privilege of meeting in the vestry or church. In a parish having a separate Parish Council, it will be that council and not the Parish Meeting who will have the right or privilege of using the vestry or church for their meetings; but in a parish not having a separate Parish Council, the right or privilege will, subject to the provisions of any grouping order, belong to the Parish Meeting.

Meetings not to be held on licensed premises

No Parish Meeting or meeting of a Parish Council is to be held in premises licensed for the sale of intoxicating liquor, except in cases where no other suitable room is available for such meeting, either free of charge or at a reasonable cost (s. 61).

In many rural parishes the only available room for parochial and other public business forms part of licensed premises. Where that is so, or where any other suitable room cannot be obtained except at an unreasonable cost, the prohibition in the section will not apply.

CHAPTER V.

The Adoptive Acts—General Provisions as to Adoption and Execution—Transfer of Powers under— Provisions of respective Acts.

Definition.

THE title of "the Adoptive Acts" is given by section 7 of the Local Government Act, 1894, to the following Acts, inclusive of any Acts amending the same, namely,-

- (a.) THE LIGHTING AND WATCHING ACT, 1833;
 (b.) THE BATHS AND WASHHOUSES ACTS, 1846 TO 1882;
 (c.) THE BURIAL ACTS, 1852 TO 1885;
- (d.) THE PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS ACT, 1860; (e.) THE PUBLIC LIBRARIES ACT, 1892.
- The observations in this chapter almost exclusively relate to rural parishes, as the Act does not generally alter the mode of adoption or the execution of the adoptive Acts in urban districts. But certain provisions enable an urban district council to transfer to themselves the powers of any authority executing the Acts within their district, and direct that, after the appointed day, the approval of the urban district council must be obtained to the adoption of an Act for part of the district.

General Provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894.

Adoption by parish meeting

The adoptive Acts come into force only where adopted, and, as from the appointed day, the power of adopting any of them in a rural parish belongs exclusively to the parish meeting (s. 7 (1)).

Not less than fourteen days' notice of the Parish Meeting, at which it is proposed to adopt any of the adoptive Acts, must be given (Schedule 1, Part 1, r. 3). An Act is adopted by means of a resolution passed by the requisite majority at the Parish Meeting.¹

lotice of Meeting and mode of adoption.

Some of the adoptive Acts can be adopted not only for a parish but for a part of a parish, and where that is the case, the Act may be adopted by a Parish Meeting held for that part (s. 7 (4)). In dealing with the subject of Parish Meetings, allusion has been made to the provisions relating to the holding of parish meetings for part of a rural parish.2

¹ See Chapter II. as to proceedings of Parish Meetings.

The powers conferred on the Parish Meeting in relation to the adoptive Acts are not confined to determining whether any of these Acts shall be put in force in the parish, for, although, as will be Control by Parish Meeting. shortly shown, the execution of the Acts will usually be entrusted to other hands, the Parish Meeting will be able to control to a considerable extent the amount of the rates and expenditure under

General provisions

Vhere it is provided by an adoptive Act that a particular majority of the Vestry or other voters should agree to the adoption or abandonment of the Act, or as to other matters, the like majority of the Parish Meeting, or, if a poll is taken, of the parochial electors, will be required, and where the opinion of the voters under any Act was to be ascertained by voting papers, the opinion of the parochial electors is to be ascertained by a poll taken in manner provided by the Local Government Act, 1894 (s. 7 (2)), i.e., as prescribed by Rules to be framed by the Local Government Board under section 48 (8), to which reference is made in dealing with elections under the Act.1 Act. Any one parochial elector is entitled to demand a poll in the case of a resolution submitted to a parish meeting for the adoption of any of the adoptive Acts (Schedule 1, Part 1, r. 7).

Where, under any of the adoptive Acts, the consent or approval of, or other act on the part of the vestry or meeting of ratepayers or voters of a rural parish, was required in relation to any expense or rate, the consent or approval or other act devolves, under the Local Government Act, 1894, on the Parish Meeting in the place of the vestry or meeting of inhabitants or voters (s. 7 (3)). In some instances under the Acts, the Parish Meeting will be required to determine the amount of the rate.

When any of the adoptive Acts is adopted for the whole or part of Authority for a rural parish after the appointed day, and the parish has a Parish the Acts. Council, the Parish Council will be the authority for the execution of the Act (s. 7 (7)); but in parishes without a Parish Council, the Commissioners or other body required to be appointed by the particular adoptive Act will be the authority for its execution, unless, on the application of the Parish Meeting, the County Council confer on that meeting the power of a Parish Council to execute the Act. Where such a power is conferred on the Parish Meeting, they can appoint a committee of their own number to exercise that power. The acts of the committee must be submitted to the Parish Meeting for their approval (s. 19 (3) (10)).

² See pages 221 and 235. The parishes without a Parish Council, in which any of the adoptive Acts will be in force, are not likely to be very numerous. From a reply given by the President of the Local Government Board to a question asked in the House of Commons on the 7th of December, 1893, it appeared that in very few parishes with a population of less than 200 were any of the adoptive Acts then in force.

General provisions.

Authority for the execution of the

The Parish Council, on coming into office, will also, as a matter of course, be the authority for the execution of an adoptive Act in those cases where the area under any existing commissioners or other authority is co-extensive with the parish, and all the powers, duties, and liabilities of that authority will be transferred to the Parish Council (s. 7 (5)). But in cases where the area is not co-extensive with the parish, other provisions will, according to circumstances, take effect after the appointed day.

Transfer of powers to Parish Council where Act is in force in part of parish.

Where any adoptive Act is in force in a part only of a rural parish, the existing authority under the Act, or the Parish Meeting for that part, may transfer the powers, duties, and liabilities of the authority to the Parish Council. The transfer may be made, subject to any conditions with respect to the execution of the Act, by means of a committee, as to the authority or Parish Meeting seems fit, and any such conditions may be altered by the Parish Meeting (s. 53) (1)). It will be observed that it is not obligatory that the transfer should be made, and that either the existing authority or the Parish Meeting may make the transfer and lay down the conditions for the execution of the Act by a committee of the Parish Council. On the transfer taking effect, the existing authority will cease to exist, and any subsequent alteration of the conditions would have to be made by the Parish Meeting.

Transfer of powers to joint committee where Act is in force in area comprising more than one parish.

be transferred to the Parish Councils of the rural parishes wholly or partly comprised in that area, or, if the area is partly comprised in an urban district, to those Parish Councils and the District Council of the urban district. Until other provision is made in pursuance of the Act, the transferred powers are to be exercised by a joint committee appointed by those Councils.¹ Where any such rural parish has not a Parish Council, the Parish Meeting will appoint members of such joint committee (s. 53 (2)). This provision, unlike that relating to the case of an adoptive Act being in force in part only of a rural parish, is imperative, and the transfer must take place.

Where the area under the existing authority is not comprised within one rural parish, the powers and duties of the authority will Urban parishes.

So far, the provisions mentioned relate, except where otherwise indicated, to rural parishes; but the Act also contains provisions affecting the adoption and execution of the adoptive Acts in urban parishes which may conveniently be referred to here.

Transfer of powers to urban district council and adoption of Acts in district.

Where there is in any urban district, or part of an urban district, any authority constituted under any of the adoptive Acts, the Council of that district may resolve that the powers, duties, property, debts, and liabilities of that authority shall be transferred to the Council as from the date specified in the resolution, and upon that date the same will be transferred accordingly, and the authority will cease to exist, and the Council will be the successors of that authority. After the appointed day it will not be possible to adopt an Act for any part of an urban district without the approval of the Council of that district (s. 62). These provisions of section 62 have application to the Burial Acts and the Public Improvements Act, 1860, only, as in an urban district the other adoptive Acts must, without exception, be adopted and executed by the urban authority exclusively.

General provisions.

The property, debts, and liabilities of any authority under any of Property of superseded the adoptive Acts, whose powers are transferred in pursuance of the authorities. Act, will continue to be the property, debts, and liabilities of the area of that authority, and the proceeds of the property must be credited, and the debts and liabilities and the expenses incurred in respect of the said powers, duties, and liabilities, be charged to the account of the rates or contributions levied in that area, and where that area is situate in more than one parish the sums credited to and paid by each parish must be apportioned accordingly (s. 53 (3)). The apportionment may be made by agreement of the Parish Councils or other authorities interested, and in default of agreement, by arbitration under the Arbitration Act, 1889, (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 68).

It will be the duty of every authority whose powers are transferred to liquidate, as far as practicable before the appointed day, all current debts and liabilities incurred by the authority (s. 86 (2)).

Liquidation of liabilities by

The officers of any authority under the adoptive Acts, whose powers are transferred to the Parish or District Council, will become the officers of that council, and hold their offices by the same tenure and upon the same terms and conditions as before, and, while performing the same duties, will receive not less salary or remuneration than before. They will be entitled to compensation for any loss of emoluments (s. 81). Any byelaws or regulations of any authority in force at the time of the transfer will continue in force as if made by the Council to whom the powers are transferred, and may be revoked or altered accordingly (s. 87).

So far as rural parishes are concerned, a means of avoiding Alteration of boundaries. the stereotyping under all circumstances of existing areas under the adoptive Acts is provided by the Local Government Act, 1894, for on the application of a Parish Council, the County Council may, by order, alter the boundaries of any such area if they consider that the alteration can properly be made without any undue alteration of the incidence of liability to rates and contributions, or of the right to property belonging to the area, regard being had to any corresponding advantage to persons subject to the liability or entitled to the right (s. 53 (4)).

General Provisions. Incidence of

The Local Government Act will not otherwise alter the incidence of charge of any rate levied to defray expenses under any of the adoptive Acts, and rates will continue to be made and charged as before, and property applicable to the payment of such expenses will continue to be so applicable (s. 7 (6)).

Limitation of rates.

Expenses under the adoptive Acts will not be reckoned as expenses of the Parish Council for the purpose of the limitation of the rate to sixpence in the pound under section 11 (3), but where there is no Parish Council, these expenses will be included as expenses of the Parish Meeting for the purpose of the similar limitation under section 19 (9) of the rate levied for defraying the expenses of that Meeting. The limitations on rates laid down by some of the adoptive Acts are referred to under the respective Acts.

Form of demand note.

The demand note for any rate levied for defraying the expenses of a Parish Council or Parish Meeting must state in the prescribed form the proportion (if any) of the rate levied for the purpose of any of the adoptive Acts (s. 11 (5)).

Borrowing.

A Parish Council who borrow for the purposes of any of the adoptive Acts must do so in accordance with the Local Government Act, but the charge for the purpose of any of the adoptive Acts will ultimately be on the rate applicable to the purposes of that Act (s. 12 (3)). As pointed out in Chapter IV, the power of a Parish Council to borrow for the purposes of the adoptive Acts may be wider under the new Act than it would have been under the adoptive Acts.¹

Compulsory acquisition of

A Parish Council executing the Acts can acquire land compulsorily under the Local Government Act, 1894, for the purposes of those Acts.² Where the Acts authorised the purchase of land it was by agreement only.

Audit of accounts.

Another effect brought about by the Parish Council executing the Acts is that the accounts thereby become subject to audit by the district auditor.³ With the exception of accounts of Public Library Commissioners the accounts of authorities are not, under the adoptive Acts, subject to government audit.

Construction of enactments.

The general provision in section 52 (5) of the Local Government Act, 1894, directing that all enactments in any Act, whether general or local and personal, relating to any powers, duties, or liabilities transferred by the Act to a Parish Council or Parish Meeting from the vestry, or overseers, or churchwardens and overseers, are, subject to the provisions of the Act, and, so far as circumstances admit, to be construed as if any reference therein to the vestry, or to the overseers, or to the churchwardens and overseers, referred to the Parish Council or Parish Meeting as the case requires, and the enactments are to be construed with such modifications as may be necessary for carrying the Act into effect, has application to the construction of the adoptive Acts.

Provisions of and Procedure under the respective adoptive Acts, as modified by the Local Government Act, 1894.

In the following exposition of the provisions of the adoptive Acts the details of the provisions are dealt with at such length as to indicate the machinery of their adoption and execution, and the main objects which their adoption is intended to secure.

The Lighting and Watching Act, 1833.

(3 & 4 Will. IV. c. 90).

This Act may be adopted by a majority of two-thirds of the votes Adoption. of the parochial electors of any parish at a Parish Meeting or a poll consequent thereon (s. 8).

Its provisions may be adopted as to lighting or as to watching, or as to lighting and watching, as may be deemed expedient (s. 71), and it may be adopted for a part only of a parish by a Parish Meeting held for that part (s. 73).

If the Parish Meeting convened to adopt the Act do not determine Interval between to adopt it, one year must elapse before the question of the adoption adopt. of the Act can be again submitted to the Parish Meeting (s. 16).

If the Act is adopted for a rural parish without a Parish Council, the Election of Parish Meeting must forthwith determine that a certain number of inspectors, not being more than twelve nor less than three, shall be Parish Council. elected to carry the purposes of the Act into effect (s. 8).

inspectors

The inspectors must be resident ratepayers, assessed to the poor Qualification, retirement, &c., rate on an annual value of £15 (s. 17). One-third of their number go out of office annually, and their places are filled at the annual parish meeting for the purposes of the Act. The outgoing inspectors are eligible for re-election (s. 19). Casual vacancies must be filled immediately when the number of inspectors is reduced to less than three (s. 21). The inspectors must meet on the first Monday in every month at noon at some convenient place or office, previously publicly notified (s. 22). One-third of the body form a quorum, except in the case where only three inspectors have been appointed, when the quorum is two (s. 23).

The inspectors elected by two or more adjoining parishes may unite Inspectors for adjoining for the better carrying into effect the purposes of the Act (s. 61). In a parish with a Parish Council, this and other provisions of the Act would, after the adoption of the Act, be carried into execution by that Council.

parishes may and make him or them such allowance for his or their trouble as may be thought reasonable (s. 44).

Lighting.

They may contract with any person or company for lighting the streets, roads, and other places either with electricity, gas, oil, or with any other material, or in any other manner, or for furnishing lamps, lamp irons, lamp posts, watchboxes, posts, chains, pales, rails, and other necessary things.

Watching.

The provisions of sections 39 to 43 of the Act authorising the appointment of watchmen and determining their duties are now practically obsolete. Watchmen under the Act are superseded where a county police are established.

Acquisition of land.

Land and buildings may be purchased or rented for the purposes of the Act (s. 59), but the Act confers no compulsory powers of acquisition. A Parish Council executing the Act would be able to purchase land compulsorily under section 9 of the Local Government Act, 1894.

Appointment of Officers,

The inspectors or Parish Council may appoint and pay a treasurer and other officers, and hire and rent offices (s. 24). The treasurer must give security to their satisfaction (s. 25).

Annual meeting

The Act requires the inspectors within one month next after the expiration of twelve months from the day of adoption of the Act to give notice to the churchwardens that they are ready to produce their accounts and vouchers, and thereupon the churchwardens are to give notice of a meeting of ratepayers within ten days of receipt of such notice, for the purpose of producing such accounts, and for the election of inspectors, and for determining the amount of money to be raised for the current year. In the following years the meeting is to be held on the same day, except when it falls on a Sunday, and then on the day following (s. 18).

The accounts and vouchers are to be verified by a statutory declaration made before two justices by the inspectors (s 19).

The provisions of sections 18 and 19 of the Lighting and Watching Act require some consideration in view of the altered circumstances brought about by the Local Government Act. Few parishes with a a population so small as not to have a Parish Council are likely to adopt the Act, and where a parish has a Parish Council that Council will, as mentioned before, be substituted for the inspectors. In that case the Parish Council should take the necessary steps to convene the annual assembly of the Parish Meeting for the purpose of the Act at such a time as the ratepayers are directed to meet by the Act, but of course no inspectors will be appointed by that meeting. So far as

Parish Councils are concerned, the provisions of the Local Government Act relating to their accounts will in practice supersede the provisions of the Act of 1833 concerning the same matter. In the Annual Meetin case of a parish without a Council the procedure to be followed under the Lighting and Watching Act, 1833, as modified by the Local Government Act, 1894, is by no means clear. The inspectors will be performing their statutory duty if they communicate, as directed by the Act of 1833, to the churchwardens, for the powers and duties of the churchwardens under the Act are not affected by the Act of 1894, where there is no Parish Council. The churchwardens as such have no power to convene a Parish Meeting, and reliance must therefore be placed on the persons authorised to convene Parish Meetings² voluntarily undertaking to convene the annual assembly of the Parish Meeting for the purpose of the Lighting and Watching Act.

It is important that such a Parish Meeting should be convened every year, as the total amount of money to be raised in any one year for the purpose of the Act, is to be fixed and determined by the Parish Meeting at their first meeting and subsequent yearly meeting (3 & 4 Will. IV., c. 90, s. 9). The expenses are paid out of a rate levied by the overseers in the same manner as a poor rate, but the owners and occupiers of houses, buildings, and property (other than land)3 are to be rated at and pay a rate in the pound three times greater than that at which the owners and occupiers of land are to be rated at and pay Tithes are assessable as land (14 & 15 Vict., c. 50).

Expenses

The Act confers no borrowing powers. Such powers seem un- Borrowing. necessary.

After the expiration of three years from the adoption of the Act Abandonment of Act. the Parish Meeting may determine that from and after a certain date the Act shall no longer be in force in the parish (3 & 4 Will. IV., c. 90, s. 15). A simple majority only is required for the abandonment of the Act.

The Lighting and Watching Act, 1833, is, so far at least as lighting on the concerned, superseded in urban districts, and in any place within a under P. H. Ac is concerned, superseded in urban districts, and in any place within a rural district where the powers of an urban authority under the Public Health Act, 1875, to light the streets markets and public buildings in such place, have been conferred upon the Rural Sanitary Authority or District Council by an order of the Local Government Board (38 & 39 Vict., c. 55, s. 163).

A resolution of the Parish Meeting adopting the Acts must be carried by at least twothirds of the number of votes given on the question at the meeting, or the poll consequent thereon, and a copy of the resolution extracted from the minutes and signed by the chairman, must be sent to the Local Government Board, and when the approval of that Board has been signified the Acts come into operation in the parish (s. 5).

Appointment of Commissioners where no Parish Council

In the case of a parish without a Parish Council, the Parish Meeting are to appoint, not less than three nor more than seven ratepayers of the parish, Commissioners for carrying the Acts into execution. One-third of the Commissioners, or as nearly as may be one-third, (to be determined among themselves) are to go out of office yearly, but are to be eligible for immediate re-appointment (s. 6). Any vacancies in the commissionership may be filled up by the Parish Meeting when and as the meeting think fit (s. 8). The Parish Meeting are also required to appoint yearly two persons not being Commissioners to audit the accounts of the Commissioners and report thereon to the meeting (s. 15). The Commissioners must meet at least once a month (s. 9); one-third of their number is a quorum, but when only three Commissioners have been appointed, the quorum may be two (s. 11). The Commissioners are a corporate body, with a common seal, and they may hold and convey any lands vested in them for the purposes of the Acts (s. 20).

Acquisition of Lands vested in the Guardians or others for the general benefit of the parish may, with the approval of the Guardians and the Local Government Board (and of the Parish Meeting of a parish without a Parish Council), be appropriated for the purposes of the Acts, or lands may be purchased or hired (s. 24); but the Acts do not authorise the compulsory acquisition of land. Where, therefore, Commissioners execute the Acts, they cannot purchase or take any lands under the Lands Clauses Acts otherwise than by agreement (10 & 11 Vict. c. 61, s. 4). This does not apply to a Parish Council executing the Acts, who under section 9 of the Local Government Act, 1894, are empowered to acquire land compulsorily for any purpose for which they are authorised to acquire it. Upon the lands purchased or otherwise acquired for the purposes of the Acts, the Commissioners or Baths and Wash houses Acts. Parish Council executing the Acts may erect any buildings suitable for public baths and washhouses, and make any open bathing places and convert any buildings into public baths and washhouses (9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 25). There may be open drying grounds in connection with the washhouses, and covered swimming baths may also be provided or acquired under the Acts (41 Vict. c. 16, s. 3). Existing baths and washhouses may be purchased or leased, and the trustees of any public baths and washhouses may, under certain conditions, transfer them to the commissioners or Parish Council, as the case may be, for the purposes of the Acts (9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 27; 45 & 46 Vict. c. 30, s. 2). The number of baths and washing tubs provided for the labouring class must not be less than twice the number of baths and washing tubs of higher classes (9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 36; 10 & 11 Vict. c. 61, s. 5). Gas and water companies may in their discretion grant and furnish Water and gas supplies of water or gas, either without charge or on other favourable terms (9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 28).

ming bath, whether covered or open, may, for any period, be kept closed, or a gymnasium or other means of healthful recreation, may be established therein, or it may be used as an amount of the control purposes of healthful recreation or exercise. Any portion of the public baths when not required may be used for holding parish meetings or for other parochial purposes; but no covered or open swimming baths when closed may be used for music or dancing (41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, s. 5). Charges may be made for the use of the gymnasium or other means of recreation, or for the use of any covered swimming bath as an empty room (s. 8).

The maximum charges for baths and washhouses are fixed by the Charges, Acts of 1847 and 1878, as follows:—

1. Baths for the Labouring Classes.

Every bath to be supplied with clean water for every person bathing alone, or for several children bathing together, and in either case with one clean towel for every bather.

Appointment of Officers.

The Parish Council or Commissioners, as the case may be, are required to appoint a clerk and such other officers and servants as may be necessary, and, with the approval of the Parish Meeting, may appoint reasonable salaries, wages, and allowances for such clerk, officers, and servants, and when necessary, may hire and rent a sufficient office for holding their meetings and transacting their business, and may agree for and pay a reasonable rent for such office (9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 122; 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, s. 7).

Borrowing.

The Commissioners with the sanction of the Parish Meeting and the approval of the Local Government Board, may borrow for the purposes of the Acts (9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 21; 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, s. 9). A Parish Council would borrow under the provisions of section 12 of the Local Government Act, 1894.

Full powers are conferred on the Commissioners or Parish Council, as the case may be, to make byelaws for the management, use, and regulation of the baths and other institutions provided under the Acts. Such byelaws require the approval of the Local Government Board (9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 34; 41 & 42 Vict. c. 14, s. 6) who have issued model forms of byelaws under these enactments, which may be obtained from them on application. Any byelaws in force at the time of the transfer of powers from the existing Commissioners, will continue in force as if made by the authority to whom the transfer is made (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 87).

The expenses of executing the Acts are payable out of the poor rate (9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 16), and the Parish Meeting may and shall order the overseers to levy with and as part of the poor rate, such sums as they shall deem necessary, and the amount shall be paid according to the order of the meeting to the person appointed by the Commissioners to receive the same, or to the Parish Council executing the Acts (s. 17). Any surplus receipts from the rates and from the revenue of the baths and washhouses, after providing a balance sufficient to meet the probable liabilities for the next year, are to be paid to the overseers in aid of the poor rate (s. 18).

Baths and Vashhouses Acts.

Expenses.

Section 19 of the Act of 1846, contains provisions enabling two or Union of parishes more neighbouring parishes which have adopted the Acts to concur in carrying them into execution.

If, after any institutions provided under the Acts have been established for seven years, the Parish Council (or the Parish Meeting in accordance with the previous recommendation of the Commissioners) determine them to be unnecessary or too expensive to be kept up, the Council or Commissioners, with the approval of the Local Government Board, may sell the same for the best price that can reasonably be obtained, and the net proceeds are to be paid to the credit of the poor rate (9 & 10 Vict. c. 74, s. 32).

Abandonment of Act.

Burial Acts.

The Burial Acts, 1852 to 1885.

THE BURIAL ACT, 1852 (15 & 16 Vict. c. 85).

THE BURIAL ACT, 1853 (16 & 17 Vict. c. 134).

THE BURIAL ACT, 1854 (17 & 18 Vict. c. 87).

(48 & 49 Vict. c. 21).

A Parish Meeting for the purpose of determining whether a burial Adoption. ground shall be provided for the parish may be convened at any time, and must be convened where an order in council has been, or is intended to be made for discontinuing burials (wholly or subject to any exception or qualification) in any burial ground of any parish for which no Burial Board has been appointed (18 & 19 Vict. c. 128, s. 3). If it be resolved by the Parish Meeting that a burial ground shall be provided, a copy of the resolution extracted from the minutes and signed by the chairman, must be sent to the Home Secretary (15 & 16 Vict. c. 85, s. 10). His approval of the resolution is necessary (34 & 35 Vict. c. 33).

Burial Acts.
Adoption.

For the purposes of the Local Government Act, 1894, the passing of a resolution to provide a burial ground under the Burial Acts, 1852 to 1885, is to be deemed to be an adoption of those Acts (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 7 (8)).

Appointment of Burial Board where no Parish Council. In a parish without a Parish Council, the Parish Meeting after resolving to provide a burial ground, must appoint from three to nine ratepayers to be the Burial Board. The incumbent, although not a ratepayer, may be appointed. One-third of the members of the Burial Board retire annually and are eligible for re-appointment (15 & 16 Vict. c. 85, s. 11). Vacancies must be filled up within one month of notification to conveners of Parish Meetings, and, in default, may be filled up by the Burial Board (18 & 19 Vict. c. 128, s. 4.) The reasonable expenses of taking a poll on the appointment or re-appointment of members are to be defrayed by the Burial Board as expenses under the Acts (48 & 49 Vict. c. 21). Three members are a quorum (15 & 16 Vict. c. 85, s. 14). Two persons must be appointed yearly by the Parish Meeting to audit the accounts of the Burial Board and report thereon to the Parish Meeting (s. 18). The Burial Board are incorporated and may hold land for the purposes of the Acts (s. 24).

The Parish Council or Burial Board, as the case may be, are required with all convenient speed to provide a burial ground, and to make arrangements for facilitating interments therein. They are to have reference to the convenience of access to the burial ground from the parish, but the ground may be either within or without the parish (s. 25). With the approval of the Parish Meeting, land may be purchased to form a burial ground, or existing cemeteries may be purchased. Instead of actually providing a burial ground, contracts may be entered into with any cemetery company for the interment of the bodies of persons who would have had rights of interment in the burial ground of the parish (s. 26). A Burial Board cannot acquire land compulsorily, as only the provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts with respect to the purchase and taking of lands by agreement are incorporated with the Burial Acts (s. 27), but a Parish Council executing the Burial Acts may acquire land compulsorily for any purpose for which they are authorised to acquire it (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 9). A burial ground would be such a purpose. Lands vested in the Guardians or others for the general benefit of the parish, may with the approval of the Guardians and the Local Government Board (and of the Parish Meeting of a parish without a Parish Council) be appro-

Acquisition of and.

A Parish Council or Burial Board, as the case may be, can lay out and embellish any burial ground provided by them in such manner as priated for the purposes of a burial ground, but where any land so appropriated is subject to any charitable use, the land is to be taken on such conditions as the Chancery Division of the High Court appoint and direct (15 & 16 Vict. c. 85, s. 29).

may be fitting and proper, and build according to a plan to be approved by the bishop of the diocese, a chapel for the performance of the burial Burial ground. service according to the rites of the established church, and such burial ground may be consecrated by the bishop, but an unconsecrated portion must be set apart, and on the unconsecrated portion may be built a suitable chapel or chapels for the performance of funeral services (s. 30). Under 18 & 19 Vict. c. 128, s. 10, where the parish is unanimous the whole ground may be consecrated, and within ten years another, unconsecrated, burial ground may, if desired, be provided separately.

Burial Acts.

Since, however, the passing of the Burial Laws Amendment Act, 1880 (43 & 44 Vict. c. 41), there is practically no legal distinction as to the services which may be performed in consecrated and unconsecrated ground.

The Parish Council or Burial Board, as the case may be, may make arrangements for facilitating the conveyance of the bodies of the dead from the parish or place of death to the burial ground provided under the Act, or to any other place of burial (15 & 16 Vict. c. 85, s. 41), and with the approval of the Parish Meeting of a parish without a Parish Council, may hire, take on lease, or otherwise provide fit and proper places in which bodies may be received and taken care of, previous to interment, and make arrangements for the reception and care of the bodies to be deposited therein (s. 42). An appeal against the refusal or neglect of the Parish Meeting to authorise necessary expenditure may, under certain circumstances, be made to the Home Secretary (18 & 19 Vict. c. 128, s. 6).

Conveyance of bodies to buria ground.

Mortuaries

The Parish Council or Burial Board must conform to and obey the Home Secretary regulations in relation to burial grounds and mortuaries provided under the Acts, made by the Home Secretary for the protection of the public health and the maintenance of public decency (15 & 16 Vict. c. 85, s. 44).

The Parish Council or Burial Board, as the case may be, are required to appoint a clerk and such other officers and servants as shall be necessary for their business, and for the purposes of their burial ground, and with the approval of the Parish Meeting may appoint reasonable salaries, wages and allowances for such clerks, officers and servants, and when necessary, may hire and rent a sufficient office for holding their meetings and transacting their business (s. 15).

Appointment of Officers, &c.

Money may be borrowed with the sanction of the Parish Meeting Borrowing. for providing and laying-out any burial ground, and building a chapel or chapels therein. The approval of the Treasury is required for borrowing by a Burial Board (s. 20). A Parish Council would borrow under the Local Government Act, 1894 (s. 12.)

the poor rates, and the expenses to be so incurred for or on account of any parish in providing and laying out a burial-ground and building the necessary chapel or chapels thereon are not to exceed such sum as the Parish Meeting shall authorise (15 & 16 Vict. c. 85, s. 19); but if the Parish Meeting refuse or neglect to authorise the expenditure of necessary sums, the Parish Council or Burial Board may make a repre-more parishes which have respectively resolved to provide burial grounds to concur in providing one burial ground, under the management of a Joint Burial Board, incorporated as "The Burial Board for the Parishes of — and —, in the County of — " (15 & 16 Vict. c. 85, s. 24). A Joint Burial Board may at any time before a burial ground has been provided be dissolved by the constituent parishes (20 & 21 Vict. c. 81, s. 2).

or upwards, according to the last account from time to time taken by authority of Parliament (s. 2). A parish with a population of less than 500 according to the last published census, cannot adopt the Act, and the Act will, when adopted, be invariably executed by the Parish Council. The Act is, by section 2, to be adopted in the same manner as the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1846. There must, therefore, be a two-thirds majority of the Parish Meeting, and the approval of the Local Government Board is necessary.

Recreation ground, &c.

Under this Act the Parish Council may purchase or lease lands and accept gifts or grants of land, for the purpose of forming any public walk, exercise or playground, and may levy rates for maintaining the same, and for removal of any nuisance or obstruction to the free use Public Impro and enjoyment thereof, and for improving any open walk or footpath, or placing convenient seats, or shelters from rain and for other purposes of a similar nature (s. 1).

Expenses are raised out of the poor rate (s. 3); but a rate for the purposes of the Act must not exceed 6d. in the \pounds (s. 7), and it must be agreed to by a majority of at least two-thirds of the Parish Before such rate can be imposed a sum, in amount Meeting (s. 4). not less than one-half of the estimated cost of such proposed improvement, must be raised, given or collected by private subscription or donation (s. 6).

Generally the Parish Council will have for the purposes of the Act Powers for executing Act. similar powers to those conferred by the Baths and Washhouses Act, 1846 (s. 3).

No borrowing powers are conferred by the Public Improvements Borrowing. Act, 1860; but, notwithstanding that the Act confers no such powers, a Parish Council could borrow under the Local Government Act, 1894, for the purpose of purchasing lands for a public walk, exercise or playground, or for any other purposes of the Act of 1860 that came within the general purposes for which the Local Government Act gives a Parish Council borrowing powers.1

Public Libras Act.

This Act may be adopted for any rural parish subject to a condition conditions. that the maximum rate or addition to a rate to be levied for the purposes of the Act in the parish, or in any defined portion of the parish, in any one financial year shall not exceed one halfpenny or shall not exceed three farthings in the \mathcal{L} , but such limitation if fixed at one halfpenny may subsequently be raised to three farthings, or altogether removed, or where it is for the time being fixed at three farthings may be removed; but no rate or addition to a rate is to be levied for any one financial year to an amount exceeding one penny in the \mathcal{L} (s. 2).

County electors were the voters under the Act, and any ten or more adoption, voters might address a requisition in writing to the overseers requiring them to ascertain the opinion of the voters in the parish with respect to the question or questions stated in the requisition. On the receipt of such a requisition the overseers were to proceed to ascertain by means of voting papers the opinion of the voters with respect to the question or questions; but the opinion of the voters was not to be ascertained on any question with respect to the limitation of the rate unless it was required by the requisition, or with respect to any limitation of the rate other than the limitations specified in the Act (s. 3). Any question with respect to—

- (b) the fixing, raising, and removing of any limitation on the maximum rate; and will now have to be submitted to the parochial electors, and their opinion ascertained by a poll taken in manner provided by the Local Government Act, 1894 (s. 7 (2)). The manner of taking the poll will be provided for by Rules framed by the Local Government Board (s. 48 (8)). It is not competent for the Parish Meeting to adopt the Public Libraries Act without a poll, but the procedure for the convening of the Parish Meeting supersedes for the purpose of ascertaining the opinion of the voters, the preliminary machinery of the Act to which reference has been made. The chairman of the Parish Council, or any two parish councillors, or the chairman of the Parish Meeting, or any six parochial electors may at any time convene a parish meeting (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 45 (3)), and it would be for the chairman of the Parish Council or any other convener or conveners to give not less than fourteen days' public notice of the intended meeting, and the business to be transacted at the meeting, and to sign such notice (Sched. 1, Part 1, Rules (2) and (3)). If the notice with respect to the adoption of the Public Libraries Act does not raise any question as to the limitation of the rate, the opinion of the voters will not be taken on that question, and the maximum rate of one penny in the pound will be leviable. Where the opinion of the parochial electors is taken upon the question as to the adoption of the Act, or upon a question as to the limitation of the rate, no further proceeding can be taken for ascertaining the opinion of the electors until the expiration of one year at least from the day of the poll. Questions submitted to the parochial electors are to be decided by a majority of answers recorded on the valid voting papers (55 & 56 Vict. c. 53, s. 3).
- (c) the ascertaining of the opinion of the voters with respect to any matter for which their consent is required;

Where the Act is adopted for a rural parish without a Parish Council, the Parish Meeting must forthwith appoint not less than three nor more than nine voters in the parish to be Commissioners for carrying the Act into execution (s. 5 (1)). One-third of the Commissioners retire each year, and their place is filled by an annual appointment. Casual vacancies in the office of Commissioner are as soon as may be to be filled up by the Parish Meeting (s. 6). The Commissioners are required to meet at least once a month; two Commissioners constitute a quorum (s. 7).

They are a body corporate by the name of "the Commissioners for Public Libraries and Museums for the Parish of ————, in the County of _____," and can acquire and hold lands for the Public Librarie purposes of the Acts without any licence in mortmain (s. 5 (2)).

Several provisions which have not hitherto been much acted upon, Combination of districts. authorise the combination of neighbouring Library Districts for the purpose of the Act.

Where the Act is adopted for any two or more neighbouring parishes, the respective Parish Councils, or Parish Meetings in parishes without a Parish Council, may by agreement combine for any period in carrying the Act into execution, and the expenses are to be defrayed by the parishes in such proportions as may be agreed on (s. 9 (1)). In the case of two or more Parish Councils a joint committee of the Councils concerned would execute the Act (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 57); and in the case of two or more parishes without a Parish Council not more than six Commissioners would have to be appointed by the Parish Meeting of each parish to form one body of Commissioners for the purposes of the Act (55 & 56 Vict. c. 53, s. 9 (2)). But where all the combining parishes were not parishes with Parish Councils, or were not parishes without Parish Councils, there would be some difficulty in constituting a governing body, but the difficulty might be got over by an application of the Parish Meeting to the County Council to confer on that Meeting the power of a Parish Council to appoint members of a Joint Committee (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 57). Section 10 of the Public Libraries Act, 1892, contains a further provision enabling a parish adjoining or near any Library District, for which either the Act has been adopted or its adoption is contemplated, to be annexed to that district, subject to the consent of the library authority. consent of the voters of the parish is necessary to the parish being annexed to the adjoining district, and this consent must be ascertained by a poll of the parochial electors on the subject. The library authorities for any two or more parishes for which the Act has been adopted may also with the consent of the voters (ascertained by a poll of the parochial electors) in each parish agree to share for any period the cost of the purchase, erection, repair, and maintenance of any library, building, museum, school for science, art gallery, or school for art, situate in one of the parishes, and also the cost of the purchase of books and newspapers and other expenses. With the like consent of the voters, and the consent of the Charity Commissioners, a library authority may make a similar agreement with the governing body of any library established or maintained out of funds subject to the jurisdiction of the Charity Commissioners, and situate in or near the parish, and, in case of inability, objection, or failure on the part of the governing body to enter into such agreement, the Charity Commissioners may, if they think fit, become party to the agreement on behalf of the governing body (s. 16).

Purchase of land by agreement.

For the purpose of the purchase of land under the Act by a library authority the Lands Clauses Acts, with the exception of the provisions relating to the purchase of land otherwise than by agreement, are incorporated with the Public Libraries Act, 1892 (s. 12 (1)), and that Act confers no power of compulsory purchase. Where therefore the library authority are Commissioners appointed by the Parish Meeting, land for the purposes of the Act may be purchased only by agreement, but where the authority are the Parish Council that Council may acquire land compulsorily under section 9 of the Local Government Act, 1894, for the purpose of public libraries and museums.

But in other ways the grant of land for the purpose of the Public Libraries Act, 1892, has been specially favoured by the Legislature. Any person holding land for ecclesiastical, parochial, or charitable purposes may grant, or convey, by way of gift, sale, or exchange, for any of the purposes of the Act any quantity, not exceeding in any one case one acre of such land; but the grant or conveyance of ecclesiastical property requires the consent of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, and of parochial property (which must be granted or conveyed by the Board of Guardians of the poor law union comprising

No such action on the part of the guardians would be required for the sale or exchange of parochial property vested in a Parish Council (see page 55). In a parish not combined with any other parish the amount to be raised out of the rate requires the sanction of the Parish Meeting. The amount proposed to be raised must be expressed in the notice convening the meeting, and where the Act is executed by Commissioners the amount is to be paid according to the order of the Parish Meeting to the person appointed by the Commissioners to receive it. In the notices requiring the payment of the rate the proportion which the amount to be raised for the purposes of the Act bears to the total amount of the rate must be stated (s. 18 (2)).

No sanction of the Parish Meeting is required for raising the sums due from a parish annexed to any library district for meeting the expenses chargeable to the parish (s. 18 (3)).

For the purpose of the acquisition of land by a Parish Council the Lands Clauses Acts are incorporated with the Local Government Act, 1894, except the provisions of those Acts with respect to the purchase and taking of land otherwise than by agreement, and section 178 of the Public Health Act, 1875 (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55), is to apply as if the Parish Council were referred to therein (s. 9 (1)).

Under this provision the Parish Council will be able to acquire by agreement land for such purposes as they are authorised to acquire land. In connection with the powers and duties of the Parish Council under the Local Government Act, 1894, the Adoptive Acts and other statutes, mention has been made of the various purposes for which land may be acquired by them. They may, for instance, acquire land for building public offices and for recreation grounds (s. 8 (1) (a)), and for the purposes of a supply of water or of a right of way (Local Government Act, 1894, ss. 8 (1) (e) (g), 9 (15)).

THE LANDS CLAUSES (UMPIRE) ACT, 1883 (46 & 47 Vict. c. 15); and Any Acts for the time being in force amending the same, contain provisions which are usually made applicable to the acquisition of lands for undertakings of a public nature. It is beyond the scope of the present work to set out those provisions at length, and it must suffice to say that the provisions of those Acts relating to the purchase of land by agreement are so framed as to meet every kind of difficulty likely to arise in any case where all parties concerned are willing to treat. Ample powers to sell and convey are conferred in the case of infants, lunatics, and other parties under disabilities, and provision is made for the proper application of the purchase money or compensa-The consideration for the sale and conveyance of lands under the Acts may be either the payment of a gross sum or an annual rent Other provisions deal very fully with the conveyance of lands, the entry upon lands, the enfranchisement of copyholds, the acquisition of common or waste lands and of lands subject to leases, mortgages, and other encumbrances, and subsidiary matters. The provisions of the Acts with respect to the sale of superfluous lands are subject to the provisions of section 11 of the Allotments Act, 1887, which is made to apply to land purchased under section 9 of the Local Government Act, 1894.1

Section 178 of the Public Health Act, 1875, enables lands belonging to the Duchy of Lancaster to be sold and disposed of for such sum as to the Chancellor and Council of the Duchy may appear sufficient consideration. This section is given at page 313 of the Appendix.

If a Parish Council are unable to acquire by agreement, and on Compulsory reasonable terms suitable land for any purpose (other than for the purpose of any supply of water, or of any right of way, s. 9 (15)), for which they are authorised to acquire it, they may represent the case to the County Council, and the County Council must inquire into the representation (s. 9(2)).

If on any such representation, or on any proceeding under the Allotments Acts, 1887 (50 & 51 Vict. c. 48), and 1890 (53 & 54 Vict. c. 65), a County Council are satisfied that suitable land for the purpose of the Parish Council or for the purpose of allotments, including common pasture, where authorised by the County Council, to be acquired under section 12 of the Act of 1887, (as the case may be), cannot be acquired on reasonable terms by voluntary agreement, and that the circumstances are such as to justify the County Council in proceeding, they are to cause such public inquiry to be made in the parish, and such notice to be given both in the parish and to the owners, lessees, and occupiers of the land proposed to be taken as may be prescribed by the Local Government Board, and all persons interested are to be permitted to attend at the inquiry, and to support or oppose the taking of the land (s. 9 (3)).

Section 3 of the Allotments Act, 1890, requires every County Standing Committee of Council to annually appoint a standing committee not exceeding one-fourth of their own body for the purpose of dealing with petitions and holding local inquiries under that Act. The section, which is reprinted at page 371 of the Appendix, is incorporated with section 9 of the Local Government Act, 1894, and will with adaptations prescribed by the Local Government Board, apply accordingly (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 9 (13)). It will be the duty of a standing committee so appointed to take the necessary preliminary proceedings to hold the public inquiry referred to in section 9 (3) of the Local Government Act, and to report the result to the County Council.

Before the standing committee of the County Council cause a public inquiry to be made they must satisfy themselves that suitable land cannot be acquired on reasonable terms by voluntary agreement, land cannot be acquired on reasonable terms by voluntary agreement, and that the circumstances justify them in proceeding. It would seem as if what the standing committee, as representing the County Council, are required to be first satisfied about, is the very purpose for which a public inquiry is necessary, but the provision must be taken to mean no more than that before the Committee take action a primâ facie case must be made out to their satisfaction. A petition to the County Council under the Allotments Act, 1890, to which reference will be presently made, is referred as of course to the standing committee of the Council required to be appointed by that Act, and if that committee is satisfied of the bona fides of the application they must forthwith cause a local inquiry into the circumstances to be made (53 & 54 Vict. c. 65, s. 3).

Representation under Allotments Act, 1887.

On a representation in writing to the District Council by any six registered parliamentary electors or ratepayers resident, in the case of an urban district, in that district, and, in the case of a rural district, in some parish in that district, that the circumstances of the urban district or parish are such that it is the duty of the Council to take proceedings under the Act, the Council are required to take such repretation into consideration.

If the District Council are of opinion, either after an inquiry made in consequence of such representation or otherwise, that there is a demand for allotments for the labouring population in such urban district, or in any parish in such rural district, and that such allotments cannot be obtained at a reasonable rent and on reasonable conditions by voluntary arrangement between the owners of land suitable for such allotments and the applicants for the same, the Council, subject to the provisions of the Act, are to purchase or hire suitable land which may be available, whether within or without the district or parish, adequate to provide a sufficient number of allotments, and are to let such land in allotments to persons belonging to the labouring population resident in the district or parish and desiring to take the same (50 & 51 Vict. c. 48, s. 2).

Order for compulsory purchase.

A District Council who are unable by hiring or purchase by agreement to acquire suitable land sufficient for allotments under the Allotments Act, 1887, at a reasonable price or rent and subject to reasonable conditions, may petition the County Council for an order authorising the compulsory acquisition of land. The order under that Act was provisional only, and had no force until confirmed by Parliament (s. 3). An order of the County Council for compulsory purchase or hiring under the Local Government Act, 1894, will require confirmation by the Local Government Board, and not by Parliament (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 9 (7)). In the case of a County Borough, the jurisdiction to make an order for compulsory purchase under the Act of 1887, belongs to the Local Government Board by virtue of section 34 (7) of the Local Government Act, 1888. That Board will not the coverning the initial state and will be the coverning the initial state and will be the coverning the initial state. will continue to exercise the jurisdiction, and will both make and confirm the order where the Council of a County Borough petition them under the Local Government Act, 1894 (s. 9 (18), and the order will not require confirmation by Parliament.

Order for compulsory purchase.

If after a representation has been made under section 2, of the Act Petition under Allotments Act, of 1887, the District Council other than a Borough Council fail to take 1890. proceedings under the Act, any six persons qualified to make such representation may petition the County Council requesting them to put the Act into force for the purpose of providing a sufficient number of allotments for the district or parish (53 & 54 Vict. c. 65, s. 2 (1)). The petition is referred to the standing committee of the County Council appointed under the Act, and if they are satisfied of the bona fides of the application, they must cause a local inquiry to be made, and report to the Council (s. 3 (3)). If the County Council are satisfied by the inquiry that the circumstances are such that land for allotments should be acquired, they are to pass a resolution to that effect, and thereupon the powers and duties of the District Council as to allotments are transferred to the County Council.

A Parish Council are empowered to make a representation to the Proceedings by District Council under section 2 of the Act of 1887 (Local Govern-Parish Council. ment Act, 1894, s. 6 (3)), and petition the County Council under section 2 of the Act of 1890 (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 9 (17)).

The provision in the Local Government Act, 1894, with respect Compulsory to the compulsory acquisition of land, applies to three classes of land cases:

(1) A Parish Council requiring land for any purpose for which By Parish Council: they are authorised to acquire land compulsorily.

(2) A District Council petitioning the County Council, or where By District Council; applicable, the Local Government Board, for powers of compulsory purchase for the purpose of allotments.

If the County Council refuse to make any such order, the Parish Council, or if the proceeding is taken on the petition of the District Council, then the District Council may petition the Local Government Board, and that Board after local inquiry may, if they think proper, make the order, and the same provisions are to apply as if the order had been made by the County Council (s. 9 (5)).

The provision for an appeal to the Local Government Board, refers explicitly to the refusal of the County Council to make an order only, but that refusal seems to cover a refusal or neglect to cause public inquiry in the parish to be made with the view of making such an order. If the provisions were not wide enough in this respect the County Council by declining to hold a public inquiry might defeat the object of the provision altogether. The local inquiry to be held by the Local Government Board will be in addition to the public inquiry in the parish which may have been caused to be made by the

Where a memorial has been presented against an order and not withdrawn the order may be amended by the Local Government Board before confirmation by them; but where no memorial is presented, or where every such memorial has been withdrawn, the order must be confirmed as it is without any amendment.

Amendment of order.

Before any order can be made by the County Council there must be a preliminary inquiry by them under subsection 3 of section 9, and if that order is opposed there must be another local inquiry by the Local Government Board under subsection 7 before confirming the order. There will thus be at least two local inquiries in every case before an opposed order is confirmed; and where the County Council have held a preliminary inquiry, but have refused to make an order, and a petition is presented to the Local Government Board, another local inquiry by that Board under subsection 5 will be interposed, and if any order is made by that Board and a memorial presented against the order a third inquiry under subsection 7 will have to be made before their confirmation is given. These safeguards seem more than ample, but it must be remembered that an order once confirmed is final and conclusive under subsection 7, and cannot be challenged on any ground.

Compulsory acquisition. Local inquiries.

Certain restrictive provisions of the Allotments Act, 1887, are on compulso incorporated with section 9, and will with the adaptations prescribed on compulsory purchase. by the Local Government Board apply accordingly (Local Government Act, 1894, s. (9 13)).

If the land is taken for allotments, subsection 2 of section 2 of the Allotments Act, 1887, is to apply, which prohibits the acquisition of land for allotments save at such price or rent that in the opinion of the acquiring authority all expenses (except such as are incurred in making public roads) in acquiring the land, and otherwise in relation to the allotments, may reasonably be expected to be recouped out of the rents obtained in respect thereof. The subsection, which is reprinted in full in the Appendix, page 357, contains a definition of the expression "reasonable rent."

Whether the land is taken for allotments or not, subsections 5, 6, 7 and 8 of section 3 and section 11 of the same Act are made applicable. These provisions are also reprinted at pages 358 and 360 of the Appendix. Under them the making of an order for purchasing any right to coal or metalliferous ore (s. 3 (8)), or for purchasing any park, garden, pleasure ground, or other land required for the amenity or convenience of any dwelling-house, or any land the property of a railway or canal company which is or may be required for the purposes of their undertaking is prohibited, and in making an order for purchasing land, regard must be had to the extent of land held in the neighbourhood by any owner, and to the convenience of other property belonging to the same owner, and so far as is practicable the taking an undue or inconvenient quantity of land from any one owner must be avoided (s. 3 (6)). Persons or bodies corporate Leasing. authorised to sell land for the purposes of the Act (that is for the purposes of section 9 of the Local Government Act, 1894), may, without prejudice to any other power of leasing, lease land to the Parish Council, without any fine or premium, for a term not exceeding Section 9, however, is made applicable to the hiring of allotments by a Parish Council under section 10 of the Act, and thus subsection 7 of section 3 of the Act of 1887 will apply to the hiring of allotments by the Parish Council, and to other cases in which the Parish Council are empowered to hire land. An order for the purpose of the compulsory purchase of land is to incorporate the Lands Clauses Acts, and sections 77 to 85 of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (8 & 9 Vict. c. 20), with the necessary adaptations, but any question of disputed compensation is to be dealt with in the manner provided by section 3 of the Allotments Act, 1887, and provisoes (a), (b), and (c) of subsection 4 of that section are incorporated with section 9 of the Local Government Act, 1894, and are to apply accordingly. In determining the amount of disputed compensation, the arbitrator, under section 3 of the Act of 1887, is not to make any additional allowance in respect of the purchase being compulsory (s. 9 (10)).

The order should itself incorporate the enactments referred to, and make what adaptations are necessary in those enactments. The Lands Clauses Acts as a whole are applicable to compulsory purchases of land under the Local Government Act, 1894, but those provisions of the Acts which relate to the purchase of lands by agreement have been referred to previously on page 104, and it is only necessary to refer now to such of the provisions of the Acts relating to purchase otherwise than by agreement as will be applicable to the compulsory acquisition of land under the Local Government Act. To some extent the provisions with respect to the service of notices on persons interested in lands proposed to be taken will be superseded by the notices which will be prescribed under section 9 (3) of the Local Government Act, but it may be observed that the notices under the Lands Clauses Acts are required to demand from the parties interested the particulars of their estate and interest, and of the claims they make in respect thereof (8 & 9 Vict. c. 18, s. 18). Questions of disputed compensation will not be dealt with according to the Acts, but in the manner provided by section 3 of the Allotments Act, 1887, namely, by a single arbitrator appointed by

But minerals lying near the railway are not to be worked if the company are willing to purchase them (s. 78). If the company are unwilling to purchase the minerals they may be worked by the owner subject to his repairing any damage to the line (s. 79). Compensation must be made to the owner for the restrictions imposed upon him with respect to the working of the mines lying under or near the railway (s. 81).

Sections 293 to 296, and subsections (1) and (2) of section 297 of the Public Health Act, 1875 (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55) are to apply to a local inquiry held by the Local Government Board for the purposes of section 9, as if those sections and subsections were re-enacted, and in terms made applicable to such inquiry (s. 9 (8)).

The person or persons holding a public inquiry for the purposes of the section on behalf of a County Council are to have the same powers as an inspector or inspectors of the Local Government Board when holding a local inquiry; and section 294 of the Public Health Act, 1875, is to apply to the costs of inquiries held by the County Council for the purpose of the section as if the County Council were substituted for the Local Government Board (s. 9 (12)).

These special provisions as to local inquiries for the purpose of the compulsory acquisition of land seem scarcely necessary in view of the general provisions in section 72 of the Local Government Act, 1894, with respect to local inquiries. The general provisions will also be applicable to inquiries under section 9 of the Act, so far as they do not conflict with the special provisions.

in any other case by the County Council (s. 9 (9)).

When the order is made on the petition of the District Council, it is only reasonable that they should carry it into effect, as they stand in the position of promoters of the undertaking under the Lands Clauses Acts, but the object of requiring the County Council to carry the order into effect in all other cases is not evident, as the land itself is to be conveyed to the Parish Council under subsection (14). It will be the duty of the County Council in the case of compulsory acquisition to carry on all the negotiations until the land is conveyed to the Parish Council, although, when the Parish Council acquire land by agreement under section 9 (1), they will themselves do everything that is necessary.

purchased by a County Council for allotments under the Allotments Acts, 1887 and 1890, and the Local Government Act, 1894, or any of them, is to be assured to the Parish Council, and, in that case sections 5 to 8 of the Allotments Act, 1887, are to apply as if the Parish Council were the sanitary authority (s. 9 (14)).

Compulsory acquisition.

Section 9 relates only to the compulsory acquisition of land for the For purposes of Parish purposes of the Parish Council and for allotments, and it follows as Council and for a natural consequence that land acquired otherwise than for allot- allotments. ments should be conveyed to the Parish Council, but the provision in subsection (14) is necessary on account of the direction in subsection (9), that the order for compulsory acquisition is to be carried into effect by the County Council. Not only land acquired for the Parish Council is to be conveyed to them, but also any land purchased by the County Council for allotments is to be conveyed to the Parish Council. A Parish Council is not authorised to purchase land for allotments, but, under this provision, they will acquire such land as has been already purchased or will in future be purchased for allotments by the County Council. The effect of the provision is to supersede the powers of the County Council, conferred by section 3 of the Act of 1890, to delegate or transfer their powers under the Act to the defaulting District Council. Although the land will be conveyed to the Parish Council, the responsibilities of the defaulting District Council under the Act of 1890 will remain unaffected. Sections 5 to 8 of the Act of 1887, which will be applicable to the land for allotments assured to the Parish Council, confer full powers for the improvement and adaptation of land for allotments and for the management of the allotments. The sections are reprinted in the Subsection (12) of section 9, to which reference has been previously made, empowers the County Council to make orders as to the costs of a local inquiry held by them for the purpose of the section, and the provision in subsection (19) directs how expenses, other than such as may be dealt with in orders as to costs under subsection (12), are to be defrayed. The expenses of local inquiries generally are dealt with in section 72, but the effect of the reference in section 9 (19) is very obscure. Where a County Council hold a local inquiry (19) is very obscure. on the application of a Council, or of any inhabitants of a District or Parish, the expenses are to be paid by the Council of that Parish or District, or in the case of a parish which has not a Parish Council, by the Parish Meeting, but, subject to this, the expenses are to be paid out of the county fund (s. 72 (4)). The County Council do not hold inquiries under section 9 on the application of a Council, or of any inhabitants of a District or Parish, although inquiries under that section are incidental to the representations or petitions which may be made to the Council, and it seems doubtful if any but the second alternative in section 72 (4) is applicable to the general proceedings of the County Council under section 9. If that is so, their expenses generally must be paid out of the county fund.

Application of section to Allot-ments Act, 1890.

Where, under the Allotments Act, 1890, the Allotments Act, 1887, applies to the purchase of land by the County Council, that Act is to apply as amended by section 9 of the Local Government Act, 1894

(s. 9 (17)).

This provision in effect, requires that the provisions of section 9 of the Act of 1894 and not those of the Act of 1887 relating to the acquisition of land shall, in future, be acted upon by the County Council in every case where they acquire land for allotments.

HIRING FOR ALLOTMENTS.

Voluntary and compulsory hiring.

A Parish Council are empowered to hire land for allotments, and if they are satisfied that allotments are required, and are unable to hire by agreement on reasonable terms suitable land for allotments, they are to represent the case to the County Council, and the County Council may make an order authorising the Parish Council to hire compulsorily for allotments, for a period not less than fourteen years nor more than thirty-five years, such land in or near the parish as is specified in the order. The order is, as respects confirmation and otherwise, to be subject to the like provisions as if it were an order of the County Council made under section 9, and that section is to apply as if it were re-enacted with the substitution of "hiring" for purchase" and with the other necessary modifications (s. 10 (1)).

The Local Government Act, 1894, contemplates that where land is to be purchased for allotments, the Rural District Council should under ordinary circumstances acquire the land. When allotments have been provided by a Rural District Council for a parish, they may practically be placed under the control of the Parish Council by that council applying for the election of allotment managers.1

Land purchased in default of the Rural District Council by the County Council for allotments, will, under the Act, be conveyed to the Parish Council, and entrusted to their management.

A District Council can obtain powers to purchase land compulsorily for allotments, but their powers as to hiring can be exercised by agreement only.

It is probable that in many rural parishes, the very effective powers of hiring conferred on the Parish Council by the new Act, will be relied upon where allotments are required, in preference to invoking the aid of the Rural District Council. No intervention of any other authority will be necessary where the Parish Council hire by agree-

Where, under the Allotments Act, 1890, the Allotments Act, 1887, applies to the purchase of land by the County Council, that Act is to apply as amended by section 9 of the Local Government Act, 1894 (s. 9 (17)).

(s. 9 (17)).

This provision in effect, requires that the provisions of section 9 of the Act of 1894 and not those of the Act of 1887 relating to the acquisition of land shall, in future, be acted upon by the County Council in every case where they acquire land for allotments.

HIRING FOR ALLOTMENTS.

Voluntary and compulsory hiring.

A Parish Council are empowered to hire land for allotments, and if they are satisfied that allotments are required, and are unable to hire by agreement on reasonable terms suitable land for allotments, they are to represent the case to the County Council, and the County Council may make an order authorising the Parish Council to hire compulsorily for allotments, for a period not less than fourteen years nor more than thirty-five years, such land in or near the parish as is specified in the order. The order is, as respects confirmation and otherwise, to be subject to the like provisions as if it were an order of the County Council made under section 9, and that section is to apply as if it were re-enacted with the substitution of "hiring" for "purchase" and with the other necessary modifications (s. 10 (1)).

The Local Government Act, 1894, contemplates that where land is to be purchased for allotments, the Rural District Council should under ordinary circumstances acquire the land. When allotments have been provided by a Rural District Council for a parish, they may practically be placed under the control of the Parish Council by that council applying for the election of allotment managers.¹

Land purchased in default of the Rural District Council by the County Council for allotments, will, under the Act, be conveyed to the Parish Council, and entrusted to their management.

A District Council can obtain powers to purchase land compulsorily for allotments, but their powers as to hiring can be exercised by agreement only.

It is probable that in many rural parishes, the very effective powers of hiring conferred on the Parish Council by the new Act, will be relied upon where allotments are required, in preference to invoking the aid of the Rural District Council. No intervention of any other authority will be necessary where the Parish Council hire by agreement, and the fact that they may by an order of the County Council, Hiring for allotments. be empowered to hire compulsorily, will often smooth the way for voluntary hiring. In a case where hiring by agreement is found voluntary hiring. In a case where hiring by agreement is found impossible, the Parish Council may make a representation to the County Council for an order authorising compulsory hiring.

Before a District Council can purchase or hire land for allotments, they must be of opinion that there is a demand for allotments for the labouring population, and that such allotments cannot be obtained acquired for labouring population, and that such allotments cannot be obtained at a reasonable rent and on reasonable conditions by voluntary arrangement between the owners of lands suitable for such allotments and the applicants for the same, and when they have acquired land, they can let the allotments only to persons belonging to the labouring population resident in the district or parish for which the allotments are provided (50 & 51 Vict. c. 48, s. 2); but no such conditions have to be observed when a Parish Council hire land for allotments. The only condition laid down by the Local Government Act in connection with the hiring of land for allotments is that, where a Parish Council are unable to hire by agreement on reasonable terms suitable land for allotments, and seek powers of compulsory hiring, they must first be "satisfied that allotments are required."

An order of the County Council for compulsory hiring will be subject Order for to the same procedure as is required for an order of compulsory purchase hiring. under section 9. A local inquiry by the standing committee of the County Council will be necessary before the order is made; and another local inquiry will be required before the Local Government Board can confirm the order, if a memorial is presented to them against the order. There will be an appeal to the Local Government Board where the County Council refuse to make an order. The County Council will carry into effect any order of compulsory hiring. Section 10 contains further provisions specially applicable to hiring for allotments which demand attention.

The order for compulsory hiring may apply, with the adaptations prescribed by the Local Government Board, such of the provisions of the Land Clauses Acts (including those relating to the acquisition of land otherwise than by agreement) as appear to the County Council or Local Government Board sufficient for carrying into effect the order, and for the protection of the persons interested in the land and of the Parish Council (s. 10 (8)).

The provisions of the Lands Clauses Acts have been referred to, in connection with section 9, on pages 104 and 110. It will rest with the County Council making the order, or, where the order is made by the Local Government Board, with that Board to determine by the order what adapted provisions shall apply to the particular hiring.

Nothing in section 10 is to authorise the compulsory hiring of any Saving for mines or minerals, or confer any right to take, sell, or carry away any small holdings. gravel, sand, or clay, or authorise the hiring of any land which is

"Sinall holding," for the purposes of the Small Holdings Act, 1892, means land acquired by a County Council under the powers

' Small Toldings," Definition of. and for the purposes of the Act, and which exceeds one acre, and either does not exceed fifty acres, or, if exceeding fifty acres, is of an annual value for the purposes of the income tax not exceeding £50 (55 & 56 Vict. c. 31, s. 1 (2)). This is the general meaning of the expression "small holding" throughout the Act of 1892, and it applies only to land acquired by a County Council, but in section 17 of the Act the expression "small holding" is used in connection with a holding which a tenant has agreed to purchase from his landlord. That section enables the County Council to make an advance to the tenant on the security of the holding to an amount not exceeding four-fifths of the purchase money. It seems agreeable to the spirit of the provision in section 10 (9) of the Local Government Act, 1894, that a small holding of the size and value mentioned in section 16 of the Act of 1892, is not to be hired compulsorily, whether or not it is a holding to which the provisions of that Act have been applied.

Resumption of cossession to rork minerals.

If the land hired under section 10 is at any time during the tenancy of the Parish Council shown to the satisfaction of the County Council to be required by the landlord (that is, the person for the time being entitled to receive the rent of the land so hired) for the purpose of working and getting the mines, minerals, or surface minerals thereunder, or for any road or work to be used in connection with such working or getting, the landlord may resume possession upon giving to the Parish Council twelve calendar months previous notice in writing of his intention so to do, and upon such resumption he must pay to the Parish Council and to the allotment holders such sum by way of compensation for the loss of the land for the purposes of allotments as may be agreed upon by him and the Parish Council, or in default of agreement as may be awarded by a single arbitrator to be appointed in accordance with the provisions of section 3 of the Allotments Act, 1887, and the provisions of that section are to apply to such arbitrator (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 10 (10)).

This provision is not restricted to land hired compulsorily, and it apparently gives to the landlord an absolute right to resume possession where he requires the land to work minerals, notwithstanding the terms of any agreement he may have made with the Parish Council to the contrary, subject to his compensating the Parish Council and allotment holders for disturbance of the possession of the land.

(d) as to the apportionment of the rent between the land taken by the Parish Council and the land not taken from the tenant; or (e) as to any other matter incidental to the hiring of the land by the Council, or the surrender thereof at the end of their tenancy; but the arbitrator in fixing the rent is not to make any addition in respect of compulsory hiring (s. 10 (2)).

The arbitrator, in fixing rent or other compensation, is to take into Compensation for consideration all the circumstances connected with the land, and the adjustment of use to which it might otherwise be put by the owner during the term of hiring, and any depreciation of the value to the tenant of the residue of his holding caused by the withdrawal from the holding of the land hired by the Parish Council (s. 10 (3)).

Any compensation awarded to a tenant in respect of any depreciation of the value to him of the residue of his holding caused by the withdrawal from the holding of the land hired by the Parish Council is, as far as possible, to be provided for by taking such compensation into account in fixing, as the case may require, the rent to be paid by the Parish Council for the land hired by them, and the apportioned rent, if any, to be paid by the tenant for that portion of the holding which is not hired by the Parish Council (s. 10 (4)).

Under the Act, land may be computesorily hired by the Parish Council for allotments, although existing tenants are disturbed by such Compensation is to be made to the tenant upon the determination of his tenancy, but, in order to lessen as far as practicable, the necessity for a Parish Council paying out money other than rent for the hiring of land for allotments, the compensation awarded to a tenant, who retains possession of part of his holding for any depreciation of value to him of that part by reason of a portion of his holding being taken by the Parish Council, is to be provided for by increasing the rent payable by the Parish Council, and decreasing the rent payable for the part of the holding retained by the tenant. method of adjustment seems inapplicable where the tenant has no agreement or lease, as he might by subsequent action of the landlord in raising his rent be deprived of the benefit awarded to him by the arbitrator.

Hiring for Allotments. Report of

This provision will afford evidence on which to base the amount of compensation due under subsection (7), on the determination of any tenancy created by compulsory hiring. The custody of the public books, writings, and papers of the parish has been previously dealt with on page 70.

Compensation on letermination of tenancy.

On the determination of any tenancy created by compulsory hiring a single arbitrator appointed in accordance with the provisions of section 3 of the Allotments Act, 1887, is empowered to determine as to the amount due by the landlord for compensation for improvements, or by the Parish Council for depreciation, and such compensation is to be assessed in accordance with the provisions of the Agricultural Holdings (England) Act, 1883 (46 & 47 Vict. c. 61), (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 10 (7)).

Where the tenancy is created by voluntary hiring, the provisions of the Agricultural Holdings (England) Act, 1883, would apply on the determination of the tenancy. In case of difference as to the amount and mode and time of payment of compensation, the difference is to be settled by a referee or by two referees and an umpire (46 & 47 Vict. c. 61, ss. 8, 9). In the case of a compulsory hiring, a single arbitrator appointed as provided above, will determine the amount due by the landlord for compensation for improvements, or by the Parish Council The Act of 1883 does not provide for depreciation for depreciation. except as a set-off by the landlord against a claim for compensation (46 & 47 Vict. c. 61, s. 7), but compensation is by section 10 (7) of the Local Government Act, 1894, to be assessed according to the Act of 1883. There are three classes of improvements mentioned in the first schedule of 46 & 47 Vict. c. 61, for which compensation may be claimed subject to the observance of the conditions required. Part I of the Schedule enumerates improvements to which the consent of the landlord is required before the improvement is made; they consist of permanent works, such as laying down permanent pasture, making fences, planting orchards, &c. Part II mentions only one improvement, namely, drainage, in respect of which notice to the landlord is required before the work is done. Part III enumerates improvements to which the consent of the landlord is not required; they are the application of manure and other ameliorators of the soil, such as lime,

Sections 5 to 8 of the Allotments Act, 1887, are to apply to any allotment hired by a Parish Council in like manner as if that Council were the sanitary authority and also the allotment managers, subject to the following provisions:-The Parish Council-

(a) may let to one person an allotment or allotments exceeding one acre, but, if the land is hired compulsorily, not exceeding in the whole four acres of pasture or one acre of arable and three acres of pasture; and ments, and assured to the Parish Council under section 9 (14); but in the case of land hired by a Parish Council the provisions of these sections will be modified as stated above. The sections, of which the text is given at pages 358 to 360 of the Appendix, confer full powers for the improvement and adaptation of land for allotments, and for the management of the allotments. By section 7 of the Allotments Act, 1887, one person is not permitted to hold any allotment or allotments acquired under that Act exceeding one acre, and no building other than a toolhouse, shed, greenhouse, fowl house, or pigstye is to be erected on any part of any allotment. If any such other building is erected, the District Council must forthwith pull it down, and sell and dispose of the materials.

In the case of land hired by a Parish Council for allotments the restriction as to the area let to one person is removed altogether where the hiring is by agreement, and is relaxed to the extent mentioned in section 10 (6) of the Local Government Act, 1894, where the hiring Whether the hiring is by agreement or compulsory, is compulsory. the Parish Council may permit the erection of a stable, cowhouse, or The power of the Parish Council to deal with the land in the manner indicated in section 10 (6) might, however, be modified by the express terms of a hiring by agreement. The enactment, so far as it is permissive, simply removes or modifies statutory restrictions, and confers no absolute right on the Parish Council, irrespective of obligations which they may have voluntarily incurred to the person from whom the land has been hired. There is no definition, for the purpose of the assent in writing of the landlord for the breaking up of permanent pasture, of the expression "landlord," but it no doubt means the person entitled to receive the rent, as in subsection 10.

A report of any proceedings under sections 9 and 10 is required to Report to Parliament of be annually laid before Parliament by the Local Government Board (s. 10 (11)), and that Board are also to lay before Parliament any order made by them under section 9, overruling the decision of the County Council not to make an order for the compulsory acquisition of land (s. 9 (5)).

CHAPTER VII.

Constitution, Term of Office and Proceedings of Boards of Guardians and District Councils—Place of Meeting—Committees of Parish and District Councils—London Vestries and District Boards.

Qualification and election.

A THOROUGH revolution is effected by the Local Government Act, 1894, in the qualification of electors, the mode of election, and the qualification of members of Boards of Guardians and of the new District Councils (other than Town Councils) in whom are merged Urban and Rural Sanitary Authorities.¹

No ex-officio members.

With the exception of two authorities there will be no ex-officio or nominated members of any of these authorities (Local Government Act, 1894, ss. 20 (1), 23 (1)).

Two exceptions.
Oxford.

In the City of Oxford, the Corporation of the Guardians remains as constituted under their local Act, and only those members who are elected by the ratepayers of parishes will be elected under and subject to the provisions of the new Act (s. 60 (6)). The ex-officio and other members who represent the University and colleges will be unaffected by the Act.

Nothing in the Act is to affect any powers of the Secretary of State under the Public Health Supplemental Act for Aldershot, 1857 (20 & 21 Vict. c. 22), or the position of persons nominated under those powers (s. 59 (6)). The Home Secretary under this provision nominates three members of the Urban District Council of Aldershot.

BOARDS OF GUARDIANS.

Subject to the retention of their privileges by the University of Oxford, the provisions relating to guardians apply to every Board of Guardians² throughout the kingdom, including Guardians of Unions within the Administrative County of London and County Boroughs (s. 30), whether constituted under the general law or under a local Act.

Act with respect to the election of guardians apply as if each of the districts were a parish (s. 60 (4)).

Boards of Guardians.

The parochial electors of a parish are the electors of the Electors guardians for the parish, and if the parish is divided into wards for the election of guardians, the electors of the guardians for each ward are such of the parochial electors as are registered in respect of qualificacations within the ward (s. 20 (3)).

Each elector may give one vote and no more for each of any One man one vot number of persons not exceeding the number to be elected (s. 20 (7)).

The election 2 is to be, subject to the provisions of the Act, con- Mode of election ducted according to Rules framed by the Local Government Board (s. 20 (5)).

So much of any enactment, whether in a public, general, or local and personal Act, as relates to the qualification of a guardian is repealed (s. 20 (2)).

The wording of this provision is not so clear as it might be with respect to the third qualification mentioned, but there is no sufficient ground for holding that in the case of a guardian for a parish, wholly or partly within a borough, the qualification prescribed is exclusive of the other two qualifications. It is simply an additional alternative. A person may, therefore, be elected and be a guardian-

- (1) If he is a parochial elector of some parish within the union;
- (2) If he has during the whole of the twelve months preceding the election resided in the union; or
- (3) If in the case of a guardian for a parish wholly or partly situate within the area of a borough he is qualified to be elected a councillor for that borough.

The expression "parochial elector," when used with reference to a Position of parish in an urban district, or in the county of London, or any county borough, means any person who would be a parochial elector of the parish if it were a rural parish (s. 75 (2)), and a married woman may be registered as a parochial elector under section 43, whether a parish is in a borough or not. A feme sole may also be a parochial elector, as she may be on the Local Government Register of Electors. If registered as a parochial elector, a woman, whether married or single, may be elected a guardian. She is also qualified if she has resided for the specified time in the union. But in the case of the third alternative qualification for a guardian of a parish wholly or partly in a borough, namely, the being qualified to be elected a councillor for that borough, the position of a woman under the Local Government Act is not at all satisfactory. The Act expressly provides that no person shall be disqualified by sex or marriage for being elected or being a guardian, whilst it makes no provision for placing a women in the nonresident list of persons qualified to be elected councillors of the borough. That list comprises those persons, who being occupiers of property within the borough, and having been rated and paid rates for the qualifying period, reside more than seven miles and within fifteen of the borough. They are not entitled to be enrolled as burgesses because they reside more than seven miles from the borough, but they are qualified to be elected councillors, if their names are entered in the separate non-resident list, which is subject to revision in the same manner as the burgess list. Women cannot be placed in the list, as they are not qualified to be elected councillors of a borough; and under the Local Government Act, in spite of the provision removing the disqualification of sex and coverture they cannot apparently be elected guardians for a parish wholly or partly in a borough, if they rely on the fact that if men they would be entitled to be placed upon the non-resident list. This is a defect in the Act, but any other conclusion is only possible by a straining of its language. A woman to be elected as a guardian, whether for a parish within or without a borough, must rely on one of the first two alternative qualifications, namely, that she is a parochial elector or a resident in the union.

Clergymen.

A person in holy orders, or the regular minister of a dissenting congregation, cannot be qualified under the third alternative, as he is disqualified for being elected or for being a councillor of a borough [Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, (45 & 46 Vict. c. 50) s. 12].

Term of effice and retirement

Ordinarily the term of office of a Guardian will be three years, and one-third, as nearly as may be, of every Board of Guardians will go out of office on the 15th day of April in each year, and their places be filled by the newly-elected guardians; but

(a) Where the County Council on the application of the Board of Guardians consider that it would be expedient to provide for the simultaneous retirement of the whole of the Board, they may direct that the members shall retire together on the 15th of April in every third year, and the order will have full effect, and where a Union is in more than one county, an order may be made by a joint committee of the Councils of those counties; and

(b) Where at the passing of the Act the whole of the guardians of any Union, in pursuance of an order of the Local Government Board, retire together at the end of every third year, they are to continue so to retire, unless the County Council, or a joint committee of the County Councils, on the application of the Board of Guardians or of any District Council of a district wholly or partially within the Union, otherwise direct (s. 20 (6)).

These provisions as to the term of office of Guardians effect an important change in many Unions. For the most part the whole Board of Guardians have hitherto held office for a year only. Orders of the Local Government Board have in some cases provided for a simultaneous triennial retirement of the whole body of guardians, and in a few instances for the annual retirement of one-third of the guardians. The general rule under the Local Government Act, 1894, is that one-third of the body are to retire each year, subject to the power of the County Council to direct a simultaneous retirement of the whole body in every third year, and subject to the continuance of any similar existing arrangement under an order of the Local Government Board. But the existing arrangement may be altered by the County Council on the application of the Board of Guardians or of any District Council of a district wholly or partly within the Union. In the case of a Union situated wholly or partly in a County Borough, the Council of that Borough will have jurisdiction under section 20 (6).

The jurisdiction of the Local Government Board under the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1842 (5 & 6 Vict. c. 57), and the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1867 (30 & 31 Vict. c. 106), to inquire into the right of any person to act as an elective guardian, and to order a new election in the case of casual vacancies in any Board of Guardians, will cease after the appointed day (Sched. 2).

RELATION OF RURAL DISTRICT COUNCIL TO GUARDIANS.

Guardians as such will not be elected under the Act for any parish Guardians for or other area in a rural district; but the rural district councillors elected for the parish or other area will be the representatives of that parish or area on the Board of Guardians, and when acting in that capacity are to be deemed to be Guardians of the Poor (s. 24 (3)).

The guardians representing the rural area of the union used to Guardians for form the Rural Sanitary Authority. Under the new Act, the urban parishes principal authorities in both rural and urban districts are the District elected Councils, and members of these authorities will be elected as such. The members of a Rural District Council will represent their parishes or other areas on the Board of Guardians; whilst, for the urban parishes or areas in the union, Guardians will be separately elected as district councillors for such parishes, wards, or other areas, as may be determined by the County Council for the purpose of the rotation (s. 79 (4)). Previous mention has been made of the provisions of section 60 which relate to the power of the County Council to regulate the retirement of guardians and of rural district councillors. Under the section a joint committee of the County Councils concerned exercise the power where a union is in more than one county.

Where guardians or rural district councillors retire together at the end of the triennial period, the guardians and district councillors first elected under the Act are to retire on the 15th of April, 1898 (s. 79 (5)).

County boroughs.

In the case of a union wholly or partly within a county borough, the Town Council of the borough will have jurisdiction under the provisions of sections 60 and 79 above referred to, so far as those sections relate to guardians.

SUPPLEMENTARY PROVISIONS AS TO GUARDIANS.

Chairman, vice-chairman and other additional guardians.

A Board of Guardians may elect a chairman or vice-chairman, or both, and not more than two other persons, from outside their own body, but from persons qualified to be guardians of the union, and any person so elected will be an additional guardian and member of the Board. On the first election, if a sufficient number of persons who have been ex-officio or nominated guardians of the union, and have actually served as such, are willing to serve, the additional members are to be elected from among those persons (s. 20 (7)). This restriction of choice applies to the first election only. It is not obligatory on the Board of Guardians to elect these additional members, but, if they exercise the power, they must, on the occasion of the first election, give preference to those ex-officio or nominated guardians who have actually served as guardians and are willing to continue to serve. The chairman and vice-chairman will be elected for one year¹ (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 59 (1) (2); 38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, Schedule 1, Part 1, r. 3), but the other additional guardians will hold office for three years as provided by subsection (6) of section 20 of the Local Government Act, 1894.

Union Assessment Committee.

Constitution of committee.

The constitution of the Union Assessment Committee, which the Board of Guardians of every union formed under the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1834, are required by section 2 of the Union Assessment Committee Act, 1862 (25 & 26 Vict. c. 103), to appoint at their first meeting after the annual election of guardians,² from among themselves, will be affected by the abolition of ex-officio

The Local Government Act, 1894, repeals the reference to ex-officio guardians, whilst it leaves untouched the provision as to the number of the Assessment Committee (Sched. 2). In future the Committee will consist wholly of elected guardians to the number of not less than six nor more than twelve. It is the duty of the Committee to generally supervise the valuations of rateable hereditaments within the union. The valuation lists are in the first place made by the Overseers, and deposited with the Committee, who hear any objections to the lists, and make any alterations that may be necessary before they finally approve them. An appeal lies to Quarter Sessions against valuation lists.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE COMMITTEE

A School Attendance Committee appointed by guardians under School attendance of the El section 7 of the Elementary Education Act, 1876 [39 & 40 Vict.
c. 79], may consist of from six to twelve elected guardians, as the requirement that one-third at least of the committee shall consist of ex-officio guardians, is repealed by the Local Government Act, 1894 (Schedule 2).

Powers of Guardians

If, in the case of a rural parish or of any urban parish in respect to Appointment of overseers. which the power of appointing overseers has been transferred under the Act, notice in the prescribed form of the appointment of overseers 1 is not received by the guardians within three weeks after the 15th of April, or after the occurrence of a vacancy in the office of overseer, as the case may be, it will be the duty of the guardians to make the appointment or fill the vacancy, and any overseer appointed by the guardians will supersede any overseer previously appointed whose appointment has not been notified (s. 50).

The powers of the guardians in respect of the sale, exchange, or Sale, &c., of letting of any parish property, is in a parish having a Parish Council transferred to that Council (s. 6 (1) (d), and so much of any enactment as authorises the appointment of assistant overseers by a Board of Appointment of Guardians is repealed as from the appointed day (s. 81 (6)). The assistant overseers power of appointing an assistant overseer is conferred on the Parish Council² (s. 5 (1)), or Parish Meeting³ (s. 19 (5)), as the case may be.

The Board of Guardians of a union elected in pursuance of the Act Powers under will, save as otherwise provided by an order of the Local Government local Acts. Board made on the application of those guardians, have the same powers and duties under any local and personal Act as the existing Board of Guardians (s. 60 (5)).

Under local Acts, Boards of Guardians sometimes exercise the powers of overseers, or collect the rates, or have other powers not possessed by guardians under the general law. On an application of a Board of Guardians, agreed to by a majority at two successive meetings, the Local Government Board may, by a provisional order which requires the confirmation of Parliament, repeal or alter any of the provisions of such a local Act [Poor Law Amendment Act, 1867 (30 & 31 Vict. c. 106), s. 2; Poor Law Amendment Act, 1868 (31 & 32 Vict. c. 122), s. 3].

DISTRICT COUNCILS.

Definition of District Council.

In the Local Government Act, 1894, and every other Act, unless the context otherwise requires, the expression "District Council" is to include the Council of every urban district, whether a borough or not, and of every rural district, and the expression "county district" is to include every urban and rural district whether a borough or not (s. 21 (3)). This provision has no application to a county borough (s. 35); and the Council of a county borough will not, except where it may be otherwise provided, be a "District Council," nor will the borough be a "county district."

Change of name.

Any District Council may, with the sanction of the County Council, change their name and the name of their district. The change of name is to be published in such manner as the authority authorising the change may direct, and must be notified to the Local Government Board. The change will not affect any rights or obligations of any parish, district, council, authority, or person, or render defective any legal proceedings, and any legal proceedings may be continued or commenced as if there were no change of name (s. 55).

The authority authorising the change of name would be the County Council, and it rests with them to direct the mode of publication. In terms the provision relates to every District Council, and enables the name of a borough to be changed, but it does not seem applicable to a borough.

Provision where failure to elect.

If any District Council, other than a Borough Council, become unable to act, whether from failure to elect or otherwise, the County Council of the county in which the district is situate may order elections to be held, and may appoint persons to form the District Council until the newly elected members come into office (s. 59 (5)). Where there is a failure to elect guardians, the persons elected on

Where there is a failure to elect guardians, the persons elected on the previous occasion may continue under section 10 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1842 (5 & 6 Vict. c. 57), to act as guardians until the next election. But this would be subject to the provision in section 24 (3) of the Local Government Act, 1894, under which persons appointed by the County Council to form a Rural District Council would be the representatives on the Board of Guardians of the parish or area for which they were appointed rural district councillors.

RURAL DISTRICT COUNCILS.

For every Rural Sanitary District there is to be a Rural District Establishment of Rural District Office Office of Rural District Office Offic Council whose district is to be called a Rural District (s. 21 (2)).

The Rural District Council succeeds under section 25 the Rural Sanitary Authority. Rural district councillors will represent the areas for which they are elected on the Board of Guardians; but otherwise there will be no connection between the new Rural District Councils and the Boards of Guardians and the respective bodies will be entirely independent authorities.

Council.

A Rural District Council will consist of a chairman and councillors, and the councillors will be elected by the parishes or other areas for the election of guardians in the district.

Constitution of Council.

The provisions of the Act relating to the number, qualification, election, term of office and retirement of guardians, as shown on pages 121 to 126, apply to rural district councillors. The chairman of the Rural District Council may be elected from outside the councillors (s. 59 (1)).

Where a Rural Sanitary District is on the appointed day situate in more than one Administrative County, such portion of the district as County. is situate in each administrative county will, save as otherwise provided by or in pursuance of the Local Government Act, 1894, or any other Act, be as from the appointed day a rural district. If the number of councillors of any district so formed will be less than five, the provisions so far as unrepealed, of section 9 of the Public Health Act, 1875, with respect to the nomination of persons to make up the members of a rural authority to five, are to apply, unless the Local Government Board by order direct that the affairs of the district shall be temporarily administered by the District Council of an adjoining district in another county with which it was united before the appointed day, and, if they so direct, the councillors of the district will be entitled, so far as regards those affairs, to sit and act as members of that District Council, but a separate account is to be kept of receipts and expenses in respect of the district, and the same are to be credited or charged separately to the district (s. 24 (5)). The provisions of section 9 of the Public Health Act, 1875, referred to, are to apply to the District Council of a rural district to which they applied at the passing of the Local Government Act, 1894 (s. 24 (6)).

Persons nominated to make up the members of a Rural District Council to five will not be guardians of any union of which the Rural District may form a part.

Under section 36 (1) (i) a Joint Committee of the County Councils concerned may, for special reasons, by order direct that the division of a rural district situated in more than one county shall not take place. The order must be made before the appointed day. It will be the duty of the County Council to provide, unless for special reasons they otherwise direct, for uniting every rural district which will have less than five elected councillors to some neighbouring district or districts (s. 36 (1) (iii)). There will be two classes of small rural districts to be dealt with by the County Council—those that now exist, and those which will be created by the division of districts in more than one county. Where the County division of districts in more than one county. Where the County Council direct that such a small rural district shall not be united with any neighbouring district, the Local Government Board are authorised under the unrepealed provisions of section 9 of the Public Health Act, 1875, from time to time by order to nominate such number of persons as are necessary to make up the number of five councillors. The persons so nominated should be qualified to be rural councillors (s 20 (2)). Instead of increasing the number of councillors the Local Government Board may, in the case of a small Rural District Council formed by the division under the Act of a district in more than one county, order that the affairs of the district shall be temporarily administered by the undivided District Council, but separate accounts are to be kept in respect of such small district. An arrangement of this character is to be temporary only, and the intention of the provision seems to be that the arrangement should be continued only so long as to allow of the necessary administrative changes being conveniently made for the purpose of absorbing the small district in one or more neighbouring districts.

Officers of divided districts.

Where a rural sanitary district is divided by the Act, any officer for the district will hold his office as such officer for each district formed by the division, and his salary is to be borne by the respective districts in proportion to their rateable value at the commencement of the local financial year next after the passing of the Act (s. 81 (5)), that is on the 1st of April, 1894.

Incorporation of Rural District Council.

Common seal.

Every District Council for a rural district will be a body corporate by the name of the District Council, with the addition of the name of the district, or if there is any doubt as to the latter name, of such name as the County Council direct, and will have perpetual succession and a common seal, and may hold land for the purposes of their powers and duties without licence in mortmain (s. 24 (7)).

The title of a Rural District Council under this provision is "The Rural District Council for the Rural District of [Battle.]" There may be a doubt as to the name of a new rural district formed by the URBAN DISTRICT COUNCILS.

Urban Sanitary Authorities are from the appointed day to be Constituted Councils, and their districts are to be called Councils are to be called Councils.

In the case of urban districts the Local Government Act, 1894, establishes no new authorities, although it materially alters the constitution and mode of electing urban authorities other than Town There will consequently be no break in the continuity of the authorities, and the change of name will not affect the identity of an urban sanitary authority as a corporate body or derogate from their powers, and any enactment, whether in a public, general, or local and personal Act, referring to the members of the authority will, unless inconsistent with the Local Government Act, continue to refer to the members of the authority under its new name. A Change of name District Council may, with the sanction of the County Council, change their name and the name of their district¹ (s. 55 (3)).

There is no express provision in the Act with respect to the style which Urban District Councils should assume; but, following the analogy of Rural District Councils, the name of an Urban District Council should be "The Urban District Council for the Urban District of [Penrith]."

So much of any enactment, whether in a public, general, or local and personal Act, as relates to the qualification of a member of an urban sanitary authority is repealed (s. 23 (2)).

The term of office of a councillor is three years, and one-third, as

In every part of the district there will be an election of urban councillors in each year. An urban district other than a borough may be divided into wards by an order of the County Council under section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888. The County section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888. The County Council may also by an order under the same section alter the number of wards or the boundaries of any ward, or the number of members of the District Council, or the apportionment of the members among the wards (51 & 52 Vict. c. 41, s. 57). Where any wards of an urban district have been created, or any number of members of an urban sanitary authority fixed, by or in pursuance of any local and personal Act, such wards and number of members will continue and be alterable in like manner as if they had been fixed by an order of

The urban district councillors who are respectively to retire in 1896 and 1897 are to be determined according to their place on the poll at the election, those that were lowest on the poll retiring first. If there was no poll, or if a question arises in consequence of an equality of votes between two or more councillors, the matter is to be determined by ballot conducted under the direction of the Urban District Council (s. 79 (6)). The ballot is a ballot of the District Council not of the electors.

In the case of an urban district divided into wards, these provisions with respect to the retirement of the first elected councillors are to apply separately to each ward (s. 79 (7)).

CONTINUANCE IN OFFICE OF EXISTING GUARDIANS AND SANITARY Authorities.

Upon the day on which the first guardians and urban or rural Ordinary district councillors elected under the Act come into office, the persons who are then members of Boards of Guardians, and Urban and Rural Sanitary Authorities, are to cease to hold office, but until that day the persons who were at the passing of the Act guardians and members of Urban Sanitary Authorities (for urban districts not being boroughs) are to continue in office notwithstanding any want of qualification, as if the term of office for which they were elected expired on that day, and, except for the purpose of filling casual vacancies or electing additional guardians, no further elections are to be held (s. 79 (8)).

The purpose of this provision is to avoid having two elections in 1894, by dispensing with the ordinary election. It continues in office, persons who were guardians and members of Sanitary Authorities at the passing of the Act, namely, 5th March, 1894, although they may cease to be qualified; and the provision appears to apply even to exofficio and nominated guardians and members of Sanitary Authorities. If a person merely ceases to be qualified, as, for example, if he is no longer rated to a sufficient amount, he will nevertheless retain office; but if he becomes actually disqualified, as, for example, by bankruptcy, he will not retain office under the provision. The reference to the filling of casual vacancies applies to Boards of Guardians only, but for the purpose both of filling casual vacancies or electing additional guardians before the appointed day, an order of the Local Government Board, under section 11 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1842 (5 & 6 Vict c. 57), is necessary. A casual vacancy in a Local Board occurring before the appointed day, should be filled up by the Local Board, under Schedule 2, Part I, r. 65, of the Public Health Act, 1875, within six weeks of its occurrence.

Union board

Any Rural District Council will be entitled to use for the purpose of their meetings and proceedings the board room and offices of any Board of Guardians for the Union comprising their district at all reasonable hours, and if any question arises as to what hours are reasonable it may be determined by the Local Government Board (s. 59 (3)).

COMMITTEES OF PARISH AND DISTRICT COUNCILS.

Appointment of committee.

A Parish or District Council, other than a Town Council, may appoint committees, consisting either wholly or partly of members of the Council, for the exercise of any powers which, in the opinion of the Council, can be properly exercised by committees, but a committee is not to hold office beyond the next annual meeting of the Council, and the acts of every such committee are to be submitted to the Council for their approval. Where a committee is appointed by any such District Council for any of the purposes of the Public Health Acts or Highway Acts, the Council may authorise the committee to institute any proceeding or do any act which the Council might have instituted or done for that purpose, other than the raising of any loan Powers of or the making of any rate or contract (s. 56 (1)). A Town Council can appoint committees under section 22 of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 50).

Where a Parish Council have any powers and duties which are to Part of Parish. be exercised in a part only of the parish, or in relation to a recreation ground, building, or property held for the benefit of a part of a parish, and the part has a defined boundary, the Parish Council must, if required by a Parish Meeting held for that part, appoint annually to exercise such powers and duties a committee consisting partly of members of the Council and partly of other persons representing the part of the parish (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 56 (2)). This part of the parish (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 56 (2)). provision applies to a joint committee (s. 57 (5)).

A Parish or District Council, including a Town Council, may Joint committees concur with any other Parish or District Council or Councils in appointing out of their respective bodies a joint committee for any purpose in respect of which they are jointly interested, and in conferring, with or without conditions or restrictions, on any such Powers. committee any powers which the appointing Council might exercise if the purpose related exclusively to their own parish or district; but a Council are not to delegate to any such committee any power to borrow money or make any rate. A joint committee so appointed Term of office, is not to hold office beyond the expiration of fourteen days after the next annual meeting of any of the Councils who appointed it. costs of a joint committee will be defrayed by the Councils by Costs. whom it is appointed in such proportions as they may agree upon, or as may be determined in case of difference by the County Council.

Where a Parish Council can under the Act be required to appoint a Part of parish. committee consisting partly of members of the Council and partly of other persons, that requirement may also be made in the case of a joint committee, and must be duly complied with by the Parish Councils concerned at the time of the appointment of the joint committee (s. 57). In the case of a joint committee appointed by a Town Council and a Parish Council or other District Council not being a Town Council, the provision as to period of office of the committee will require the committee to vacate office twice a year, namely, in April and November, as the annual meeting of a Town Council takes place on the 9th of November.

The quorum, proceedings, and place of meeting of a committee, Quorum, whether within or without the parish or district, and the area (if any) proceedings, &c. within which the committee are to exercise their authority, are to be such as may be determined by regulations of the Council or Councils appointing the Committee; but, subject to such regulations, the quorum, proceedings, and place of meeting, whether within or

Until the contrary is proved, every meeting in respect of the proceedings whereof a minute has been so made is to be deemed to have been duly convened and held, and the committee to have been duly constituted, and to have had power to deal with the matters referred to in the minutes (Schedule 1, Part 3, rr. 2 and 3).

LONDON VESTRIES AND DISTRICT BOARDS AND WOOLWICH LOCAL BOARD.

Local Government of London. The modern system of local government in the Metropolis by Vestries and District Boards under a central authority was established by the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, and remained practically undisturbed until the Metropolitan Board of Works was superseded by the London County Council under the Local Government Act, 1888. Re-arrangements of two or three districts have been made by subsequent statutes, but the mode of election and the qualifications of members of the Vestries and District Boards, and of the electors of those bodies, continued unchanged until the passing of the Local Government Act, 1894. London is a province in itself, and the problem of its local government is not one to be lightly solved. When Mr. Fowler brought in his Local Government Bill he did not propose to touch the Metropolis except so far as Boards of Guardians were concerned, but in committee he moved amendments which applied to the Metropolitan Vestries and District Boards those provisions of the Act which relate to elections and certain subsidiary matters. The Local Board of Woolwich, which is in London for the purpose of the Metropolis Management Acts, were also brought within the same provisions.

Vestries and District Boards.

Under the Metropolis Management Act, 1855 (18 & 19 Vict. 120), and its amending Acts², the parishes in London, exclusive of the city of London which is governed under ancient charters by the lord mayor, aldermen, and commonalty, are divided into two classes, which are respectively set out in Schedule A and Schedule B of the Act of 1885 as amended by subsequent Acts. The parishes in Schedule A, with the exception of Woolwich, are each governed by a Vestry constituted under the Act, but those in Schedule B are grouped into districts, and each district is governed by a District Board of Works. Each Vestry, constituted under the Act, of a parish in Schedule B elect the number of members fixed under the Act as the representatives of the parish on the Board of Works for the district of which it forms a part. Practically Schedule A now comprises thirty parishes, and Schedule B forty-eight parishes. The latter are grouped into twelve districts.

The powers and duties of the District Boards and of the Vestries Powers and of the parishes contained in Schedule A are very nearly the same; the duties. Vestries of the parishes in Schedule B having but unimportant duties beyond that of electing members of the District Boards. The District Boards and the Vestries of the parishes in Schedule A occupy, under the Metropolis Management Acts and the Public Health (London) Act, 1891 (54 & 55 Vict. c. 76), a position analogous in many respects to that of an Urban Sanitary Authority; their business comprises drainage, highway maintenance, the appointment of medical officers of health, the removal of nuisances, &c.

Parishes containing more than 2,000 rated inhabitants at the time Wards of the passing of the Act of 1855 were required to be divided into wards not exceeding eight, and each ward was to have not less than 500 rated inhabitants (s. 3). Under section 41 of the Metropolis Management Amendment Act, 1862, (25 & 26 Vict. c. 102) the Metropolitan Board of Works (now the London County Council) were empowered to divide, upon the application in writing of the Vestry, or of not less than 500 rated inhabitants, a parish into wards where the population had, since the passing of the Act of 1855, increased to more than 2,000 rated inhabitants. The London County Council have also, under a local Act of 1893, powers to re-arrange wards, subject to the approval of the Home Secretary [London County Council (General Powers) Act, 1893 (56 & 57 Vict. c. ccxxi), s. 15 J.

The numbers of vestrymen to be elected are determined according Number of to population by section 2 of the Act of 1855. They are to be not less than eighteen or more than 120 for each parish.

A parishioner was not entitled to vote at an election of vestrymen Qualification of unless he had been rated to the poor for one year next before the election and had paid all parochial rates, taxes, and assessments due from him at the time of voting except such as had been made or become due within the preceding six months (18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, s. 16), but compound householders were entitled to vote. The election took place at a meeting summoned by the churchwardens, and if five ratepayers demanded a poll it was taken by ballot on the next day (ss. 13 to 17). There was no plural voting.

Vestrymen were required to be occupiers of houses, lands, tenements, or hereditaments in the parish, rated to the relief of the poor upon a rateable value of not less than £40, except in a parish where the number of poor-rate assessments at £40 or upwards, did not exceed one-sixth of the whole number of such assessments, and then an elected vestryman might be rated upon a rateable value of not less than £25 (18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, s. 6: 19 & 20 Vict. c. 112, s. 8). Auditors of the accounts of the Vestries and District Boards are also required to be elected at the same time and in the same manner as the vestrymen. The same qualification was fixed for the auditors as for the vestrymen (18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, s. 11).

Term of office.

The term of office of vestrymen is three years, and one third of the Vestry retire annually (s. 9). Auditors are elected to serve for one Date of election. year (s. 12). Elections of vestrymen and auditors take place in May in every year, as the Vestry appoint (s. 7).

Election of Dis-trict Board. The Vestry of every parish in Schedule B of the Act of 1855 are directed by section 40 of the 25 & 26 Vict. c. 102 to elect on the first Wednesday in June the requisite number of persons to be members of the Board for the district in which the parish is comprised. The members of the District Board must be qualified by rating and occupation to be elected vestrymen. They hold office for three years, and one-third retire annually (18 & 19 Vict. c. 120, s. 34). A casual vacancy in a district board is to be filled by the vestry with all convenient speed (s. 36).

Ex-officio mer bers of Vestry.

mem-The incumbent and churchwardens of each parish constitute a part of the Vestry, and vote therein, and every district rector, who constituted at the time of the passing of the Act of 1855 a part of the Vestry, also constitutes a part of the Vestry (s. 2).

It was only in the absence of the persons authorised by law or custom to take the chair that the members present at a meeting of the Vestry could elect a chairman for the occasion before proceeding to other business (s. 30). The incumbent was, according to custom, the chairman of a Vestry elected under the Act. Chairman of Dis-trict Board. At every meeting of a District Board the members present were

The parish of Woolwich was constituted a district under the Public Woolwich. Health Act, 1848 (11 & 12 Vict. c. 63), by a provisional order confirmed by the 15 & 16 Vict. c. 69. Its Local Board was elected in practically the same manner as other Local Boards under the Public Health Act, 1875, were elected, and the same provisions as to the qualifications of electors and of members of the Local Board were in force.

Section 31 of the Local Government Act, 1894, directs that the Application of Act to London provisions of the Act with respect to the qualification of the electors elections. ot urban district councillors, and of the persons to be elected, and with respect to the mode of conducting the election, shall apply as if members of the Local Board of Woolwich, and the Vestries elected under the Metropolis Management Acts, 1855 to 1890, or any Act amending those Acts, and the auditors for parishes elected under those Acts were urban district councillors. So far as respects the qualification of persons to be elected, the provisions referred to are also to apply as if members of the District Boards under those Acts were urban district councillors; but members of District Boards will continue to be elected in the manner provided by the Metropolis Management Act, 1855. A member of a District Board or of a Vestry, or an auditor, must either be a parochial elector of some parish within the district, or have resided during the whole of the twelve months preceding the day of nomination (s. 75 (2)) in the district. Sex or marriage is not to be a disqualification for being elected or being a member of a Vestry or District Board (s. 23 (2)). The disqualifications2 imposed by the Act for holding the office of district councillors apply to members of the Local Board of Woolwich, of the Vestries, and of the District Boards, and to the auditors (s. 46 (9)).

The electors of members of the Vestry and of the auditors will be the "parochial electors," who in London will be those persons who, if the particular parish were a rural parish, would be the parochial electors of that parish. Who are the parochial electors in rural parishes is shown on page 206.

The mode of conducting elections under the Act is explained on pages 222 to 226.

No person is in future to be an ex-officio chairman of any of the Chairman and Vestries elected under the Metropolis Management Acts (Local bers of Vestry. Government Act, 1894, s. 31 (1)); but the ex-officio members of the Vestries will be retained, as the provision of the Act abolishing exofficio members of urban authorities is not made applicable to the London Vestries. This retention of the incumbent and church-wardens, and in some parishes of district rectors, as ex-officio members of the Vestry is justified on the ground that the London Vestries have certain duties, powers, and privileges relating to the affairs of the church (25 & 26 Vict. c. 102, s. 3).

The provision under which the incumbent will cease to be ex-officio chairman of the Vestry applies to every parish in Schedules A and B of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, but the following provision requiring the election of a chairman for the year applies only to those Vestries who do not elect members of District Boards. In a parish not under a District Board the members present at a meeting of the Vestry must always elect a chairman for the occasion.

Each of the Vestries, except those electing District Boards, and each of the District Boards and the Local Board of Woolwich, are required at their first meeting after the annual election of members to elect a chairman for the year, and the provisions of the Act with respect to chairmen of Urban District Councils being justices¹ are to apply as if the said Vestries and Boards were Urban District Councils (s. 31 (2)). The respective chairmen win or judicial.

No time is expressly mentioned in subsection (2) of section but so far as the Vestries The respective chairmen will be justices of the county of 31 for the subsection coming into operation, but so far as the Vestries and the Local Board are concerned the subsection cannot apply until after the appointed day, as there will be no annual election of their members in 1894 until November. This is not the case with District Boards, whose members will be elected in the year 1894 on the first Wednesday in June as usual. There is nothing in the enactment, so far as the chairman of a District Board is concerned, to postpone its commencement, and the first chairman for the year should be elected at the first meeting in 1894 of a District Board after the The chairman so elected seems entitled to become at June election. once a justice of London subject to the provisions of section 22 of the Local Government Act, 1894. That section also is not limited as to the time of its commencement, although, of course, there will be no chairman of a District Council before November.

The provisions of section 41 of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, enabling a District Board to elect a chairman of the meeting, will apply only in the case of the absence of the chairman of the District Board elected under the new Act.

Meetings of Vestry.

Nothing in any local and personal Act is to prevent any Vestry in the county of London from holding its meeting at such time as may be directed by the Vestry (s. 31 (2) (3)).

Term of office.

The term of office of a vestryman, and of a member of a District Board or of the Local Board of Woolwich, and of an auditor, is not affected by the new Act, but will continue to be governed by the provisions of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, to which reference has been previously made. No power is conferred on the London County Council to direct that the whole body of vestrymen, or of members of a District Board, or of the Local Board, should retire simultaneously. See the provision as to this in the case of Urban District Councils, page 132.

The first elections of London vestrymen and auditors and members Elections in 1894 of the Local Board of Woolwich under the Act, will be held on the 8th of November, 1894, or such later date or dates in 1894 as the Local Government Board may fix1, and the persons elected will come into office on the second Thursday next after their election, or such other day not more than seven days earlier or later, as may be fixed by or in pursuance of the rules made by the Local Government Board under the Act in relation to their election (s. 84).

Of the members of the Local Board and Vestries first elected Retirement of under the Act, the first annual retirement will take place at the date of the annual election in the year 1896. The mode of determining those members who are to retire in 1896 and 1897 is the same as in the case of urban district councillors² except that the date of the annual election is to be substituted for the 15th of April (s. 79 (3) (6) (10)). In the case of the Woolwich Local Board the annual election is in April.

The first meeting of a Vestry elected under the Act and of the First meeting in 1804. Woolwich Local Board will be convened by the returning officer (s. 79 (9)). Any difficulty that arises with respect to the first meeting may be removed by an order of the County Council (s. 80 (1)).

CHAPTER VIII.

Power and duties of District Councils—Transfer of Sanitary and Highway Powers to Rural Councils—Urban and Rural Councils, Additional Powers—Expenses of District Councils—Urban Councils and London Authorities, Power of appointing Overseers and other powers of Parish Council—Scilly Isles,

The powers and duties of District Councils under the Local Government Act naturally fall into two groups, namely—the powers and duties of—

- I. Rural District Councils.
- II. Urban and Rural District Councils.

In the former group, the powers and duties are for the most part transferred powers and duties derived from the Sanitary and Highway Authorities whom the Rural District Council succeed. The latter group comprises new additional powers conferred on both Urban and Rural District Councils, and certain administrative functions transferred from Justices in Petty and Quarter Sessions.

I.—Rural District Councils.

SANITARY POWERS.

Transfer of powers of Rural Sanitary Authority.

A Rural District Council from the appointed day become the successors of the Rural Sanitary Authority in the District and all the powers, duties, and liabilities of the superseded authority are transferred to the Rural District Council (s. 25 (1)). In other words the old Rural Sanitary Authorities are transformed into the new Rural District Councils, who will exercise all the powers and duties of the former authorities under the Public Health Acts and other statutes.

Among the matters with which Rural District Councils deal under the Public Health Acts, are:—Sewerage and Drainage, Scavenging and Cleansing, Water Supply, Regulation of Cellar Dwellings and Lodging-houses, Nuisances, Diseased and Unwholesome Meat and Food, Infectious Diseases, and the provision of Hospitals and Cemeteries. They have also powers under various other Acts, e.g.:—The Allotments Acts, The Canal Boats Acts, The Housing of the Working Classes Acts, The Contagious Diseases (Animals) Acts, and the Sale of Food and Drugs Acts.

In addition to transferring to the Rural District Councils the powers and duties of the superseded Rural Sanitary Authorities, the new Act

Powers of an Provided Rural Sanitary Authorities, the new Act provides more effective machinery for conferring on the Rural District Authority. Councils powers which are ordinarily possessed by Urban Authorities

Section 276 of the Public Health Act, 1875¹ enables the Local Public Health Government Board, on the application of a Rural District Council or of persons rated to the poor, the assessment of whose hereditaments amounts at the least to one-tenth of the rateable value of the district or of any contributory place therein, by order to declare any provisions of the Act in force in urban districts to be in force in such rural district or contributory place, and to invest the District Council with all or any of the powers and duties of an urban authority under

The order may be made unconditionally, or subject to any conditions as to the time, portion of the district, or manner during at and in which the powers and duties are to be exercised and attach, and when the application for the order is made by the ratepayers of any contributory place, the order is not to extend beyond the limits of the place. A "contributory place" under the Act is a Special Drainage "Contributory Place." District, and every parish or part of a parish in the rural district not place. comprised in the area of a Special Drainage District. Where a parish is partly in a Special Drainage District, the part without the district forms a separate contributory place (s. 229). A Special Drainage District may be constituted of any portion of the area within the jurisdiction of a Rural District Council (s. 277).

Among the powers of an urban authority under the Public Health Acts which can thus be conferred on a Rural District Council may be mentioned, powers with respect to Offensive Trades, Streets, New Buildings, Lighting, Public Pleasure Grounds, Hackney Carriages and Slaughter Houses.

Orders under section 276 of the Public Health Act, 1875, may be Other Acts. made to apply the provisions of certain other Acts to Rural Districts. Any provisions of the Public Health Acts Amendment Act, 1890 (53 & 54 Vict. c. 59) in force in urban districts only (s. 5), and the provisions of the Private Street Works Act, 1892 (55 & 56 Vict. c. 57), s. 4, may be thus extended to rural districts.

The powers conferred on the Local Government Board by section Application by County or Parish 276 of the Act of 1875, or by any enactment applying that section, Council. may now be exercised not only on the application mentioned in the section, but also on the application of a County Council, or with respect to any parish or part of a parish on the application of the Parish Council of that parish (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 25 (7)).

Sanitary Powers.

Urban Authority

A further power is given to the Local Government Board to direct by general order that any of the powers, duties, and liabilities of Urban Sanitary Authorities under the Public Health Acts or any other Act shall be conferred on Rural District Councils, and that any provisions of those Acts relating to urban districts shall apply to rural districts (s. 25 (5)).

An order under this provision may be made by the Local Government Board on their own initiative but it must be a "general order," that is, an order which at the time of issuing is directed to and affects more than one Rural District Council. It is the practice of the Local Government Board to describe a general order as such at the time of issuing it.

The power to make such general orders is to be in addition to and not in substitution for the powers conferred on the Local Government Board by section 276 of the Public Health Act, 1875, or by any enactment applying that section; and every such general order made by the Local Government Board is to be forthwith laid before Parliament (s. 25 (6)).

Plans for Sewerage. Where a Rural District Council have determined to adopt plans for the sewerage or water supply of any contributory place within the district, they must give notice thereof to the Parish Council of any parish for which the works are to be provided before any contract is entered into by them for the execution of the works (s. 16 (3). The Parish Council will thus have an opportunity of considering what the District Council are proposing to do; but the Act confers no power on them to interfere with the discretion of the Rural District Council in the performance of their duties with respect to sewerage or water supply. Any action that the Parish Council could take would be in the way of recommendation only.

Delegation to Parish Council.

A Rural District Council may delegate to a Parish Council any power which may be delegated to a parochial committee under the Public Health Acts, and where the District Council appoint a parochial committee consisting partly of members of the District Council and partly of other persons, those other persons must, where there is a Parish Council, be selected from the members of the Parish Council (s. 15).

It will be competent for the Rural District Council to appoint all the parish councillors members of the parochial committee in conjunction with members of the District Council. This provision has been treated of in connection with the powers of the Parish Council, see page 67.

HIGHWAY POWERS.

Transfer of powers of Highway Authorities.

All the powers, duties, and liabilities of any Highway Authority in their district cease to exist, and are from the appointed day transferred to the Rural District Council. That Council become the successors of the Highway Authority, and also have as respects highways all the powers, duties, and liabilities of an Urban Sanitary Authority under sections 144 to 148 of the Public Health Act, 1875 (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55), and those sections are to apply in the case of a rural district and of the council thereof in like manner as in the case of an urban district and an urban authority. But the Council Postponement. of any County may by order postpone within their county or any part of the county, the operation of this provision for a term not exceeding three years from the appointed day, or such further period as the Local Government Board may on the application of such Council allow (s. 25 (1)).

Highway Powers.

Council become Authority.

The Rural District Council succeed under this provision to any Highway Board or authority having the powers of a Highway Board, Highways. and where a parish separately maintained its own highways to the Surveyor or Surveyors of Highways or other officers performing similar duties (Local Government Act, 1888, s. 100). But they do not take over from a County Council the management of main Main Roads. roads, as a County Council are not included in the expression, "Highway Authority." Where the Rural Sanitary Authority have exercised the powers of a Highway Board under sections 4 and 5 of the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878 (41 & 42 Vict. c. 77), the Rural District Council as successors to the Rural Sanitary Authority will continue to do so, and will have the additional powers and duties relating to highways of an urban authority conferred by section 25 (1) of the Local Government Act, 1894.

Highway Boards and Surveyors of

The Rural District Council after the transfer has taken place will within their district, exclusively of any other person, execute the office of and be Surveyor of Highways, and have, exercise, and be subject to all the powers, authorities, duties, and liabilities of Surveyors of Highways, and of the inhabitants in Vestry under the Highway Acts. All ministerial acts required by any Act of Parliament to be done by or to the Surveyor of Highways may be done by or to the surveyor of the Rural Authority, or by or to such other person as they may appoint (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, s. 144). Under section 29 of the Highways Act 1835, the consent of four-fifths of the inhabitants of any parish contributing to the highway rate, at a meeting specially called for that purpose is necessary before the highway rate may exceed at any one time 10d. in the pound, or 2s. 6d. in the pound in the whole in any one year, but this provision will not be applicable to a rate levied for highway expenses by a Rural District Council.—Dyson v. They may agree with any person for the making of roads in their district for the public use through his lands and at his expense, and may agree that the roads shall become on completion, highways maintainable and repairable by the inhabitants at large within their district; they may, also, with the consent of two-thirds of their number, agree with such person to pay any portion of the expenses of making the roads (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, s. 146).

foundation or support of, or approaches to any such structure (s. 147). Further, the Rural District Council may by agreement with the trustees of any turnpike road, or with any person liable to repair any street or road, or with the surveyor of any county bridge take on themselves the maintenance, repair, cleansing, or watering of any such street or road, or of any road over any county bridge and the approaches thereto within their district, and may remove any turnpike gates, toll gates, or bars within their district, and erect others in lieu thereof on such terms as may be agreed (s. 148). The section contains safeguards for the mortgagees of the tolls of any turnpike road, but so far as the enactment relates to turnpike roads it is now practically obsolete as nearly all turnpike trusts have been wound up.

"Excluded

Where the Council of a rural district become the Highway Authority for that district, any "excluded part" of a parish under section 216 of the Public Health Act, 1875, which is situate in that district, will cease to be part of any urban district for the purpose of highways, but until the Council become the highway authority the "excluded part" will continue subject to that section (s. 25 (4)).

The enactment referred to, which is printed at page 317 of the Appendix relates to the management of highways in a parish partly included in an urban district. It directs that where the excluded part was, before the constitution of the urban district, liable to contribute to the highway rates of the parish, it shall for all purposes connected with the repairs of highways and the payment of highway rates be considered to be and be treated as forming part of the urban district. Under certain circumstances the owners and ratepayers of the excluded part could decide that for all purposes connected with highways, surveyors of highways, and highway rates, the excluded part should be considered and treated as a parish maintaining its own highways. An excluded part becomes by section 1 (3) of the Local Government Act, 1894, a separate civil parish¹; but if the Rural District Council do not, when they come into office, become the Highway Authority, the excluded part will, until the District Council do so become, continue for the purpose of highways to form part of the urban district.

Under ordinary circumstances the highway expenses of a Rural District Council are to be defrayed as general expenses of the Council, that is, they will be a charge upon the whole rural district. But this direction of section 29 of the Local Government Act, 1894, is subject to the special provision that a District Council are to have the same Special. power of charging highway expenses under exceptional circumstances on a contributory place as a Highway Board had in respect of any area under section 7 of the Highways and Locomotives (Amendment) Act, 1878 (41 & 42 Vict. c. 77). If, therefore, the District Council think it just, by reason of natural differences of soil or locality, or other exceptional circumstances, that any contributory place or places should bear the expense of maintaining its or their own highways, they may (with the approval of the County Council or of the County Councils within whose county or counties their district is situated) divide their district into two or more parts, and charge exclusively on each of such parts the expenses of maintaining and keeping in repair the highways situated in each such part. Each part must consist of one or more contributory places.

Expenses. General.

Any order of the County Council postponing the transfer of highway Order of postponement. powers to the Rural District Councils must be made before the appointed day, namely, the day on which the first elected rural district councillors come into office, and in the absence of any such order the Rural District Council will on that day succeed to every Highway Authority in their district (Local Government Act, s. 25 (1)). but where an order of a County Council postpones the operation of the provision relating to highways as respects their county or any part of the county the day on which the postponement ceases will, as respects the county or part, be the appointed day (s. 84 (4)).

Where before the appointed day the highway expenses were charged transferred on a particular parish or other area and not on a district, the District highways. Council may determine that the highways in that parish or area shall be placed in proper repair before the expenses of repairing the same become a charge upon the district, and, failing such highways being placed in proper repair to the satisfaction of the District Council, the District Council may themselves place the highways in proper repair, and the expense incurred by them of placing those highways in proper repair is to be a separate charge on the parish or area. Any question which arises as to whether any such expenses are properly a separate charge on the parish or area is to be determined by the County Council (s. 82 (1)).

This provision is intended to avoid the injustice which might arise where a highway area having roads in good repair becomes under the Rural District Council combined with another area having roads not in proper repair, if each area contributed on the same basis towards placing those roads which required it in proper repair. Three different classes of highway areas may come under the operation of the provision, namely, the ordinary highway parish which separately maintained its own highways, the district or part of the district of a Highway Board, and an "excluded part" of a parish under section 216 of the Public Health Act, 1875¹.

Expenses of Parish continuing to repair its Highways.

Where in pursuance of an order of a County Council a parish continues to maintain its own highways after the appointed day, the highway expenses are not to be deemed to be expenses of the Parish Council or of the Parish Meeting within the meaning of the Local Government Act, 1894 (s. 82 (2)). Highway expenses will, therefore, not be taken into account in connection with the limitation of the rate for defraying the expenses of a Parish Council or Parish Meeting².

Continuance in office of Highway Boards.

Continuance in office of Highway Boards.

Until the appointed day, namely, the day of the coming into office of the first rural district councillors elected under the Local Government Act, the persons who at the passing of the Act (that is the 5th of March 1894), were members of Highway Boards continue in office, notwithstanding any want of qualification, as if the term of office for which they were elected expired on that day. A Highway Board consists of elected members called waywardens, and of ex-officio members who are the justices acting for the county, and residing within the highway district. Both the waywardens and the ex-officio members will be continued in office until the appointed day. A casual vacancy in the office of waywarden occurring before the appointed day would be filled by the justices [Highway Act, 1835 (5 & 6 Will IV. c. 60) s. 11; Highway Act, 1862 (25 & 26 Vict. c. 61) s. 10].

Elections in 1894 of Surveyors of Highways.

The elections of surveyors of highways under section 6 of the Highways Act, 1835, and of surveyors forming a Board for the Repair of Highways under section 18 of the Act, take place as usual in 1894 and any casual vacancy in the offices occurring before the appointed office of day must be filled in the usual manner, as provided by the Act Highway Authorities. of 1835.

Where the County Council postpone the transfer of highway powers to the Rural District Council, the order of postponement must make such provision as may be necessary for holding elections of Highway Board suring the interval before the appointed day (s. 84 (4)).

Waywardens are elected by the inhabitants of a highway parish at Waywardens. their first meeting in Vestry for the nomination of overseers of the poor in every year (5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 50, s. 6; 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, s. 10). If the County Council make an order of postponement the power to elect the waywardens, being a power of the Vestry, is transferred in a parish with a Parish Council to that Council, and in a parish without a Parish Council to the Parish Meeting (Local Government Act, 1894, ss. 6 (1), 19 (4)). An order of postponement does not require confirmation by any authority.

Every such officer will hold his office by the same tenure and upon Tenure of office the same terms and conditions as heretofore, and while performing the same duties is to receive not less salary or remuneration than heretofore (s. 81 (1) (4)).

The counc have more than one set of officers to perform the same class of duties. In many instances the district of a Highway Board comprises more than one rural sanitary district, whilst the rural sanitary district in its turn is comprised in more than one highway district. Where the former is the case the services of the officers of the Highway Board will, subject to other arrangements being made, have to be divided and given to each authority: and where the latter is the case an allocation of duties must be made by the Rural District Council to whom the officers are transferred. If a Rural District Council succeed to the powers of a Highway Board, the clerk, treasurer, and district surveyor of the Highway Board will become officers of the District Council, who will also have the services of the clerk and other officers of the Rural As the Rural Sanitary Authority whom that Council succeed. consequence of their acting as officers of the Rural Sanitary Authority it was provided by section 190 of the Public Health Act, 1875, that there might be awarded to them in respect of the additional duties, such remuneration as the Rural Authority might, with the approval of the Local Government Board determine. The section directed that if the clerk of the union was unable or unwilling to undertake the additional duties, the assistant clerk of the union should be appointed to discharge the duties with a remuneration fixed in a similar manner.

Compensation to transferred officers, whose services are dispensed with. Difficulties arising out of the transfer of existing officers may be overcome by dispensing with the services of some of the transferred officers, and where those services are dispensed with the officers will be entitled to compensation under the general provisions of the Act, to which reference is made on page 184.

Appointment of officers.

Subject to the transfer of officers to the new Rural District Councils, those Councils being authorities entirely independent of the Boards of Guardians, need not, when vacancies arise, necessarily appoint as their clerks or treasurers the union clerks or treasurers. Under section 190 of the Public Health Act, 1875, they are empowered to appoint such officers and servants as may be necessary and proper for the efficient execution of that Act. Although no express power of appointing officers is conferred upon a Rural District Council by the Local Government Act, 1894, such a power is incidentally implied, and they would be authorised to appoint and remunerate any officers that might be necessary for carrying the Act into execution, or to take duties under the Act into account in fixing the remuneration of officers appointed primarily to discharge other duties.

DEFAULT OF RURAL DISTRICT COUNCIL.

Complaints of Parish Council to County Council. Where a Parish Council resolve that a Rural District Council ought to have provided the parish with sufficient sewers, or to have maintained existing sewers, or to have provided the parish with a supply of water in cases where danger arises to the health of the inhabitants from the insufficiency or unwholesomeness of the existing supply of water, and a proper supply can be got at a reasonable cost, or to have enforced with regard to the parish any provisions of the Public Health Acts which it is their duty to enforce, and have failed so to do, or that they have failed to maintain and repair any highway in a good and substantial manner, the Parish Council may complain to the County Council, and the County Council, if satisfied after due inquiry that the District Council have so failed as respects the subject matter of the complaint, may resolve that the duties and powers of the District Council for the purpose of the matter complained of be transferred to the County Council, and they will be transferred accordingly (s. 16 (1)).

Any question arising as to the constitution of the joint committee is to be determined by the Local Government Board, and if any members of the joint committee are not appointed the members who are actually appointed are to act as the joint committee (s. 63 (2)).

Under the Public Health (Water) Act, 1878 (41 & 42 Vict. c. 25, Water supply. s. 3), it is the duty of every Rural District Council to see that every occupied dwelling-house within their district has within a reasonable distance an available supply of wholesome water sufficient for the consumption and use for domestic purposes of the inmates of the house (s. 3).

A similar right to complain of the default of a Rural District Provision in Public Health Council is conferred on any person by section 299 of the Public Act, 1875-Health Act, 1875 (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55), but a complaint under that enactment is made to the Local Government Board, who are empowered to require the performance of their duty by the defaulting authority. The mode of procedure prescribed by section 16 of the Local Government Act, 1894, will probably be found more effective in practice on account of the County Council being empowered to perform the duty of the defaulting authority. The provisions of the perform the duty of the defaulting authority. Act which will have effect on the transfer of the powers of a District Council to the County Council are referred to on page 182.

But instead of resolving that the duties and powers of the defaulting Proceedings of County Council. Rural District Council be transferred to them in the matter of the complaint of a Parish Council, the County Council may make such an order as is mentioned in section 299 of the Public Health Act, 1875, and may appoint a person to perform the duty mentioned in the order, and upon such appointment sections 299 to 302 of the Public Health Act, 1875, will apply with the substitution of the County Council for the Local Government Board (s. 16 (2)).

The County Council accordingly will be enabled to make an order limiting the time for the performance of their duty by the defaulting District Council in the matter of the complaint. If the duty is not performed by the time limited in the order, the County Council may appoint a person to perform it, and must by order direct that the expenses of performing the same, together with a reasonable remuneration to the person appointed for superintending such performance, and amounting to a sum specified in the order, together with the costs of the proceedings, shall be paid by the defaulting District Council. Any order made for the payment of such expenses and costs may be removed into the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice, and be enforced in the same manner as an order of the Court (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, s. 299). Such an order is enforceable against a Corporation by sequestration against the corporate property, or by attachment against the officers of the Corporation, or by writ of sequestration against their property (Rules of the Supreme Court, Order 42, Rule 31).

Any sum specified in the order of the County Council, together with the costs of the proceedings, is made a debt due from the District Council and payable out of any of their funds, or out of the local rate, which would be raised in accordance with the provision of section 230 of the Public Health Act, 1875. If the defaulting Council refuses to pay within fourteen days after demand the County Council may, by order, empower any person to levy by and out of the local rate a sufficient amount to defray the debt (s. 300).

When a loan is required for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the person appointed in performing the duty of a defaulting District Council an amount certified by the County Council may be advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners on the security of the local rate (s. 301), and any principal money or interest for the time being due in respect of any such loan is to be taken to be a debt due from the District Council, and may, in addition to any other remedies, be recovered in the manner in which a debt due from a defaulting District Council is, under the provisions previously referred to, recoverable (s. 302).

STOPPING OF PUBLIC WAYS.

nsent to topping of way.

The consent of the Rural District Council is required for the stopping in whole or in part, or diversion of a public right of way within a rural parish (s. 13 (1)). Where the transfer to the Rural District Council of the powers of the Highway Authority is postponed by the County Council, under section 25, this consent of the District Council will still be necessary.

II.—District Councils (Urban and Rural).

HIGHWAYS.

Highways epairable

Where a highway repairable ratione tenura, that is, by the occupier of the lands adjoining the highway to which the liability is attached, appears on the report of a competent surveyor not to be in proper repair, and the person liable to repair the same fails when requested so to do by the District Council to place it in proper repair, the District Council may place the highway in proper repair, and recover from the person liable to repair the highway the necessary expenses of so doing (s. 25 (2))

Procedure to enforce repair.

Under Section 34 of the Highway Act, 1862 (25 & 26 Vict. c. 61), as amended by Section 23 of the Highway Act, 1864 (27 & 28 Vict. c. 101), where any highway which any body politic or corporate or person is liable to repair by reason of tenure of any land is adjudged in the manner provided by the Act of 1862 to be out of repair, the Highway Board may, if they think fit, direct their surveyor to repair the highway, and the expenses are to be paid by the party liable to repair. The procedure for adjudging a highway to be out of repair is Procedure to prescribed by sections 18 and 19 of the Act of 1862. The party enforce repair highway by liable is summoned before the justices, and unless he undertakes to repair the road to the satisfaction of the justices or denies his liability to repair, the justices are to direct him to appear at some subsequent petty sessions. In the meantime the justices are required to view the highway, or appoint some competent person to do so, and if satisfied that it is not in a state of complete repair it is their duty to make an order limiting a time for the repair of the highway. the liability to repair is disputed the justices are to direct a bill of indictment to be preferred at the next assizes against the party charged therewith for suffering and permitting the highway to be out of repair. Similar provisions are in force in South Wales under the South Wales Highway Acts.

Highways.

These enactments are also applicable in a district where a District Council is the Highway Authority, but they do not afford a ready and convenient remedy for enforcing the liability to repair ratione tenura. The new provision in the Local Government Act provides a procedure which does not require any application to the justices where the liability to repair is not disputed. Where the liability is disputed it will apparently still be necessary to try that issue by indictment.

Section 25 (2) of the new Act does not apply to County Boroughs, but it seems to apply to every other urban district, although the first subsection of section 25 applies to a Rural District Council only. The language is not clear, as the expression in subsection (2), "the District Council" might be construed as referring to the Rural District Council mentioned in the preceding subsection. On the other hand the operation of the section is evidently not restricted to Rural District Councils only, so that it is no violence to the language of subsection (2) to hold that the subsection extends to all urban districts other than county boroughs (see s. 35).

Application of

Under subsection 10 of section 11 of the Local Government County Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict. c. 41), a County Council may, if they think fit, contribute towards the cost of the maintenance, repair, enlargement, and improvement of any highway or public footpath in the county, although the same is not a main road. The contribution is entirely voluntary on the part of a County Council, and in making it they might seemingly have laid down what conditions they pleased. It is now expressly provided by the new Act that where a Highway Authority receives any contribution from the County Council towards the cost of any highway under this provision of the Act of 1888, the contribution may be made, subject to any conditions for the proper maintenance and repair of such highways, as may be agreed on between the County Council and Highway Authority (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 25 (3)).

The consent of justices will not, in future, be required for the sale Sale of exhausted of land belonging to a parish which has been used for materials for the repair of highways or for the purchase of land with the proceeds of any such sale (s. 52 (3)). Under section 48 of the Highway Act, 1835, the Highway Authority are authorised and required to sell and convey to some consent of justices to the sale and the price to be paid, and also to the purchase of other lands. This consent will no longer be required even where a County Council postpone the transfer of the highways to the Rural District Council.

District Council other than the Council of a county borough to protect all public rights of way, and to prevent as far as possible the stopping or obstruction of any such right of way, whether within their district or in an adjoining district in the county or counties in which the district is situate, where the stoppage or obstruction would in their opinion be prejudicial to the interests of their district, and to prevent any unlawful encroachment on any roadside waste within their district, but the duty thus imposed upon the District Council is not to affect the powers of the County Council in relation to roadside wastes (s. 26(1)(6)).

Obstruction of Highway.

Independently of this provision every Highway Authority is bound to prevent the stopping or unlawful obstruction of a highway under their control and management, and the provision so far as it relates to such a highway is merely declaratory of previously existing law, but it goes further, in that it imposes a duty on the District Council even where the public way is not within their district if the way is in an adjoining district in the county or counties in which the district is situate, and the stoppage or obstruction would in their opinion be prejudicial to the interests of their district. They thus in such cases share the responsibility of preventing the stopping or obstruction of the way with the Highway Authority in whose district the way actually is.

Powers of County Councils.

Section 11 (1) of the Local Government Act, 1888, conferred on a County Council the same powers as a Highway Board for preventing and removing obstructions, and for asserting the right of the public to the use and enjoyment of the roadside wastes, but no special powers with respect to roadside wastes were possessed by Highway Boards. In Curtis v. Kesteven County Council, 45 Ch., D. 504, it was held that the herbage on roadside wastes is not vested in a on roadside waste.

Highways.

A roadside waste must either be a part of the highway, in which Encroachment case the ordinary law as to encroachments on the highway is applicable, or be unenclosed land belonging to the owners of the lands adjoining the highway, or be part of the waste lands of a manor. In disputed cases it would often be a difficult question of fact, rather than of law, to determine in which category any particular roadside waste should be placed. The obligation imposed on the District Council to prevent any unlawful encroachment on any roadside waste within their district must be construed as being applicable only where the public have a right of free passage over the roadside waste, or in other words where it is already part of the highway, or where it forms part of the waste of the manor. It cannot be intended to make it their duty to protect land in ordinary private ownership from unlawful encroachments. Where the roadside waste actually forms, in the case of a main road, part of the highway, it will also be the duty of the County Council to prevent unlawful encroachments. The roadside wastes to which the provision applies must be within the district of the District Council.

COMMONS.

The Council of a County Borough are to have the additional powers conferred on a District Council by section 26. These powers are the power to aid persons in maintaining rights of common and the power to take proceedings or steps in relation to any alleged right of way, although it may not be found to exist. The powers of a Council of a County Borough with respect to a right of way can only be exercised where the right of way is within the borough.

This is an extension of the principle of section 28 of the Local Government Act, 1888, which enabled the County Council to delegate, with or without any restrictions or conditions any powers or duties transferred to them in pursuance of the Act to any District Council, except the power of raising money by rate or loan. The provision in the new Act is not restricted to transferred business. The power of a District Council to bind the County Council will depend upon the general law of agency. An appointment of a District Council as agents of a County Council in the transaction of any business should be made under seal.

A certificate of the District Council under the Pawnbrokers' Act, 1872 (35 & 36 Vict. c. 93) is necessary before a pawnbrokers' excise licence can be granted (s. 38).

A person intending to apply for the first time for a certificate must :-(1) Twenty-one days at least before the application give notice by registered letter of his intention to one of the overseers of the parish in which he intends to carry on business, and to the superintendent of police of the district, and in the notice set forth his name and address.

(2) Within twenty-eight days before the application cause a like notice to be affixed and maintained between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. of two consecutive Sundays, on one of the doors of the church or chapel of the parish, or if there is no church or chapel, then on some other public and conspicuous place in the parish (s. 42).

Section 43 of the Act provides that an application for a certificate shall not be refused except on one or more of the following grounds-

(1) That the applicant has failed to produce satisfactory evidence of good character.

(2) That the shop in which he intends to carry on the business of a pawnbroker, or any adjacent house and place owned or occupied by him is frequented by thieves or persons of bad character; and Innkeepers and tavernkeepers may without a licence sell game for consumption in their own houses if procured from a licensed dealer in game (s. 26). An excise licence must also be taken out by dealers in game (23 & 24 Vict. c. 90, s. 14), and before that licence can be granted, the licence of the District Council must be produced (s. 15). EXPENSES OF DISTRICT COUNCILS.

The expenses incurred by the Council of an urban district in the additional execution of the additional powers conferred on the Council by the powers, urban district council. Local Government Act, 1894, are subject to the provisions of the Act, to be defrayed in a borough out of the borough fund or rate, and in any other case out of the district fund and general district rate or other fund applicable towards defraying the expenses of the execution of the Public Health, Act, 1875 (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55) (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 28).

All receipts of a Town Council, in their capacity of municipal Town council. authority, are paid into the borough fund [Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Vict. c. 50) s. 139], and all their expenses in that capacity are paid out of that fund (s. 140).

To meet any deficiency in the borough fund the Town Council may order a borough rate to be made. For the purpose of the borough rate the Town Council may, if they consider the valuation lists in the parishes within the borough unfair, cause an independent valuation of the parishes in the borough to be made (s. 144).

The Town Council obtain payment of the contribution due from each parish by a warrant issued by the Mayor, signed by him and sealed with the corporate seal, and directed to the overseers, who then levy the rate as part of the poor rate (ss. 145, 148).

If, however, part of a parish is within a borough and part not, the Parts of parish overseers may levy the necessary contributions on the part of the parish liable, as part of the poor rate, or as a separate rate of the nature of a poor rate (s. 146).

In some boroughs there are special provisions in force enabling the Town Council to levy the borough rate independently, by means of their own officers.

In most urban districts, including boroughs, there is established for the purposes of the Public Health Act, 1875, a district fund District fund. (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, s. 209), and for the purpose of defraying any expenses chargeable on that fund which it is insufficient to General district meet, a general district rate may be levied by the Urban District rate. Council. A general district rate may be made prospectively or (to pay expenses incurred within six months before the making of the rate) retrospectively (s. 210). The provisions with respect to the assessment and levying of general district rates are contained in section A 211 of the Public Health Act, 1875, which is reprinted at page 315 of the Appendix. land covered with water or used only as a canal or towing-path for the same, or as a railway authorised by Act of Parliament, are, under the section, assessed in respect of a general district rate in the proportion of one-fourth part only of the net annual value. Orchards [Public Health (Rating of Orchards) Act, 1890 (53 & 54 Vict. c. 17)], and allotments not more than two acres; in extent [Allotments Rating Exemption Act, 1891 (54 & 55 Vict. c. 33)] are also rated at one-fourth only of the net annual value. Other property is rated on the full net annual value (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, s. 211).

Districts where no general district rate is levied.

In some boroughs no general district rate is levied, but the expenses of the Urban Authority, under the Public Health Acts, are paid out of the borough fund, and in certain Improvement Act districts the expenses are payable out of the general fund of the Urban Authority, or out of a rate in the nature of a general district rate leviable by the Authority under their local Act (s. 207). The expenses under the Local Government Act of an Urban District Council other than a borough will be payable out of whatever fund or rate is available for the expenses of the District Council under the Public Health Acts.

Rural district councils.

The expenses incurred by the Council of a rural district are, subject to the provisions of the Act, to be defrayed in manner directed by the Public Health Act, 1875, with respect to expenses incurred in the execution of that Act by a Rural Sanitary Authority, and the provisions of the Public Health Acts with respect to those expenses are to apply accordingly (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 29).

The mode of defraying the expenses of a Rural Sanitary Authority under the Public Health Act, 1875, is prescribed by sections 229 to 231 of that Act. Those sections are printed at pages 319 to 321 of the Appendix. Under them the expenses incurred by a Rural Authority are divided into general and special expenses.

General expenses consist of the expenses of the establishment and officers of the Rural Authority, the expenses in relation to disinfection and providing conveyance for infected persons, and all other expenses not determined by the Act or by order of the Local Government Board to be special expenses.

Special

Special expenses comprise the expenses of sewerage and of water supply in any contributory place: the charges arising out of property transferred to the Rural Authority in trust for any contributory place, and all other expenses in respect of any contributory place, and determined by order of the Local Government Board to be special expenses.

General expenses are payable out of a common fund raised out of the poor rate of parishes in the rural district according to the rateable value of each contributory place.

Expenses of Rural District

Contribution orders.

For the contributions due from each contributory place a precept is issued by the Rural Authority to the overseers, requiring them to pay within a time limited by the precept a specified amount to a person appointed by the authority. General and special expenses are to be respectively distinguished in the precepts. Any contribution required in respect of general expenses is to be paid by the overseers out of the poor rate, but a contribution in respect of special expenses is to be satisfied by the levy (in the case of an entire parish on the whole of such parish, and in the case of a contributory place or part of a contributory place forming part of a parish by the levy on such place, or such part thereof, exclusive of the rest of the parish) of a separate rate in the same manner as if it were a poor rate, with this exception, that the same partial exemption applies to the separate rate as applies to a general district rate in respect of tithes, agricultural, and other lands, which are to be charged at one-fourth part only of the rate in the \mathcal{L} payable in respect of houses and other property.

Where the amount required by a precept for special expenses is less than £10, or where a rate less than one penny in the £ would be required to raise the amount a separate rate is not to be levied, and the precept is to be met as if the demand were in respect of general expenses (s. 230).

Subject to this last provision dealing specially with cases where the Partial exemption of this last provision dealing specially with cases where the Partial exemption of this and amount required to meet a precept for special expenses is small, the Public Health Act, 1875, requires all expenses separately charged on a contributory place as special expenses to be raised by means of a rate towards which tithes and agricultural and other land contribute in the proportion of one-fourth only of their net annual value, and there is under that Act no authority to alter this incidence of a rate levied to meet special expenses. This partial exemption of tithes and agricultural and other land will in every case continue to apply to rates levied for the purposes of the Act of 1875, but the Local Government Act, 1894, provides machinery for making the incidence of a rate levied to satisfy expenses separately charged under its provisions on a contributory place proportionately equal on every class of rateable property in the contributory place.

When the Local Government Board determine any expenses under the Local Government Act, 1894, to be special expenses and a separate charge on any contributory place, and such expenses would, if not separately chargeable on a contributory place, be raised as general expenses, they may further direct that such special expenses shall be raised in like manner as general expenses, and not by such separate rate for special expenses as is mentioned in section 230 of the Public Health Act, 1875.

in case of postconsment of ransfer of cowers of highway authority. In urban districts other than boroughs the Local Government Act by providing that expenses under the Act shall be paid out of the district fund and general district rate, has created this anomalous state of things, that in those urban districts tithes and land will be assessed at one-fourth of their value only, whilst the same class of property will for the purposes of the Act be assessed in boroughs and generally in rural districts on its full value. The difficulty in the way of uniform treatment in this respect was that there is no existing mode of raising expenses in Local Board and Improvement Act districts analogous to a borough rate, or a precept to defray the expenses of a Rural Sanitary Authority. In those districts, only a general district rate or rate of the same nature is levied.

Highway expenses are always to be defrayed as general expenses of the Rural District Council subject to the power of the Council to charge those expenses under exceptional circumstances on a contributory place. A highway area which enjoyed the benefit of property or funds applicable to the repair of the highways will continue to do so under the new Act. Where highway expenses would, if the Act had not passed, have been in whole or in part defrayed in any parish or other area out of any property or funds other than rates, the District Council must make such provision as will give to that parish or area the benefit of such property or funds by way of reduction of the rates on the parish or area (s. 29).

No satisfactory provision is made by the Local Government Act, 1894, for certain cases which may not infrequently arise where a County Council postpone for a part or parts of their county the transfer of the powers of existing highway authorities to the Rural District Councils, or where neighbouring counties adopt different courses in respect of that matter. A rural district is not necessarily co-terminous with highway parishes or districts, and it may in special circumstances be in more than one administrative county. If a rural district comprises more than one highway district, and as the result of an order of postponement by a County Council, the Rural District Council becomes on the appointed day the highway authority for a part only of their district the question as to how the highway expenses of the District Council are to be defrayed is a matter of much importance. They will be general expenses according to section 29 of the Act, and as such will be payable by every contributory place in proportion to its rateable value, although it will be unfair to those places who have also to pay highway rates during the period of postponement. The provision for charging highway expenses under special circumstances on a contributory place¹ seems inapplicable as it contemplates not the exemption of any part of the district, but a differential contribution to the expenses incurred by the highway authority. The Local Government Board do not seem to be empowered to declare highway expenses to be special in the face of the express direction of the Act that they shall be defrayed as general expenses. Before a County Council determine to postpone within their county or any part of it the provision of the transfer of the powers of existing highway authorities, powers of highway and thority. the effect of their order on the incidence of rates for highway purposes in each rural district should be considered.

Special funds now available for the repair of the highways of a parish or other area will continue to be so applied that the benefit of those funds will accrue to the particular area for which they have been applicable. There are numerous instances where bequests have been made for the purpose of keeping highways in repair.

Urban Councils and London Vestries.

In its inception the Local Government Bill was intended to reform Provisions relating to rural the parochial system of local government in rural parishes only; but the anomaly of leaving the parochial administration in boroughs and applicable to. other urban districts, and in London, untouched, whilst complete control over the appointment of parish officers and the general affairs of the parish was given to the new Authorities created in rural parishes was found incapable of defence, although, on the other hand, it was admitted that there would be considerable objection to the establishment of a remodelled parochial organisation side by side with Town Councils and other Authorities having fuller powers of effective administration. Each borough or town requires individual treatment for the purpose of adjusting the ancient parochial system to the circumstances which have grown up in and around its parishes, and the means of making this adjustment where it is deemed necessary has been found in the familiar device of an order of a government department.

On the application of the Council of any Municipal Borough, including a County Borough, or of any other urban district, or of any Sanitary Authority in the Administrative County of London, or of any representative body within a borough, the Local Government Board may make an order conferring on that Council, or Sanitary Authority, or some other representative body within the borough or district, all or any of the following matters, namely, the appointment of overseers and assistant overseers, the revocation of appointment of assistant overseers, any powers, duties, or liabilities of overseers, and any powers, duties, or liabilities of a Parish Council, and applying with the necessary modifications the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894, with reference thereto. The order may provide for its operation extending either to the whole or to specified parts of the area of the borough or other district, and may make such provisions as seem necessary for carrying the order into effect; but it is not to alter the representative bodies who might make an application under the section are Boards of Guardians and Vestries elected under local Acts or otherwise. The mode of appointing overseers and assistant overseers, and the various powers and duties of Parish Councils, have been fully discussed in Chapters IV. and VI. of this handbook. Among the powers and duties of overseers which are most likely to be applied for

It does not seem within the scope of an order of the Local Government Board, under section 33, to confer on a Town Council, or other body, any of the powers which are in a rural parish transferred from the Vestry or churchwardens to the Parish Council; although the order might confer any of the powers of overseers on the Town Council or other body. But to this, one exception is expressly made by section 34, which provides that where an order of the Local Government Board under the Act confers on the Council of an urban district, or some other representative body within the district, either the appointment of overseers and assistant overseers, or the powers, duties, and liabilities of overseers, that order, or any subsequent order, of the Board may confer on such Council or body the powers of the Vestry under the third and fourth sections of the Poor Rate Assessment and Collection Act, 1869 (32 & 33 Vict. c. 41).

Chapter IV., and sections 3 and 4 of the Act of 1869 are set out at page 296 of the Appendix. It is only necessary to point out that the limit of the rateable value of the hereditaments to which these sections apply differs in various places. In the Metropolis the rateable value of the hereditaments must not exceed £20; in Liverpool, £13; in Manchester and Birmingham, £10; and in other places the value must not exceed £8.

A Parish Council have greater facilities for the compulsory purchase of land than other Authorities have, and they have the additional privilege of being enabled to hire land compulsorily for allotments. It is to be expected that application for these powers of a Parish Council will Transfer of powers relating often be made. Another subject for which the powers of a Parish to rural parishes. Council will be coveted is the control of borough and other charities. In this matter the interests of the parishes composing the borough or district, as opposed to the interests of the whole borough or district, may have to be safeguarded.

Where it appears to the Local Government Board that, by reason of Charities. the circumstances connected with any parish in a municipal borough (including a county borough), or other urban district divided into wards, or with the parochial charities of that parish, the parish will not, if the majority of the body of trustees administering the charity are appointed by the Council of the borough or district, be properly represented on that body, they may, by their order, provide that such of those trustees as are appointed by the Council, or some of them, shall be appointed on the nomination of the councillors elected for the ward or wards comprising such parish or any part of the parish (s. 33 (2)). Before making any order with respect to any charity the Local Government Board are required to consult the Charity Commissioners (s. 33 (7)).

Section 14 (3) of the Act does not require that a Parish Council should appoint a majority of the trustees of a non-ecclesiastical parochial charity, but the Bill, as it left the House of Commons, made it obligatory upon the Parish Council to appoint a sufficient number of additional trustees, so that the elective element should always be a majority of the body of trustees. The power of appointment was not confined to charities where there was no elective element. reference in section 33 seems to have been intended to refer to the obligation which the Bill, as brought from the Commons, laid upon the Parish Council. In the Lords the provision in question was struck out, and the existing enactment inserted, under which it is only where there is no elective element on the body of trustees that the Parish Council may appoint additional members. They are simply permitted and not required to appoint such members, and the number is not to exceed what the Charity Commissioners allow in each case. The effect of section 33, read with section 14 (3), seems to be no more than this, that an order of the Local Government Board may confer upon a Town Council or other Authority, as the case may be, the power of a Parish Council' to appoint trustees of a non-ecclesiastical parochial charity (that is the power referred to in section 14 (3)), and that in conferring such a power the Local Government Board may, where a district is divided into wards, direct, if the circumstances seem such as to render it proper to do so, that the appointment be made by the councillors elected for the ward or wards comprising the parish whose charities are dealt with. It will not be obligatory on the Authority to exercise any power of appointment which may be conferred upon them; but, if they do exercise the power, the number of trustees they may appoint will be such as the Charity Commissioners allow. No restriction is expressly placed upon the discretion of the Commissioners in the matter, but the general intention of section 14 (3) seems to be that the elective members should not be a majority of the whole body of trustees.

In London, parishes only are divided into wards, and the districts under District Boards consist of grouped parishes, the respective Vestries of which elect the members of the District Boards. The provision in section 33 (2) as to districts divided into wards seems generally inapplicable to sanitary districts in the Metropolis. Vestries elected under the Metropolis Management Acts now exercise, as regards charities, the powers and duties which belonged to the open Vestry—In re Hayle's Estate (31 L. J., Ch. 612).

Application of Act to Scilly Islands.

The Local Government Act, 1894, is to be deemed to be an Act touching local government within the meaning of section 49 of the Local Government Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict. c. 41), and a provisional order for the Scilly Islands may, on the application of the Council of the Isles of Scilly, and after such public notice as appears to the Local Government Board sufficient for giving information to all persons interested, be made accordingly (Local Government Act, 1894, (s. 74).

(s. 74).
Section 49 of the Local Government Act, 1888, which is printed at page 362 of the Appendix, authorised the Local Government Board to apply, by means of a provisional order, confirmed by Parliament, the provisions of that Act and of certain other statutes to the Scilly Islands; and accordingly by a provisional order of the Local Government Board, confirmed by the Local Government Board's Provisional Order, Confirmation (No. 6) Act, 1890 (53 & 54 Vict. c. 176), a Council of the Isles of Scilly was established. The Isles are divided under the order into five civil parishes, for which overseers are appointed. The Council have some powers of a County Council under the order, and they act also as the Rural Sanitary Authority, and the Highway Authority for the Isles. Section 74 of the Local Government Act, 1894, will enable such of the provisions of the Act as may be suitable to the Scilly Islands to be applied to those Islands.

The accounts of guardians and their officers and of the overseers Guardians and and of every collector (which includes an assistant overseer) are required by the General Order for Accounts issued by the Poor Law Board on the 14th of January, 1867, to be made up and balanced to the 25th of March and the 29th of September in each year. These provisions were applicable to the guardians acting as the Rural Sanitary Authority (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55, s. 248).

Highway Boards, Surveyors of Highways and Boards for the Highways. Repair of the Highways make up their accounts yearly to the 25th of March.

Section 58 (1) of the Local Government Act, 1894, applies to the accounts of both Urban and Rural District Councils, including boroughs other than county boroughs. The accounts of non-county boroughs will be made up to the 31st of March and 30th of September in each year, and the accounts of other Urban District Councils will be made up once a year to the 31st of March. Rural District Councils and their officers will make up their accounts half-yearly to the same dates as the Town Councils of non-county Boroughs, Won-county Boroughs, Urban District Councils, Parish Councils, Parish Meetings, Parish Councils, Parish Meetings, Parish Councils, Parish Meetings, Parish Councils of non-county Boroughs, Won-county Boroughs, Urban District Councils, Parish Meetings, Parish Meetings, Parish Councils, Parish Meetings, Paris Parish Councils, and Parish Meetings, and their officers will make up their accounts yearly to the 31st of March. The accounts of guardians and their officers and of the overseers and of any assistant overseer will, in a parish not having a separate Parish Council, until the Local Government Board make any order directing otherwise, continue to be made up and balanced to the 25th of March and the 29th of September. Probably the Local Government Board will assimilate the period of making up the accounts of officers and authorities not affected by the Act to the dates fixed by the Act for the accounts of other authorities. Under section 73 of the Local Government Act, 1888, the "local financial year" ends on the 31st of March. That year is, under the Act, applicable to the accounts of County Councils, and the same year should apply to the accounts of every Local Authority.

made up to the 25th of March in each year.

A form of accounts will have to be prescribed by the Local Government Board for the accounts of Parish and District Councils, and of Parish Meetings, and of their respective committees and officers.

Every parochial elector of a rural parish is entitled at all reasonable times, without payment, to inspect and take copies of and extracts from all books, accounts, and documents belonging to or under the control of the Parish Council of the parish or Parish Meeting, or of the District Council of the district in which the parish is situated (s. 58 (4) (5)).

The power of inspection conferred by this provision is in addition to the power to inspect accounts and other documents deposited seven clear days before the audit, see next page.

Audit of Accounts. The accounts of Parish and District Councils and of Parish Meetings for parishes not having Parish Councils, and their committees and officers, except accounts audited by the auditors of a Borough (but inclusive of the accounts of a joint committee appointed by a Borough Council with another Council not being a Borough Council) will be audited by a district auditor, and the enactments relating to audit by district auditors of accounts of Urban Sanitary Authorities and their officers, and to all matters incidental thereto and consequential thereon, will apply accordingly, except that in the case of the accounts of Rural District Councils, their committees and officers, the audit is to be half-yearly instead of yearly (s. 58(2)).

The District Auditor will give notice to the Authority of the time and place at which the audit will be made, and after receiving that notice the Authority must give at least fourteen days' notice of that time and place, and also of the deposit of accounts they are required to make, by advertisement in one or more local newspapers.

A copy of the accounts, duly made up and balanced, together with D:posit of accounts, &c. all rate books, account books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, and receipts, mentioned or referred to in such accounts, must be deposited in the office of the Authority, and must be open during office hours to the inspection of all persons interested, for seven clear days before the audit, and all such persons may take copies or extracts free of charge.

and of any assistant overseer of a parish not having a separate Parish Council, will continue to be audited by the district auditor under sections 32 to 36 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1844 (7 & 8 Vict. c. 101); sections 5 to 9 of the Poor Law Audit Act, 1848 (11 & 12 Vict. c. 91); sections 9 to 11 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1849 (12 & 13 Vict. c. 103); sections 5 and 6 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1866 (29 & 30 Vict. c. 113); the District Auditors Act, 1879 (42 & 43 Vict. c. 6); and the general order for accounts of the Poor Law Board dated 14th of January, 1867. In the main the provisions as to the audit of union accounts are very similar to the provisions of the Public Health Act, 1875, relating to the audit of accounts of urban sanitary authorities, but notices of the audit are published by the auditor, and no abstract of accounts is required to be published by the guardians, overseers, or other officer whose

Rules as to publication of notice of audit,

The Local Government Board may, with respect to any audit to which section 58 of the Local Government Act, 1894, applies, make rules modifying the enactments as to publication of notice of the audit and of the abstract of accounts and the report of the auditor (s. 58 (3)).

This provision will enable the Local Government Board to relax such of the requirements relating to publication of the notice of the audit, and of the abstract of accounts as might by reason of the expense involved in the publication, be burdensome to small parishes without any corresponding advantage to such parishes.

There does not appear to be any enactment requiring the report of the auditor on the audit of accounts of an urban sanitary authority to be published.

Under this provision the authorities newly elected under the Act in or after November next, will start free and unfettered so far as the accounts of the receipts and expenditure of their predecessors are concerned. The first audit of the accounts of the newly elected authorities will take place as soon as can be after the 31st of March,

An appeal lies, with the leave of the High Court or Court of Appeal, but not otherwise, to the Court of Appeal against any decision of the High Court under the section (s. 70 (1) (3)).

There is no definition of "Local Authority" in the Act, but it apparently means in this provision the authority whose powers, duties, or liabilities are in question.

Adjustment of property and liabilities. Where any adjustment is required for the purpose of the Act, or of any order, or thing made or done under the Act, then, if the adjustment is not otherwise made, the authorities interested may make agreements for the purpose, and may thereby adjust any property, income, debts, liabilities, and expenses, so far as affected by the Act, or such scheme, order, or thing, of the parties to the agreement.

The agreement may provide for the transfer or retention of any property, debts, or liabilities, with or without any conditions, and for the joint use of any property, and for payment by either party to the agreement in respect of property, debts, and liabilities so transferred or retained, or of such joint user, and in respect of the salary or remuneration of any officer or person, and that either by way of an annual payment or, except in the case of a salary or remuneration, by way of a capital sum, or of a terminable annuity for a period not exceeding that allowed by the Local Government Board; but where any of the authorities interested is a Board of Guardians, any such agreement, so far as it relates to the joint use of any property, is to be subject to the approval of the Local Government Board.

In default of an agreement, and as far as any agreement does not extend, the adjustment is to be referred to arbitration in accordance with the Arbitration Act, 1889, and the arbitrator is empowered to disallow as costs in the arbitration the costs of any witness whom he considers to have been called unnecessarily, and any other costs which he considers to have been incurred unnecessarily, and his award may provide for any matter for which an agreement might have provided.

Funds out of which payment is to be made.

Any sum required to be paid by any authority for the purpose of adjustment may be paid as part of the general expenses of exercising their duties under this Act, or out of such special fund as the authority, with the approval of the Local Government Board,

Any capital sum paid to any authority for the purpose of any Application of capital sums. adjustment is to be treated as capital, and applied with the sanction of the Local Government Board, either in the repayment of debt or for any other purpose for which capital money may be applied (s. 68).

Where there is no agreement the adjustment will be referred to the arbitrator, and also, so far as an agreement does not extend there will be a reference to arbitration. The Arbitration Act, 1889, is printed at page 366 of the Appendix. The reference under that Act is to a single arbitrator, who can take evidence on oath. His award is final and binding on all parties. A Parish Council can under section 68 borrow in order to pay a capital sum for the purpose of adjustment without the consent of the Parish Meeting or County Council.

Pending proceedings. If at the time when any powers, duties, liabilities, debts, or property are by the Local Government Act, 1894, transferred to a Council or Parish Meeting, any action or proceeding, or any cause of action or proceeding is pending or existing by or against any authority in relation thereto, the same shall not be in anywise prejudicially affected by the passing of the Act, but may be continued, prosecuted, and enforced by or against the Council or Parish Meeting as successors of the authority in like manner as if the Act had not

All proceedings, legal and other, commenced before the appointed day, may be carried on in like manner, as nearly as may be, as if the Act had not passed, and any legal proceeding may be amended in such manner as may appear necessary or proper in order to bring it into conformity with the provisions of the Act (s. 85 (3)).

All such bye-laws, orders, and regulations of any authority, whose powers and duties are transferred by the Local Government Act, 1894, to any Council, as are in force at the time of the transfer, will, so far as they relate to or are in pursuance of the powers and duties transferred, continue in force as if made by that Council, and may be revoked or altered accordingly (s. 87).

This provision has a general application to every transfer of powers under the Act, and whilst it will save many authorities the trouble of making bye-laws, orders, or regulations under the transferred powers, it will not prevent an authority altering or revoking any bye-law, order, or regulation, if they think it expedient to do so. The provision in section 87 is of special importance to Rural District Councils where their predecessors had made any bye-laws and regulations under the Public Health Acts, and the Dairies, Cowsheds, and Milkshops Orders of 1885 and 1886.

DEFAULTING RURAL DISTRICT COUNCIL.

The provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894, relating to the transfer of powers, duties, and liabilities, to which reference has been made, are applicable only to those cases where the transfer takes place under the Act, and the provisions have no application to cases where the powers of a defaulting District Council are by a resolution under the Act transferred to a County Council. A distinction is properly drawn between a transfer which is intended to be made once for all for the purpose of simplifying local government by the concentration of powers and duties in fewer authorities, and a transfer which is made for the purpose of securing that a parish should not be prejudiced by a neglect of duty on the part of a District Council. In the latter case there is no reason why a transfer should have effect to any greater extent than is necessary to secure the object with which it was made. Special provisions are, therefore, applicable to the transfer of powers from a District Council to a County Council. It is only in the case of a defaulting Rural District Transfer of powers to County Council.

Provisions as to County Council acquiring powers of District Council.

Where the powers of a District Council are by virtue of a resolution under the Local Government Act transferred to a County Council, the following provisions have effect:—

Council that such a transfer can take place (ss. 16 (1), 26 (4)).

- (a.) Notice of the resolution of the County Council by virtue of which the transfer is made must be forthwith sent to the District Council and to the Local Government Board:
- (b.) The expenses incurred by the County Council will be a debt from the District Council to the County Council, and will be defrayed as part of the expenses of the District Council in the execution of the Public Health Acts, and the District Council will have the like power of raising the money as for the defraying of those expenses:
- (c.) The County Council for the purpose of the powers transferred may on behalf of the District Council borrow subject to the like conditions, in the like manner, and on the security of the like fund or rate, as the District Council might have borrowed for the purpose of those powers:
- (d.) The County Council may charge the said fund or rate with the payment of the principal and interest of the loan, and the loan

(e.) The County Council are required to keep separate accounts of Transfer of all receipts and expenditure in respect of the transferred powers: County Council.

(f.) The County Council may by order vest in the District Council all or any of the powers, duties, property, debts, and liabilities of the County Council in relation to any of the transferred powers, and the property, debts, and liabilities so vested are to be deemed to have been acquired or incurred by the District Council for the purpose of those powers (s. 63 (1)).

These provisions, as stated before, have application to a Rural District Council only, as the power to complain to or petition the County Council where a District Council make default is given to a Parish Council only.

The mode of defraying the expenses of a Rural District Council under the Public Health Acts have been explained in connection with District Councils on pages 166 and 167, and it is only now necessary to point out that the modifications provided by section 29 of the Local Government Act, 1894, with respect to the expenses of a Rural District Council under the Act, are not made applicable by section 63 (1), where the expenses of the County Council have to be defrayed. It follows that expenses of the County Council, which might be special expenses, would have to be levied in the manner provided by section 230 of the Public Health Act, 1875, and the Local Government Board would have no power to direct that such special expenses should be raised as general expenses. Where the amount to be raised was not less than £10, or than what a penny rate would amount to, a separate rate to which tithes and agricultural and other land would be assessed at one-fourth of the full net annual value would accordingly have to be levied under section 230 of the Act of 1875.

Sections 233 to 239 of the Public Health Act, 1875, which relate to the borrowing powers of a Rural District Council are reprinted at pages 321 to 323 of the Appendix.

The provision in paragraph (f) of section 63 (1) will enable the Restoration of powers to County Council to restore to the Rural District Council their full District Council powers when the circumstances which gave rise to the transfer of powers to the County Council have changed. It is not contemplated that the Rural District Council should be permanently relieved of their powers and duties with respect to the subject matter of the transfer.

Among the officers who will thus become officers of the Parish Council may be mentioned, a paid surveyor of highways where the County Council postpone the transfer of highway powers to the District Council under section 25 (1), an existing vestry clerk, any assistant overseer not appointed by a Bc ard of Guardians, and officers appointed by authorities executing any of the adoptive Acts. A Rural District Council will take over the services of the officers of the Rural Sanitary and Highway Authorities to whose duties and powers they succeed.

Every such officer, vestry clerk, and assistant overseer, as above mentioned, is to continue to hold his office by the same tenure, and upon the same terms and conditions as he previously held it, and while performing the same duties is to receive not less salary or remuneration (s. 81 (5)).

In some instances the new arrangements under the Act may render the services of an officer unnecessary to the Council to whom the powers and duties of the authority whose officer he was are transferred or his duties may be affected by the transfer, and his emoluments decreased. Where that is the case compensation will be payable to the officer prejudicially affected by the Local Government Act, 1894.

Section 120 of the Local Government Act, 1888, which relates to compensation to existing officers, will apply in the case of existing officers affected by the new Act, whether officers mentioned in section 81 or not, as if references in that section of the Act of 1888 to the County Council were references to the Parish Council, or the District Council, or Board of Guardians or other authority whose officer the person affected is when the claim for compensation arises as the case may require. All expenses incurred under this provision by a District Council are to be paid as general expenses of the Council, and by a Board of Guardians are to be paid out of their common fund, and by any other authority are to be paid out of the fund applicable to payment of the salary of the officers affected (s. 81 (7)).

This provision seems wide enough to include every officer affected by the Act, whether he does or does not become an officer of the Parish or District Council, so long as his pecuniary loss is caused by the Local Government Act, 1894, or anything done in pursuance of, or in consequence of the Act. There are no such limiting words in

In determining the amount of compensation regard must be had to all the circumstances of the case, and in particular to the conditions on which the officer's appointment was made, to the nature of his office, to the duration of his service, to any additional emoluments which he acquires under or in consequence of the Local Government Act, 1894, and to any emoluments which he might have acquired if he had not refused to accept any office offered by any Council or other body acting under the Act. BOUNDARY COMMISSIONS.

Evils to be emedied.

DIFFICULTIES arising from the confused overlapping of areas of administration formed for different purposes, have always been the great stumbling block in the way of local government reform. Several Commissions have inquired into local boundaries during the past sixty years, but the practical result of their labours has not been great. Some useful work in the adjustment of inconvenient parochial boundaries has been done under the Divided Parishes Acts, and the more glaring anomalies rectified; but these Acts were not adapted for the purpose of remedying a system under which areas for highway, sanitary, and municipal administration had been formed with little regard to parochial boundaries. In the case of counties, the many instances where the county boundary intersected parishes and other areas of local government caused an ever increasing inconvenience, as the powers of county authorities were widened and increased under numerous Acts of Parliament; but, the sentiment in favour of the ancient boundaries of counties has always been strong and the first serious attempt to grapple with the subject was made in connection with the legislation of 1888.

Soundary Commission of 887.

Prior to the reform of county government effected in that year, a Boundary Commission were appointed under the Local Government (Boundaries) Act, 1887 (50 & 51 Vict. c. 61), to inquire with respect to each county in England and Wales—

- (a) As to the best mode of so adjusting the boundaries of the county and of other areas of local government as to arrange that no union, borough, sanitary district, or parish should be situate in more than one county: and
- situate in more than one county; and
 (b) As to the best mode of dealing with parts of the county which were wholly or nearly detached from the county; and
- (c) As to the best mode of dealing with the cases where a borough comprised in a sanitary district; and (d) As to any alteration of boundaries, combination of areas, or administrative arrangements incidental to or consequential on any alteration which they might recommend in the boundaries of any county, union, borough, sanitary district, or parish.

In making their recommendations the Boundary Commissioners were to have due regard to financial and administrative considerations

The report of the Commissioners, which was made to Mr. Ritchie, Report of Commissioners, the sth of July Commissioners, the President of the Local Government Board, on the 5th of July, 1888, contains numerous detailed schemes suggesting the mode in which the various counties, unions, and urban and rural sanitary districts and parishes requiring adjustment should be dealt with.

Section 53 of the Local Government Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict. c. 41), required every report of the Commissioners to be laid before the Council of any administrative county or county borough affected by that report, and made it the duty of the Council to take into consideration such report, and to make such representations to the Local Government Board as they should think expedient for adjusting the boundaries of their county, and of other areas of local government partly situate in their county, with a view of securing that no such area should be situate in more than one county. So far as urban sanitary districts were concerned, the Act itself provided, by section 50 (1), that any such district situate in more than one county should be deemed to be within that county which contained the largest portion of the population of the district according to the census of 1881. The automatic alteration of the boundaries of counties for the purpose of preventing urban sanitary districts being in more than one county was to a certain extent a step in the right direction; but where parishes were partly comprised in urban districts it had, in many instances, the effect of placing a parish, which was formerly in one county, into two counties. Other important provisions of the Act conferred powers which, where advantage has been taken of them, have furnished an economical means of adjusting areas and boundaries. The difficulty in the way of a more general rectification of boundaries does not spring so much from defects in the machinery of the Act of 1888, as from local indifference or opposition to setting it in motion. With some modifications made for the purpose of expediting its operation and of making it more generally effective, this machinery is accordingly rendered applicable to the adjustment of areas and boundaries under the Local Government The objects which County Councils are to have in view are set out in some detail in the new Act.

Duties and Powers of County Council.

For the purpose of carrying the Local Government Act, 1894, considered. into effect in the case of-

Cases to be con-sidered by County Council.

- (a) Every parish and rural sanitary district which at the passing of the Act was situate partly within and partly without an administrative county; and

 (b) Every parish which at the passing of the Act was situate partly
- within and partly without a sanitary district; and
- (c) Every rural parish which had a population of less than 200 according to the census of 1891; and
- (d) Every rural sanitary district which at the passing of the Act had less than five elective guardians capable of acting and voting as members of the rural sanitary authority of the district; and (e) Every rural parish which is co-extensive with a rural sanitary
- district; every County Council is required to forthwith take into consideration every such case within their county and, as soon as practicable, in accordance with section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888 (51 & 52 Vict. c. 41), to cause inquiries to be made and notices given, and make such orders, if any, as they deem most suitable for carrying into effect the Act in accordance with the following provisions, namely: (i.) The whole of each parish, and, unless the County Council for special reasons otherwise direct, the whole of each rural district

- is to be within the same administrative county; (ii.) The whole of each parish is, unless the County Council for special reasons otherwise direct, to be within the same county district; and
- (iii.) Every rural district which will have less than five elected councillors is, unless for special reasons the County Council otherwise direct, to be united to some neighbouring district or districts (s. 36 (1)).

The full significance of the task which is thus set before County Councils will be better understood when the machinery placed at their disposal has been explained.

I.—THE POWERS AND PROCEDURE OF COUNTY COUNCILS WITH RESPECT TO AREAS AND BOUNDARIES.

Obligation of County Council to proceed.

The County Council must proceed under section 36 (1) of the Local Government Act, 1894, although no such proposal as is mentioned in section 57 of the Act of 1888 has been made. This is an important distinction, for, under that section, which is printed at page 363 of the Appendix, the County Council were to be satisfied that a prima facie case was made out as respects any county district not a borough, or as respects any parish for a proposal for all or any of certain specified things before they proceeded to make any order; whilst, under subsection (1) of section 36 of the new Act, it is, without exception, obligatory upon the County Council, although no proposal has been made, to take every such case, as is mentioned in the subsection, into consideration, and cause inquiries and notices to be given with a view to making such orders under the Act as they think most suitable. The initiative is conferred on the County Council alone, and they must proceed as directed by the Act.

It is only for the special cases mentioned in section 36 (1) of the Proposals under Local Government Act, 1894, that the proposal referred to in Local section 57 of the Act of 1888 is dispensed with, and in other cases to 5.57. which section 57 applies a prima facie case to the satisfaction of the County Council must be made out. Any of the following proposals may be made as respects any urban sanitary district not a borough, any rural sanitary district, or any parish under section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888:—

ment Act, 1888.

(a) The alteration or definition of its boundary;

(b) Its division or union with any other such district or districts, parish or parishes, or the transfer of part of a parish to another parish;

(c) The conversion of the district or part of the district, if it is a rural district, into an urban district, and if it is an urban district, into a rural district, or the transfer of the whole or any part of the district from one district to another, and the formation of new urban or rural districts;

(d) The division of an urban district into wards; and

(e) The alteration of the number of wards, or of the boundaries of any ward, or of the number of members of any District Council, or of the apportionment of such members among the wards.

Even after being satisfied that a primâ facie case has been made out, the County Council are not obliged, under section 57 of the Act of 1888, to proceed any further, but they may, if they please, cause such inquiry to be made in the locality, and such notice to be given, both Inquiries. in the locality, and to the Local Government Board, Education Department, or other Government Department as may be prescribed by the Local Government Board, and such other inquiry and notices (if any) as they think fit, and if satisfied that such proposal is desirable, may make an order for the same accordingly.

With the principal and important exception that the County Council are, under section 36 (1) of the new Act, required to take action, and must therefore cause inquiries to be made and notices to be given, and make any orders that may be necessary for the purposes of the subsection, the procedure to be followed is that generally laid down by section 57 of the Act of 1888. The other modifications in procedure will be mentioned in their proper place.

Section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888, enabled a County Areas in two or more counties. Council to deal with the matters mentioned therein, but the application of the section was subject to the serious defect that it made no express provision to meet cases where an area of local government was situated in more than one county. As any one County Council had no jurisdiction where a parish or other area was not wholly in their county to deal with that area, it was considered that two or more County Councils interested could not confer, by delegation, on any joint committee of the respective Councils any authority under the section. This defect has been remedied by the new Act, which provides that where any of the areas referred to in section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888, is situate in two or more counties, or the alteration of any such area would alter the boundaries of a poor law union situate in two or more counties, a joint committee appointed by the Councils of those counties¹ shall, subject to the terms of delegation, be deemed to have and to have always had power to make orders under that section with respect to that area; and where at the passing of this Act a rural sanitary district or parish is situate in more than one county, a joint committee of the Councils of those counties shall act under section 36 of the Local Government Act, 1894, and if any of those Councils do not, within two months after request from any other of them, appoint members of such joint committee, the members of the committee actually appointed are to act as the joint committee. Any question arising as to the constitution or procedure of any such joint committee is, if the County Councils concerned fail to agree, to be determined by the Local Division and other alterations of parishes.

Where the alteration of the boundary of any parish, or the division of a parish, or the union of the whole or of part of a parish with Board with respect to the alteration of unions (s. 36 (6)).

Section 58 of the Act of 1888 enables the Local Government Board, where it appears expedient so to do with reference to any poor law union which is situate in more than one county, instead of dissolving the union, to provide by order that the union shall continue to be one union for the purposes of indoor paupers or any of those purposes, and shall be divided into two or more poor law unions for the purpose of outdoor relief, and to make such provisions as seem expedient for determining all other matters in relation to which such union is to be one union, or two or more Whilst the Local Government Board will retain this and their other powers under the Poor Law Acts 2 to alter or dissolve a union, the County Council will have the concurrent power of altering a poor law union in the manner provided by section 58 of the Act of 1888 or otherwise; but the power of the County Council can be exercised only where it is expedient to alter a union by reason of any of the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894, and an order

The two years allowed will expire on the 5th of March, 1896, and that date will, subject to any extension of the period of two years by the Local Government Board, be the last day on which the County Council may make orders for the purpose of section 36; but this limiting provision in subsection 13 does not express the intention of the Local Government Act. 1804, with respect to the period to be the Local Government Act, 1894, with respect to the period to be taken in making the general arrangements contemplated by section 36.

A County Council are required for the purposes of subsection 1 of section 36 to cause inquiries to be made, and notices to be given as soon as practicable in accordance with section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888, and it is clearly intended that boundaries and other necessary matters should be dealt with before the appointed day in order that Parish Councils, Parish Meetings, and other authorities may, so far as possible on that day, assume their functions for parishes and other areas, as those areas are eventually to be constituted; but on the other hand it may not in all instances be practicable to take every case into consideration before the appointed day, nor is it contemplated by the Act that no changes subsequent to the appointed day will be necessary.

Parish Council or Meeting may uppear at Inquiries.

In the case where an order for the alteration of the boundary of any parish or the division of any parish, or the union of any parish or of any part, with another parish is proposed to be made after the appointed day, notice of the proposed order must, a reasonable time before it is made, be given to the Parish Council of that parish, or if there is no Parish Council, to the Parish Meeting, and that Parish Council or Parish Meeting, as the case may be, will have the right to appear at any inquiry held by the County Council with reference to the order, and will be at liberty to petition the Local Government Board against the confirmation of the order (s. 36 (7)).

Section 59 of the Act of 1888, which is printed at page 364 of the Appendix, authorises a scheme or order under that Act to make administrative, judicial, financial, and other arrangements, incidental to or consequential on any alteration of boundaries, and the effect of its application to an alteration of area under the Local Government Act, 1894, is to enable the County Council to provide for every possible contingency. The section will apply whether the alteration is effected by the Act, as in the case of a parish in more than one Sanitary District,² or in the case of a Rural Sanitary District in more than one county,³ or whether the alteration is effected by an order of

Where the county boundary in the case of a parish situated partly in and partly outside an administrative county coincides with the boundary of an urban district the parish would also come within the next sub-division (b) of the subject'; but if it is contemplated to include any portion of the excluded part of the parish (that is the rural part of the parish) in the urban district, the county boundary must also be altered, as it would be inconsistent with section 50 (1) (δ) of the must also be altered, as it would be inconsistent with section 50 (1) (0) of the Local Government Act, 1888, for an urban district to be situated in more than one county. An alteration of the county boundary will require an order of the Local Government Board, and so would any alteration of the boundary of a Local Government Board, and so would any alteration of the boundary of a borough.

Where the parish overlapping the county boundary is an ordinary rural parish, it will be necessary for the joint committee to make some order, as although a rural sanitary district in more than one county is in the absence of other directions to be divided, no such automatic division of a parish in more than one county will take place. The joint committee may divide the parish without altering the county boundary, or decide that the county boundary should be altered so as to include the whole parish in one county, or they may think it desirable in exceptional cases to both divide the parish and alter the county boundary. Any alteration of the county boundary can only be made by an order of the Local Government Board. The divided parts of the parish, or any of them, may either be constituted new parishes, in which case they must be added to some union, or they may be united to other parishes. For the latter purpose the divided areas may be still further sub-divided. In uniting any part to another parish provision should be made where necessary for the alteration of the county district, and it should be remembered that a parish must not be partly in and partly outside a rural district, but a parish may under exceptional circumstances be partly in two or more urban districts. As a rule, however, a parish must be in one county district only.

ral sanitary tricts in mo

A rural sanitary district in more than one administrative county is divided automatically by section 24 (5) of the Act, so that the part in each county becomes a separate rural district, unless the joint committee provide otherwise. For special reasons they may direct that the district should remain in the counties in which it was situated at the passing of the Act. The division of a rural sanitary district by the Act does not affect the boundary of any parish within the district which is in more than one county, and so far as such a parish may be concerned, the effect of the division of the rural district would be to divide the parish for purposes of the Rural District Council only. So far for what would happen if no order were made by the joint committee; but an order could treat the rural sanitary district in much the same way as a parish, which is divided by the county boundary, can be treated. The county boundary might be altered, or the district might be wholly or partly amalgamated with neighbouring districts, and where necessary be converted wholly or partly into an urban district. If desirable the order might provide for the alteration of the poor law unions, but under the Act a rural district may be in more than one poor law union.

Parishes in mo than one sanita district.

These cases have been previously alluded to on pages 10 to 12. Unless other arrangements are made a parish so situated becomes divided by virtue of the Act, and the part in each Sanitary District becomes a new parish. No order of the County Council is required to effect the division of such a parish; but instead of permitting a parish to be divided, and new parishes formed by operation of the Act, the County Council might by order provide for the union of the parts which would otherwise form separate parishes with some neighbouring parish or parishes, or for the inclusion of the whole parish in one of the county districts in which it is partly situate. Where a parish is situated partly in an urban district and partly in a rural district, it will generally be found more convenient to include the whole parish in the urban rather than in the rural district.

A joint committee of the County Council and of the Council of the county borough will deal with parishes partly in an administrative county, and partly in a county borough. An alteration of the boundary of a borough can be made by an order of the Local Government Board only.

(c) Every rural parish which has a population of less than 200.

Small rural parishes.

This case covers not only small parishes now existing, but small parishes which may be formed by the division by the Act of parishes which, at the passing of the Act, are in more than one sanitary district. The County Council will have to consider whether the parish may be conveniently grouped with any other parish or parishes under a common Parish Council, or whether it should have a separate Parish Council. They must provide for the establishment of a Parish Council if, in the case of a parish with a population of not less than 100, the Parish Meeting so resolve. Nothing can be done with respect to grouping or establishing Parish Councils until the appointed day, as the consent of a Parish Meeting is necessary (s. 1 (1)).

The limit of 200, in the case of paragraph (c), was fixed with reference to the same limit of population which was adopted by the House of Commons in section I for the purpose of the compulsory establishment of a Parish Council; but the limit in that section was raised by the House of Lords to 300, without any consequential amendments having been made in subsequent sections. The provision requiring rural parishes with a population according to the census of 1891 to be taken into consideration had more practical significance in connection with the first proposals of the Government that every rural parish with a population below the prescribed limit should be compulsorily grouped with some neighbouring parish or parishes under a common County Council.

A small parish might be united for all purposes with some neighbouring parish, so as to form a new parish, or might be divided, and the respective parts added to neighbouring parishes. Where a new parish is formed by an order of the County Council it should be placed in a poor law union.

This case is to be considered with the view of providing that such a district unless for special reasons the County Council otherwise direct should be united to some neighbouring district or districts. For this purpose the district may be divided, and the parts united to different neighbouring districts, and where necessary the district or any part may be converted into an urban district, or any part may be transferred to an urban district.

This case will generally come under the previous head, whilst some cases under the previous head may require consideration under this head also. Where for instance a parish is co-extensive with a rural sanitary district, and has less than five elective guardians, the County Council may for special reasons direct that the sanitary district shall not be united to some neighbouring district or districts. It will then be necessary for the County Council to consider the case under the present head. The question which the County Council have to decide in these cases is whether there shall be a separate election of a Parish Council. If the County Council do not otherwise direct, there will be no such separate election, and the Rural District Council will have the powers, and be deemed to be the Parish Council (s. 36 (4)).

Alteration of wards of urban district. In instances where the area of an urban district is altered, some alteration in the number of wards, their boundaries, or the apportionment of members among the wards may be necessary. This may be effected by an order under section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888. Under the same section an urban district may for the first time be divided into wards, and the necessary consequential arrangements made.

Consequential

These various changes, which have been indicated under the head of each class of cases, may often involve other administrative arrangements. Almost every possible contingency can be provided for by means of the ample power conferred by section 59 of the Local Government Act, 1888, to make administrative, financial, judicial, and other arrangements, incidental to or consequential on alterations made by an order (see page 195).

Order of County Council.

Where a parish is divided or united or grouped with another parish by an order in pursuance of the Local Government Act, 1894, each new parish or group so formed is to bear such name as the order directs (s. 55 (1)).

It is not altogether clear whether the naming of a new parish can be considered a "change of name" within the meaning of section 55, as that section expressly authorises a District Council to "change" their name and the name of their district; but the case of the naming of a new parish seems to come within the spirit of subsections (4) and (5) of section 55, which provide that every change of name made in pursuance of the section shall be published in such manner as the authority authorising the change may direct, and shall be notified to the Local Government Board, and the change of name shall not and Groups.

New Parishes and Groups.

The authority authorising the change of name, under section 55 (1), would, of course, be the County Council or joint committee making the order.

DIVISION OF PARISH INTO WARDS FOR ELECTION OF PARISH COUNCIL.

A County Council may at any time, on application by the Parish Parish wards. Council, or not less than one-tenth of the parochial electors of a parish, and on being satisfied that the area or population of the parish is so large, or different parts of the population so situated, as to make a single Parish Meeting for the election of councillors impracticable or inconvenient, or that it is desirable for any reason that certain parts of the parish should be separately represented on the Council, order that the parish be divided for the purpose of electing parish councillors into wards, to be called parish wards, with such boundaries and such number of councillors for each ward as may be provided by the order.

In the division of a parish into wards regard is to be had to the population according to the last published census for the time being, and to the evidence of any considerable change of population since that census, and to area, and to the distribution and pursuits of the population, and to all the circumstances of the case.

An order may be revoked or varied by the County Council on Alteration of application by either the Council or not less than one-tenth of the parochial electors of the parish, but while in force it is to have effect as if enacted by the Local Government Act.

In a parish divided into parish wards there will be a separate election of parish councillors for each ward (s. 18), and this election ward. will take place in the ordinary way at a Parish Meeting.3

The power of the Council to divide a parish into wards for the purpose Other wards. of electing parish councillors is quite distinct from the powers conferred upon a County Council to divide a parish into wards for the purpose of the election of rural district councillors by section 60 of the Act. A rural parish might be divided into wards for each purpose which would not necessarily be co-terminous. It would, of course, be convenient that the boundaries of wards formed for these different purposes should not intersect one another.

any parish or union or district which is to affect the first election must, if it affects the parishes or parts for which the registers of parochial electors will be made, be made, so far as practicable, before the first day of July, 1894, and any such division or alteration which after the appointed day may be made on application by the Parish Council or any parochial electors of any parish, may be made before the appointed day on application by the vestry or a like number of the ratepayers of the parish (s. 84 (3)).

This direction is given so as to avoid difficulties in the preparation of the lists of voters for the first election, but provision is made by the Act for making adjustments in the register of parochial electors where an alteration of boundaries takes place after the 1st of July, 1894, and before the election, see page 217 of Chapter XII.

Times for Proceedings in 1894.

To comply with the direction, the proceedings required to be taken by the Local Government Act, 1894, and the orders of the Local Government Board for expediting and simplifying the procedure during 1894 (see page 194), make it necessary that not later than certain dates in May, notices of the local inquiries to be held should be given.

In the following observations only the principal requirements of the orders are referred to: for the details, reference must be made to the orders themselves. It must be understood that in the expression "County Council" is included, a Committee of the County Council, or a Joint Committee of County Councils where an area is in more than one county.

The cases mentioned in section 36 (1), which must be taken into consideration (see pages 195 to 198), cannot for the most part occur in a county borough; but a parish may be partly in and partly outside such a borough. A Joint Committee of the Town Council and of the County Council concerned will deal with such cases, but any alteration of the boundary of the borough must be effected by an order of the Local Government Board. The procedure in 1894 prescribed for the Town Councils of county boroughs or of any Committee or Joint Committee appointed by them, is practically the same as that prescribed with respect to an order of a County Council requiring the confirmation of the Local Government Board. So far, therefore, as the following observations relate to orders requiring confirmation, they apply to orders made by the Town Council of a county borough or any Committee or Joint Committee appointed by them.

The first step which the County Council have to take before making any order under Part III of the Local Government Act, 1894, is to give public notice by advertisement in a local newspaper of the purport of the proposal, and of the day, time, and place fixed for the Ten clear days from the date of these notices must elapse before Date of inquiry. the inquiry can be held.

The subsequent proceedings required to be taken, depend upon whether the order does or does not require the confirmation of the Local Government Board.

An order not requiring confirmation is taken first. Such an order order not requiring may be made at any time after the inquiry has been held, and will confirmation. not require any final approval if the provisions of the Local Government Board's order as to advertising and deposit of the proposed order are duly complied with.

The proposed order must be deposited during fourteen days for Deposit of inspection by any owner or ratepayer. The period of deposit should begin the day after the publication of the newspaper in which the advertisement appeared.

An order requiring confirmation must when made, be submitted to Order requiring the Local Government Board. If time presses it might, after the confirmation. inquiry has been held, be made by the County Council on the same day, but in most instances such a course would not be practicable.

Confirmation of order.

Six weeks must elapse after the date of the advertisement of the order before it can be confirmed, and during that time petitions to the Local Government Board to disallow the order may be presented. If any petition is presented and not withdrawn, the Local Government Board also must hold a local inquiry, which would lead to further delay before the order could be confirmed.

simplifying the procedure under section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888, relate to cases in the year 1894 only (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 80 (2)), and some doubt exists as to how far they might be applicable to proceedings under section 57 begun in 1894, but not completed in that year. Where an order could not be made or confirmed so as to come into operation before the 1st day of January, 1895, it would be prudent, in order to avoid any question being raised, to take all proceedings under the order of the Local Government Board dated 14th September, 1889 (see page 194).

The following statement gives in a tabular form the latest dates for the several proceedings required by the orders of the Local Government Board, so that an order made by a County Council may come into operation before the 1st day of July, 1894.

NEW URBAN DISTRICTS.

In the future formation of new urban districts or the extension of Provisions to be made. existing urban districts, or the subtraction from the area of an urban district of any part of the district, certain provisions are required to be made by section 54 of the Local Government Act, 1894. These provisions, which apply where a new borough is created or any other new urban district is constituted, or the area of an urban district is extended and, with the necessary modifications, where the area of an urban district is diminished, are as follows:-

Times for proceedings in 1894.

(a) as respects any rural parish or part of a rural parish which will be comprised in the borough or urban district, provision must be made, either by the constitution of a new parish, or by the annexation of the parish or parts thereof to another parish or parishes, or otherwise, for the appointment of overseers and for placing the parish or part in the same position as other parishes in the borough or district.

In urban districts the appointment of overseers will continue to be made by the Appointment of justices, unless an order of the Local Government Board is made under section 33 overseers, &c. (1) of the Local Government Act, 1894, conferring on the urban District Council or some other representative body the power and duty of appointing the overseers. The provision in paragraph (a) will in effect enable the Local Government Board or the County Council, who make an order extending the boundaries of an urban district, to extend to the added area any provisions as to the appointment of overseers or other matters which may be in force in the urban district by virtue of an order of the Local Government Board under section 33 (1) of the Act of 1894.

(b) as respects any parish or part which remains rural, provision must be made for the constitution of a new Parish Council, or for the annexation of the parish or part to some other parish or rural. parishes, or otherwise for the government of the parish or part.

New Urban Districts.

Adjustment of property, &c. New borough. (c) provision must also where necessary be made for the adjustment of any property, debts, and liabilities affected by the said creation, constitution, or extension.

These several matters are respectively to be provided for :-

(a) Where a new borough is created, by a scheme under section 213 of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 (45 & 46

Vict. c. 50).

A scheme under the enactment referred to, which is printed at page 337 of the Appendix, is made by the Privy Council on the creation of a new borough for the transfer of the powers, duties, liabilities, and property of the superseded local authorities.

Other new urban districts.

(b) Where any other new urban district is constituted, by an order of the County Council under section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888;

Extension of urban district.

(c) Where the area of an urban district is extended, by an order of the Local Government Board under section 54, or of the County Council under section 57, as the case may be, of the Local Government Act, 1888.

An extension of a borough would have to be provided for by an order of the Local Government Board under section 54 of the Act of 1888; see page 362. The County Council would deal with the extension of any other urban district under section 57 of that Act.

The procedure under section 57, as amended by the Local Government Act, 1894, has been explained previously in this chapter.

Copies of Orders under Local Government Act, 1894. A copy of every order made by a County Council or joint committee in pursuance of the Local Government Act, 1894, is to be sent to the Local Government Board, and, if it alters any local area or name, also to the Board of Agriculture (s. 71).

LOCAL INQUIRIES.

The expenses incurred by the Local Government Board in respect of inquiries or other proceedings under the Local Government Act, 1894, are to be paid by such authorities and persons and out of such funds and rates as the Board may by order direct, and the Board may certify the amount of the expenses so incurred, and any sum so certified and directed by the Board to be paid by any authority or person is to be a debt from that authority or person to the Crown. The expenses may include the salary of any inspector or officer of the Board engaged in the inquiry or proceeding, not exceeding three guineas a day. For the purposes of an inquiry under the Act the Local Government Board and their inspectors are given the same powers as they respectively have for the purpose of an inquiry under the Public Health Act, 1875 (38 & 39 Vict. c. 55) [Local Government Act, 1894,

Those powers which are conferred by sections 293 to 296 of the Act of 1875 have been explained on page 111, in connection with local inquiries relating to the compulsory acquisition of land. The power of the Local Government Board under section 294, to make orders as to the costs of inquiries is superseded for the purposes of the Local Government Act, 1894, by the provision in section 72 of the latter Act on the same subject.

A County Council or any committee or person authorised by them to hold a local inquiry have, except for the purposes of a public inquiry under sections 9 and 10 of the new Act (see page 111), no such special powers as are conferred on the Local Government Board and their officers.

Where a County Council hold a local inquiry under the Local Expenses of County Council. Government Act, 1894, or under the Local Government Act, 1888, on the application of the Council of a parish or district, or of any inhabitants of a parish or district, the expenses incurred by the County Council in relation to the inquiry (including the expenses of any committee or person authorised by the County Council) are to be paid by the Council of that parish or district, or, in the case of a parish which has not a Parish Council, by the Parish Meeting. In other instances the expenses of the County Council incurred in the case of inquiries under the Local Government Act, 1894, are to be paid out of the county fund (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 72 (4)).

This provision does not apparently authorise a County Council to include in the expenses of an inquiry the proportions of the salary of any of their officers, for the Act confers on them no such express authority to do so as it confers on the Local Government Board in connection with inquiries or proceedings of that Board. It seems doubtful whether the provision as to charging the expenses of an inquiry to the local authority, applies where the inquiry is held, not expressly on the application of the Council or any inhabitants of the parish or district, but incidentally on a perfection for a certain set to be done as for example, for the constitution of an application for a certain act to be done, as, for example, for the constitution of a new urban district. As to this see the observations on page 113.

COUNTY COUNCILS TO BRING ACT INTO OPERATION.

It is expressly made the duty of every County Council to exercise to exercise their all such of their powers as may be requisite for bringing the Local Government Act, 1894, into full operation within their county as soon as may be after its passing, and a County Council are authorised to Delegation to committee, delegate their powers under the Act to a committee (s. 83), Registration and Elections — Register of Parochial Electors—Registration Proceedings—Disqualifications of Candidates and Members of Local Authorities—Mode of Election—First Elections.

REGISTER OF PAROCHIAL ELECTORS.

" Parochial electors."

THE "parochial electors" under the Local Government Act, 1894, constitute in rural parishes the Parish Meeting, and in every parish or other area are the electors of the Parish and District Councils other than Town Councils, and of the Boards of Guardians. In London they are the electors not only of the Guardians but also of the members of the Vestry, and of the auditors of the accounts of the Vestries and District Boards. Being a parochial elector is also one of the qualifications for members of these various bodies.

Who are "parochial electors."

shown that the parochial electors of a rural parish are the persons registered in such portion, either of the local government register of electors, or of the parliamentary register of electors as relates to the parish (s. 2 (1)). When the expression "parochial elector," is used with reference to a parish in an urban district, or in the county of London or any county borough, it means any person who would be a parochial elector of the parish if it were a rural parish (s. 75 (2)).

In connection with the constitution of Parish Meetings it has been Married women.

Women may be placed on the burgess roll of a borough and on the county register, but married women have been held to be disqualified by reason of coverture from being on the burgess roll, and consequently on the county register. This disqualification will not apply to elections under the Local Government Act, 1894, and, for the purposes of that Act, a woman is not to be disqualified by marriage for being on any local government register of electors, or for being an elector of any local authority; but a husband and wife are not both to be qualified in respect of the same property (s. 43).

In the following observations on the local government franchises as applicable to parochial electors, it must be understood that women, both married and single, if they possess the requisite qualifications, are entitled to be registered as well as men. Peers may be placed on the local government register, but not on the parliamentary register.

Local Govern-ment franchises as applicable to parochial electors.

Certain general qualifications apply to all the franchises, namely: General A person entitled to be registered must be of full age, and not subject to any legal incapacity, and must not at any time during the twelve months immediately preceding the 15th day of July have received any parochial relief; but where a person has received for himself or for any member of his family any medical or surgical assistance, or any medicine, at the expense of any poor rate, he is not thereby deprived of his right to be registered, and medical or surgical assistance includes all medical and surgical attendance, and all matters and things supplied by or on the recommendation of the medical officer of the union or parish at the expense of any poor rate. The registration is proposed to be half-yearly.

A person entitled to be registered as a parliamentary elector for a county must have one of the following qualifications:

Ownership qualification.

This may be shortly described as a qualification in respect of ownership of land, &c., as distinguished from occupation.

Subject to certain conditions, it is conferred by ownership of—

The Overseers prepare, on or before the 31st July, besides the Occupiers' Lis exclusively parliamentary lists, the "Occupiers List," which is a list of persons entitled, in respect of the occupation of property in the parish, to be registered as parliamentary electors, or as county electors or burgesses, or both as parliamentary electors and as county electors or burgesses, as the case may be.

The occupiers list is made out in three divisions, the first division containing the names of persons entitled to be registered both as parliamentary voters (in respect of occupation), and as county electors or burgesses; the second division containing the names of persons entitled to be registered as parliamentary electors alone, and the third division containing the names of persons entitled to be registered as county electors or burgesses but not as parliamentary voters in respect of an occupation qualification. As the disqualification of married women is removed in respect of the local government register of electors only, their names should be entered in the third division of the list.

REVISION OF LISTS.

For the purpose of the revision and correction of the lists prepared by the overseers, revising barristers are appointed for every county and every parliamentary borough.

The lists for every parish in a parliamentary borough, or in a municipal borough which is as to any part co-extensive with a parliamentary borough, are revised by the revising barrister of the parliamentary borough. mentary borough. The lists for other parishes are revised by the revising barrister for the county, or part of a county, in which they are situated. The revising barristers hold open courts between the 8th September and the 12th October at convenient times and places, of which due notice is given beforehand.1

Town clerks, clerks of county councils, and overseers attend at these courts and produce the parish lists of county electors, burgesses, claimants, persons objected to, &c., together with rate books, original notices of claims and objections, &c.

In proceedings before the revising barrister his decision is final as to facts and as to the admissibility of evidence.

The revising barrister is empowered and required to correct the lists in certain matters, but entries in the lists are generally to stand unless objection is made and sustained. There must, where a unless objection is made and sustained. claim to be registered is made, be prima facie proof of the validity of the claim.

Proceedings before revising barrister, alterations by

In the case of the name of a person being entered more than once as a parliamentary elector for the same county, the revising barrister was required to retain, subject to the right of the person to select the entry to be retained, one entry and erase the others [Registration Act, 1885 (41 & 42 Vict. c. 26) s. 4 (9)], except where the entries were in division one of the occupiers' list (which contains the names of persons entitled to be registered both as parliamentary electors and as county electors or burgesses) when he was required to place an asterisk or mark against the duplicate entries [County Electors Act, 1888 (51 Vict. c. 10, s. 7 (5) J.

Revision of Lists.

Where a person was entered more than once as a parliamentary elector on the lists of electors for the same parliamentary borough, the revising barrister was required to retain, subject to the right of the person to select the entry to be retained, one entry for voting, and to place against the others a note that the person was not entitled to vote in respect of the qualification contained in the entries [Municipal Registration Act, 1878 (41 & 42 Vict. c. 26) s. 28 (14); 48 & 49 Vict. c. 15, s. 5].

Persons entitled to vote as Parochial Electors in more than one parish.

These provisions were intended to secure that a person should not, in the same parliamentary constituency, have more than one vote, but they are modified by the Local Government Act, 1894, so as to permit a person to vote as a parochial elector in any parish in respect of which he possesses the requisite qualification. In future the revising barrister, instead of placing any mark or note against a duplicate entry, or erasing such entries, is to place against the name, if the person is entitled to vote in respect of that entry as a county elector or burgess, a mark signifying that his name should be printed in division three of the list (which contains the names of persons entitled to be registered as county electors or burgesses, but not asparliamentary voters in respect of an occupation qualification), or if he is entitled to vote only as a parochial elector, a mark signifying that he is entitled to be registered as a parochial elector, and the name so marked shall not be printed in the parliamentary register of electors, but shall be printed, as the case requires, either in division three of the local government register of electors, or in a separate list of parochial electors (s. 44 (6)).

Married wares

Married women will be placed in the separate list.

Out-Victoria

Any person whose name appears on a list of parliamentary electors of any parish in and for any county, and who resides in another polling district of the county, may claim before the revising barrister to vote in the polling district where he resides, and any person whose name so appears, and who does not reside in the county, may claim to vote in any polling district of the county (6 & 7 Vict. c. 18, s. 36). In the parish lists an asterisk only was prefixed to the names of persons voting in some other polling district, and their names were not numbered consecutively with the other names in those lists (s. 47). A separate supplemental list of such "out-voters" entitled to vote in a polling district is printed at the end of all the parish lists of that polling district (48 & 40 Vict. c. 15, s. 4 (8)).

As an out-voter is to be entitled to vote as a parochial elector for the parish in which he is qualified for the pariamentary franchise, it is now provided that in addition to an asterisk there shall be placed against his name a number consecutive with the other numbers in the list (Local Government Act. 1894 s. 44 (5)).

County ownership electors whose qualifying property is in a parlia- Revision of Lists mentary borough are also to be entitled to be registered as parochial electors, but the names of these voters are on the parliamentary register of the county in which the borough is situated and not on the register of the borough. For the purpose of the register of parochial electors where a parish is in a parliamentary borough, that portion of the parliamentary register of electors for the county which contains the names of persons registered in respect of the ownership of any property in the parish is to be deemed to form part of the parliamentary register of electors for the parish (s. 44 (2)).

County owner-ship Electors.

A person, however, is not to be registered more than once as a parochial elector to be parochial elector in a parish, and where his name is entered both in the ownership list and in the occupation list of voters in the same parish. parish, and the revising barrister places against that name a mark or note signifying that the name should be printed in division three of the local government register, an asterisk or other mark is to be there printed against the name, and such person is not to be entitled to vote as a parochial elector in respect of that entry.

This provision in effect means that a person, who is entered on the list of parliamentary electors for a county in respect of an ownership qualification, and who is also registered as a county elector or burgess, but in respect of the latter qualification is placed in division three of the register which contains the names of persons entitled to be registered as county electors and burgesses but not as parliamentary electors in respect of an occupation qualification, shall be registered as a parochial elector by virtue of his parliamentary qualification, and not by virtue of his local government qualification.

Nothing in any Act is to prevent a person, if duly qualified, from Registration in the parochial electors list, and the law relating to claims to be entered in lists of voters shall apply (s. 44 (4) (9)).

In making out these lists, the list of each polling district is distinguished by a letter, and the name for each elector by a number, so that there is one complete set of numbers for each polling district.

Each part of each register is made in alphabetical order of surnames, except that the parts of the register relating to parishes in which the lists have been made out in the order of premises, may follow the same

The clerk of the county council or town clerk, as the case may be, is required in printing the lists returned to him by the revising barrister, to do everything that is necessary for carrying into effect the provisions of section 44 of the Local Government Act, 1894, with respect to the persons whose names are marked by the revising barrister in pursuance of the section (sub-s. 10).

The local government register of electors, and the parliamentary register of electors, so far as they relate to a parish, will, together, form the register of the parochial electors of the parish (s. 44 (1)).

The separate list of persons who are entitled to be registered as purochial electors, but not as parliamentary or local government electors in a parish, is to form part of the register of parochial electors of the parish, and to be printed at the end of the other lists of electors for the parish, and the names are to be numbered consecutively with the other names on those lists, and the law relating to the register of electors is with the necessary medifications, to apply accordingly, and the loss are, for the purposes of the Art, to be depend to be pure of the register of pureoficil electors in 22. 5 The register of pure drail election is generally conclusive for the pur-

A division or alteration made after the last day of August, 1894, will be too late to affect the first election, unless provision has been made for the alteration or division in the preparation of the lists.

Disqualifications of Candidates and Members of Parish and DISTRICT COUNCILS.

Under section 46 of the Local Government Act, 1894, a person is disqualified for being elected or being a member, or chairman, of a Council of a parish or of a district other than a borough or of a Board of Guardians; if he-

The law relating to alienage is too lengthy to be given more than a passing note in this work. All persons who are born of parents in actual obedience to the Queen at any place within her dominions are British subjects. Generally the children and grandchildren of British subjects are, wherever born, British subjects. Persons who are born aliens may by letters of denization or certificate of naturalisation become British subjects [Naturalisation Act, 1870 (33 & 34 Vict. c. 14)]. The wife or widow of an alien is also an alien. A person born in Hanover whilst that kingdom was under the same sovereign as England became an alien at the accession of the Queen, when that kingdom ceased to be ruled by the English sovereign.—Isaacson v. Where a person who is a parish councillor, or is a candidate for election as a parish councillor, is concerned in any such bargain or contract, or participates in any such profit as would disqualify him for being a parish councillor, the disqualification may be removed by the County Council if they are of opinion that such removal will be be beneficial to the parish (sub-s. (3)).

Dispensation by Council

There is no power to remove such a disqualification in the case of a member of a Board of Guardians or of a District Council or in the case of the chairman of the Parish Council. Where the chairman of the Parish Council has been elected from the parish councillors, he may remain a councillor if the County Council remove the disqualification arising from his being concerned in any bargain or contract with the Council, but he cannot continue to be chairman.

The disqualifications arising from holding any paid office under the Parish Council, or District Council, or Board of Guardians, or from being concerned in any contract with the Council or Board, will generally have effect in relation to the Council or Board only under which the paid office is held or with whom the contract is entered into; but in the case of a rural district councillor who becomes disqualified he will, on ceasing to be qualified as a rural district councillor, also cease to be qualified to represent the parish or other area on the Board of Guardians (s. 24 (3)), as one and the same person must hold both offices. In the converse case of a person, who as a rural district councillor represents a parish or other area on the Board of Guardians, being disqualified to hold the office of guardian, it is specially provided that he shall also be disqualified for being a rural district councillor (sub-s. The expression "public body" means any council of a county or county of a city or town, any council of a municipal borough, also any body which has power to act under and for the purposes of any Act relating to local government, or the public health, or to poor law or otherwise to administer money raised by rates in pursuance of any public general Act, and the expression "public office" means any office or employment of a person as a member, officer, or servant of such public body (s. 7).

Vacation of Office.

Abrence.

If a member of a Council of a parish, or of a district other than a borough, or of a Board of Guardians, is absent from meetings of the Council or Board for more than six months consecutively, except in case of illness or for some reason approved by the Council or Board, his office will on the expiration of those months become vacant (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 46 (6)).

The office of chairman of an Urban District Council does not

The office of chairman of an Urban District Council does not appear, under this provision, to be vacated by reason of absence from meetings of the Council, as the person holding the office does not form, as chairman, part of the Council in the same way as the chairman of a Parish Council and the chairman of a Rural District Council are respectively members of the Parish Council and Rural District Council.

Declaration by Council or Board

Where a member of a council or Board of Guardians becomes disqualified for holding office, or vacates his seat for absence, the Council or Board are forthwith to declare the office to be vacant, and signify the same by notice signed by three members and counter-signed by the Clerk of the Council or Board, and notified in such manner as the Council or Board direct, and the office will thereupon become vacant (sub-s. (71).

According to subsection (6), in the case of absence from meetings for more than six months consecutively, the office, on the expiration of those months becomes vacant: but according to subsection (7) it becomes vacant on the taking of the proceedings required by the subsection. The latter subsection must be held to govern the provisions of the former subsection.

The disqualifications imposed by the section will therefore apply to the members of the London vestries and District Boards and of the Woolwich. Local Board of Woolwich, as well as to London auditors.

PROCEDURE AT ELECTIONS.

In all elections under the Local Government Act, 1894, whether of One man one Parish Councillors (s. 2 (2)), of Guardians (s. 20 (4)), of Rural District Councillors (s. 24 (4)), of Urban District Councillors (s. 23 (4)), or of members of the Vestries in the metropolis, and of the auditors of their accounts and members of the Local Board of Woolwich (s. 31 (1)), each elector may give one vote and no more for each of any number of persons not exceeding the number to be elected. There is therefore no plural voting under the Act. Each elector must give his vote in person, and owners will No plural voting no longer, as was the case in elections of Local Boards and of Guardians, have the privilege of voting by proxy. Corporations also will not be entitled to vote by an authorised agent.

Elections under the Act will be conducted by ballot, except that Ballot. an election of a Parish Councillor at a Parish Meeting may take place by show of hands unless a poll is demanded.

The election of a Parish Councillor is to be at a Parish Meeting, or at a poll consequent thereon (s. 48 (1)). A poll is not to be taken unless either the chairman of the Meeting assents or the poll is demanded by not less than five or one-third of the parochial electors present, whichever number is the least 2 (Schedule I., Part I. R. 7).

Election of parish councillor.

MODE OF ELECTION.

Parliament has only sketched out the general scheme for elections under the Act, and has left the details to be settled by means of Rules to be framed by the Local Government Board, which, notwithstanding anything in any other Act, will have effect as if enacted in the Local Government Act (ss. 3 (6), 20 (5), 23 (5), 24 (4), 31 (1). The Rules will deal with the "nomination," as well as the election, of candidates, as the expression "election" includes both the nomination and the poll (s. 75 (2)). As the Local Government Board are empowered to adopt and alter certain statutory provisions mentioned in section 48, which are generally to apply, there will necessarily be uncertainty, until the Rules are issued, as to how far, and subject to what modifications, the incorporated enactments will be applicable to elections under the Act.

using the schools and public rooms therein referred to free of charge, for taking the poll, use the same, free of charge, for hearing objections to nomination papers and for counting votes; and

(b) section 37 of the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Practices) Act, 1884, is to apply as if the election were an election mentioned in the First Schedule to that Act.

The enactments referred to, so far as they are applicable to a municipal election, are set out at pages 296, 329, and 338 of the Appendix; but it is not possible to determine to what extent they may be modified by the Rules to be framed by the Local Government Board. Bearing this in mind, some principal provisions may be noticed.

A poll (if any) will be taken under the seerecy of the ballot. The Ballot. First Schedule of the Ballot Act, 1872, contains Rules for the conduct of elections, but no election is to be declared invalid if the election was conducted in accordance with the principles laid down in the body of the Act, and any non-compliance with the Rules did not affect the result of the election (s. 13).

Every returning officer is required to provide nomination papers, Returning officer polling stations, ballot boxes, ballot papers, stamping instruments, to provide nomination copies of registers of voters, and other things, and appoint and pay officers, and do other necessary acts and things for the purpose of effectually conducting the election (35 & 36 Vict. c. 33, s. 8 Sched. I, Part. I, R. 20).

Any ballot boxes, fittings, and compartments provided by or belonging to any public authority, for any election (whether parliamentary, county council, municipal, school board, or other), is, on request, and if not required for immediate use by the authority, to be lent to the returning officer for an election under the Local Government Act, upon such conditions and either free of charge or, except in cases prescribed by the Local Government Board, for such reasonable charge as may be prescribed (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 48 (6)).

Loan of ballot

The returning officer is also entitled to use, free of charge, any Use of school room in a school receiving a parliamentary grant, and any room and other rooms for election maintainable out of any local rate for the purpose of the poll purposes. (35 & 36 Vict. c. 33, s. 6), and for hearing objections to nomination papers and for counting votes (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 48 (3)), subject to making good any damage done to the room and defraying any expenses incurred by the persons having control over the room on account of it being so used.

Nomination of Candidates.

The forgery or fraudulent defacement or destruction of a nomina- Forgery and tion paper is a misdemeanour punishable by imprisonment for a term

Relation of nomination to election.

In the case of guardians and of district councillors of a county district not a borough, and of members of the Local Board of Woolwich and of a metropolitan vestry, among other enactments applied (see page 233), is section 56 of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, which provides for the relation of nomination to elections. The application of the enactment will be subject to the adaptations, alterations, and exceptions made by the Rules under the section.

If the number of valid nominations exceeds that of vacancies the councillors are elected from among the persons nominated.

If the number of valid nominations is the same as that of vacancies, the persons nominated are elected.

If the number of valid nominations is less than that of vacancies, the persons nominated are elected, and those retiring councillors who were highest at the poll at their elections, or, if the poll was equal, those who are selected for that purpose by the mayor are deemed to be re-elected to make up the required number.

If there is no valid nomination the retiring councillors remain in office.

PROCEEDINGS AT THE POLL.

Presiding officer

The Returning Officer appoints a Presiding Officer for each station to keep order. It is the duty of the Presiding Officer to regulate the number of electors to be admitted at a time, and to exclude all other persons except the clerks, the agents of the candidates, and the constables on duty (35 & 36 Vict. c. 33, Sched. I, Part I, R. 21). The candidates cannot be excluded—Clementson v. Mason 10 C. P., 209; 32 L.T., 325.

Mode of voting.

Each ballot paper contains a list of the candidates described as in their respective nomination papers, and arranged alphabetically (R. 22).

Immediately before a ballot paper is delivered to an elector, it is marked with the official mark, either on both sides, or stamped or perforated in such a manner as to show on both sides. The number, name, and description of the elector, as stated in the copy of the register of electors, is then called out, and the number of the elector is marked on the counterfoil, and a mark is placed in the register of electors, against the number of the elector, to denote that he has received a ballot paper, but without showing the particular ballot paper which he has received (R. 24). The elector, on receiving the ballot paper, goes into one of the compartments in the polling station, and there marks his paper, and folds it up so as to conceal his vote, and then puts his paper, so folded up, into the ballot box (R. 25).

XII.]

If any elector is blind, or unable from physical causes to vote in the manner prescribed; or if any elector is of the Jewish persuasion, and objects (the poll being on Saturday) on religious grounds to vote in the manner prescribed; or if any voter declares that he is unable to read; then the Presiding Officer, upon the application of the elector, and in the presence of the candidates' agents, must cause the vote of an elector in such a position to be made and the presence of the candidates' agents. vote of an elector in such a position to be marked on a ballot paper for him, and the ballot paper to be placed in the ballot box, and the name and number of every elector whose vote is so marked is entered on a list called "The List of votes marked by the Presiding Officer."

Proceedings the poll.

Cases where

A voter unable to read must have a declaration of inability to read in the form given in Schedule II. to the Ballot Act, 1872, read over to him, and sign it with his mark at the time of polling (R. 26).

If a person, representing himself to be a particular elector named Tendered votes. on the register of electors, applies for a ballot paper after another person has voted as such elector, the applicant is, upon duly answering the questions permitted to be asked of voters at the time of polling, entitled to mark a ballot paper in the same manner as any other voter, but the ballot paper, which is called a tendered ballot paper, is of a different colour to the other ballot papers, and instead of being put into the ballot box must be given to the Presiding The Presiding Officer indorses it with the name of the voter, and his number in the roll of electors, and sets it aside in a separate packet. The name of the voter, and his number on the register of electors, is entered on a list called the tendered votes list (R. 27).

If a voter accidentally spoils his ballot paper, he may deliver the Spoilt ballot spoilt ballot paper to the Presiding Officer, and on satisfying him that papers the ballot paper was spoilt by inadvertence, may obtain another ballot paper in place of it, and the spoilt ballot paper must be immediately cancelled (R. 28).

The Presiding Officer of each station, as soon as practicable after Packets of ballot the close of the poll, makes up in the presence of the candidates' papers to be sealed. agents into separate packets, sealed with his own seal, and the seals of such agents of the candidates as desire to affix their seals-

These packets accompanied by a statement made by the Presiding Officer, showing the number of ballot papers entrusted to him, and accounting for them under the heads of ballot papers in the ballot box, unused, spoilt, and tendered ballot papers, which statement is called the ballot paper account, are to be delivered by him to the Returning Officer (Rs. 29, 30).

Counting the

The Returning Officer must count the votes as soon after the close of the poll as practicable (R. 35).

He must give notice in writing to any agents appointed by the candidates to attend the counting of the votes (R. 31), of the time and place at which he will begin to count the votes (R. 32).

The Returning Officer, his assistants, the agents of the candidates and the candidates (Clementson v. Mason, cited above) are the only persons who have a right to be present at the counting (R. 33).

The counting is proceeded with as far as possible continuously, excluding however the hours between seven p.m. and nine a.m., except by arrangement with the agents (R. 35), so that, except by such arrangement, the counting will begin the day after the poll.

Before counting the votes, the Returning Officer mixes together all the ballot papers. He is required to count the votes without showing the numbers printed on the back of each Ballot Paper (R. 34).

He indorses as "rejected," any ballot paper he considers invalid, and adds to the indorsement "rejection objected to," if the agent of any candidate object to his rejection of the paper (R. 36).

On the completion of the counting the Returning Officer seals up in separate packets the counted and rejected ballot papers. He must not open the sealed packet of tendered ballot papers, the marked copy of the register of electors, or the counterfoils of the ballot papers, but he must proceed in the presence of the agents to verify the ballot paper account by comparing it with the number of ballot papers recorded by him, and the unused and spoilt ballot papers and the tendered votes list. He re-seals each sealed packet (R. 37) after examination.

On each packet he indorses a description of its contents, the date of the election to which they relate, and the name of the parish, union, or district for which the election was held (R. 38).

To whom the custody of the sealed packets will be entrusted, will depend upon the Rules to be framed by the Local Government Board.

Declaration of poll.

The Returning Officer gives public notice as soon as possible, of the candidates elected, and in the case of a contested election, of the number of votes given for each candidate, whether elected or not (R. 45).

CORRUPT AND ILLEGAL PRACTICES AND OTHER OFFENCES AT ELECTIONS.

The object of the Municipal Elections (Corrupt and Illegal Object of Practices) Act, 1884 (47 & 48 Vict. c. 70), is to secure the purity provisions.

of elections to which the Act is made applicable. Certain provisions of the Act will not apply to elections under the Application of Local Government Act on account of the application by section 48 provisions. (3) of the latter Act of section 37 of the Act of 1884, namely, those provisions which prohibit the payment of any sum, and the incurring of any expense by or on behalf of a candidate at an election, on account of, or in respect of, the conduct or management of the election, and those which relate to the time for sending in and paying claims, and those which relate to the maximum amount of election expenses, or the return or declaration respecting election expenses. Subject to these exceptions, and to such modifications as may be prescribed by the rules of the Local Government Board, the Act of 1884 will generally be applicable to elections under the Local Government Act, 1894. The elections of members of Local Boards and of Improvement Commissions, of guardians and of members of School Boards were made subject to the provisions of the 47 & 48 Vict. c. 70, so far as they were applicable to those elections by section 36 of that Act; but the Act will have a wider application to elections under the new Act, as they will be conducted by ballot and not by voting papers.

Corrupt Practices.

A corrupt practice under the Act means any of the following What are corrupt offences, namely, treating, undue influence, bribery and personation practices.

Treating is the corruptly giving or taking of meat, drink, entertain- Treating. ment, or provision, in order to corruptly influence the giving of a

Undue influence is the use of, or threat to make use of any force, Undue influence. violence, or restraint, or the infliction of, or threat to inflict any temporal or spiritual injury to influence the giving of a vote

A lengthy definition of bribery will be found in Schedule III, Bribery. Part I, printed at page 353. It covers every corrupt inducement, including the payment of rates to a person to give his vote for a candidate, and the offence is committed by both the giver and receiver of a bribe.

Personation is the application for a voting paper in the name of Personation.

Corrupt and egal Practices.

some other person, whether living, dead, or fictitious, or for a voting paper after having voted once at the same election (see page 354).

Illegal Practices.

Among illegal practices under the Act may be mentioned:—

Inducing or procuring a person to vote knowing that he is prohibited from voting, and publishing a false statement of the withdrawal of a candidate for the purpose of procuring the election of another candidate. A candidate will not be liable, nor will his election be avoided for illegal practices under these heads committed without his knowledge or consent (s. 6).

A candidate printing or publishing a bill, placard, or poster without the name and address of the printer and publisher being on the face of it, is guilty of an illegal practice (s. 14).

The reference to the printer and publisher should be given as follows:—
"Printed by ———, of ———, and published by ———, of ———."

Illegal Payment and Hiring.

egal parment.

Providing money for any payment contrary to the provisions of the Act (s. 9), and corruptly inducing any person to withdraw from being a candidate in consideration of payment or promise of payment, or withdrawing from being a candidate in pursuance of such inducement (s. 11) are illegal payments under the Act.

Letting, lending, or employing for the conveyance of electors to or from the poll any public stage or hackney carriage; or hiring or using, or permitting to be hired or used, any premises licensed for the sale of intoxicating liquors, or used as a refreshment room, or club premises where liquor is supplied, as a committee room, or for holding meetings, except in certain cases, constitute the offence of illegal hiring. But private carriages may be lent gratuitously for the purposes of an election.

Various heavy punishments of imprisonment and fine are imposed for the different offences of corrupt and illegal practices, and illegal payment and hiring; and conviction also involves civil disabilities of a serious character.

Dispusification for Corrupt Practices.

A person convicted on indictment or summarily, or reported by an Election Court to have been guilty, of corrupt practices, is, during a period of seven years from the date of his conviction, incapable—

 (i) Of being registered as an elector or voting at an election in the United Kingdom, whether parliamentary or for any public office
 (ii.) Of holding any public or judicial office. " Public office " includes :-

Any office under the crown.

The office of councillor, alderman, chairman of a County Council or mayor of a borough.

Any office under a County or Town Council, e.g., clerk of the County Council or Town Clerk.

Any office under the Poor Law Acts, the Education Acts, or the Public Health Acts, or any other Acts relating to Local Government. "Judicial office" includes, beside other judicial offices, those of Justice of the Peace and Revising Barrister.

(iii.) Of sitting in the House of Commons.

Further, where it is reported by an Election Court that any corrupt practice other than treating or undue influence has been committed in reference to an election with the knowledge and consent of a candidate, or that the offence of treating or undue influence has been committed by a candidate, such candidate will be incapable of ever holding any corporate office in the county or borough in respect of which the election took place. If it is reported by an Election Court that a candidate has been guilty by his agents of corrupt practices, the candidate will be incapacitated during a period of three years from the date of the report from holding the office of councillor, chairman, alderman, mayor, or elective auditor for the county or borough in an election for an office in which the offence was committed (s. 3).

Disqualification for Illegal Practices.

A person summarily convicted, or reported by an Election Court to have been guilty of illegal practices, is incapable, for five years from the date of the conviction or of the report, of voting at an election for any public office in the county or borough in which the offence was committed.

Further, if an Election Court report that a candidate was guilty by himself or his agents of an illegal practice, the candidate will be incapable of holding the office of councillor, chairman, alderman, or mayor, for the county or borough for which the election was held, during the period for which he was elected to serve, or if he had been elected, would have served.

Relief from Offences.

On application to the High Court the Court may relieve a candidate, agent or other person from the consequences of any act or omission otherwise constituting an illegal practice, which arose from inadvertence, or from accidental miscalculation, or from some other reasonable cause of a like nature, and in any case did not arise from any want of good faith (s. 20).

ELECTION PETITION.

An election may be challenged by an election petition. The judges annually appoint a number of barristers, not exceeding

s. 36 (2)).

The Election Court thus constituted tries a petition without a jury in open court (45 & 46 Vict. c. 50, ss. 92, 93). Rules for the procedure have been drawn up by the judges

- An election may be questioned by election petition on the ground— (a) That the election was wholly void by general bribery, treating, undue influence, or personation; or
 - (b) That the election of the candidate returned was void by corrupt or illegal practices; or (c) That the person whose election is questioned was, at time of
 - election, disqualified; or (d) That he was not duly elected by a majority of lawful votes.

and on any of these grounds an election can be questioned by an election petition only (s. 87). It cannot, therefore, on any ground mentioned in the section, be questioned by a writ of que warranto; but that remedy is available where a person becomes disqualified after election. The petition may be presented by any four persons who voted or had a right to vote at the election, or by any person alleging himself to have been a candidate. The petition must be presented within the following time:-

- (i.) In most cases within twenty-one days after the day on which the election was held.
- (ii.) If the petition complains of the election on the ground of corrupt practices and specifically alleges that a payment of - money or other reward has been made or promised since the election by a person elected, or on his account, or with his connivance, in pursuance or furtherance of corrupt practices, the petition may be presented at any time within twenty-eight

Any person whose election is questioned, and any returning officer Election of whose conduct the petition complains, may be made a respondent.

At the conclusion of the trial the Election Court determines whether the person whose election is complained of, or any and what other person, was duly elected, or whether the election was void. The determination is certified in writing to the High Court, and the determination so certified is final.

Where the petition is on the ground of corrupt or illegal practices, the Election Court are to report to the High Court as follows:—

- (i.) Whether a corrupt or illegal practice has or has not been proved to have been committed by or with the knowledge of any candidate at the election, and the nature of the corrupt or illegal practice.
- (ii.) The names of all persons proved at the trial to have been guilty of any corrupt or illegal practice (45 & 46 Vict. c. 50,

The consequences of a report that corrupt or illegal practices have been committed, are, as regards the disqualification of the guilty persons, practically the same as the consequences of a conviction. In order, therefore, to relieve persons acting bona fide, the Court may report-

That the corrupt and illegal practices mentioned in the report were committed without the sanction or connivance of the candidate.

That all reasonable means to prevent the commission of such offences were taken by or on behalf of the candidate.

That the offences mentioned in the report were of a trivial, unimportant and limited character.

That in all other respects the election was free from any corrupt or illegal practice on the part of such candidate or his agents.

If the Election Court so report, the election will not be set aside, nor will the candidate suffer any incapacity (47 & 48 Vict. c. 70, s. 19).

A list of persons incapacitated from voting by reason of conviction for offences against election law, or by reason of the report of an Election Court incapable of voting at elections, stating in the list the particular offence of which each person has been found guilty, is required by section 24 of the 47 & 48 Vict. c. 70, to be made out annually.

The provision in section 48 (5) relates only to the election of an individual member of the local authorities referred to, and it is applicable to an election whenever held. For the removal of difficulties connected with the first elections under the Act, and the first meetings of the newly constituted authorities, special provisions are enacted which are much wider in character.

irst meetings nd elections nder the Act.

It is provided that if any difficulty arises with respect to the holding of the first parish meeting of a rural parish, or to the first election of parish or district councillors, or of guardians, or of members of the Local Board of Woolwich, or of any vestry in the county of London, or of auditors in the county of London, or to the first meeting of a Parish or District Council, or Board of Guardians, or Vestry, or the Local Board, or if, from no election being held or an election being defective or otherwise, the first Parish or District Council, or Board of Guardians, or Vestry, or Local Board, have not been properly constituted, or there are no auditors under the Metropolis Management Acts, 1855 to 1890, or an insufficient number, properly elected, the County Council may by order make any appointment or do any thing which appears to them to be necessary or expedient for the proper holding of any such first meeting or election, and properly constituting the Parish or District Council, Board of Guardians, Local Board, or Vestry, or auditors, and may, if it appears to them necessary, direct the holding of a meeting or election; and fix the dates for any such meeting or election; but a parish shall, notwithstanding any such failure to constitute the Parish Council, be deemed to be a parish having a Parish Council within the meaning of the Act. The existing Boards of Guardians and Urban and Rural Sanitary Authorities are required to take the necessary measures for the conduct of the first elections of guardians and district councillors respectively under the Act, including any appointment of returning officers required by Rules under the Act (s. 79 (1)).

The first elections under the Act will be held on the 8th of November, in the year 1894, or such later date or dates in that year as the Local Government Board may fix .

SUPPLEMENTARY PROVISIONS.

The provisions of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882 (45 & 46 Applied enact-Vict., c. 50), and the enactments amending the same, with respect to;

(1) the expenses of elections of councillors of a borough;

(2) the acceptance of office; (3) resignation;

(4) re-eligibility of holders of office, and;
(5) the filling of casual vacancies, and;

(6) section 56 of that Act²; are, subject to the adaptations, alterations, and exceptions made by the Rules of the Local Government Board in relation to elections, to apply in the case of guardians and of district councillors of a county district not a borough, and of members of the Local Board of Woolwich, and of a vestry under the Metropolis Management Acts, 1855 to 1890, and any Act amending the same.

(a.) the provisions as to resignation will not apply to guardians, and district councillors of a rural district will be in the same position with respect to resignation as members of a Board of

Guardians; and

(b.) nothing in the enactments applied by section 48 is to authorise or require a returning officer to hold an election to fill a casual vacancy which occurs within six months before the ordinary day of retirement from the office in which the vacancy occurs, and the vacancy is to be filled at the next ordinary election, and;

(c.) the rules may provide for the incidence of the charge for the expenses of the elections of guardians being the same as heretofore (s. 48 (4)).

Sections 34 to 40, 56 and 140 (1), Schedule III, Part III, R. 5, and Schedule V, Part II, R. 10., of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, which are the provisions referred to in this enactment, are printed at pages 329, 330, 337 and 338 of the Appendix. The application of those provisions will be subject to modifications made by the Local Government Board, and until the Rules are issued by that department it is not possible to say what will be the law on the subject to which the statutory provisions relate. A few principal requirements of the applied enactments may be mentioned. These provisions are not in any way made applicable to Parish Councils or Parish Meetings.

A later date will be fixed by that Board. Under the Parochial Electors (Registration Acceleration) Bill, which accelerates the dates for the preparation of the register of parochial electors in 1894, that register will not come into operation until the 22nd of November, 1894. Mr. Shaw Lesevre in introducing the Bill on the 19th of April, 1894, said that under its provisions it would be possible to hold the first elections within a few days after the 22nd of November, 1894.

Expenses of election.

(1) The expenses of a municipal election are defrayed out of the borough fund (Municipal Corporations Act, 1882, s. 140 (1); Schedule III, Part III, R. 5; Schedule V, Part II, R. 10).

Non-acceptance of office.

(2) Under section 34 of the same Act, a qualified person elected to an office must, if he does not by making a declaration (s. 35), accept office, pay a fine. The Council may by byelaw determine the amount of fine, but in no case is it to exceed £100.

(3) A similar fine is payable on resignation of office (s. 36).

will not be applicable to guardians and rural district councillors. (4) A person ceasing to hold office is, unless disqualified, re-eligible manner as an election to fill an ordinary vacancy, and the person elected will hold office only so long as the person in whose place he is elected would have held office. Non-acceptance of office creates a casual vacancy (s. 40). The election is to be held within 14 days of notice of the casual vacancy being given to the mayor or town clerk (s. 66). Under the Local Government Act, 1894, a casual vacancy occurring within six months before the ordinary day of retirement from the office in which the vacancy occurs, is not to be filled until the next ordinary election.

The Local Government Board may, under section 11 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1842 (5 & 6 Vict. c. 37), accept the resignation of any person elected as a guardian tendered for any cause which they may deem reasonable.

Resignation of guardians.

Generally, the expenses of the election of guardians is payable out of the union fund, but where an election of guardians is contested, the expenses incurred in consequence of the contest are under Article 35 of the General Consolidated Order issued by the Local Government

Expenses of Board on the 14th of February, 1877, to be charged to the parish in which the expenses have been incurred. The Rules may provide that the incidence of the expenses for an election of guardians may remain unaltered, but in rural parishes there will be no election of guardians as such (Local Government Act, 1894, s. 24 (3)). Only as regards urban parishes can this matter be dealt with by the rules under the provision in section 48 (4) (c).

Scale of

Not applicable to rural district councillors.

The expenses of any election under the Local Government Act, 1894, are not to exceed the scale fixed by the county council, and if at the beginning of one month before the first election under the Act a county council have not framed any such scale for their county, the Local Government Board may frame a scale for the county, and the scale so framed will apply to the first election, and will have effect as if it had been made by the county council, but will not be alterable until after the first election (s. 48 (7)).

Section 48 is subject to any adaptations made by the rules of the Polls at Parish Local Government Board, to apply in the case of every poll consequent on a parish meeting, as if it were a poll for the election of parish councillors (s. 48 (8)).

The procedure at a poll consequent on a parish meeting, as determined by the rules, will probably be much simpler in character than the procedure at an annual election.

CHAPTER XIII.

Repeals—Effect of Repeal.

Extent of Repeals.

The Second Schedule of the Local Government Act, 1894, contains a table of enactments which are expressly repealed as from the appointed day to the extent mentioned in the third column of the Schedule. The enactments repealed are provisions superseded, or practically repealed, by other provisions of the Act, and, where necessary, allusion has been made to the repeals in connection with the subjects to which the repealed provisions respectively relate. It is to be remembered that some of the provisions are repealed to a certain extent only; for instance, the provisions relating to vestries are repealed so far as they would otherwise relate to Parish Meetings and Parish Councils under the Act, and the provision in section 10 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1867 (30 & 31 Vict. c. 106), which enables Corporations to vote as ratepayers by officers appointed for that purpose, is repealed so far as it relates to elections of guardians. That provision of the Act of 1867 may still have application where the owners and ratepayers vote, as in urban parishes and, in some instances, perhaps, in rural parishes also (see page 22).

General Repeal of inconsistent provisions. Besides the express repeals contained in the Second Schedule, so much of any Act, whether public, general, or local and personal, as is inconsistent with the Local Government Act is also repealed (s. 89).

Effect of repealing section.

The effect of a repealing section of an Act depends upon section 38 of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (52 & 53 Vict. c. 63), which enacts that where any Act repeals and re-enacts, with or without modification, any provisions of a former Act, references in any other Act to the provisions so repealed, shall, unless the contrary intention appears, be construed as references to the provisions so re-enacted; and where any Act repeals any other enactment, then unless the contrary intention appears, the repeal shall not—

- (a) revive anything not in force or existing at the time at which the repeal takes effect; or
- (b) affect the previous operation of any enactment so repealed or anything duly done or suffered under any enactment so repealed; or urban sanitary authorities during the present year.

Under the Act, urban and rural district councils will take the place of urban and rural sanitary authorities, and parishes in any rural district will be represented on the board of guardians by the persons elected as rural district councillors, guardians as such being only elected in parishes in urban districts.

The first elections under the Act of guardians and district councillors will be held on the 8th November next or on such later date or dates in the year 1894 as the Board may fix, and the persons elected will come into office on the second Thursday next after their election, or such other day not more than seven days earlier or later as may be fixed by or in pursuance of rules made by the Board in relation to their election. relation to their election.

Upon the day on which the first guardians and urban or rural district councillors elected under the Act come into office, the persons who are then members of boards of guardians or urban or rural sanitary authorities will cease to hold office; but until that day the persons who at the passing of the Act were guardians or members of urban sanitary authorities for districts other than boroughs will continue in office notwithstanding any want of qualification, as if the term of office for which they were elected expired on that day, and except for the purpose of filling casual vacancies, or of electing additional guardians, where the number is increased, no further elections will be held.

Hence, the guardians and members of urban sanitary authorities who would have gone out of office in April next but for the passing of the Act, will continue in office until November and will then retire, and the elections which would otherwise have been held in April will not take place. Local Government Act, 1894.

SIR.

I am directed by the Local Government Board to draw the attention of the Highway Board to certain provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894.

District councils will under the Act be elected for rural districts, and will take the place of the present rural sanitary authorities.

Section 25 of the Act provides that there shall be transferred to the district council of every rural district all the powers, duties, and liabilities of any highway authority in the district, that highway boards shall cease to exist, and that rural district councils shall be the successors of the highway authority. It is, however, enacted that the council of any county may by order postpone within their county, or any part thereof, the operation of this section, so far as it relates to highways, for a term not exceeding three years, or such further period as may, on the application of the county council, be allowed by the Board. The effect of this provision will be that the Highway Board will cease to exist on the day on which the first rural district councillors come into office, and the rural district council will thereupon become the highway authority, unless the county council postpone the operation of the section within their county or the part thereof comprising the district of the Highway Board. the Highway Board.

Section 84 provides that the first elections of district councillors under the Act shall be held on the 8th November next, or on such later date or dates in the present year as the Board may fix, and that the persons elected shall come into office on the second Thursday after their election, or such other day not more than seven days earlier or later, as may be fixed by or in pursuance of the rules made by the Board under the Act in relation to the election of those councillors.

By section 79, persons who, at the passing of the Act, are members of highway boards are continued in office until the day on which the first rural district councillors elected under the Act come into office, as if the term of office for which they were elected expired on that day, and consequently the usual annual election of waywardens will not take place in the present year.

An order under section 25 is, by section 84, to make such provision as may be necessary for holding elections of highway boards in the interval during which the operation of section 25 is postponed. This provision will enable the county council to give directions in their order for the election of waywardens in place of those who will cease to hold office as mentioned above, when the rural district councillors come into office and also to order for what period such waywardens. councillors come into office, and also to order for what period such waywardens shall be elected, having regard to the period of postponement.

As regards the position of the officers of highway boards that will cease to exist under the Act, the Board direct me to state that section 81 provides that where the powers and duties of any authority other than justices are transferred by the Act to any district council, the officers of that authority shall become the officers of that council, and that every such officer shall hold his office by the same tenure, and upon the same terms and conditions as heretofore, and while performing the same duties shall receive not less salary or remuneration than heretofore. The section also provides that section 120 of the Local Government Act, 1888, which relates to compensation to existing officers, shall apply in the case of existing officers affected by the new Act, as if references in the section to the county council were references to the authority whose officer the person affected is when the claim for compensation arises.

At the same time, the Board may draw the attention of the Highway Board to sub-section (2) of section 86 of the Act, under which it will be the duty of every authority whose powers, duties, and liabilities are transferred by the Act to liquidate so far as practicable before the day on which the transfer takes effect, all current debts and liabilities incurred by the authority; and to sub-section (2) of section 85, under which the accounts of the Highway Board before that day will be audited in the same manner as if the Act had not passed, and for the purpose of the audit the Highway Board and their accounting officers will, until the audit is completed, be deemed to continue in office and be bound to perform the same duties and render the same accounts, and be subject to the same liabilities as before the transfer. the transfer.

To Metropolitan Vestries and District Boards

SIR,

I am directed by the Local Government Board to draw attention to certain provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894, affecting the Vestries and District Boards elected under the Metropolis Management Acts, and the Local Board of Woolwich.

Section 31 directs that the provisions of the Act with respect to the qualification of the electors of urban district councillors, and of the persons to be elected, and with respect to the mode of conducting the election, shall apply as if members of the local board of Woolwich, and the vestries elected under the Metropolis Management Acts, 1855 to 1890, or any Act amending those Acts, and the auditors for parishes elected under those Acts were urban district councillors. So far as respects the qualification of persons to be elected, the provisions referred to are also to apply as if members of the district boards under those Acts were urban district councillors; but in other respects the election of members of district boards will be conducted as heretofore.

Under the operation of section 31 of the new Act the electors of the members of the local board of Woolwich, of the vestries under the Metropolis Management Acts, and of the auditors elected under section 11 of the Metropolis

Management Act, 1855, will be respectively the parochial electors of the parish of Woolwich and of the parishes for which vestries are elected. Where the area under the jurisdiction of any of the authorities mentioned is divided into wards, the electors for each ward will be such of the parochial electors as are registered in respect of qualifications within the ward. (Section 23 (3)). The expression "parochial elector" when used with reference to a parish in the county of London is defined by section 75 to mean any person who would be a parochial elector of the parish if it were a rural parish, and the parochial electors in a rural parish will under section 2 be the persons registered in such portion either or the local government register of electors or of the parish, and the parochial electors in a rural parish will under section 2 be the persons registered in such portion either of the local government register of electors or of the parliamentary register of electors as relates to the parish. Section 44 of the Act provides for the manner in which the register of the parochial electors of a parish is to be formed.

With respect to the persons to be elected as urban district councillors, it is provided by sub-section (2) of section 22 that a person shall not be qualified to

With respect to the persons to be elected as urban district councillors, it is provided by sub-section (2) of section 23 that a person shall not be qualified to be elected or to be a councillor unless he is a parochial elector of some parish within the district, or has during the whole of the twelve months preceding the election resided in the district, and no person shall be disqualified by sex or marriage for being elected or being a councillor. This provision is made applicable to members of the local board and the vestries and district boards, and to the auditors for parishes, by section 31 of the Act.

In connection with the qualification of persons to be elected, reference should be made to the provisions relating to the disqualification of a person for being elected or being a member of a district council, contained in section 46 of the Act, which by sub-section (6) is made applicable in the case of any authority whose which by sub-section (9) is made applicable in the case of any authority whose members are elected in accordance with the Act, in like manner as if that authority were a district council, and in the case of London auditors as if they were members of a district council.

An election under the Act will be conducted according to rules to be framed by the Local Government Board. (Section 23 (5) and section 48). If there is a poll it will have to be taken by ballot.

Copies of the rules for regulating the elections will be forwarded to you when

Copies of the rules for regulating the elections will be forwarded to you when they are issued.

The expenses of any election under the Act are not to exceed the scale fixed by the county council, but if at the beginning of one month before the first election the county council have not framed a scale, the Board may do so, and the scale thus framed will apply to the first election and will have effect as if it had been made by the county council. (Section 48 (7)).

The Elections (Hours of Poll) Act, 1885, will apply to elections of members of vestries under the Metropolis Management Acts. (Section 31 (1)).

Sub-section (5) of section 48 provides that if any difficulty arises as respects the election of any individual member of the local board, or vestry, or auditor, and there is no provision for holding another election, the county council may order a new election to be held and give such directions as may be necessary for the

The Act also provides that if any difficulty arises with respect to the holding of the first election of members of the local board or any vestry, or of auditors, or to the first meeting of the local board or vestry, or if, from no election being held or an election being defective or otherwise, the first local board or vestry has not been properly constituted or there are no auditors under the Metropolis Management Acts, 1855 to 1890, or an insufficient number, properly elected, the county council may by order make any appointment or do anything which appears to them necessary or expedient for the proper holding of any such first election and properly constituting the local board, or vestry or auditors, and may, if it appears to them necessary, direct the holding of a meeting or election, and fix the dates for any such meeting or election. Any such order may modify the provisions of the Act, and the enactments applied by, or rules framed under it, so far as may appear to the county council necessary or expedient for carrying the order into effect. (Section 80 (1)). (Section 80 (1)).

Board may fix, and that the persons elected shall come into office on the second Thursday next after their election, or such other day not more than seven days earlier or later as may be fixed by or in pursuance of the rules made by the Board under the Act in relation to their election.

By Section 79 persons who, at the passing of the Act, are members of the local board and of any vestry under the Metropolis Management Acts, or are auditors under those Acts, are continued in office until the day on which the first members and auditors elected under the Act come into office, as if the term of office for which they were elected expired on that day, and consequently the usual annual election of such members and auditors respectively will not take place until the day appointed for the first elections under the Act. Under sub-sections (3) and (10) of the section, the first annual retirement of members of the local board and vestries first elected under the Act will take place at the date of the annual election in the year 1896; and sub-section (6) provides how the members who are to retire in 1896 and 1897, respectively, are to be determined. Except as regards the present year, the dates for the annual elections will not be altered by the Act; but, as indicated above, there will be no annual election in 1895.

The existing local board and the existing vestries are required to take the necessary measures for the conduct of the first elections under the Act of members of the local board and of the vestries respectively, including any appointment of returning officers required by rules made by the Board under the Act. (Section 79 (1) and (10)).

After the vestrymen first elected under the Act come into office, no person is ex-officio to be chairman of any of the vestries under the Metropolis Management Acts (section 31 (1)), but each of the vestries, except those electing district boards, and each of the district boards and the local board of Woolwich must, at their first meeting after the annual election of members, elect a chairman for the year, and the chairman so elected will, unless a woman or personally disqualified by any Act, be by virtue of his office a justice of the peace for the county of London, but before acting as such justice he must, if he has not already done so, take the oaths

The provisions of section 41 of the Metropolis Management Act, 1855, enabling a district board to elect a chairman of the meeting, will apply only in the case of the absence of the chairman of the district board elected under the new Act.

(Section 31 (2)).

Nothing in any local and personal Act is to prevent any vestry in the county of London from holding its meeting at such time as may be directed by the vestry. (Section 31 (3)).

Certain provisions of the Metropolis Management Acts which are inconsistent with or are superseded by the provisions above referred to, are repealed by section 89 and the Second Schedule to the new Act.

To County Councils, except the London County Council.

SIR.

I am directed by the Local Government Board to draw the attention

I am directed by the Local Government Board to draw the attention of the County Council to certain provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894, and especially to those under which powers and duties will devolve on the County Council for the purpose of bringing the Act into operation within the county.

Every parish in a rural sanitary district, and in the case of a parish which is partly within a rural sanitary district, the part within such district will be for the purposes of the Act a rural parish. For every rural parish there will be a parish meeting, and for every rural parish which according to the census of 1891 has a population of 300 or upwards there will be a parish council, which will be elected by the parliamentary and county electors registered in the portions of the parliamentary and county registers relating to the parish. The parish meeting will consist of these persons, who are in the Act described as the parochial electors.

It is not necessary for the present purpose to set out all the powers which will be possessed by a parish council, but in connection with the duties that will

Circular. 24 Mar., 94. devolve on the county council, it may be noticed that most of the powers of the vestry, in other than ecclesiastical affairs, will be transferred to the parish council, and that where the Lighting and Watching Act, 1833, the Baths and Washhouses Acts, 1846 to 1882, the Burial Acts, 1852 to 1885, the Public Improvements Act, 1860, and the Public Libraries Act, 1892, or any of these Acts (which are referred to as the adoptive Acts), have been put in force in a rural parish before the parish council come into office, that council will be the authority for executing the Acts, if they are in force in the whole of the parish. Section 53 of the Act provides means whereby the parish council may become such authority in a case where the Acts are in force in part of the parish only.

The Act makes important alterations in the qualification, mode of election, and retirement of guardians, and confers on county councils new powers in relation to certain matters connected with this subject, which will be explained in a later part of this circular.

Urban sanitary authorities will as from the appointed day be called urban district councils, and their districts will be called urban districts, but the style or title of a town council will not be altered. The mode of election of urban district councillors will, except in a borough, differ from that at present in force, and certain powers are given to county councils in connection with the retirement of urban district councillors. These will be referred to hereafter.

For every existing rural sanitary district wholly comprised in one county there will be a rural district council, whose district will be called a rural district, and where a rural sanitary district is situate in more than one county, such portion of it as is situate in each county will, save as otherwise provided in pursuance of the Act, or of any other Act, be as from the appointed day a rural district. District councillors will be elected for every parish or other area for the election of guardians in a rural district. They will be elected by the parochial electors, and will be the representatives of that parish or area on the board of guardians, and guardians as such will not be elected for that parish or area.

The provisions of the Act with respect to the qualification, election, term of office, and retirement of guardians will apply to rural district councillors. Hence the powers of the county council in relation to these matters, so far as guardians are concerned, will apply in the case of rural district councillors also.

Rural district councils will be substituted for rural sanitary authorities, and will have all the powers and duties of those authorities. They will have certain new powers and duties under the Act, but except in connection with highways, it is unnecessary to draw the attention of the county council to any of these powers or duties. The provisions as to highways are dealt with in a later part of this circular.

The provisions which should first receive the attention of the county council are those contained in Part III. of the Act, which relate to areas and boundaries.

The Act contemplates that every parish and, as a general rule, every rural district shall be wholly within one administrative county, and that, also as a general rule, every parish shall be wholly within one rural or urban district. With a view to secure this result, and to provide for the settling of incidental administrative arrangements consequent on the alterations of areas which are made by the Act itself, very important duties have been imposed on county councils.

Section 83 makes it the duty of every county council to exercise all such of their powers as may be requisite for bringing the Act into full operation within their county as soon as may be after the passing of the Act.

The first elections under the Act are to be held on the 8th November next, or such later date or dates in the present year as the Board may fix, and the persons elected are to come into office on the second Thursday next after their election, or such other day not more than seven days earlier or later as may be fixed by or in pursuance of rules made by the Board under the Act in relation to their election. (Section 84.) It is important that alterations which may affect the preparation of the lists of voters should be made sufficiently early to enable the lists to be properly prepared, and it is consequently provided by sub-section (3) of section 84 that every division into wards or alteration of the boundaries of any parish or union or district which is to affect the first election shall, if parishes or parts for which the registers of parochial electors will be made are affected, be made, so far as practicable, before the 1st of July next.

Many of the provisions of the Act referred to in this circular are to take effect from the "appointed day." Subject as mentioned in the Act, this day, for the purpose of elections, is defined as the day or respective days fixed for the first elections under the Act, or such prior day as may be necessary for the purposes of giving notices or doing other acts preliminary to such elections, and for the purpose of the powers, duties, and liabilities of councils or other bodies elected under the Act, or other matters not specifically mentioned, it will be the day on which the members first elected come into office.

The powers and duties of county councils so far as they may have to be

The powers and duties of county councils, so far as they may have to be exercised either before or in connection with the first elections may be classified under the following heads:—I.—Areas and Boundaries. II.—Parish Councils. III.—Guardians and District Councillors. IV.—Highways. V.—Miscellaneous.

I.—AREAS AND BOUNDARIES.

Sub-section (1) of section 36 provides as follows:—
For the purpose of carrying this Act into effect in the case of-

- (a) every parish and rural sanitary district which at the passing of this Act is situate partly within and partly without an administrative county; and
- (b) every parish which at the passing of this Act is situate partly within and partly without a sanitary district; and
 (c) every rural parish containing a population of less than 200; and
 (d) every rural sanitary district which at the passing of this Act has less than
- five elective guardians capable of acting and voting as members of the rural sanitary authority of the district; and

 (e) Every rural parish which is co-extensive with a rural sanitary district; every county council shall forthwith take into consideration every such case within
- every county council shall forthwith take into consideration every such case within their county; and whether any proposal has or has not been made as mentioned in section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888, shall as soon as practicable, in accordance with that section, cause inquiries to be made and notices given, and make such orders, if any, as they deem most suitable for carrying into effect the present Act in accordance with the following provisions namely:—

 (i.) The whole of each parish, and, unless the county council for special reasons otherwise direct, the whole of each rural district shall be within the same administrative county:

 - administrative county;

 (ii.) The whole of each parish shall, unless the county council for special reasons otherwise direct, be within the same county district; and

 (iii.) Every rural district which will have less than five elected councillors shall, some neighbouring district or districts.
 - unless for special reasons the county council otherwise direct, be united to some neighbouring district or districts.

By sub-section (11) of section 36 it is provided that, where at the passing of the Act a rural sanitary district or parish is situate in more than one county, a joint committee of the councils of the several counties comprising the district or parish shall act under the section. The appointment by each county council of representatives on the joint committee is to be made within two months after request from any other of the councils interested. If any of the councils fail to appoint members of the committee within that period, the members actually appointed are to act. Any question relating to the constitution or procedure of the joint committee as to which the councils concerned are unable to agree, is to be determined by the Board.

which the councils concerned are unable to agree, is to be determined by the Board.

The first case mentioned in section 36 is that of a parish in more than one administrative county. In many instances of this kind the rural district will also be in more than one county, and the Board have dealt with them later on, in their remarks on cases where the rural district is so situate.

The county council will also have to consider the case of any parish which is not

24 Mar., 94.

Circular. 24 Mar., 94. wholly contained within one sanitary district, and these cases include some in which the parish is in more than one county also. If at the passing of the Act, a parish is partly within and partly without a rural sanitary district, that is to say, is partly in such a district and partly in an urban district, and no action is taken by the county council prior to the appointed day, the parish will as from that date be divided by the Act, the part within the rural district and the part without being constituted separate parishes by sub-section (3) of section 1.

Where the part cutified the rural district is conspired in para then one urban

Where the part outside the rural district is comprised in more than one urban district, the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 36 referred to below will apply to it

If the rural part of the parish is deemed too small to form a separate parish, the county council should consider whether it could properly be united with some other rural parish. It would, however, be competent to the county council, if the circumstances justified it, by an order under section 57 of the Act of 1888, to extend any urban district, not being a borough, containing part of the parish, so as to include the rural part of the parish.

If a parish is situate in two or more urban districts, the part in each urban district will, unless the county council otherwise direct, and subject to any alteration of area made by or in pursuance of the new Act or of any other Act, become as from the appointed day, a separate parish. (Section 36 (2).) The county council can either alter the boundary between the urban districts, if neither of them is a borough, so as to include the whole parish within one district, or direct that the parish and urban districts shall remain unaltered, but the latter course would be opposed to the general scheme of the Act, and can only properly be adopted where there are special reasons for it. These observations apply equally to the urban part of a parish situate partly in a rural and partly in two or more urban districts. In any case, such as those mentioned above, where the parish is situated partly in a borough, the boundary of the borough could be altered by an order of the Board under section 54 of the Local Government Act, 1888. The county council or a parish in more than one county. It would be inconsistent with the Local Government Act, 1888, that an urban district should be in more than one county.

Where a parish is divided by the Act into two or more new parishes, sub-section (9) of section 36 directs that those parishes shall, until it is otherwise provided, be included in the same poor law union in which the original parish was included, and sub-section (1) of section 79 directs that, subject to any order made by the county council, there shall be one guardian, and in the case of a new parish in a rural district, one district councillor for each of the new parishes. Many of the parishes which will be divided by the Act are at present entitled to more than two guardians, and not only in these cases, but in every other to which the above provision applies, the county council may be called upon to make an order as to the future representation of the new parishes.

The county council will have power to give names to the new parishes formed

The county council will have power to give names to the new parishes formed by the Act, although no order for any alteration of area has been made by them. (Section 55 (2))

It is provided by sub-section (11) of section 79 of the new Act that the overseers

It is provided by sub-section (11) of section 79 of the new Act that the overseers of any parish divided by the Act shall, until the first appointment of overseers next after the appointed day, continue in office as if they were overseers of each part of the parish, which by reason of such division becomes a separate parish.

The case of parishes with a population under 200 is dealt with under the head of Parish Councils.

It is to be observed that when parishes are divided, and new parishes are constituted by the Act, whether under section 1 (3) or section 36 (2), they are to be separate parishes in like manner as if they had been constituted separate parishes under the Divided Parishes and Poor Law Amendment Act, 1876, and the Acts amending the same. The formation of parishes under the Acts referred to has no effect as regards the constitution of school districts without the sanction of the Education Department.

Taking next the case of the rural sanitary districts situate in more than one county, the Act provides that where any such district is on the appointed day situate in more than one administrative county, such portion thereof as is situate in each administrative county shall be as from that day a rural district, save as otherwise provided by or in pursuance of this or any other Act. (Section 24 (5).) Unless, therefore, as regards any particular rural sanitary district not wholly comprised within one county, a joint committee of the county councils interested for special reasons otherwise direct, the district will be divided by the Act.

In a case where a rural sanitary district is in more than one county, but none of the parishes in the district overlap the boundary of any county, the first question for consideration will be whether any special reasons exist for directing that the district shall not be divided in the manner contemplated by sub-section (5) of section 24. The Act does not define what special reasons may be regarded as sufficient for interfering with the operation of that section, and the discretion of the joint committee of the county councils is, therefore, unfettered in that respect. If it is considered that there are special reasons for not dividing the district, but it is deemed expedient that the boundary between the counties should be altered so as to include the whole of the district within one county, this alteration can be effected by an order of the Board under section 54 of the Local Government Act, 1888. (See sub-section (5) of section 36 of the new Act.)

If the division of the district is not interfered with, but the effect of it would be to create a rural district having less than five elective councillors, the case comes under paragraph (iii.) of sub-section (1) of section 36, which requires that any such district shall, unless for special reasons the county council otherwise direct, be united to some neighbouring district or districts. This applies also to rural districts having less than five elected councillors which already exist, irrespective of county boundaries. If the county council find that there are sufficient reasons for not uniting the district to some neighbouring district or districts, as, for instance, in a case where the severed part is entirely rural in character, and there is no other rural district within a convenient distance to which it could be united, they may make an order accordingly, and if the order is confirmed it will devolve on the Board, under sub-section (5) of section 24, to nominate members of the district council in order to make the number up to five, or to take some other action under that sub-section.

If no special reasons to the contrary exist, the council must make an order uniting the district to some neighbouring district or districts. The Act does not require that the district should necessarily be united to another rural district; and its provisions would apparently be complied with if the district were united to a neighbouring urban district, although usually, no doubt, the proper course would be to unite it with a neighbouring rural district. The district might, however, be divided by order of the county council, part being added to one neighbouring district, and part to another.

In any case where a new rural district is formed by the Act, and in any other case where there is any doubt as to the name of a rural district, the county council will have to direct what shall be the name of the district.

Cases where a parish within a rural sanitary district overlaps the boundary of the county will be more complicated. In these cases arrangements must be made to prevent the overlapping of the county boundary by the parish, even if the rural district is allowed to be in more than one county. As a rule, it would seem in these cases that the parish should be divided by order of the county council, but the Act will admit of an alteration of the county boundary if that course seems expedient.

It is to be borne in mind that the Act itself does not form separate parishes of the parts of a parish situate in different administrative counties. The division under sub-section (5) of section 24 of a rural sanitary district comprising such a parish will not affect the parish in this respect, but the parish will have to be divided by order of the county council, unless the county boundary is altered so as to include the whole of the parish in one county. Where a parish is so divided,

Circular. 24 Mar., 94.

The alteration of a rural district by or in pursuance of the Act will not affect the area of the poor law union with which at present the district is co-extensive, or in which it is comprised, but where the alteration of a poor law union seems expedient by reason of any of the provisions of the Act, the county council are empowered by sub-section (6) of section 36, to provide by their order for such alteration.

Where the alteration of the boundary of a county is deemed expedient for any the purposes mentioned in section 36, application should, as already indicated, be made to the Board for an order under section 54 of the Local Government Act, 1888. If it is proposed that the boundary of a borough should be altered for these purposes a like application should be made. (Section 35 (5)).

of the purposes of the Act, provision for such alteration, division, or union, may be made by an order of the county council under section 57 of the Act of 1888. (Section 36 (8)).

(Section 30 (3)).

The provisions of section 59 of the Local Government Act, 1888, will apply to any order for the purposes of the present Act that may be made under section 57 of that Act, and section 69 of the new Act provides that in any case where an alteration of any area is made by the Act, an order may be made by the county council, or, in the case of an area situate in more than one county, by a joint committee of county councils, for any of the matters mentioned in section 59 of the Act of 1888. Under these powers adjustments may be made of any property, debts, and liabilities affected by the alteration, and directions may be given for effecting any subsidiary arrangements rendered necessary by the alteration. subsidiary arrangements rendered necessary by the alteration.

Sub-section (12) of section 36 requires that every report made by the Boundary Commissioners under the Local Government Boundaries Act, 1887, shall be laid commissioners under the Local Government Boundaries Act, 1887, shall be lade before the council of any administrative county affected by that report, and before any joint committees of county councils. The sub-section further provides that it shall be the duty of the councils and joint committees to take these reports into consideration before framing any order under the powers conferred on them by the Act. The county council will not be bound to give effect to the recommendations of the Commissioners, but the reports in question will be found to be of assistance in arriving at a decision in regard to any matter dealt with therein.

II.—Parish Councils.

Under section 3 of the Act the county council are required to fix the number of councillors to be elected for each rural parish which will have a parish council. The number is to be not less than 5 nor more than 15, and it should be fixed sufficiently early for proper arrangements to be made for the candidature of persons desirous of offering themselves for election at the first election.

desirous of offering themselves for election at the first election.

In any case where there is any doubt as to the name of the parish for which a parish council is elected, the name will be such as the county council, after consultation with the parish meeting, may direct. (Section 3 (9)).

The county council may be applied to by the parish council, or not less than one-tenth of the parochial electors of a parish, or before the appointed day by the vestry or a like number of the ratepayers of the parish, to divide the parish into wards for the purpose of electing parish councillors; and on being satished that the area or population of the parish is so large, or different parts of the population so situated, as to make a single parish meeting for the election of councillors impracticable or inconvenient, or that it is desirable for any reason that certain parts of the parish should be separately represented on the council, the county council may make an order for the purpose. The order must fix the boundaries of the wards and the number of councillors to be elected for each ward. In making the order regard must be had to the population according to the last published census for the time being, and to the evidence of any considerable change of population since that census, and to area and to the distribution and pursuits of the population, and to all circumstances of the case. (Sections 18 and 84 (3)).

Section 1 of the Act provides for the grouping of two or more parishes under a common parish council, subject to the proviso that parishes shall not be grouped without the consent of the several parish meetings. For this purpose the section enacts that an order may be made by the county council under Part III. of the Act.

Act.

The county council may, with the consent of the parish meetings, make such an order either on their own initiative, or on the application of the parish meeting of any of the parishes proposed to be grouped. If any such application is made, it must be taken into consideration forthwith. (Section 38 (4)).

The whole of the parishes to be formed into a group, should, as a rule, be within the same county and county district, but if there are special reasons for grouping parishes in adjoining counties or county districts, the county council may depart from the rule. (Section 38 (2)).

The order must make provision for the name of the group, and as under section I each of the grouped parishes is to have a separate parish meeting, it must make any necessary provisions as to this also. It is further enacted that a grouping order shall provide for the election in manner provided by the Act of separate representatives of each parish on the parish council, and that it may provide for order shall provide for the election in manner provided by the Act of separate rights of each parish on the parish council, and that it may provide for the consent of the parish meeting of a parish to any particular act of the parish council or for any other adaptations of the Act to the group of parishes, or to the parish meetings in the group. The mode of election of parish councillors is determined by sections 3 and 48. Further, the grouping order must provide for the application of the provisions contained in sections 14 and 17 of the Act with respect to the appointment of trustees and beneficiaries of charities, and the custody of documents, so as to preserve the separate rights of each parish.

application of the provisions contained in sections 14 and 17 of the Act with respect to the appointment of trustees and beneficiaries of charities, and the custody of documents, so as to preserve the separate rights of each parish.

The county council will be empowered to order the establishment of parish councils in rural parishes which, according to the Census of 1891, have a population of not less than 300. (Section 1). If in the case of a rural parish with less than 300 but more than 100 inhabitants, the parish meeting so resolve, the county council must, by an order under Part III. of the Act, provide for the establishment of a parish council. In this case, the county council will have no alternative but to issue the order if the necessary resolution is passed.

In regard to any rural 'parish with less than 100 inhabitants, the county council may issue an order establishing a parish council, if the parish meeting consent, but the parish will have no right to demand that a parish council should be established. The grant of a parish council will be in the discretion of the county council. Subject, however, to the necessity for obtaining the consent of the parish meeting the county council may act in these cases on their own initiative; but if the population of a parish is less than 200 the parish meeting may apply for a parish council under sub-section (4) of section 38, and any such application must forthwith be taken into consideration by the county council.

Where a rural parish is co-extensive with a rural sanitary district sub-section (4) of section 36 provides that until the district is united to some other district or districts, and unless the county council otherwise direct, a separate election of a parish council shall not be held for the parish, but the district council shall in addition to their own powers have the powers of and be deemed to be the parish council. In these cases, therefore, it will rest with the county council to determine whether the rule laid down in the sub-section should be d whether the rule laid down in the sub-section should be departed from; and in any such case it will be competent to the county council to make an order directing that a parish council shall be elected for the parish. There is no special reason, however, why these cases should be dealt with before the first elections under the Act.

III.—GUARDIANS AND DISTRICT COUNCILLORS.

Under section 60 of the Act, the county council will have power to fix or alter the number of guardians or rural district councillors to be elected for each parish within their county, and it is provided that for those purposes the council may exercise powers of adding parishes to each other and dividing parishes into wards, similar to those which by the Acts relating to the relief of the poor are, for the purpose of the election of guardians, vested in the Board.

The power to add parishes to each other for the purpose of the election of guardians is conferred on the Board by section 6 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1868 (31 & 32 Vict. c. 122). That section provides that the Board may add any parish in a union, the population of which does not exceed 300, and the aggregate rateable value of which does not exceed the average rateable value of the parishes in the same union, to some adjoining parish in the union for the purpose of the election of guardians. The county council will thus be able to add any such parish, if it is an urban parish, to any other urban parish in the union, for any such parish, if it is an urban parish, to any other urban parish in the union, for the purpose of the election of guardians, and to add any such parish if it is a rural parish, to any other parish in the rural district for the purpose of the election of rural district councillors; but they will not be able to add an urban parish to a rural parish or vice versa.

The power conferred on the Board by the Poor Law Acts to divide parishes into wards for the election of guardians is contained in section 12 of the Divided Parishes and Poor Law Amendment Act, 1876 (39 & 40 Vict. c. 61), which enables the Board to divide any parish into wards for the election of guardians and to determine the number of guardians to be elected for each ward, due regard being the tracked to respect therein.

determine the number of guardians to be elected for each ward, due regard being had to the value of the rateable property therein.

Under sections 20, 24, and 60 of the new Act, the county council will regulate the retirement of guardians and rural district councillors. The first of these sections provides generally that the term of office of a guardian shall be three years, and that one-third, as nearly as may be, of every board of guardians shall go out of office on the 15th April in each year. Where, however, the county council on the application of a board of guardians consider that it would be expedient to provide for the simultaneous retirement of the whole board, they may direct that the members shall retire together on the 15th April in every third year. Where a union is in more than one county, an order for this purpose may be made by a joint committee of the councils of the counties concerned. There are some cases in which at the present time the whole of the guardians retire at the end of every which at the present time the whole of the guardians retire at the end of every third year in pursuance of an order of the Board, and in these cases the guardians are to continue so to retire, unless the county council or a joint committee of the county councils, on the application of the board of guardians, or of any district council or of a district wholly or partially within the union, otherwise direct.

Section 24 makes the provisions of the Act with respect to the term of office and retirement of guardians applicable to the district councillors of a rural district.

In any case where such a district is in more than one union, it will be necessary to secure that the mode of retirement of the guardians of the unions shall be the same, as otherwise there may be serious difficulties in connection with the constitution of the district council.

Section 60 provides that the council of each county may for the purpose of regulating the retirement of guardians or rural district councillors, in cases where they retire by thirds, direct in which year or years of each triennial period the guardians or district councillors for each parish, ward, or other area in the union or rural district shall retire.

Where the union is situate in more than one county, the power of fixing or altering the number of guardians or rural district councillors, and of regulating the retirement of guardians and of district councillors, is to be exercised by a joint committee of the councils of the counties concerned; but if any of those councils do committee of the councils of the counties concerned; but it any of those councils to not, within two months after request from any other of them, appoint members of such joint committee, the members of the committee actually appointed will have power to act as the joint committee. If any order made by a joint committee under this provision is within six weeks after the making thereof objected to by any of the county councils concerned, or by any committee of any of those councils authorised in that behalf, the order will be inoperative until confirmed by the Board. (Section 59).

Where the guardians and rural district councillors are to retire by thirds, in accordance with the rule prescribed by section 20, it will be necessary, as the full number of guardians or district councillors will be elected at the first election, to provide for retirements in the years 1896 and 1897. There will be no retirements under the Act before 1896. (Section 78). The question as to the guardians and rural district councillors who will have to retire in the two years mentioned, is under sub-section (4) of section 79 to be determined by the county council with reference to the parishes, wards or other areas for which the guardians or councillors are elected. are elected.

IV.—Highways.

Section 25 of the Act provides that as from the appointed day, there shall be transferred to the district council of every rural district all the powers, duties, and liabilities of any highway authority in the district, that highway boards shall cease to exist, and that rural district councils shall be the successors of the highway authorities. It is, however enacted that the council of any county may by order postpone within their county, or any part thereof, the operation of this section, so far as it relates to highways, for a term not exceeding three years from the appointed day or such further period as may, on the application of the county council be allowed by the Board.

council, be allowed by the Board.

The expression "highway authority" as used in the Act, means as respects a highway district, the highway board or anthority having the powers of a highway board, and as respects a highway parish, the surveyor or surveyors of highway, or other officers performing similar duties. (See Local Government Act, 1888, section 100; Local Government Act, 1894, section 75).

The effect of section 25 will be that all these highway authorities will cease to exist on the day on which the first rural district councillors come into office, and that the rural district councils will thereupon become the section of the section.

unless the county councils postpone the operation of the section.

By section 79, persons who are members of highway boards at the passing of the Act will be continued in office until the day on which the first rural district councillors come into office, that is, as at present fixed, the second Thursday after the 8th of November next, as if the terms of office for which they were elected expired on that day, and consequently the usual annual election of waywardens will not take place.

The election of surveyors of highways under the Highway Act, 1835, will however take place, as usual, at the first meeting in vestry for each parish, not in a highway district, for the nomination of overseers in the present year.

An order under section 25 is, by section 84, to make such provision as may be necessary for holding elections of highway boards in any interval during which the operation of section 25 is postponed. This provision will enable the county council to give directions in their order for the election of waywardens in place of those who will cease to hold office, as mentioned above, when the rural district councillors come into office, and also to order for what period such waywardens shall be elected, having regard to the period of postponement.

No similar provision appears, as a rule, to be required as regards the annual election of surveyors for parishes not in highway districts during the interval referred to, and the effect of the postponement of the operation of section 25 would seem to be that in such a case surveyors will continue to be elected from year to year so long as necessary. But in the case of new rural parishes formed by or in pursuance of the Act, it may be necessary, in the event of the county council postponies the covertion of section 25 to recoid for the election of surveyors to set poning the operation of section 25 to provide for the election of surveyors to act for periods until the next ordinary time for electing surveyors.

This course would not be requisite as regards a parish partly within and partly without an urban district, which, by virtue of section 216 of the Public Health Act, 1875, is at the present time treated as wholly within the urban district for highway purposes, because, if the county council postpone the operation of section 25, the part of the existing parish which is outside the urban district will continue subject

V.-MISCELLANEOUS.

Sub-section (7) of section 48 of the Act requires the county council to the acceptor the expenses of elections under the Act, i.e., of elections of parish and district councillors and guardians. If, at the beginning of one month before the first election, the county council have not framed any such scale for their county, the Board will have power to frame a scale for the purposes of that election. The Board will be glad to receive a copy of the scale framed by the county council under this section as soon as it has been approved by the council.

Under sections 48 and 80 the county council will have very extensive powers for Under sections 48 and so the county council will have very extensive powers for the removal of any difficulties that may arise in connection with the election of parish and district councillors and guardians, and generally in bringing the Act into operation within their county. Sub-section (5) of section 48 provides that if any difficulty arises as respects the election of any individual councillor or guardian, and there is no provision for holding another election, the county council may order a new election to be held and give such directions as may be necessary for order a new election to be held and give such directions as may be necessary for the purpose of holding the election.

Under section 80, if any difficulty arises with respect to the holding of the first parish meeting of a rural parish, or to the first election of parish or district councillors, or of guardians, or to the first meeting of a parish or district council, or board of guardians, or if, from no election being held, or an election being defective or otherwise, the first parish or district council, or board of guardians, has not been properly constituted, the county council may, by order, make any appointment or do any thing which appears to them necessary or expedient for the proper holding of any such first meeting or election, and properly constituting the parish ment or do any thing which appears to them necessary or expedient for the proper holding of any such first meeting or election, and properly constituting the parish or district council or board of guardians. They may, if it appears to them necessary, direct the holding of a meeting or election, and fix the necessary dates for the purpose. Any such order may modify the provisions of the Act, and the enactments applied by, or rules framed under it so far as may appear to the county council necessary or expedient for carrying the order into effect.

If a parish council or a district council, other than a borough council, become unable to act whether from a failure to elect or otherwise, the county council may order elections to be held and may authorise persons to act temporarily in place of the parish or district council and the chairman of the parish council. (Section 47

the parish or district council and the chairman of the parish council. (Section 47

(5) and section 59 (5).

Under section 17 each parish council will be empowered to appoint an unpaid treasurer, and this officer is to give such security as may be required by regulations of the county council. It is desirable that such regulations should be made before the parish councils come into office. They may provide both as to the character and as to the amount of the security to be taken from the treasurers, and the Board suggest that they should be so framed as to require such security to be given by these officers as will be sufficient to cover the amount likely to be in their hands belonging to the parish councils at any one time.

It is now necessary to refer to the provisions which will govern the procedure of the county council in regard to the issue of orders for the purposes mentioned above.

Sub-section (10) of section 36 directs that, subject to the provisions of the Act, any order made by a county council in pursuance of Part III. of the Act (as to areas and boundaries) shall be deemed to be an order under section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888. Every such order will consequently have to be made in accordance with the provisions of that section, and of the regulations issued by the Board thereunder, and, with the exceptions mentioned in section 40 of the Act (to which attention should be specially directed), will require confirmation by the Board in the manner prescribed by section 57 of the Act of 1888.

An important amendment of the section referred to is made by section 41 of the new Act, which provides that the time for petitioning to the Board against an order of a county council under the section shall be six weeks instead of three months after the first notice of the provisions of the order.

The Act also provides that any board of guardians affected by an order under Part III. of the Act, are to have the same right of petitioning against the order as is given by section 57 of the Act of 1888 to other authorities (section 36 (10)); and that where any of the areas referred to in section 57 of the Act of 1888 is situate in two or more counties, or the alteration of any such area would alter the boundaries of a poor law union situate in two or more counties, a joint committee appointed by the county councils concerned is subject to the terms of delegation.

boundaries of a poor law union situate in two or more counties, a joint committee appointed by the county councils concerned is, subject to the terms of delegation, to be deemed to have and to have always had power to make orders under the section with respect to that area. (Section 36 (11).)

An order made under section 60 of the new Act as to the number or retirement of guardians or rural district councillors will, as already mentioned, require confirmation by the Board if, in the case of a union situate in more than one county, the order is objected to by any of the county councils concerned or by a committee of any of those councils authorised in that behalf.

Among the orders that will not be subject to the provisions of section 57 of the Act of 1888, and will not require to be submitted to the Board, are orders of the county council fixing the number of parish councillors for a parish or dividing a parish into wards for the election of parish councillors.

An order made by the county council under section 25, postponing within their

An order made by the county council under section 25, postponing within their county or some part thereof the operation of that section as regards highways, will not require the confirmation of the Board, although, if it is proposed to postpone the operation of the section for more than three years from the appointed day, the postponement will require allowance by the Board.

In connection with the orders of the county council under this Act, it may be pointed out that by section 42 it is provided that in any case where an order under section 57 of the Act of 1888 (including any order made or deemed to have been made thereunder for the purposes of this Act) has been confirmed by the Board, such order is at the expiration of six months from the date of confirmation to be presumed to have been duly made, and to be within the powers of that section presumed to have been duly made, and to be within the powers of that section, and no objection to the legality thereof can be entertained.

A copy of every order made by a county council or joint committee in pursuance of the Act is to be sent to the Board, and, if it alters any local area or name, a copy must be sent also to the Board of Agriculture. (Section 71.)

Sub-section (2) of section 80 requires that the Board shall issue regulations for expediting and simplifying the procedure under section 57 of the Act of 1888 in all cases in the year 1894, for the purpose of bringing the Act into immediate operation.

The Board have issued an order for this purpose, which, as regards the cases referred to, will take the place of the regulations made by them on the 14th September, 1889, except where notice of a local inquiry has been given before the

It will be found that the new regulations materially expedite and simplify the procedure under section 57 of the Act of 1888, and the Board may draw special attention to the provisions in Article VIII. (3). In cases in which an order made under the section does not require confirmation by the Board, it has hitherto been necessary that the order, after having been made, should be again approved by the county council after certain notices have been given and a specified interval has elapsed. The effect of the provision in Article VIII. (3) will be that no final approval on the part of the county council will be requisite, if the requirements of Articles IV. and VIII. have been complied with.

It will also be observed that under Article IX the expression "county council," as used in the order, will include a committee of the county council, to whom they have delegated their powers under the Act of 1894, and also a joint committee appointed by any county councils for the purpose of dealing with any cases in which they are jointly interested.

Circular. 24 Mar., 94. The Board enclose six copies of the order, and they have caused it to be placed on sale. If, therefore, further copies are required, they can be purchased from Messrs. Eyre and Spottiswoode, East Harding Street, London, E.C., either directly or through any bookseller. Copies of this circular can also be purchased in the companyone.

It has sometimes been pointed out by county councils that no provision was made by the Local Government Act, 1888, as to the expenses of inquiries held by them under the Act. It is now provided by sub-section (4) of section 72 of the new Act, that where a county council hold a local inquiry under the Act or under the Act of 1888 on the application of a parish council or district council, or of any inhabitants of a parish or district, the expenses incurred by the county council in relation to the inquiry (including the expenses of any committee or person authorised by the county council) are to be paid by the council of that parish or district, or, in the case of a parish which has not a parish council, by the parish meeting. Subject to this, however, the expenses of the county council incurred in the case of inquiries under the Act must be paid out of the county fund.

Section 44 contains provisions as to the register of the parochial electors which is to be formed alike for urban and for rural parishes for the purposes of elections under the Act. The Board do not consider it necessary to refer to these provisions in detail; but the attention of the county council should be directed to the proviso to sub-section (3) of section 84, under which, if the county council have under consideration any division into wards or alteration of the boundaries of any parish, or union, or district which is to affect the first election, they may direct that the lists of voters shall be framed in parts corresponding with such division or alteration in the same way.

lists of voters shall be framed in parts corresponding with such division or alteration so that the parts may serve either for the unaltered parish, union, or district, or for the same when divided or altered.

In making any such division or alteration at any time in the month of July or August next, the county council may direct their clerk to make such adjustment of necessary for enabling every parochial electors as the division or alteration may render necessary for enabling every parochial elector to vote at the first election in the ward, union, or district in which his qualification is situate, and it will, of course, be the duty of the clerk to give effect to any such direction. (Section 84.)

The orders of the county councils altering areas may direct that for the purpose of preparing the lists and registers of electors for the first elections of parish and district councillors, the orders shall take effect at such time as to enable the overseers to make out the lists for the altered areas, although the areas will not be actually altered until the appointed day.

Numerous powers and duties besides those which have been indicated above are conferred on county councils by the Act, but the Board do not think it necessary to specify them on this occasion, as their present purpose is to bring under the notice of the county council those powers and duties which may have to be exercised for the purpose of bringing the Act into operation, and they believe that they have now mentioned all that need be referred to with this object.

It is evident that in order that effect may be given to the intentions of the legislature, it is requisite that the county eouncils should without delay set about the exercise of the important powers which have been entrusted to them. As the Board have already pointed out, section 83 makes it the duty of every county council to exercise all such of their powers as may be required for bringing the Act into full operation within their county as soon as may be after its passing, and enables them to delegate their powers under the Act to a committee, and the Board feel assured that they may rely on every effort being used by the County Council. feel assured that they may rely on every effort being used by the County Council to bring the Act into full operation in their county at the earliest possible date.

The Board strongly recommend them forthwith to appoint a committee for carrying out the Act, if they have not already done so, and to delegate to such committee their powers under it.

They also recommend that either such committee or the Council should at once place themselves in communication with the councils of the other counties in which parishes or rural sanitary districts partly within and partly without the county are situate, with a view to the immediate appointment of any joint committees necessary to enable such cases to be dealt with.

The Board would further suggest that the clerks to rural and urban sanitary authorities should, as soon as possible, be applied to for information as to whether the districts of those authorities come within the cases mentioned in section 36 of the Act, or contain parishes or parts of parishes which are within those cases. the Act, or contain parishes or parts of parishes which are within those cases. In the meantime, the Parliamentary returns relating to counties and poor law parishes of which copies are enclosed will give the most recent information that has been published as to the cases where parishes and rural sanitary districts are in more than one county. The return relating to poor law parishes also shows the number of parishes partly in rural sanitary districts. The names of parishes partly in urban sanitary districts may be obtained from the tables numbered 4 in the second volume of the Report on the Census of 1891, but there have been alterations since the date of the census and these tables may not now be quite accurate.

As regards the matters referred to under the head of parish councils, the Board have already pointed out that the number of councillors should be fixed sufficiently early for proper arrangements to be made for the candidature of persons desirous of offering themselves for election at the first election. With this exception, it of offering themselves for election at the first election. With this exception, it would seem that unless application is made by the vestry, or one-tenth of the ratepayers of a parish, to divide the parish into wards, it will not devolve on the county council to make any orders with respect to these matters before the appointed day. By section 36 the council are required to take into consideration the cases of small rural parishes, but no order for the grouping of such parishes, or the establishment of parish councils therein, could actually be made without the consent of the parish meeting given after the appointed day.

As regards section 25 of the Act, it will of course be necessary that any order postponing the transfer of the powers of highway authorities should be made before the appointed day.

Some inquiries have been addressed to the Board with respect to the meaning of the word "parish" as used in the Act. They may state, therefore, that it bears the meaning given to it by section 5 of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (52 & 53 Vict. c. 63), which provides that unless the contrary intention appears, the expression shall mean a place for which a separate poor rate is, or can be made, or for which a separate overseer is or can be appointed.

I am, Sir, Your obedient Servant, HUGH OWEN, Secretary.

The Clerk of the County Council.

SIR.

Local Government Board, Whitehall, S.W., 2nd April, 1894.

Local Government Act, 1894.

I am directed by the Local Government Board to state that several inquiries have been addressed to them as to whether, in view of the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894, it is intended that an Order in Council should be issued to amend, for the purposes of the approaching registration of electors, the instructions, precepts, notices, and forms prescribed by the Registration Order, 1889. The Board direct me to state that it is not proposed at present to issue an Order in Council on the subject; but they think it very desirable that the attention Circular.

of the overseers should be specially drawn to the duties imposed upon them by the Act, in connection with the enfranchisement of married women for the purposes of

Act, in connection with the enfranchisement of married women for the purposes of the Act and the preparation of the lists of electors, and they suggest that this might conveniently be done by a note attached to your precept and issued with it. The provisions to which the attention of the overseers should be drawn are those contained in section 43 and sub-sections (3) and (9) of section 44 of the Act. Section 43 enacts that, for the purposes of the Act, a woman shall not be disqualified by marriage for being on any local government register of electors, or for being an elector of any local authority, provided that a husband and wife shall not both be qualified in respect of the same property.

Sub-section (3) of section 44 requires that the lists of electors in any parish shall be framed in parts for wards of urban districts and parishes in such manner that they may be conveniently used as lists for polling at elections for any such wards; and sub-section (9) of this section provides that any person may claim for the purpose of having his name entered in the parochial electors list, and that the law relating to claims to be entered in lists of voters shall apply.

The Board direct me to add that in the preparation of the lists of electors regard should be had to the provision in section 1 (3) of the Act, under which parishes situate partly within and partly without a rural sanitary district will be divided into separate parishes, and the attention of the Overseers might with advantage be called to this point also.

SIR.

I am directed by the Local Government Board to state that inquiries have been addressed to them as to the effect of the Local Government Act, 1894, as regards the term of office of the present chairmen and vice-chairmen of Boards of Guardians, and the continuance in office of committees appointed by the Guardians. The Board direct me to point out that section 79 (8) of the Act, which continues in office, until the day on which the first guardians and rural district councillors elected under the Act come into office, the persons who were members of Boards of Guardians and of Rural Sanitary Authorities at the date of the passing of the Act, does not refer to the chairmen or vice-chairmen or members of committees, as such.

In those cases where the orders in force require that the election of chairmen and vice-chairmen should take place at the first meeting of the guardians after the 15th April, the period of office of the chairmen or vice-chairmen will not be 15th April, the period of office of the chairmen or vice-chairmen will not be affected, and they must therefore be elected at the usual time this year.

As regards an Assessment Committee appointed under the Union Assessment Committee Acts, it appears to the Board that the Committee must be regarded as having been appointed for one year only, and consequently that they must be reappointed in the present year at the usual time.

In the case of a School Attendance Committee, section 7 of the Elementary Education Act, 1876, expressly provides that the appointment of the Committee

The Visiting Committee, however, will, in the opinion of the Board, continue in office until after the election of the new Board of Guardians in November next, unless the Committee were definitely appointed for a limited period only.

A Relief Committee will, subject to the terms of the Order authorising the appointment of the Committee, continue in office until November next without reappointment, unless the Committee were appointed for a limited time.

A Committee appointed to consider and report on any special subject will continue in office after the date on which the Guardians would but for the Local Government Act, 1894, have gone out of office, if the business for which the Committee were appointed is not completed by that date.

A Sanitary Committee appointed under section 201 of the Public Health Act, 1875, can only continue until the end of the ordinary year of office of the Guardians, and the Committee must accordingly be re-appointed after that time in the present year, if it is desired that they should still exist.

I am directed by the Local Government Board to advert to their Circular Letter of the 24th ultimo, with reference to certain provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894, under which powers and duties will devolve on the County

The Board have now issued an Order prescribing regulations for expediting and simplifying the procedure under section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888, in cases occurring during the present year in which the town councils of county boroughs, or joint committees of such councils and the councils of administrative counties, may have to take action for the purpose of bringing the Act into immediate operation.

Town Councils of County Boroughs.

Local Government Act, 1894.

SIR.

I am directed by the Local Government Board to draw the attention of the Town Council to certain provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894, under which powers and duties will devolve on the Council for the purpose of bringing the Act into operation within the borough.

These provisions have reference to the alteration of areas and boundaries, and the election of guardians. Important powers in relation to these matters are conferred by the Act on county councils, and under section 75 (2) the expression "county council," when used in the Act, includes, unless the context otherwise requires, the council of a county borough.

Under section 83 it is the duty of the town council of every county borough to exercise all such of their powers as may be requisite for bringing the Act into full operation within the borough as soon as may be after its passing.

Section 84 provides that the first elections of guardians under the Act shall be held on the 8th November next, or such later date or dates in the present year as

Thursday next after their election, or such other day not more than seven days earlier or later as may be fixed by or in pursuance of rules made by the Board under the Act in relation to their election. It is important that alterations which may affect the preparation of the lists of voters should be made sufficiently early to may affect the preparation of the lists of voters should be made sufficiently early to enable the lists to be properly prepared, and it is consequently provided by subsection (3) of section 84 that every division into wards or alteration of the boundaries of any parish or union or district which is to affect the first election shall, if parishes or parts for which the registers of parochial electors will be made are affected, be made, so far as practicable, before the 1st of July next.

By "parochial electors" are meant, with reference to a parish in a county borough, the persons who would be the parochial electors of the parish if it were a rural parish, namely, the persons registered in such portion either of the local government register of electors or of the parliamentary register of electors as relates to the parish. (Sections 2 (1) and 75.)

government register of electors or of the parliamentary register of electors as relates to the parish. (Sections 2 (1) and 75.)

Many of the provisions of the Act referred to in this circular are to take effect from the "appointed day." Subject as mentioned in the Act, this day, for the purpose of elections, is defined as the day or respective days fixed for the first elections under the Act, or such prior day as may be necessary for the purpose of giving notices or doing other acts preliminary to such elections, and, for the purpose of the powers, duties, and liabilities of councils or other bodies elected under the Act, or other matters not specifically mentioned, it will be the day on which the members first elected come into office. (Section 84.)

I .- AREAS AND BOUNDARIES.

The provisions which should first receive the attention of the Town Council are The provisions which should first receive the attention of the Lown Council are those contained in Part III. of the Act, which relate to areas and boundaries. Sub-section (1) of section 36 provides (amongst other things) as follows:—

For the purpose of carrying this Act into effect in the case of—

(a) every parish * * * which at the passing of this Act is situate partly

(a) every parish * * * which at the passing of this Act is situate partly within and partly without an administrative county; and
(b) every parish which at the passing of this Act is situate partly within and partly without a sanitary district; every county council shall forthwith take into consideration every such case within their county; and whether any proposal has or has not been made as mentioned in 30 April, 94.

section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888, shall, as soon as practicable, in accordance with that section, cause inquiries to be made and notices given, and make such orders, if any, as they deem most suitable for carrying into effect the present Act in accordance with the following provisions, namely:—

(i.) The whole of each parish shall be within the same administrative county;

and

otherwise direct, be within the same county district.

The expression "county district" does not include a county borough; but, with

The expression "county district" does not include a county borough; but, with that exception, includes every urban and rural district, whether a borough or not, i.e., every urban and rural sanitary district within the meaning of the Public Health Act, 1875, other than a county borough. (Section 21.)

By sub-section (11) of section 36 it is provided that, where at the passing of the Act a parish is situate in more than one county, a joint committee of the councils of the several counties comprising the parish shall act under the section. The expression "county" includes a county borough. (Section 75.) The expression "administrative county" only includes a county borough where this is expressly stated (section 100 of the Local Government Act, 1888, and section 75 of the Local Government Act, 1894); but a parish partly within and partly without a county borough would, the Board believe, be in every case a parish partly without an administrative county, as defined by the Act of 1888. It would in any case be a parish partly within and partly without a sanitary district. Conpartly without an administrative county, as defined by the Act of 1888. It would in any case be a parish partly within and partly without a sanitary district. Consequently it will be necessary that joint committees of the councils of the county and county borough should be appointed to act under section 36, with respect to every parish which is now partly within and partly without a county borough. The appointment by the council of each county or county borough of representatives on any joint committee for the purposes of section 36 is to be made within two months after request from any other of the councils interested. If any of the councils fail to appoint members of the committee within that period, the members actually appointed are to act. Any question relating to the constitution or procedure of the joint committee as to which the councils concerned are unable to agree is to be determined by the Board.

If a parish is partly within a county borough and partly within a rural sanitary

If a parish is partly within a county borough and partly within a rural sanitary district, and no action is taken under section 36 prior to the appointed day, the parish will as from that date be divided by the Act, the part within the rural district and the part without being constituted separate parishes by sub-section (3) of section 1.

Sub-section (2) of section 36 provides that where a parish is at the passing of the Act situate in more than one urban district, the parts of the parish in each such district shall, as from the appointed day, unless the county council for special reasons otherwise direct, and subject to any alteration of area made by or in pursuance of this or any other Act, be separate parishes in like manner as if they had been constituted separate parishes under the Divided Parishes and Poor Law Amendment Act, 1876, and the Acts amending the same.

As regards the manner in which these cases might be dealt with by the joint committee, it is to be borne in mind that section 36 expressly directs that the orders shall be so made that the whole of each parish shall be within the same administrative county. An order could not therefore be made directing that a administrative county. An order could not therefore be made directing that a parish, now partly within a county borough and partly within an administrative county, should so remain. The parts of the parish might be added to other parishes by orders under the section, instead of being allowed to become separate parishes in pursuance of the Act.

In any case, such as those mentioned above, the boundary of any borough in which the parish is partly situated could, on the necessary application, be altered by an order of the Board under section 54 of the Local Government Act, 1888.

Where a parish is divided by the Act into two or more new parishes, subsection (9) of section 36 directs that these parishes shall, until it is otherwise provided, be included in the same poor law union in which the original parish was

B B 2

Circular. 30 April, 94. included, and sub-section (2) of section 79 directs that, subject to any order made by the county council, there shall be one guardian, and in the case of a new parish in a rural district, one district councillor for each of the new parishes. Many of the parishes which will be divided by the Act are at present entitled to more than two guardians, and in such cases, if a county borough is concerned, it is desirable that a joint committee of the county and town councils should be appointed to that a joint committee of the county and town councils should be appointed to settle the future representation of the new parishes.

The town councils of county boroughs will have power to give names to any new parishes formed by the Act within such boroughs, although no order for any alteration of area has been made. (Section 55 (2).)

It is provided by sub-section (11) of section 79 that the overseers of any parish divided by the Act shall, until the first appointment of overseers next, after the appointed day, continue in office as if they were overseers of each part of the parish, which by reason of such division becomes a separate parish.

It is to be observed that when parishes are divided, and new parishes are constituted by the Act, whether under section 1 (3) or section 36 (2), they are to be separate parishes in like manner as if they had been constituted separate parishes under the Divided Parishes and Poor Law Amendment Act, 1876, and the Acts amending the same. The formation of parishes under the Acts referred to has no effect as regards the constitution of school districts, without the sanction to has no effect as regards the constitution of school districts, without the sanction of the Education Department.

of the Education Department.

Where the alteration of the boundary of any parish, or the division thereof, or the union thereof, or of part thereof with another parish, seems expedient for amy of the purposes of the Act, provision for such alteration, division, or union, may be made by an order of the county council or of a joint committee of county councils, under section 57 of the Act of 1888. (Section 36 (8) and (11).)

The provisions of section 59 of the Local Government Act, 1888, will apply to any order for the purposes of the present Act that may be made under section 57 of that Act, and section 69 of the new Act provides that in any case where an alteration of any area is made by the Act, an order may be made, in the case of an alteration of any area is made by the Act, an order may be made.

alteration of any area is made by the Act, an order may be made, in the case of an area situate in more than one county, by a joint committee of county councils, for any of the matters mentioned in section 59 of the Act of 1888. Under these powers adjustments may be made of any property, debts, and liabilities affected by the alteration, and directions may be given for effecting any subsidiary arrangements the alteration, and directions may be given for effecting any subsidiary arrangements rendered necessary by the alteration.

Sub-section (12) of section 36 requires that every report made by the Boundary Commissioners under the Local Government Boundaries Act, 1887, shall be laid before the council of any borough affected by that report, and before any joint committee of the councils of counties or county boroughs. The sub-section further provides that it shall be the duty of the councils and joint committees to take these reports into consideration before framing any order under the powers conferred on them by the Act. The town council or joint committee will not be bound to give effect to the recommendations of the Commissioners, but the reports in question will be found to be of assistance in arriving at a decision in regard to any matter dealt with therein. dealt with therein.

II.—GUARDIANS.

The Act makes important alterations in the qualification, mode of election, and retirement of guardians; and the Board desire to refer the Town Council generally to the provisions of section 20 on these matters. It may be observed that guardians will only be elected in urban parishes. In a rural parish one or more rural district councillors will be elected, who will represent the parish on the board of guardians. (Section 24 (3).)

Under sub-section (1) of section 60 of the Act, the town council of a county borough will, where a union or parish under a separate board of guardians is co-extensive with the borough, or wholly included in it, have power to fix or alter the number of guardians to be elected for any parish comprised in the union or for the separate parish, as the case may be; and it is provided that for those purposes the council may exercise powers of adding parishes to each other and dividing parishes into wards, similar to those which by the Acts relating to the relief of the poor are, for the purpose of the election of guardians, vested in the Board.

The power to add parishes to each other for the purpose of the election of guardians is conferred on the Board by section 6 of the Poor Law Amendment Act, 1868 (31 & 32 Vict. c. 122). That section provides that the Board may add any parish in a union, the population of which does not exceed 300, and the aggregate rateable value of which does not exceed the average rateable value of the parishes in the same union, to some adjoinining parish in the union for the purpose of the election of guardians. The town council will thus be able to add any such parish within the borough, to any other parish therein, for the purpose of the election of guardians.

The power conferred on the Board by the Poor Law Acts to divide parishes into

The power conferred on the Board by the Poor Law Acts to divide parishes into

The power conferred on the Board by the Poor Law Acts to divide parishes into wards for the election of guardians is contained in section 12 of the Divided Parishes and Poor Law Amendment Act, 1876 (39 & 40 Vict. c. 61), which enables the Board to divide any parish into wards for the election of guardians and to determine the number of guardians to be elected for each ward, due regard being had to the value of the rateable property therein.

Under sections 20 and 60 of the new Act, the Town Council will have to consider what provision should be made as to the retirement of guardians for any union or any parish under a separate board of guardians which is wholly comprised in the borough. The first of these sections provides generally that the term of office of a guardian shall be three years, and that one-third, as nearly as may be, of every board of guardians shall go out of office on the 15th April in each year. Where, however, the council on the application of a board of guardians consider that it would be expedient to provide for the simultaneous retirement of the whole board, they may, if the union or parish is wholly comprised in the borough, direct that the members shall retire together on the 15th April in every third year. Where a union or a parish under a separate board of guardians is only partly within the county borough, an order for this purpose may be made by a joint committee of the counties of the county and county borough concerned. There are some cases in which at the present time the whole of the guardians retire at the end of every third year in pursuance of an order of the Board, and in any such case, where a county borough is concerned, the guardians are to continue so to retire, unless the town council, or a joint committee of the councils of the county and county borough, on the application of the board of guardians. unless the town council, or a joint committee of the councils of the county and county borough, on the application of the board of guardians, or of any district council of a district wholly or partially within the union, otherwise direct.

retirement of guardians applicable to the district councillors of a rural district.

Section 60 provides that the council of each county as defined by the Act may for the purpose of regulating the retirement of guardians or rural district councillors in cases where they retire by thirds, direct in which year or years of each triennial period the guardians or district councillors for each parish, ward, or other area in the union or rural district shall retire.

Where the union is situate in more than one county, the power of fixing or altering the number of guardians or rural district councillors, and in connection therewith of dividing a parish into wards, and also the power of regulating the retirement of guardians and of district councillors, is to be exercised by a joint committee of the councils of the counties concerned; but if any of those councils do not, within two months after request from any other of them, appoint members of such joint committee, the members of the committee actually appointed will have power to act as the joint committee. If any order made by a joint committee under this provision is within six weeks after the making thereof objected to by any of the county or county borough councils concerned, or by any committee of any of those councils authorised in that behalf, the order will be inoperative until confirmed by the Board. (Section 60 (3).)

Where the guardians and rural district councillors are to retire by thirds, in accordance with the rule prescribed by section 20, it will be necessary, as the full number of guardians or district councillors will be elected at the first election to provide for retirements in the years 1896 and 1897. There will be no retirements under the Act before 1896. (Section 79). The question as to the guardians and under the Act before 1896. (Section 79). The question as to the guardians and rural district councillors who will have to retire in the two years mentioned, is, under sub-section (4) of section 79, to be determined by the council of the county or county borough with reference to the parishes, wards, or other areas for which the guardians or councillors are elected. It will be necessary in the case of a union or a parish under a separate board of guardians partly within and partly without a county borough, that a joint committee of the county and county borough councils should, as above mentioned, be appointed for this purpose.

III.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Sub-section (7) of section 48 of the Act requires the council of every county lorough to fix a scale for the expenses of election of guardians for the lorough. If, at the beginning of one month before the first election, the council have not framed any such scale, the Board will have power to frame a scale for the purposes of that election. The Board will be glad to receive a copy of the scale framed by of that election. The Board will be glad to receive a copy of the scale framed by the council under this section as soon as it has been approved by the council. In any case where a union or parish under a separate board of guardians is partly but not wholly comprised in a county borough, it appears to the Board that it will be necessary that a joint committee of the county and county borough councils concerned should be appointed under section 81 of the Local Government Act, 1888, for the purpose of framing a scale of expenses for the election of guardians, and the Board would wish to be furnished with a copy of the scale framed by any such committee. committee.

Under sections 48 and 80 the Town Council will have very extensive powers for the removal of any difficulties that may arise in connection with the election of guardians, and generally in bringing the Act into operation. Sub-section (5) of section 48 provides that if any difficulty arises as respects the election of any individual guardian, and there is no provision for holding another election, the council may order a new election to be held and give such directions as may be necessary for the purpose of holding the election.

Under section 80, if any difficulty arises with respect to the holding of the first election of guardians, or to the first meeting of a board of guardians, or if, from no election being held, or an election being defective or otherwise, the first board of guardians has not been properly constituted, the council may, by order, make any appointment, or do any thing which appears to them necessary or expedient for the proper holding of any such first meeting or election and properly constituting the board of guardians, and may, if it appears to them necessary, direct the holding of an election, and fix the necessary dates for the purpose. Any such order may modify the provisions of the Act, and the enactments applied by or rules holding of an election, and fix the necessary dates for the purpose. Any such order may modify the provisions of the Act, and the enactments applied by, or rules framed under it, so far as may appear to the council necessary or expedient for carrying the order into effect. Where the union or parish under a separate board of guardians is partly in a county borough and partly in an administrative county, and any difficulty such as is mentioned in section 80 arises, a joint committee should be appointed to deal with the matter by the councils of the county and county borough under section 81 of the Act of 1888.

It is now necessary to refer to the provisions which will govern the procedure of the Town Council in regard to the issue of orders for the purposes mentioned above.

Sub-section (10) of section 36 in effect directs that, subject to the provisions of the Act, any order made by the town council of a county borough, or by a joint committee, in pursuance of Part III of the Act (as to areas and boundaries) shall committee, in pursuance of Part 111 of the Act (as to areas and boundaries) shall be deemed to be an order under section 57 of the Local Government Act, 1888. Every such order will consequently have to be made in accordance with the provisions of that section, and of the regulations issued by the Board thereunder, and with the exceptions mentioned in section 40 of the new Act will require confirmation by the Board in the manner prescribed by section 57 of the Act of 1888. An important amendment of the section last mentioned is made by section 41 of the new Act, which provides that the time for petitioning the Board against an order under the section shall be six weeks, instead of three months, after the first order under the section shall be six weeks, instead of three months, after the first notice of the provisions of the order.

The Act also provides that any board of guardians affected by an order under Part III. of the Act are to have the same right of petitioning against the order as is given by section 57 of the Act of 1888 to other authorities (section 36 (10)); and that where any of the areas referred to in section 57 of the Act of 1888 is situate in two or more counties, as defined by the Act of 1894, or the alteration of any such area would alter the boundaries of a poor law union situate in two or more counties, a joint committee appointed by the councils of those counties is, subject to the terms of delegation, to be deemed to have and to have always had power to make orders under the section with respect to that area. (Section 36 (11).)

In connection with the orders of the Town Council under this Act, it may be pointed out that by section 42 it is provided that in any case where an order under pointed out that by section 42 it is provided that in any case where an order under section 57 of the Act of 1888 (including any order made or deemed to have been made thereunder for the purposes of this Act) has been confirmed by the Board, such order is at the expiration of six months from the date of confirmation to be presumed to have been duly made, and to be within the powers of that section, and no objection to the legality thereof can be entertained.

A copy of every order made by the council of a county borough or joint committee in pursuance of the Act is to be sent to the Board, and, if it alters any local area or name, a copy must be sent also to the Board of Agriculture. (Section 71.)

Sub-section (2) of section 80 requires that the Board shall issue regulations for expediting and simplifying the procedure under 57 of the Act of 1888 in all cases in the year 1894, for the purpose of bringing the Act into immediate operation.

The Board have issued an order for this purpose, which, as regards the cases referred to, will take the place of any regulations previously made by them as to the procedure under section 57 of the Act of 1888, which are in force in any county borough, except where notice of a local inquiry has been given before the date of the order.

It will be observed that under Article viii, the expression "council" as used in

It will be observed that under Article viii. the expression " council" as used in whom the council have delegated their powers under the Act of 1894, and also a joint committee appointed by any such councils, or by any such council or councils, and the county council or councils of any administrative county or counties, for the purpose of dealing with any case or cases in which such councils are jointly interested. interested.

The Board enclose six copies of the order, and they have caused it to be placed on sale. If, therefore, further copies are required, they can be purchased from Messrs. Eyre and Spottiswoode, East Harding Street, London, E.C., either directly or through any bookseller. Copies of this circular can also be purchased in the same way.

Section 44 contains provisions as to the register of the parochial electors which is to be formed as well for urban as for rural parishes, for the purposes of elections under the Act. The Board do not consider it necessary to refer to these provisions in detail; but the attention of the Town Council should be directed to the proviso to sub-section (3) of section 84, under which, if the council or a joint committee have under consideration any division into wards or alteration of the loundaries of any parish, or union, which is to affect the first election, they may direct that the list of voters shall be framed in parts corresponding with such division or alteration so that the parts may serve either for the unaltered parish or union, or for the same when divided or altered.

In making any such division or alteration at any time in the month of July or August next, the council or a joint committee may direct such adjustment of the registers of parochial electors as the division or alteration may render necessary for enabling every parochial elector to vote at the first election in the ward or union in which his qualification is situate, and it will be the duty of the town clerk to give effect to any such direction. (Section 84.)

Circular. 30 April, 94. Some inquiries have been addressed to the Board with respect to the powers of joint committees appointed in pursuance of the Act, and the Board may state that they are advised that the provisions of section 81 of the Local Government Act, 1888, apply to joint committees formed for any of the purposes mentioned in subsection (11) of section 36 of the present Act, and also to joint committees formed for the purposes of section 60 of that Act. The Board, consider, therefore, that subject to an appeal to them in cases coming under section 36 (11) if the councils do not agree, the powers of the joint committee could be restricted by the councils appointing them by the terms of delegation, and, if those councils thought fit, those terms might be such as to make the proceedings of the committee subject to confirmation by the councils. The Board may add, however, that in their opinion it is very desirable that, as a general rule, the terms of delegation should be such as not to render any confirmation necessary. The same remarks apply to cases where, for any purpose connected with the Act of 1894 in respect of which two or more county councils (as defined by that Act) are jointly interested, a joint committee of those councils is appointed, although the Act contains no express provision for such an appointment.

COMPENSATION TO CIVIL SERVANTS ON ABOLITION OF OFFICE.

The award of compensation allowances to established Civil Servants on the abolition of their offices is regulated by Sec. 7 of the Superannuation Act of 1859, which provides that:—

"It shall be lawful for the Commissioners of the Treasury to grant to any person "retiring or removed from the Public Service in consequence of the "abolition of his office, or for the purpose of facilitating improvements in "the organisation of the Department to which he belongs, by which greater "efficiency and economy can be effected, such special annual allowance by "way of compensation as, on a full consideration of the circumstances of "the case, may seem to the said Commissioners to be a reasonable and "just compensation for the loss of office; and if the compensation shall "exceed the amount to which such person would have been entitled under "the Scale of Superannuation provided by this Act, if ten years were added to "the number of years which he may have actually served, such allowance "shall be granted by special Minute, stating the special grounds for "granting such allowance, which Minute shall be laid before Parliament, and no such allowance shall exceed two-thirds of the salary and emolu-

In calculating allowances under this section, it is the practice of the Treasury to award as many sixtieths of the officer's emoluments as he has served complete years, with a special addition, on account of abolition of office, not exceeding the following scale, viz.:—

When the duties of the situation have not been such as to require that the holder should give his whole time to the Public Service, such deduction is made from the amount of compensation allowance for which he would otherwise be qualified as the Treasury may consider reasonable.

It must be observed that all awards under the section are at the absolute discretion of the Treasury, and are subject to modification if the circumstances of the particular case require it.

Non-established Civil Servants who have been employed for not less than seven years in an employment to which they were required to devote their whole time, receive a gratuity not exceeding one pound or one week's pay (whichever is greater) for each year of service, under section 4 of the Superannuation Act of 1877.

No gratuity can be granted to non-established Civil Servants whose duties have not required their whole time.

LOCAL COVERNMENT ACT, 1894,

Being a complete and practical Guide to the above Act and its incorporated enactments.

The Local Government Journal of June 2, 1894, says: "First in the category of useful Guides we place "Hadden's Handbook." It is a really admirable work, planned upon the best lines, exhaustive in its treatment, and far and away the most comprehensive handbook yet issued."

The Poor Law Officers' Journal says: "It is what it professes to be, a 'Guide' in the very fullest meaning of the word. Whether hastily consulted or perused at leisure it is equally intelligent and serviceable."

The Speaker says: "It is so clearly arranged and so comprehensive that it is certain to prove useful to all that are in any way interested in the Local Administration of the Law.—The book is also furnished with an unusually full and well arranged Index."

The East Anglian Times refers to it as "by far the best work on the Act yet published."

Tae Sheffield Daily Telegraph describes it as "by far the most important of the Local Government Guides."

WITH NOTES ON DECIDED CASES ON THE LAW OF RATING,
by
HARRIS P. CLEAVER, CLERK TO THE WEST DERBY GUARDIANS,
and
FRANK ROHRWEGER,
OF THE INNER TEMPLE, BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

The Local Government Journal says: "The work is of the greatest importance to those engaged in the valuation of property, and should be provided for and studied by members of Assessment Committees."

The County Council Times says: "The book is carefully arranged, and is very complete.

The Poor Law Officers' Journal says: "Goes straight and at once to the principles which should uide Overseers and Assessment Committees in dealing the the various classes of property for purposes of assement for rates."
